A Wagon Road Lost. The Lakeview Examiner says that there is a standing reward of $1000 for President Pond to ride over the line of his wagon road in Oregon, although he made affidavit that he traveled the line of this road in 1883. It is a well-established fact in Lakeview and Lake county that Mr. Pond did not travel over this road in this county, his affidavit to the contrary notwithstanding. It is also pretty well known that Mr. Pond commuted an Eugene via Silver Lake, Sumner Lake, Chewanac and Crooked Creek valley, and consequently was more than fifty miles away from the wagon road which was never built. Neither man nor devil can follow the line of this alleged wagon road across the valley without the aid of a surveyor. There is nothing even to show that a road has ever been surveyed, and old settlers who have lived here for years and before the grant was made, don't know, nor can they find this mythical road.

A LASCIVIOUS SOUNDREL.

BO Fellows in Jail for Criminal Intimacy With Miss Krueger.

R. O. Fellows, who was arrested at Scio for violating the chastity of Miss Krueger, a young German girl aged 16, was brought to this city yesterday by Constable Bilvold and lodged in jail in default of $200 bonds, he having waived examination and having been held to await the action of the grand jury.

Although there was no trial prosecuting Attorney J. R. Wyatt obtained from the girl, who is the complaining witness, some of the facts of the case. She said that Fellows began his criminal intimacy with her about a year ago. She was then 15 years old. He enticed her into a room at the residence of her sister, who was ill, and locked the door. He then occupied the room with her during the night. She said that he gave her some capsules, but that they did not produce insensibility and that he simply persuaded her by his glit tongue to comply with his wishes, and had continued such intimacy up to the time of his arrest.

Fellows is perhaps 45 years old, and has a wife and family. The charge of rape was withdrawn, and a charge of lewd and lascivious exhibition substituted, under which he is now in jail. It is said that additional charges of a similar nature are likely to be preferred, charging him with having enticed away other girls of tender years, and also for an intended assault upon a married woman of Scio, from which it would appear that he richly deserves vigorous punishment.

Fellows is a man of pleasing address when sober and sought to gain some literary fame as a correspondent under the nom de plume of "Brick Dust." If the charges against him are true he deserves a lengthy term in the penitentiary.

New Dam at Grant's Pass.

The dam across Rogue river at this place is 452 feet long, eight feet high in the center and gives a head of seven feet in the penstock. The force of the water as it now flows over the dam is equal to 156 horse power. One hundred and fifty-six horse power represents a power sufficient to raise 5,028,000 pounds at the rate of one foot per minute—this is enormous. To pump 1,000,000 gallons of water per day into the reservoir 150 feet above the town and to run the electric works will not require more than one half of this power. The reserve can be used in driving mills and factories. Great as this power is, by adding to the height of the dam the power can be increased several hundred horse power. Verily Rogue river is a giant in strength. And when this force is utilized what a revolution will be accomplished in the business of this place.—Rogue River Courier.

The Old Block House.

The Union Pacific Company have decided to fix up the old block house at the upper Cascades and preserve it from decay, as it is an object of interest to tourists, and will become more and more so as the years pass by. There are but few of the old block houses which the early settlers built as a means of defense against the Indians left standing. A few years ago there was one in the Kikickit valley on the border of Yaquina, and one at Camp Hoskins, and one at the Luckiamute, but it is probable that if either of these is left it is a mere ruin. The block house at the Cascades in full view from the cars of the Union Pacific will be long an object of interest. It is the intention of the company to make a picnic ground on their property at the Cascades, both at Bonneville and on the opposite side of the river.

Nothing to It.

Since the recent wreck at Lake Labish several have expressed an interest in seeing the Southern Pacific overland continue to use the west side track between Portland and Albany. There is no such idea entertained by the company, says the Oregonian and it adds, "It is only seventy-seven miles from here to Corvallis and the additional run of eleven miles across to Albany makes the proposition quite untenable. The rail has been the subject of considerable attention, especially going south when it is required to pull it up the Fourth-street grade."

The Lake Labish Wreck.

Salem Statesman: The story of the rail being removed to cause the wreck is a very thin one. I will not scan. Whatever causes the first break in the timbers of the trestle and resulted in the fearful disaster, it was certainly not the removal of the rail. The writer examined the rail and very clo and imbedded spikes very close together, and the facts do not at all support the theory. There is a variety of things that may have started the wreck, but alleged removing of the rail is not one of them.

Transferred from Yaquina.

J. S. Polhemus, who has had charge of the government works at Yaquina Bay ever since they were started, has been transferred to Coos Bay, where he will also have charge of government improvements at Coquille, Unappat, and Siuslaw. G. A. Lyell has been appointed to the position at Yaquina since the Corvallis Times.

LETTER LIST.

The following letters remain in the postoffice at Albany, Oregon, Nov. 19, needed for: Miss Minnie Bart, W. W. Case, David Gordon, D. Houston, L. A. Long, Halpinny & Mstr. L. E. Jones. RUFUS THOMPSON, P. M.

THE APPROACHING CITY ELECTION.

To the Editor of the Herald: I read with interest your article concerning the coming city election, especially the reference to the question of bonding the city for $75,000 for a system of public improvements, in favor of which the people have already voted.

What is required now is to elect councilmen who will carry through this good work already begun, and who are known to be in favor of this progressive move. There should be no half way grounds or mincing matters on this question. The writer does not believe that there are many citizens in Albany who would oppose such a system of public improvements as has already been mapped out by the present council and published in the Herald, but there are a few, and those few are men who would not serve the will of the people as councilmen during the next term. Let this question be looked after carefully. ALBANY, Nov. 19, 1890.

Lost a Fat Commission.

Judge Stearns, of Portland, has rendered a decision in a suit for a commission which will be read with interest by all real estate brokers. Some time ago M. J. Clohessey, representing J. Duval, the owner of a certain tract of land, gave J. Watson & Co., real estate dealers, an option on it for $3200. The latter accepted it believing that they had a customer who would pay them $4000 for the property. The would-be buyer, however, withdrew his offer, forfeiting $500 deposit. A few days prior to the expiration of Clohessey's bond he offered Watson & Co. a deed to the property for $3200, which for certain reasons they declined to accept, and subsequently Duval sold it for $3000. Watson & Co. began suit against Duval and Clohessey to recover the difference between $3200 and $3000, but Judge Stearns decided that in view of the non-acceptance of the deed when it was offered them, they were entitled to nothing beyond the $500 forfeit money.

Gene With Another Man.

The Port and Examiner is responsible for the following: A young man by the name of Sharpe, who recently came here from Corvallis, complains that his wife, only 18 years of age, has gone where the woodbine twined with a handsomer man by the name of Jones, and who is in the lively stable business. Sharpe, who is himself fond of horses as well as a pretty wife, married last September. For a time all went well until Mrs. Sharpe got going with other men to theatres, etc., and finally capped the climax by leaving Corvallis with a woman known as "Dutch Annie" and a railroad brakeman. Sharpe failed only to find that Mrs. S. had taken up with "a party by the name of Jones," and flatly refused to return home with him, saying that she had done all of the work she ever would do and preferred a life of ease.

In Higher Court.

E. C. Drough, attorney for the Southern Pacific Company, and Richard Williams, of Portland, were in Salem Monday attending to the case of Emma Miller and W. A. Guthrie vs. the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in the supreme court. Mr. Williams is the attorney for the respondent. It will be remembered that at the May term of the circuit court in Marion county these two cases were tried and the verdict by each jury was against the railroad company. Mrs. Miller was the wife of "Big Jack" Miller, killed in this wreck near Albany on July 28, 1889, and Wm. Guthrie was the brother of the fireman, who died also from the injuries received. In each case the sum sued for was $3000. The company appealed the cases, endeavoring to have the judgments reversed.—Statesman.

Still Investigating.

The state board of railroad commissioners continued its investigation of the Lake Labish train disaster yesterday. The day was taken up with the examination of witnesses, among whom were engineers and experts and those who visited the scene of the wreck soon after its occurrence. The testimony adduced was in the same line as that of the day before, no new developments being brought to light by the multifarious array of questions and cross-questions propounded by the commissioners. The testimony is being taken in the order of their knowledge and is being a count of the rails and an examination of the fallen trestle, that the rail found on the west side of the track was necessary to make the complement of rails. Others found a sufficient number without it. Some think the rail was misplaced and others believe the bridge to have been insecure. The question the people have been asking is, what are the railroad commissioners going to do about it when they have found out about the wreck.

To Purchase Railroad Lands.

An eastern company with a large amount of capital, is negotiating for the purchase of the military road lands now belonging to the Oregon & California Land Company, and lying along the line of the military road east of Eugene. It is understood they expect to bring settlers from the east who will make use of and cultivate the land. The timber in that region is very valuable.

A RUNAWAY DOCTOR.

Overtaken in This City and Slipped by His Wife.

A San Francisco doctor, who has acquired some fame as a specialist, Sweeney by name, and who had attempted to run away from his wife, was overtaken in this city yesterday by his irate better half. He encountered him on the train from Yaquina, and by way of salutation, treated him to a vigorous slap in the face and the passenger to a sensation at the same time. The angry wife then kept her shop eye on the recalcitrant doctor until Albany was reached, when they made up sufficiently to stop at the same hotel. The pair were afterwards out riding together, and will doubtless go home together after the usual reconciliation.

The doctor is said to be quite wealthy, and is a great advertiser.

The old office of the Farness Warehouse Co., which has served for many years as a place for ward meetings, primaries, and a voting place in elections of all kinds, is about to fall before the march of improvement, as the company is erecting a more metropolitan brick office one block farther east. This is more conveniently located, and is nearer the company's warehouse.
