TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

The other morning I strolled into Delmonico's up-town cafe to get a cup of chocolate and look through the newspaper. The room was moderately full; some club men were taking a late breakfast; a few foreigners of various nationalities were studying our peculiarities under the guise of refreshing themselves; an eminent editor and a renowned politician were chatting at a table in the window; half a dozen dudes were displaying their new autumn outfits. At the three o'clock table on the Broadway corner were seated two young gentlemen with a bottle of champagne in the center before them. They were smoking cigars and talking earnestly together. I could not see the face of but one of them as he was unknown to me. I remember he had a dark, shaggy beard, trimmed to a point and wore a top hat.

At once each man pulled out a coin from his waistcoat pocket, in each case it was a $20 gold piece. They placed the coins in their right hands and they dropped them down upon the table, covering them with their fingers. They looked steadily in each other's faces for a moment, and then the man with the eyes-glasses said in a low tone: "I'll meet you here."

Both now removed their hands and bent forward to scrutinize the coins. "I've won!" said the first man, and he gathered up the pieces and put them in his pocket. The other said something that I could not catch. The man with the eyes-glasses pushed back his chair and stood up. He looked at his hat and cane. As he put on his hat he said: "In 24 hours, then."

"In 24 hours," the other rejoined. His friend thereupon turned on his heel and sauntered out of the cafe. The man who remained standing in his position in his chair so that I could see his face, and after a moment's hesitation I recognized him as John Mowbray, a man whom I knew, but had not met for several years. As I had finished my chocolate I left my seat and greeted him.

"The next 24 hours?" I repeated. There seemed to be something odd in his manner, and his mention of that particular length of time caught my attention. I have nothing of importance in view," I added after a pause. "I will go home with you if you please. Where are you bound?"

Mowbray laughed. "Why, on a journey of a lifetime," said he. "You have caught me at the most interesting period of my career. During the next four-and-twenty hours you will undergo experiences that hardly come to many men in as many years. I want you to be a witness. And I shall consider it a favor if you will report what you see to the gentleman who left a few minutes ago. You saw him. He will be here tomorrow at noon. It is now half past eleven. Let us be off!"

"I don't half understand you," said I. "What is the matter?" he said. "I am considered a fortunate person," said Mowbray. "I am 24 years of age; I am in possession of a property to the tune of a hundred thousand and a member of the best clubs, go to church Sundays, have a seat on 'change, and am engaged to marry the finest girl in New York. I'm in sound health, and, in short, I'm in the swim of every way. If you took even money that I'd live to be a hundred, enjoyed myself every hour of the time, and went to heaven at the end of it, you would think you were playing to big luck. All the same, as the philosophers say, is mightily uncertain. Come along and see."

EATEN BY A DOG.

Terrible Fate of a Little South Dakota Child. A CANINE'S AWFUL REVENGE. Professor Koch's Cure for Consumption an Undoubted Success—Thanksgiving Proclamation.

LEAD CITY, S. D., Nov. 8.—(Crisp) Carriage and light lived in a cabin, six miles from Lead City. They were working a placer claim. The family had recently gotten a Newfoundland dog. While the husband was away the wife had occasion to punish the dog, and immediately thereafter went down to a spring, 100 feet from the house. On returning she discovered the dog had attacked the child in her absence and literally eaten his head off. He was still crunching the bones of the skull, and the brains of the little one were dropping on the ground. The dog was still fiercely a-ling. The mother gave a piercing shriek, fell senseless to the ground and became a raving maniac.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY. Prof. Koch's Cure for Consumption an Undoubted Success. NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Professor Koch had an audience with the emperor early this morning on the subject of his new cure for consumption. His majesty proposes that the government should purchase the invention outright and build a special hospital for its application. Professor Koch receiving a large annuity besides a title. It is stated that he has been ascertainment as a fact that several light cases have been undoubtedly cured by the Koch method, while in graver cases where the disease had attained hold and portions of the lungs had wasted away, the life of the patient had been prolonged and the growth and progress of bacilli had been arrested, if the pest itself had not been actually destroyed.

STATE BAR ASSOCIATION. They Adopt a Constitution and Elect Officers. PORTLAND, Nov. 8.—An adjourned meeting of the State Bar Association was held to-day. The constitution and by-laws reported by the committee were adopted. The following officers were elected: President, C. N. Dolph, Portland. One vice-president was elected from each judicial district of the state as follows: First district, P. P. Prim, Jacksonville; second, J. J. Barnett, Corvallis; third, T. H. Mann, Astoria; fourth, E. D. Shattuck, Portland; fifth, Judge Taylor, Astoria; sixth, E. B. M. Langham, Portland; seventh, W. H. Wilson, Tualum; eighth, L. P. Cox, Forest Grove; ninth, executive committee, consisting of president, secretary, treasurer, R. H. Thornton, Portland, W. O. Thayer, Portland, C. H. Carey, Portland, J. F. Watson, Clatsop.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT. An Eight-Year-Old Boy Takes a Revolver to Bed With Him. JACKSONVILLE, CR., Nov. 8.—The eight-year-old son of ex-sheriff Deas accidentally shot himself last night in his bed. He had taken a pistol and took it to bed with him. During the night the weapon was discharged, the bullet striking his thigh and ranging downward, and lodged near the knee joint. The wound is not thought to be dangerous.

A FATAL ACCIDENT. A Man Killed by a Runaway Horse in Sacramento. SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 8.—This afternoon James Barnett Ullman, of Elk Grove, and a friend while crossing the street were struck by a runaway horse attached to a wagon. Ullman was struck full in the back and carried thirty feet, when he fell, and the horse and wagon passed over him. He lived only one hour. The other man was also knocked down, but escaped with slight injuries.

AMBITION CORRETT. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—The challenge to Slavin which Corbett issued recently has created considerable stir in sporting circles. Last night the following dispatch was received in this city: NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7.—To Jas. Corbett, Olympic Club: Directors meet and decide this evening what purse to offer. CHARLES NOEL, Secretary Olympic Club. Embezzler Captured. PORTLAND, Nov. 8.—F. J. Martin, who was confined in jail at Tacoma on a charge of embezzlement, and who escaped a few months since, was arrested here to-day, and will be held to await the arrival of Tacoma officers.

Verdict of Guilty. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—The coroner's jury in the case of John Bowen, stabbed and killed by C. F. Beck in a saloon quarrel November 1, returned a verdict to-day, charging Beck with murder.

THE FARMERS' ALLIANCE.

They Will Have 38 Members in the Next Congress. WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Polk, of the national farmers alliance, is very jubilant over the result of the elections. In an interview to-day he said: "Up to the present time, it is certain that the next congress will contain thirty-eight straight-out alliance men and there are twelve or fifteen more who are pledged to us. These men are from the south and north, two sections in which most of our work was done. The alliance in Nebraska, Minnesota and Iowa is not our organization and is not amalgamated with us, but it made this same fight, and will join us this winter. Our alliance will co-operate with any farmers association, and in a little while will have a grip on the situation in almost every corner of the land. We are here to stay. This great reform movement will not cease until it has impressed itself indelibly in the nation's history. Financial reform is the necessity of the hour and it must come."

WANTED TO DIE. A Restaurant Man Commits Suicide by Taking Laudanum. PORTLAND, Nov. 8.—An Oregonian special from La Grande, Or., says: William Bumcratz, proprietor of a restaurant here, committed suicide yesterday by taking an overdose of laudanum. He left a letter in which he said: "There is one Rosa Ribald, who, if she be found, will throw some light on what I have done."

Trouble with a woman is the mystery. He was an ex-conductor on the Union Pacific and a prominent member of the brotherhood of railway trainmen; also of the Knights of Pythias. A Chinese Murderer. VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 8.—A Chinese cook named Ling to-day murdered another Chinese, who came to visit him, and had hid the body under a bed. The men quarreled, and Ling struck his victim from behind, and then nearly cut his head off. Ling was arrested while escaping from the house.

Notable Dead. WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—General David B. McKibben, of the U. S. army, on the retired list, died here this afternoon of cancer of the throat. Thanksgiving Proclamation. WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The president has issued a proclamation designating Thursday, November 27, as a day of thanksgiving.

CONDENSED FASHIONS. Trunks are popular as pin heads. Sleeves are full and high at the top. The cravat is in London for a gentleman's evening suit is $100. Half bow ties and long sleeves are to be seen on new dinner dresses. White satin is not considered so costly or rich a material for a trapeze. Royal blue will be a conspicuous color this season, especially in military. Embroidered or painted or embossed leather jackets are worn with all kinds of dresses. Helio rope as a tint for gowns and bonnets is dying very hard, but it is no longer a fashionable color. Florists now resort to rose dyeing in order to produce the colors demanded by eccentric ladies of fashion. An English dressmaker who is trying to make a "hit" has made a bodice for a customer which is high on one side and low on the other.

BELIEVED TO BE FUNNY. A cold is a hard thing to get rid of, but it's a sneezing thing to get. It is the man who can tell why his neighbor failed who never succeeds. Hobsy—You think of committing suicide. It's the last thing on earth you should contemplate doing! Nobsy—It is. "Is your brother still pursuing the law?" "He was until he was sprung." "And now?" "The law is after him."

New spirit—Was that a very bad man you just turned away? St. Peter—No; his record is good enough, but he's been the head man in a small town all his life, and I know there'll be no living with him. "Hump," remarked a young man, "my cigar has gone out." "Well, that settles it," replied his room mate; "I was just wondering which of us it would be, my self or the cigar."

"Are you in favor of prohibiting the sale of liquor?" asked the earnest looking passenger of the man who sat down beside him. "Been an o'm that; it ought to be given away by the government."

California Mining Town

A Pennsylvania Burning. HE WAS WEARY OF LIV. A LaGrange Man Commits Suicide—President Harrison's Thanksgiving Proclamation.

READING, Pa., Nov. 9.—A dispatch received early this (Sunday) morning states that the mining town of Tremont, Schuylkill county, is on fire, and it is feared half the town will burn.

CONDITION OF WEST POINT. The Annual Report of Superintendent Wilson. WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Col. Wilson, superintendent of the West Point military academy, in his annual report says that the condition of the corps of cadets as regards drill, discipline and instruction has been excellent during the year. The sea coast and siege batteries are reported to be in a bad condition, and three guns have burst during the year, fortunately without serious results. Those supplied in their places are old guns used during the rebellion. He recommends that new 5-inch breech-load steel guns be furnished.

WEARY OF LIVING. Carl Seelig, of Oswego, Takes His Own Life. OSWEGO, Or., Nov. 8.—Carl Seelig, a saloonkeeper of this place, committed suicide here early this morning by shooting himself in the right temple with a revolver. He was first discovered by his bartender in the back room of his saloon, lying on a lounge in a pool of blood. The revolver was still in his hand. There was no evidence of a struggle. The deceased leaves a wife and two small sons.

The California Election. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—The returns from 347 out of 457 precincts in the first congressional district give Blain, republican, a plurality of 254. The counties in this district for which returns are incomplete are Colusa, Del Norte, Humboldt, Mendocino, Modoc, Plumas, Sierra Siskiyou and Trinity. These nine counties, two years ago gave Blain, republican, for congress 282 majority. They also gave Cleveland a majority of 313 over Harrison. In the second congressional district returns received from 404 precincts out of 404 give Blanchard, republican, 82 majority.

English Capital. MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—An incident of some time ago, Mr. S. Macdonald, a well-known English capitalist who has just returned from New York, deny that they ever made the statement attributed to him by the Philadelphia Inquirer, in an interview, which was called to this country through a news agency. They were asked if English capital will still go to the United States after the recent elections. Blain and Watson replied that they had made careful inquiries and that the national feeling seemed to be in favor of protection. English capitalists would therefore go to the United States.

A Month's Imprisonment. BRUSSELS, Nov. 8.—Jem Smith, the English fighter and Frank P. Slavin, the Australian pugilist, who in December last fought a prize fight near Bruges were each sentenced to-day in default to one month's imprisonment. Another Record Broken. NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Wendell Baker, a crack sprinter of the Berkeley Athletic club, broke the record for 200 yards this afternoon, doing it in 25 seconds. One-fifth of a second better than the best previous record.

Henderson Elected. CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—A dispatch from London says Henderson, republican, is elected by 265 majority. The official count Monday will not change this materially. A Heavy Storm. LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 8.—Reports from the northeastern part of the state tell of a heavy storm there. It has been snowing continuously for fourteen hours. An Advance in Prices. CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The Chicago packers of canned meats at a meeting to-day decided to advance prices a quarter of a cent per pound, because of the increased cost of tin under the new tariff.
