A new tariff he says, will probably take effect January 1st. Speaking of the railroad situation he said: "The scarcity of cars is not confined to the railroads of the Pacific Northwest. The same shortage exists on lines in Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, and other middle Western states, and the movement of the grain crop is retarded."

SITTING BULL SHOT.

HE IS KILLED IN A FIGHT WITH INDIAN POLICE.

Thirteen Men Killed in an Attempt to Arrest the Notorious Chief and Leader of the Mesquah Craze

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—A nine o'clock tonight Assistant Adjutant General Corbin, of General Miles' staff, received an official dispatch from St. Paul, saying that Sitting Bull, five of Sitting Bull's men and seven Indian police were killed in a fight to-day, following an attempt by the police to arrest Sitting Bull.

General Brooke, in charge of the troops at Pine Ridge, telegraphed the situation to Assistant Adjutant General Corbin, at army headquarters to-night as follows: "All Indians can be brought in are now here or near here leaving about 200 bucks in the bad lands, who refuse to listen to any one or anything. Against these I will send a sufficient force to capture or fight them. All has been done that can be done. The Indians now have a great many stolen horses and cattle with them and I hope to be able to end this matter to-day."

The following official telegram was also received from St. Paul, dated Dec. 15: "To Col. Corbin, Assistant Adjutant General, Chicago.—Sitting Bull was arrested this morning at daylight by the Indian police. Friends attempted his rescue, and a fight ensued, in which Sitting Bull and seven of his men, Captain Bear and four others were killed, also seven Indian police. Captain Feibel arrived just in time with his troops, Hotchkiss and Gatling guns, and secured the body of Sitting Bull by command of General Miles."

Sunday last Agent McLaughlin of the Standing Rock agency visited Sitting Bull's camp and had conference with Sitting Bull and a number of his men. McLaughlin assured them of what his present errand would lead to, to the satisfaction of the Indians, and dis-regard for department orders were not soon discontinued. Sitting Bull, while very obstinate and at first inclined to assume the role of "big chief," finally admitted the truth of McLaughlin's reasoning. He had a proposition to make which was that McLaughlin should accompany him on a journey to trace this agency to each of the other tribes of Indians through which the story of the Indian Messiah had been handed on, and he reached the last tribe, or where it originated, if they could not produce the man who started the story, and did not find the new Messiah as described, upon earth, together with the dead Indians returning to re-inhabit the land, he would return convinced that they (the Indians) had been imposed upon, which report from him would satisfy the Sioux, and all the practices of ghost societies would come to an end, but if they found him as professed, he would return to convince them to continue their practice and organize as they are endeavoring to do.

McLaughlin told him the proposition was a novel one, but an attempt at carrying it out would be similar to an attempt catch what blew last year. The Indians, Dec. 15.—Indian Commissioner Morgan this evening received from Indian Agent McLaughlin the following dispatch, dated Fort Yates, N. D., Dec. 15: "United States troops now have possession of Sitting Bull's camp, with all the women, children and property. Sitting Bull's followers, probably 100 men, deserted their families and fled west up Grand river. Several troops of cavalry are after them in different directions and it is expected they will be overtaken by a general outbreak of the Sioux reservation is not feared, and those disaffected bands which are now giving trouble will soon be placed where they will cease to be the cause of alarm for settlers. The Sioux treasury has been rounded up by a general campaign. The police behaved nobly and great credit is due them."

Commissioner Morgan showed this telegram to the president late this evening. The president said he had heard of Sitting Bull as the great disturbing element in the tribe and now that he was out of the way he hoped a settlement of the difficulties could be reached without further bloodshed.

The cause of the suicide is a mystery, as Jennings' domestic relations were known to have been very pleasant and his business was in excellent condition.

RAILROAD RATES.

Agreement Made for "Fixing" the Charges on the Big Roads

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—At the railroad presidents' meeting to-day, it was unanimously resolved to form an advisory board, consisting of the president and one director of each road, which shall have the entire charge of rate making and the conducting of joint agencies. This agreement is to last for six months and any road may withdraw at the end of that time by giving ninety days notice.

The long expected meeting of the representatives of Western railroads was held to-day at the house of Banker Morgan. All Western roads, except the Chicago & Alton, were represented. The preliminary agreement, which has already been published, was presented by Jay Gould and read. After some discussion Morgan said that after long consideration a plan had been agreed to. The plan provides for the formation of a new association between the several companies west of Chicago and St. Louis, to be under the management and direction of an advisory board, to consist of the president and one member of the board of directors of each company. It shall have power to establish and maintain uniform rates between competitive points and decide all questions of common interest between the members. It shall have entire charge of all outside agencies for securing traffic at competitive points. The rates and policy adopted by the advisory board shall continue in force and be binding until altered by a board vote of at least four-fifths of the members, which shall be required for any act of binding upon all. No company shall withdraw from the association except after 90 days' written notice. This agreement was laid by each representative present before the board of directors to present to his respective stockholders. After a long discussion it was adopted. Most perfect harmony prevailed at the meeting.

A CRISIS REACHED.

BEHINDING SEATROUBLE ASUMING UGLY PROPORTIONS.

Secretary Blaine Insists Upon the Rights of the United States—No Agreement Reached.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—A Washington special says: It appears that another crisis has been reached in the negotiations between this government and Great Britain with regard to seal fisheries in Behring sea. It is learned from a reliable source that Blaine intends to send to congress within a few days a special report on the subject which will declare another failure to agree even upon a mode of proceedings to effect a final agreement. Both sides it appears are willing to leave to arbitration the question of sovereignty in the waters of the B-iring sea, and consequently the right of the United States revenue cutters to seize or interfere with Canadian sealing vessels outside the three-mile limit. They mutually agreed upon the method of getting at this arbitration and they cannot agree upon a temporary regulation to be applied during the time which must elapse before the result of arbitration can be known.

FINANCIAL STRINGENCY.

Republican Senatorial Caucus Formulating a Relief Measure.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The republican senatorial caucus committee to-day had a long consultation with Secretary Windom, respecting the formulation of a financial relief measure. The secretary endorsed a proposition to reduce the compulsory holding of United States bonds by national banks and commended the purpose to issue notes without pledging the government bonds.

In regard to the proposition to purchase the existing surplus silver on hand now in the country, Secretary Windom took positive grounds in favor of the purchase as a means of enhancing the price of silver and relieving the present financial stringency. Suggestions will be submitted to the caucus to-night in the shape of a bill to be drafted by Sherman. The main feature will be as follows: "Provision for the purchase of $12,000,000 of silver surplus without one year, not to exceed $5,000,000 worth any one month, in addition to the purchase of 450,000 ounces per month now required by law; issue of 2 per cent bonds not to exceed $100,000,000 in amount and $100,000,000 of silver cent bonds (bullion) (in addition to the foregoing requirements) to make good the deficiency in the national bank circulation whenever that circulation falls below $180,000,000 by means of the issue of treasury notes based upon bullion thus purchased. In case bullion in sufficient amount to meet this deficiency can not be obtained, the deficiency circulation will be made good by the issuance of ordinary treasury notes in addition.

CLARKSON ON POLITICS.

The Recent Election, the Election Bill and the Farmers' Alliance.

BOSTON, Dec. 15.—Ex-Assistant Postmaster General Clarkson in an interview on national politics said that he did not ascribe to big importers an extraordinary large share in the defeat of the republicans at the recent election. Speaking of the election bill Clarkson said he was in favor of it, but there were no assurances that it would pass, as some senators who had speculations at stake would set the bill be defeated through delay. On the prospects of financial legislation Clarkson thought there was a majority in each house in favor of free coinage. He thought a revision of the banking law was needed in favor of the farmer, and he said the Farmers' Alliance had some modification of the banking system was made.

The Portland Hospital Trouble.

PORTLAND, Dec. 15.—The trouble in the Portland Methodist hospital at East Portland has been settled. The charges of improper conduct against Kellerman have been thoroughly investigated and fallen to the ground. He has been completely vindicated.

A DESPERATE WOMAN

She Throws Herself in Front of an Express Train.

COLD WEATHER ON THE COAST

Several Chinamen Burned to Death in San Francisco—The Mesquah Craze in California.

WOBURN, Mass., Dec. 15.—Jas. G. Callahan, a switchman at the Green street crossing, had a thrilling adventure Saturday evening. Just as the express train was due he happened to glance from the window of his shanty, when he discovered Hannah Dillon, a handsome and athletic young woman, on the track directly in front of the incoming train. The woman was intoxicated, and absolutely refused to be led to a place of safety. Callahan endeavored to remove her by force, when the woman drew a revolver and fired a joint blank at him. Callahan threw her arms aside, and the bullet flew wide of its mark. The woman quickly leveled the revolver again before Callahan could seize her arm, and a second shot was fired, the bullet passing through his coat. The woman was then wrested from, and after a desperate struggle the woman was dragged into a shanty and her hands tied. The police were notified, and the woman was taken to the lock-up. The woman accused Callahan of betraying her and says she deliberately placed herself on the track, knowing that if Callahan saw her he would rescue her. She then intended to kill him as he carried her from the track in his arms. She is believed to be insane.
