CHARLEY ROSS' ABDUCTION DESCRIBED IN A TRANCE.
Shortly after the abduction of Charley Ross I was in Philadelphia, says Professor Herrmann. In common with others I suggested clues be followed, for nearly every one had a theory. A lady of high standing in Philadelphia at the time had given such close attention to the case as to become almost a monomaniac on the subject.
I visited her and found in her a splendid subject for a hypnotic trance. With the permission of her husband and in the presence of a half dozen of the most reputable physicians, I mesmerized the lady. My own idea was that a woman was used to abduct the child. The lady while in her trance under my influence described minutely, as the confession of one of the alleged abductors, many years afterward showed, how the little fellow was approached by a woman and enticed by candy to a wagon hard by, where he was taken in charge by two men who drove off with him. She followed him and after a while he was afterwards described by the confession, until the occurrence of shooting the little fellow by his brutal captors to insure their escape.
At this point in her recital the lady was overcome with hysterics and further efforts had to be abandoned. My mind was made up at this time by the confirmations of my theories on the subject that the lady had described accurately the methods employed in the abduction.
And my theory that electricity unseen, operating upon a person in close communion of thought with the hypnotizer, was the explanation of hypnotism was confirmed.—New York Herald.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—The board of lady managers of the world's fair this morning reassembled and elected Mrs. Potter Palmer president. When the national commission resumed its session, this morning, the trouble between the executive and foreign affairs committees, was settled by the adoption of a resolution setting forth the no disrespect to the foreign committee was intended, but simply an intimation that owing to the state of the funds available, strict economy was necessary in all committees. The auditing committee reported the expenses of the commission to date to be $51,000. The report of the committee on buildings and grounds was then taken up. It recommends that the fire art and decorative art building, music hall, electrical display, water palace and steel tower, with other German exhibits be placed on the lake front with the main department buildings, government and state exhibits in Jackson park and the overflow in a midway, pleasure and Washington park. The report of the committee was adopted, finally settling the site question.
HE AGREED TO SELL, SHE TO BUY.
PORTLAND, Nov. 20.—Susanna Goode, of Lamour county, North Dakota, began a suit in equity in the United States circuit court to-day, against Isaac K. Amend, of Marion county. The plaintiff tendered Amend notes and mortgages duly executed and acknowledged and demanded the conveyance of said lands. Amend refused to receive said notes and refused to deliver warranty deed and on July 7th notified the plaintiff agent that the agreement was null and void and forbade plaintiff to enter on the lands.
THE CHEROKEE STRIP.
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 20.—Secretary Blair, of the Cherokee strip live stock association is in the city to-day, for the purpose of settling the ruin and desolation now in order in the strip. He expressed the opinion that within thirty days from the time the strip is vacated by the ranchmen all the improvements made there will be possessed by thieves from Oklahoma and Kansas, unless the government order out troops to protect the property. The terms of the lease provides that all permanent improvements revert to the tenants to-day, for non-payment of rent. The Cherokee when the cattleman vacate. The value of the entire improvements he places at half a million dollars. In the suit of the association against J. R. Stroller, one of the tenants, and the Cherokee, the judge instructed the jury to find for the plaintiff, declaring the association's lease with the Indians valid and declared the Indians owners of the strip. The association will now sue the U. S. government for damages in the sum aggregating millions of dollars.

The story of the attempt to assassinate President Harrison seems to be attested by sufficient grounds to give it credence. It was the feverish dream of a crank, and was happily nipped before it had materialized enough to do any damage.
The story that Stanley reluctantly allowed to come to the surface, of how James bought a slave girl and allowed the savage African cannibals to kill and eat her, so that he could make sensational sketches of the actual deed, was not accepted in good faith at first. Now however the facts seem to be so well attested that even the fewest proteas of the dead artist's wife cannot counteract the effects of the narrative.
The cyclonic and droughty belt of country west of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, is sending immense delegations of immigrants to all parts of the Pacific Coast where such freaks of nature have heretofore been unknown.
