Thanksgiving day was duly observed in this city yesterday. The banks and some of the other business houses were closed, and clerks, business men and citizens generally joined in the observance of the day.

Union services were held by the churches at the United Presbyterian church at 11 A. M., at which time the following program was carried out: Opening hymn—"Come Into His Courts."

Invocation—Rev. I. B. Fisher. Reading of the president's and governor's proclamation—Rev. G. W. Hill.

A collection was taken up for the benefit of the orphans' home and hospital, and a liberal sum was donated.

The dinner given by the ladies of the Aid Society was continued during the day, and was well patronized. A handsome sum was realized for the orphans' home, and the splendid menu was enjoyed by all.

The tables of the different hotels and restaurants of the city were graced with the most tempting dinners, at which the national fowl, daintily browned, appeared at his best.

The people of Albany, who have witnessed the prosperous growth and steady progress of this city were in a thankful mood, and the day was observed in a manner becoming a contented and prosperous population of 7000 souls.

The day closed with a grand ball given at the armory by the Albany fire department, which was in every way a success.

HOW THE LYMPH (IS) PLACED?

Professor Koch Explains His Great Discovery to Emperors.

From Berlin comes the report that the lymph used by Professor Koch for the cure of tuberculosis is prepared in an incubating stove within a glass case that is hermetically sealed and sterilized and thereby rendered free from fungus. The interior of the airtight space is divided by an unglazed porcelain diaphragm into an upper and lower section. In the upper section is placed a salted meat broth in a gelatinous state, containing colonies of the tubercle germ. This mass gradually liquefies and the relative liquid drops slowly through the porcelain plate into the lower section. The liquid then contains all the secretory products, but is free from all living or dead germs or reproductive spores, and is the lymph as used.

By the injection of the lymph the tubercle germ is killed, and at the same time the injected particles retain sufficient strength to detach and expel the dead germs, together with the dead tissue. The resulting process ensues and healing follows.

A meeting of the Medical Society was held at which Professor Virchow, the celebrated German physician, presided. Professor Virchow made an address in which he defended Professor Koch against the charge of having prematurely published the facts regarding his discovery. The first information he gave regarding the subject, Professor Virchow said, was given to the Medical Congress recently held in Berlin, and the disclosures he made were in accordance with the urgent request of a committee of the Congress and Dr. Von Gieseler, Prussian Minister of Ecclesiastical Affairs, Education and Medical Affairs.

Villard and Gould.

There is a great deal about Mr. Villard's financial calculations to call out a tolerant admiration. His genius in the way of getting together an unrivaled collection of speculative cats and dogs, and by capitalizing them under a corporation with a new kind of name, creating a glittering title of credit, is something phenomenal even among the fraternity of stock inflators. But an even more exceptional feature of Mr. Villard's genius, and one which almost reconciles his victims to him, is that for getting caught in the collapse of his own bubbles, any would's process of getting a worthless property in shape to float on the unsuspecting public is slow and painstaking beside the dazzling achievements of Villard in the same line; but his finale to every such work of art, in the form of unloading and getting his profits safely in the bank before the drop comes, is almost as certain as the two proverbial certainties, death and taxation. Mr. Villard, on the other hand, while floating his bubbles with a dash that leaves a trail far in the rear, sticks to them till the catastrophe comes down in the general smash, and then gets on his feet again, with a gallantry that almost indicates the belief on his part that his attractive balloons are real and solid values.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Goose Lake Disappearance.

From the following report it seems likely that ere long only the name will remain of the once famous Goose lake. The report says: Goose lake, in Lake county, has dried up to such an extent that whole sections of land are made vacant, and lately the land office at Lakeview received twenty-eight filings on land made vacant by the exhaustion of the lake water.

STOLE A MUTTON.

But Their Feast Was Badly Interrupted by the Officers.

The Pendleton East Oregonian says: Near the railroad bridge below town Saturday evening four members of the society generally known as "box-or tourists" were preparing for a glorious feast on a mutton stolen from Mehrbach & Stensloff's meat market, when their festivities were rudely and sadly interrupted. Officers Culp and Johnson had been notified of the theft, and thinking it probably that the hoboes had gone in that direction, took a tour below town. They arrived just in time to put a stop to the banquet, and the visions of a square meal entertained by the hungry unfortunates were dispelled. They were marched back to town forthwith, and are now enjoying the chilly hospitality of the city jail.

The trial of the hobos for larceny will take place this evening.

New Fast Boats.

From Puget Sound comes the news that Captain A. B. Scott, of Portland, builder of the steamers Fleetwood and Telephone, No. 1 and 2, all boats of extraordinary speed, is about to begin the construction of two steamers which, it is expected, will outrun anything on the Sound or Columbia river.

The steamers are to be 174 feet and 20 feet beam, and are to be of the propeller model, with the strongest engines commensurate with safety on boats of that size. It is Captain Scott's intention to build the boats in the Tacoma Seattle ship yard, the trip between the two cities in one hour, carrying nothing but passengers, making the round trip with the two boats every hour and ten minutes, the ten minutes being allowed to cover the time consumed in embarkation and disembarkation. The first of these boats is expected to be finished by July 1, 1891. The machinery has been ordered. The best time made so far between the two cities is one hour and 29 minutes, the record of the T. J. Potter.

A Piquee Canoeist.

Albert Rapplege, the canoeist sent out by the New York Mail and Express to cross the continent by water in a canoe, nearly reached the end of his journey last night. He passed Tuesday night at St. Helena, and was seen by a reporter there Wednesday morning as he was about to resume his tiresome voyage down the river. His trail raft is in a badly demoralized condition, and is hardly safe to continue on down the river, but he said that if it went under the raft swim ashore and let it go. He anticipates no further trouble, as a river captain gave him instructions at St. Helena how to round Tongue point. When he reaches Astoria Mr. Rapplege will leave for Portland, and on his arrival send his canoe home. It is to be exhibited at the World's fair. The object of Mr. Rapplege's trip of 6750 miles by water is to advertise the journal employing him. At every telegraph station he sends his paper a line, and once a week he gives his experience in a letter.

The Drivings.

At Corvallis Cain, McCullough & Co. recently completed a thoroughly equipped pile driving machine for which there has long been a demand at Corvallis and at other points on the river. The owners have secured a contract from the Benton County Flouring Mills Co. to drive 380 feet of piling in front of their mill in this city. The piling is 45 feet long and is to be driven 10 feet into the earth, faced with heavy boards and planked over, thus giving additional space about the mill. J. A. Cauthorn has also engaged this machine to drive 30 feet of piling along the front of his warehouse property, and there will be considerable other work of the same nature performed along the city's water front. These improvements became necessary on account of the incursions of the high waters, the current being strong on the west side of the river at this point.—Gazette.

The Corvallis Revolt.

The high water last winter seriously damaged the government work on the river at Corvallis, put in to prevent the channel from leaving the city, and its resetting is earnestly solicited. The Gazette says: A party of government surveyors under direction of J. M. Clapp, arrived in Corvallis Saturday and began a thorough survey of the river between a point five miles above the city and a mile below where the overflow empties into the main channel. The party will be at this point about a month or six weeks, but it is not probable that we shall be able to learn anything concerning the result of their labors before their report and recommendations reach congress.

Attempted Incendiarism.

A fire alarm sounded at 6:30 last evening, to which the fire department quickly responded. A blaze was discovered in a smoke house in a smoke house in the rear of Shultz Bros. meat market. It was evidently the work of an incendiary, and but for its timely discovery a serious conflagration might have ensued. Mr. Shultz says that an attempt was made several weeks ago to fire the buildings, but the fire bug was frightened away. The police force are on the lookout for such villains, and should any more attempts be made they are likely to come to grief.

Another Railroad at Yaquina.

The Yaquina Republican in its latest issue says: A large and enthusiastic meeting was held at the opera house to consider the proposition of the Newport Improvement Company to build a railway from Newport to Arlie via Foulweather. The proposition is very reasonable one and will be accepted, and with our unsurpassed natural resources, Newport on the west will rival Newport on the east. There is no question of the ability of the company to perform all and more than they propose.

A telegram was read from the treasurer of the company that plenty of money was at hand to prosecute the work at once. A letter was from the president who expressed his confidence in the future of Yaquina bay, and says that in his opinion this proposed improvement will do more to develop the country than anything that has been proposed.

Those present subscribed $20,000 as a subsidy to secure the building of the line. The Newport Improvement Company is composed of some of the most substantial citizens in the whole Willamette valley, and it is understood that a large extent in the new enterprise which they have in hand.

His People Were Wealthy.

It is said that J. J. McKeirney, who died at Tacoma last Sunday of typhoid fever, was working, when taken sick, as a day laborer in a logging camp near that city. He told nothing about himself, and every one about the camp supposed he had neither money nor friends. Since his death it is learned that his parents, who live in San Jose, Cal., are quite wealthy. He had a quarter of the Albany mill in the world without paternal aid. The young man's remains were embalmed, placed in a $300 casket and shipped to his home.

I. O. O. F. Election.

At the last regular meeting of Albany Lodge of Odd Fellows the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: C. W. Sears, N. G.; G. F. Russell, V. G.; J. L. Underwood, R. S.; E. A. Parker, P. S.; J. Gradwohl, Treas.; W. M. Ketchum, W. C. Tweedale and T. J. Stites, trustees.
