THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8, 1890.

By the grace and favor of Almighty God the people of this nation have been led to the closing days of a passing year, which has been full of the blessings of peace and the comforts of plenty. Bountiful compensation has come to us for the work of our minds in every department of human industry. Now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, President of the United States of America, do hereby appoint Thursday, the 27th day of November, to be observed as a day of prayer and thanksgiving, and I do invite the people upon that day, to cease from their labors, to meet in their accustomed houses of worship and to join in rendering gratitude and praise to our beneficent Creator for the rich blessings he has grant d us as a nation and invoking the continuance of his protection and grace for the future.

I commend to my ellow citizens the privilege of remembering the poor, homeless and sorrwful. Let us endeavor to merit the recompense of charity and gracious acceptance of our praise. In testimony whereof I have thereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this eighth day of November, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and ninety, and the indedendence of the United States the one hundred and fifteenth.

[SEAL.] BENJAMIN HARRISON.
By the President: JAMES G. BLAINE.
Secretary of State.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

ONE of the most interesting themes of the telegrapic dispatches of late has been the discoveries of Prof. Koch, of Germany, on the matter of a cure tor the terrible tuberculosis, or consumption that has always been the most deadly foe to mankind.

A number of years ago this indefatigable laborer in the cause of science, announced that he had discovered the specific bacterium of tuberculosis, or, in other words, that he had found the germ of the disease or class of diseases which are ordinarily called consumption. Having found the cause of tubercular disease, as he believed, Professor Koch went to work to find a remedy for the scourge of civilized humanity, and now, after a number of years of experiment and study, he states that he has succeeded, and that consumption may be cured almost infallibly by his method of treatment.

This treatment is understood to consist in inoculation with a lymph prepared by Koch himself, but what its precise therapeutic action is has not yet been explained. It can hardly bear a close analogy to vaccination, for Jenner's discovery has never been considered a cure for smallpox, but merely a preventive against it.

The Emperor of Germany is certainly a convert to Koch's theory of curing consumption, for he has made a personal gift of $250,000 to the discoverer, and another of a like amount to endow a national institute for the production of the lymph used in the process.

The Chronicle very truthfully remarks that it is not probable that the medical world will accept Koch's discovery without query or challenge, and it is right that it should not. The history of the healing art teems with supposed wonderful discoveries, some of them alleged panaceas, others absolute specifics for particular maladies, but which have failed to stand the test of time and practical use. There is but one safe rule in medicine, which is "Prove all things, hold fast that which is good." If Koch has found a genuine cure for consumption he is one of the greatest benefactors to the human race the world has ever seen. If he is self-deceived, his delusion will soon be made apparent by actual and comical tests in the hands of skilled experimenters.

THE world moves and an improvement in the order of thing is observant. A Harvard student was arrested at an early hour the other morning, having been caught in the of stealing a sign. Not only was he arrested, but he was actually locked up like any other person detected in the commission of an offence, but he was subsequently taken to court, and, in spite of the plea which he entered, a judicial-minded magistrate refused to accept the fact that he was a student as a justification of the misdemeanor, and actually fined him $10 and costs. When he had recovered from his astonishment, the young man handed over the money and resumed his collegiate career both sadder and wiser. If this case estal lishes a precedent, it may have a serious effect upon the attendance at Harvard. But students in Cambridge will not be likely to surrender their traditional rights without at least a struggle.

THE democrats in Santa Fe tried the neat but ancient trick of stealing the returns from the heaviest republican precinct in the country. Then the party managers joined in the hue and cry over the outrage but they tried to take advantage of the steal when the vote was canvassed. This game was nipped in the bud by a republican ju'ge, who ordered the returns to be brought before him. As control of the legislature turns upon the result of that county the republicans have scored a good point.

SOME of the candidates, who were not supposed to be in the fight, but who were elected by large majorities, promise to make as much fun as the sandlot brigade did in our legislature eleven years ago. One judge near Kansas City doesn't know any law, but he proposes to dispense that common-sense justice which is sometimes better than law. Still, the lawyers will be apt to tangle him up in technicalities until the court won't know itself.

A PECULIAR phase of the use of powerful projectors in naval warfare has been brought out in some tests made by the French naval authorities. It appears that in misty wheather the reflection and glare of the light from the projectors served only to blind the ship, and the torpedo boats were able to approach within easy distance and discharge their torpedoes without being discovered.

PERHAPS the unfavorably commented upon public man in the entire country just now is Census Superintendent Porter. The palpably apparent remissness of the enumeration gives ample grounds for criticism, but when the lack of numbers in our reputation is laid at the door of the McKinley bill as does the Alta, and Mr. Porter is blamed for all of that the height of supreme cruelty is reached.

OIL the waves has passed out of proverbs into practical use and ship masters now number in their supplies a quantity of this calm producing element.
