M., the German Lutherans will meet at the First Presbyterian church. Preaching by the Lutheran minister, Gust. M. Meyer of Mt. Angel.

Royal Austrian Beautifier, for sale at the Golden Rule Bazaar. Do not tolerate any blemishes on your face, use Thyonin cream and cream and lotion. J. Gradwohl, agent. Mr. Frank Wood is now cutting stone by steam at his quarry across the river from this city, and is getting out some heavy stone to be used in the paper mills at Lebanon.

It is stated on good authority that the Oregon Pacific railroad is in process of reorganization, and will be pushed eastward in the spring with more vigor than ever. A railroad has just been completed to the City of Jerusalem, and the iron horse is clanging through the streets of a city that was old when Christ was young. There is still hope for some of the ancient cities of this valley.—Corvallis Times.

Several citizens of Corvallis went to the front on the Oregon Pacific railroad last week in search of timber land. They expect to form a syndicate for the manufacture of lumber. Everybody will want their silkworms polished up for the holidays. There is nothing better for this than Kenton's Sea Lion Polish. For sale by F. L. Kenyon. Price 25 cents per box.

While waiting for the postoffice to open step into Will & Link's music store and see their large assortment of new books and sheet music just received. Parties at a distance should write for catalogues. One thousand pounds of sheet music and books received this week at Will & Link's. Good music has always been one of the principal attractions of the Royce & Lansing Co., and in this respect the public will not be disappointed in their new medley sketch, called "Tom's Vacation." Incidentally will be introduced many charming instrumental and vocal numbers. Their songs are almost without exception, entirely new, many of them written expressly for their use. Lizzie Royce has several new ballads which she will introduce.

For low rates, excellent accommodations and all the features that constitute a successful and enjoyable trip to the East, take the Union Pacific railroad. Through trains to Omaha, Council Bluffs, Chicago, Denver and Kansas City, consisting of dining, drawing room, sleeping and reclining upholstered chair cars are attached to daily trains. For sleeping car reservation and etc., apply at the Union Ticket office, foot of Broadalbin street. C. G. Rawlings, Agent.

UNBROUGHTSFUL CLAIM-JUMPERS.

They Fail to Secure a Coveted Piece of Land and Retire in Confusion.

The wife and daughter of a well-known timber man have been living on isolated claims near the Nehalem valley for nearly two years, and during that time they have suffered privations and hardships that have made the claims seem dear to them, no matter what their future value may be. They have made many improvements on the places, and have built roads many other ways made their claims much more valuable than any others in that vicinity. Taking these things into consideration it is not strange they should have a desire to retain possession of the land.

Recently three Russians rode in over the trails cut by these settlers and proceeded to erect cabins on the claims already taken by the ladies. They finished their cabins and then came to town and laid in a supply of provisions, and were packing it in over the trail, and in the meantime they suddenly met the husband and father of the original settlers on their claims. This gentleman does not waste any words when he has a communication to make, so he brought his Winchester up to his shoulder and said "halt!" and the procession stopped. "Now git," said he "and if you ever show up in this vicinity again I'll fill you so full of holes you would do for a sieve." The would-be claim-jumpers stood not on the order of their going, but fled with all possible speed, and the ladies are still in possession of their ranches.

He Shot a Very Fat Bear.

The Oregonian says that L. P. W. Quimby returned to the city yesterday, after a bear hunt in Washington county. Butt's creek in the vicinity of Butt's mill, was the ground selected as the scene for the intended massacre, and the country was thoroughly worked over. As an indubitable proof of the good work accomplished, Mr. Quimby brought back with him the paw of a fat young black bear, which he says he shot. Although the bear was a very young one, he was so fat on the account that it could hardly walk. When the hounds scared up a "varmint" it ran only about a hundred yards before it took to a tree. Then when the brave hunter arrived on the scene, from some cause or another, presumably the heavy weight of bruin, the tree broke and the bear fell to the ground, breaking its neck. The hotel man, to make sure of his game, immediately emptied a very heavy charge from his Winchester into the bear, and had the carcass dragged to the camp. Over a hundred men viewed the remains at the camp, and it pronounced it the fattest bear they had ever seen. The fat on the neck was fully two inches thick, and it was estimated that on the carcass there was no less than 150 pounds of bear grease.

Thanksgiving at the Penitentiary.

The prisoners in the Oregon state penitentiary are going to have a rare treat to-day. The superintendent has in preparation, says the Salem Statesman, a feast that will not be excelled on a great many tables outside the bars on that day. Thursday will be a full holiday for the prisoners, as well as for the people generally. At the prison, as it is observed as much as Sunday. At 10 o'clock there will be singing in the chapel by the prison choir, which has no superior anywhere. At noon a dinner of chicken and turkey—raised on the place—and veal, etc., will be served. At night the musical programme will be repeated, there being, aside from the choir's singing, several recitations, essays, solos, etc. In the evening visitors will be admitted as long as there is room for any.

A Valuable Enterprise.

A visit to the nursery of Brownell & Hyman exhibits an amount of nursery stock and a volume of business that is truly astonishing. Their trees are the finest in growth and vigor that can be found, and are truly phenomenal in size and beauty, considering that they are of one season's growth, without the use of fertilizers, but simply the product of good cultivation and careful attention. They are sound, free from blemish or destructive insects, having passed the examination of the inspector. Varney—and are very desirable. Fruit is the leading Oregon industry, and at this fresh vigorous nursery can be found the best of trees for planting.

He Apologized.

A stranger, evidently an anthropologist, called at the postoffice yesterday and received a letter upon which was due two cents. "Do you take pennies?" he asked of the lady clerk in attendance, as he paid the excess. "Oh, yes," was the reply. "I did know the people out here had any cents," he remarked as he handed two coppers through the window. The clerk understood his remark as intended to slander the people here by saying they had no cents, and she and she immediately grasped the situation and pleasantly apologized.

LETTER LIST.

The following letters remain in the postoffice: Albany, Nov. 28, uncalled for: Mary J. Cathcart, William Donaldson, Mrs. Nora Elliott, Columbus Gates, Nathan Gray, I. Harrison, Geo. W. Hess, Mr. Ragdale, F. W. Beardsley, Anvrat Olsen, Miss Beardsley, Miss Alvina Schaefer, Ludwig Spady, Mrs. Charlot Wheeler, Miss Minnie Womer. Rufus Thompson, P. M.

THANKSGIVING OBSERVANCE.

The Churches Will Hold Union Services at 11 A. M. To Day.

Following is the programme of the union Thanksgiving services to be held to-day in the United Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock to-day: Opening piece—"Come Into His Courts." Invocation—Rev. I. B. Fisher. Reading of the president's and governor's proclamation—Rev. G. W. Hill. Singing—100th Psalm. Scripture reading—Rev. S. E. Meminger. Prayer—Rev. E. R. Prichard. Singing. Sermon—S. G. Irvine. Prayer—Rev. H. J. Shangle. Collection. Benediction—Rev. J. F. Stewart. The collection is for the benefit of the Ladies Aid Society in their work on the orphan's home and asylum.

The Ladies Aid Society Benefit.

The entertainment at the opera house last night for the benefit of the orphan's home, was attended by a full house, who enjoyed the evening to the fullest extent. The music throughout was superb and reflected great credit upon the performers. All were expectant when Miss Moses appeared upon the stage, and they were not disappointed, for her readings filled every expectation and delighted the audience, especially the encore rendition of the "Goblins Will Get You," so also with Miss Willis, the sweet singer from Salem. The reputation which had preceded her was fully sustained, and the audience was perfectly delighted. The performance of the Peak Sisters was unique, laughable, enjoyable and interesting. Every member of the large family of sisters performed their parts to perfection, and no more enjoyable an entertainment will be listened to in the opera house for many a day. The eldest and youngest daughters, Mrs. Searls and Miss Ora DuBrulle, deserve special mention, though each one in the lengthy programme, which has been published, were perfect in their parts. To Mr. Henry Higgins, who, we understand, has spared no pains in drilling the ladies for the piece, the aid society, for the success attained, and the audience for the enjoyment of the evening, are indebted. It was a perfect success throughout.

A WILD KID.

A boy, while trying to ride a horse with simply a halter on, frightened pedestrians last evening by dashing down First street on the sidewalk at a clattering pace. The horse ran an entire block, and narrowly missing several of the swinging signs, before he was stopped.

Stamping Done Free.

They also guarantee Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure in all cases of nervous organic heart disease, palpitation, pain in side, smothering, etc. Free book on "Nervous Heart Diseases" free.

GRANGE MATTERS.

It must be borne in mind that the next meeting of Linn County Business Council on account of sickness in the vicinity of Tangent has been changed from that place and will convene with Grand Prairie, No. 10, on Saturday Dec. 6th, at their hall three miles southeast of this city. A correspondent from Shedd says that Oakplain Grange is in a very prosperous condition, having taken in quite a large number of members, and is thinking of a dinner and a pleasant social time at the 14th, December. They will have it for Oakplain does no half way matters of that kind.

The Diphtheria.

There has been some talk in regard to the prevalence of the dread disease in Halsey, but we are reliably informed that there has been but one case of it in that vicinity and that was a full half mile from the town. All necessary precautions should be used but unnecessary scares should be avoided.

Parties wanting a new fat turkey, duck or chicken for Thanksgiving will find it to their interest to call and leave orders with Conn & Hendricson.

ABOUT FLAX CULTURE.

Mr. G. W. Wright, president of the Board of Trade of this city, is in receipt of the following letter of inquiry from Secretary Maston of the Oregon Immigration Board: PORTLAND, Nov. 21, 1890. G. W. WRIGHT, Esq., Albany, Oregon.

Dear Sir—The president of the State Board of Commerce has referred us to you for some information about flax culture in your vicinity, we have an inquiry from an eastern firm that makes tow from flax for the use of upholsters, parlor furniture and lounges. We will be greatly obliged if you will advise us on the following points, viz: Is the flax grown in your vicinity within easy hauling distance of Albany? Is there much flax grown in your vicinity? Is there any prospect of more flax there? This concern uses the flax straw; this therefore would be clear gain to raisers of flax, as the straw here, we understand, is all waste; they use it just as it comes from the threshing machine or floor. We will under many obligations to you for an early reply. Yours Truly, E. W. MASTON, Secretary.

In answer to these inquiries it can be stated that at present, but little flax is raised in this city, the same is raised in the Forks of the Santiam, about 15 miles distant, which is grown for the seed and sold to the flaxmills in Salem. Several years ago a large amount was raised for use by the flax factory of this city, but since the closing of the latter the flax crop has been small. Flax grows well in this locality, however, and if a market was offered for either the seed or straw it could be raised profitably, and in large quantities.

HOLIDAY SHOPPERS.

Should See the Wonderful Array at the Golden Rule Bazaar.

Mr. Julius Gradwohl, the energetic and enterprising proprietor of the Golden Rule Bazaar in this city, whose store contains the largest and best selected stock of crockery, glass and other wares for domestic use, in the valley, as well as fancy wares, toys and beautiful holiday goods, has returned from a several months trip to San Francisco, where he has replenished and enlarged his entire stock with pleasure. He has replenished now has a store that is a credit to himself and an ornament to the city. His shelves, counters and every available space are filled with the choicest and most varied stock of goods ever seen in this valley, including a mammoth display of holiday goods. He has added a new line which consists of a beautiful assortment of rolled gold jewelry warranted to wear as good as gold and costing one-tenth the price. He has also cut pins, rings, fine timepieces for holiday presents and novelties. His stock is now in and holiday shoppers should lose no time in seeing his wonderful array which is not surpassed by any on the coast either in elegance or prices.
