A Female Band.

Oroville, California, has a new band, and you will smile when you hear the rest. The band is composed of young ladies and they are learning to play on real brass horns, such as the men have.

Indeed, the new band is quite a tad with the girls, and many are the applications which are received to join it. The band is under the leadership of Prof. Lockwood of Thermalito. - Oroville Mercury.

Albany once boasted of a female band, in years gone by, and it was at that time considered one of the finest bands in the state. Mack Monteith, now of Spokane Falls, was the leader, and several of the lady musicians are in this city yet.

Passed Away.

A telegram received by our hardware merchant G. W. Smith, from Mill City after the train had passed that place coming down, yesterday announced the death of L. H. D. Bondy, a highly respected citizen and merchant there.

Bondy came from Canada originally, and for some time lived in Minneapolis, Minn., removing from there to Portland where some favorable property investments resulted in quite an addition to his fortune. Thinking that a change into the mountainous region would benefit health, he finally located at Mill City. He was well and favorably known.

Police Patrol Cages.

The new police patrol cages are being put in their respective positions says the Portland Telegram. The tall, sharp-roofed cages concern attract a great deal of attention. The various speculative remarks made about them by unenlightened people would rival "Innocence Abroad," or the schoolboy's essay on "Breath."

Each cage is a silent but powerful squad of police, into whose keeping a drunken man or thief can be thrust to await the arrival of the "burry up" wagon, while the arresting officer can go about his business uninterrupted.

Valuable Property.

The Golden Fleece mining claim in the Santiam mining district is one of the finest prospects in the camp. Its developments consist at present of 15 to 20 feet of shafts, all in one, of an average value of $40 to $50 per ton. Messrs. A. B. Woodin and H. W. Warner have secured a half interest in this property and are on the ground building a cabin and intend to work all winter as they have made arrangements to put in a mill in the spring.

An Amusing Scene.

An amusing scene was witnessed by a HERALD reporter, while wending his weary way home, at 5 o'clock a few mornings since. His attention was attracted by a dull caw by a bass voice humming in muffled tones, "Rock-a-bye baby," and a masculine ghost was seen peering the floor with a bundle of mail in its arms.

The Beggs Dandelion letters for relief, dyspepsia and all kindred diseases.

SANTIAM MINING DISTRICT.

The Galena and Some Other Groups of Claims.

In a further resume of the Santiam mining districts, we mention the following claims:

THE GALENA. This claim has considerable surface prospecting work done on it that shows it up well, the most of which was done in 1882 and 1883. The old claimants could do nothing with this kind of ore at that time, as it is a concentrating smelting, and after doing a great deal of work, pulled out and left for parts unknown.

Then another outfit came in '82, and worked all that summer. They could do nothing with it either, as there was no railroad line or wagon road within many miles of them, and a wily enough country to build one through, so they started for other parts, leaving their tools, beds and trail behind them, and hitting the rail bed as it possible.

LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN - THE OREGONIAN. Here is another specimen of misadventure, plenty of the finest kind of concentrating ore, but they in the early sixties could do nothing with it, so they after driving tunnels, sinking shafts, building furnaces, etc., skipped out.

In '87 J. Early went prospecting up in part of the mountains and thought he would try it on a clip. He located the Queen and some other claim and struck out for Portland with some rock, had it assayed, found it good, rustled some grub and tools and went back. When he went back to Portland the Galena mining company was formed and they went to work on the tunnel, which is now in the ledge, having been driven across the formation nearly eight hundred feet, and struck the ledge about seven hundred feet below the surface. Lookout mountain, the Galena in the spring, as it is too late to do anything this winter towards getting a mill up.

Then some more fellows tackled it in '82, but they could do no better, so after doing a lot of work they skipped.

Then H. W. White went up there with Geo. P. Harris and prospected those ledges and H. W. White located the Oregonian, and Geo. P. Harris the Alta (Alfonian).

THE EXAMINER. This property went through the same row of stamps in '82 and '83 and also in '85, as the others, except that the pioneers built a large, strong house here, which is the best camp in the district to-day; they also built a fan blast with a big wheel, for blacksmithing and assaying, that was a daisy on the plan of an old spinning wheel.

The also felt just like they had found a leak in the boat, for they left all their tools and camp outfit, including several sacks of flour, sides of bacon, and other things, which included powder, caps and fuse in good order, when A. Halverson came in last June, and thought he would go it one round, so he located it.

LIES ALONG THE SIDE OF THE LAST NAMED CLAIM. J. W. Gardner thought he would go it once just for the other side, and he got it here on the other side, and his claim is the

THE OTHER. J. McKinney also struck the

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8, 1890. By the grace and favor of Almighty God the people of this nation have been led to the closing days of a peaceful year, which has been full of the blessings of peace and the comforts of plenty. Bountiful compassions have come to us for the work of our industry in every department of human industry. Now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, President of the United States of America, do hereby appoint Thursday, the 27th day of November, to be observed as a day of prayer and thanksgiving, and I do invite the people upon that day, to cease from their labors, to meet in their accustomed houses of worship and to join in rendering gratitude and praise to our beneficent and gracious Creator of our country, to merit the recompense of charity and gracious acceptance of our prayers. In testimony whereof I have thereto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington, this eighth day of November, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and ninety, and the independence of the United States the one hundred and fiftieth.

BENJAMIN HARRISON, By the President: JAMES G. BLAINE, Secretary of State.

Look Home First.

Eugene (Grand) notwithstanding this pointed paragraph above mentioned paper still displays the heading "Eugene City (Grand)." NOTICE is hereby given that the undersigned executor of the last will and testament of Geo. H. Liggett, deceased, has this day filed his final account in the matter of said estate in the county court of Linn county, Oregon, and said court has fixed, Monday January 5 1891 at 9 A. M. of said day for the hearing of objections to said account if any there be and for the settlement thereof. Dated at Albany, November 13, 1890 R. H. LEIGHT, Executor.

HENRY M. IRVINE, Att'ys for Executor.

J. H. Waters, superintendent of the Revanna Flouring Mill of Wash., is in town attending to business, and looking after his real estate.

Mrs. M. E. Willson, has retired from the management of the Arlington Hotel, and moved to her farm north of town, the hotel has been leased by Mr. Phelan.

Luther Moore, William Moore, Edward Shey, F. Ross, B. Reese and Edward Sawyer, on Tuesday night attended a dance at the new Grand Hall, at Muddy Station, they report a "jolly good time."

W. C. Cooley, Charles Miller, J. Sawyer, William Moore, H. B. Moyer, Ed. Isaac, E. H. Hancock, Mrs. S. Powell of Brownville, and R. L. Blanchard and Charles Young of Albany, on Saturday left for Eugene, to Institute a lodge of K. of P., at that city.

W. A. Acock, W. W. Robe and James P. Wolf, on Tuesday evening arrived in town from the Blue River, in California, mining district, where they have for the past five months been at work developing the "Poorman" claim. A cut forty-five foot in length has been made into the foot hill, connecting with a tunnel 150 feet in length, ending with a ten foot cross cut, the ledge at this point being four to five and a half feet in width, and of increased richness, assays from croppings go $9.95, but the pay rock in the tunnel is of much higher grade and gives better returns, in a well defined ledge, a substantial house, and also a blacksmith shop has been built, and the owner of the "Poor Man" are quite elated at the favorable showing made by their claim, which will in all probability be systematically worked during the next season.

Nate Standish, G. V. Standish, J. Moore, A. Banks, Daniel Standish, Peter Nettleton and William Tyler, who on Tuesday returned home by the McKenize river route, have been steadily employed upon the "Crimin" ledge, north extension of the "Lucky Boy" ledge, and have uncovered a ledge of "pay rock" 12 feet wide. Work has also been pushed on the "Lucky Boy" the new tunnel having been prospected and a well defined ledge in which can be seen the characteristic sprinkling of the precious metal, specimens from this claim are remarkably rich in gold, which is easily seen without the help of a magnifying glass, and the prospect is very favorable for the future, as soon as a mill is put into operation.

Wild Strawberries in November. The Jacksonville Times says that A. J. Meeker, while out hunting on Big Butte last Sunday, came across a patch of wild strawberries, and just in their season. Mr. Meeker saw many which were not yet ripe. Truly this is a wonderful country. Thousands of ripe strawberries on the trees in Jacksonville, all the spring work in the valley being done in November, and now a promise of strawberries and cream until Christmas. The world cannot match it.

Oregon Phossanites.

A large number of genuine Oregon phossanites have been shipped to the Oregon Pacific train from Yaquina, daily and shipped to Portland. Out in the valley these phossanites, which only a few years ago were abundant, are nearly extinct. It is supposed that the Montpelier phossanites, which are getting plentiful in this vicinity, have driven the native phossanites to the mountains.
