How Severe Colds Are Broken Up in Montana.

From the Virginia City, Mont. Madisonian.

When we find a medicine we know to possess genuine merit we consider it a duty, and we take pleasure in telling the public what it is. Such a medicine we found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, last winter, when la grippe was prevailing. We are satisfied that we warded off several attacks that were threatening by the use of this syrup, and we have since relieved, in a few hours, severe colds, and in the course of two or three days, entirely broken them up by its use as have several of our friends whom we have recommend it. It is all that it is represented to be by the manufacturers. If you have a cough and want to stop it, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will do the work. For sale by Foshay & Mason.

Carrying the War into Nooksack.

An exchange says: Two log booming companies are holding the mouth of Nooksack river with riffes, pending a settlement of litigation by toe court. The Miller company built the first boom at the mouth of the river. The Bellingham Bay company then built a boom below them. The lower company demands that the upper boom shall be opened to allow logs to come tarough to the lower boom. The high price for booming, 75 cents per 1000, inspires both sides to fight. At the mouth the river is filled with logs, which impede navigation. The Miller company is guarding its boom with rifles to prevent the other company from breaking the boom.

THE WRECK.

Further Particulars of the Fatal Accident.

THE ENGINE IS IN THE MUD.

A Personal Experience—Dr. Maston Reports Fifty at the Willamette—The Injured in Farm Houses.

A HERALD reporter yesterday visited the scene of one of the most disastrous wrecks that ever occurred in Oregon. Leaving this city on the Roseburg local we arrived at Lake Labish at 2:10 o'clock. The train stopped at the south end of the trestle, which is about three-quarters of a mile long. From here it was seen that fully 500 people were viewing the wreck, and more arriving constantly, both in conveyances and on foot, a large crowd having walked out from Salem.

The engine lies buried in the mud, being almost covered, with the tender on top. Next comes two mail car, which are wrecked beyond description, and its looks as if it would be impossible for anyone to get out alive, as they are literally splintered to pieces, and turned end for end. The express cars lies on its side and is also badly wrecked, although the messenger escaped without injury. Four coaches remain on the rails, which dropped to the ground, a distance of about twenty feet, driving the piling into the mud. These cars are two sleepers, a day coach and a smoker, and are all more or less wrecked. In the first coach the seats are demolished, not one remaing in place. The windows are nearly all broken out.

A PASSENGERS' EXPERIENCE.

Mr. Johnson, of Roseburg, who was in the first car, and had his shoulder dislocated, says that he was asleep when he felt a jerk and heard a grating sound, almost simultaneously he was precipitated against the side of the car, and then the train dropped through space, extinguishing all the lamps, the car remaining in darkness for fully fifteen minutes, and all was quiet save the horrifying shrieks of the wounded and dying. Mr. Johnson lighted a match and by breaking a pane of glass, managed to drag himself through the window, and was the first man to go forward. He said his first impression was that every one forward had been killed, and from the condition of the cars it would seem that their escape was truly miraculous.

Workmen were busy all day yesterday clearing away the wreck, which will take several days, hardly an impression having been made on it.

All kinds of reports were circulated, and one was that just before the train went down the express messenger heard three or four shots fired and a big stone was thrown against the car. However none the passengers seenor heard any shots.

Dr. G. W. Maston, of this city, Southern Pacific surgeon, went down on the relief train from this city, and worked with the injured all night. He says there are about fifty at the Willamette hotel in Salem, some of whom will die.

One farmer, who resides near Lake Labish, reported that he had fifteen injured at his house taking care of them.

A tramp, who was on the engine assisting the firemen, and who was standing between the engineer and fireman, says that just as the engine went down they turned and looked each other squarely in the face, but neither spoke a word. Yesterday they were dug from under the engine mangled and scalded beyond recognition. Strange to say, the tramp escaped, comparatively uninjured.

Around the wreck could be seen men with splints on their arms and others with their faces all scarred up. At the depot at Salem a man was seen with his eye tied up and a blood-bespattered valise in his hand.

On the train was a newly-married couple, H. L. Milzner and wife, on their wedding tour. Both were severely injured and went back to Portland yesterday morning.

A large number went from this city to see the wreck, among them were: D. E. Monteith, C. W. Watts, A. B. Seal, Watt Monteith, Jack Warner, Harper Cranor, Geo. C. Stanard, A. B. Paxton and wife and Joseph Klein and wife.

Mr. Price, of the firm of Price & Robson, went down on the relief train from this city Wednesday night and assisted in taking care of the dead and injured.

Several photographers took views of the wreck.

PORTLAND, Nov. 13.—Just as the relief train, bearing the wounded from the scene of the wreck to this city, arrived in East Portland C. Griebel, of Milwaukee, W. P. traveling agent for the Val Blatz Brewing Co., expired, making the number of dead five. Griebel had both legs broken and his body badly crushed, also receiving injuries about his head. The body was taken to the morgue. Capt. Edmell, of San Francisco, who had both legs broken, was taken to the hotel Portland, where he is being cared for. The remainder of the wounded was taken to the different hospitals. It is thought by the surgeon that Capt. C. E. Bowden, of Tacoma, can not recover; he is suffering from concussion of the spine. He was accompanied by his two little daughters, one of whom, Ida, suffered a broken arm and dislocated shoulder. The party were on their way to Australia. Among those receiving slight injuries was Myer Welheim, of Mount Vernon, Wash.

CAUSE OF THE ACCIDENT.

Manager Koehler, of the Southern Pacific, was asked to-night for his opinion as to the cause of the accident. He replied, "I am not prepared to make a statement just now. I have been busy all day furnishing information about the injured and telling where they could be found, and have not had time to talk with superintendent, engineer and other officers of the road who visited the scene and made an investigation. We intend to make a full investigation and find out the cause. The bridge was comparatively new and the timbers strong and sound."

Resident Engineer W. A. Grondal said that the bridge was rebuilt less than two years ago and the timbers were sound. He sent an official diagram of the accident to the San Francisco head office to night. A special train will leave for the scene at 7 o'clock to-morrow, conveying officers of the road.

Conductor Conser, who had charge of the train, was brought down with the relief train and removed to his residence in East Portland. His left leg was broken between the ankle and the knee and he also received a severe bruise on his hip. He was in a very cheerful frame of mind and was quite well satisfied that he got off as well as he did. Conser has no doubt whatever that the accident was caused by the rails being tampered with.

CORONER'S JURY VERDICT.

SALEM, Nov. 13.—After hearing the testimony of a large number of witnesses, and examining the trestle over Lake Labish, the coroner's jury returned a verdict that the accident was due to "an unsound, unsafe bridge, and that the Southern Pacific company is guilty of criminal negligence in allowing such a structure to stand and to be used for the passage of trains."

An Important Duty.

Lane county members of the legislature have one very important duty to perform. It is a no less matter than supporting a measure appropriating funds for the display of Oregon's products at the world's fair at Chicago. If their own inclinations do not move them to action, surely the appeal of their no less distinguished constituency should have their immediate attention and consideration. We, as a people, can make our wishes known, then the whole responsibility of the matter rests with the members who represent us, and these gentlemen cannot afford to ignore that fact.—Florence (Lane County) West.

The World's Fair.

World's Fair commissioner Wilkins, before leaving for Chicago, Thursday, expressed the opinion that Oregon would have ample space at the world's fair. He approved everything done by the committee of the State board of commerce, and had no doubt but everything would come out all right. Continuing, he said: "The world's fair is not being got up by the people of Chicago, but by a stock company. It is a speculation in every sense of the word and the company wants to make money. They first tried to force us to take less than we needed, but we would not stand it. I am as certain as I live now that they will try to palm off small buildings on us. It would be to their interest to put up a $5,000,000 building instead of a $7,000,000 one. However, I for one shall fight for buildings of sufficent size."

Heavy Damages.

The Oregonian says: Damages to the amount of $5875 were Saturday awarded Mrs. Martha Hansen in her suit for damages against George Belfel, a saloon keeper at Seattle. Last summer John Hansen while intoxicated went into Belfel's saloon and took seventeen morphine pills in a glass of beer. Two men had at a previous time committed suicide in the same saloon, and Belfel, not wishing a repetition of the tragedy, dragged Hansen out of the saloon and hid him under the sidewalk, where he lay for several hours before he was discovered. Hansen died shortly after being found. Mrs. Hansen then brought suit for damages against Belfel for causing the death of her husband.

Hunting Coal.

Messrs. W. Y. Pirat and J. W. Wilkins, accompanied by Thomas Kidd and James Davis, left Tacoma Tuesday, provisioned for a lengthy trip in the wilds. They are bound for Port Angeles, and will leave that city Friday morning for alleged coal fields, discovered by Kidd and Davis ten years ago when upon a trip to the Sound in the British bark Hazeltint. The bark was wrecked and the men started on a trip inland. While making their way towards civilization they located a tremendous lead of anthracite coal. They think they have sufficient recollection of its location to find it again.

The Sum Needed.

The sum needed to give Jessie Benton Fremont the cottage at Los Angeles, where the widow and daughter now reside, and clear up some debts, is about $10,000. This will probably be raised. With the pension lately granted her the "Pathfinder's" beloved survivor will then be in most comfortable circumstances.

Talk About Freight Bills.

Well we have just paid the freight from the east on one hundred Forest City express wagons, one of which we propose to give away with each can of Forest City baking powder. Come before they are all gone.

Respectfully
C. E. BROWNELL.

WEST SIDE NARROW GAUGE.

Matters of Interest Concerning Its Present Status.

Wednesday's Portland Telegram says: Since the Portland & Willamette Valley railroad system was absorbed by the Southern Pacific Company, the latter corporation has been making rapid strides toward the final salvation of the road, which has earned the title of "Narrow Escape" line on account of the unlimited number of accidents which have occurred since it was put in operation.

Yesterday afternoon the Pacific Improvement Company, of San Francisco instituted a suit in the United States circuit court for the collection of several notes issued at divers times betwenn the dates of July 8, 1888, and June 6, of this year, for sums of money varying from $3000 to $40,000, and aggregate, with interest at a rate of 6 per cent., the sum of $253,822 71. In addition, the plaintiffs asked that the sum of $2850 be awarded them by the court in accordance with the provisions of the several notes.

This morning Mr. R. Koehler, vice president and manager of the Southern Pacific system appeared in court and confessed to the complaint, whereupon judgment was entered and the plaintiffs were allowed the sum of $1000 as attorney fees. For such a large amount of money involved, this is unquestionably the most rapid action at law ever brought in this city. The The money will be paid at once, and all parties will again be happy. The funds in question were all borrowed from the San Francisco company for the express purpose of maintaining and operating the narrow gauge road.

A Sequel.

Last week week we stated that I. D. Driver had been arrested for beating a boy who was caught stealing his apples, but he was acquitted This week Driver had the boy, an innocent little fellow about nine years of age, arrested for stealing his apples. J. J. Walton and E. O. Potter appeared for Driver and L. Bilyeu and Geo. A. Dorris for the boy. The case was tried in Justice Henderson's court before a jury and the boy was promptly acquitted. In their remarks to the jury the boy's attorneys hit it pritty close when they stated the case was brought simply through spite. At the beginning of the trial one of the attorneys and Driver got to disputing so warmly that the Justice called the sheriff to erese order. —Eugene Register.

Highwaymen Take a Lady's Muff.

From Baker City comes the following report of the experience of two ladies, formerly residents of this city: Mrs. Carl Luderman and her sister, residents of Baker City, were stopped on their way home at 7:30 in the evening by two men who seized them and demanded their purses. The ladies screamed for assistance and several men appearing, the highwaymen took to their heels, taking with them Mrs. Luderman's muff.

A Very Heavy Coat of Moss.

Ochoco Review: The Portland World is the only paper in the state that has signified its intention to oppose an appropriation for Oregon's exhibit at the world's fair. Its editor, Mr. Noltner, has lived in Webfoot so long that such a coat of moss has grown over him that he can't see any benefits that will arise from Oregon making a good showing at the Chicago exposition.

Steam Plow.

A man in Jackson county has been plowing this fall with a steam engine and has found that it works quite successfully. He pulls eight plows with his engeine and turns over the soil at the rate of 16 acres per day. The cost of running the outfit is no over $5 per day.

Old Citizen.

Thomas J. Obenchain, one of the oldest and best known settlers of Camas prairie, Umatilla county, was found dead in his bed Sunday night. The news of his sudden decease will be a sorrowful surprise to his many friends in the county, says the East Oregonian, as although entering upon the winter of his life, he was active and vigorous, and it was supposed had many useful years yet to live. Only Thursday Mr. Obenchain was in Pendleton, made final proof on his claim before the county judge, and when he left was feeling in the best of health and spirits.

A Cripple.

It is not generally known that Dr. Mary Walker has become a cripple for life. On decoration day she fell and broke her right hip. She will never again be the man she was. It is probable that congress will now pass her moss-covered claim for $2000 for services rendered as nurse during the war.
