A TERRIFIC STORM.

The East Swept by a Blinding Snow Storm.

ALL THE TRAINS DELAYED.

While the Sun Shines Brightly in Oregon, Business is Paralyzed and Traffic Suspended in the Frozen East.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—The predicted snowstorm arrived this morning. Navigation in the rivers and bay is seriously interfered with. So far no accidents are reported. The weather bureau tent out warnings last night to the officers of all Eastern railroads to look out for heavy snow, and ordered northeast storm signals hoisted all along the Atlantic coast.

POINT PLEASANT, N. J., Dec. 26.—Reports are coming in of a blinding snow storm raging along the coast from Sandy Hook to Cape May. Telegraphs and telephone wires are down and streets along the coast are feared. Reports from all points in New York show an exceedingly heavy snow fall, and consequently an interruption of traffic.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 26.—Another big snowstorm is raging here. It has been snowing steadily for eighteen hours, and there is no indication of cessation. Between twelve and fourteen inches of snow has already fallen. Trains are all behind time, and street car traffic on all but the cable roads is suspended.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 26.—The heavy snow was followed to day by rain and to night it froze hard. Many telegraph and telephone wires are going down.

The Willamette University Will Remain in Salem.

PORTLAND TO BUILD ANOTHER

Hundreds of Desperate Discharged Laborers from the Union Pacific Railroad—A Murder at Pendleton.

PORTLAND, Dec. 26.—The committee on location of the Portland university have received offers of five different sites, all of them on or near the Willamette river. At the meeting last Tuesday when it was decided to incorporate the university, P. L. Willis, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Oregon were asked to select one of three things: First, to drop the whole question and let the Willamette university drift along as it had; second, to meet the threatened junction in the courts for the next two or three years, and by such contest to foster and increase the bitterness developed at Salem among the brethren and citizens; third, to start a new university and drop the threatened junction. To him it seemed that perhaps the last would be the wisest and happiest solution of the problem.

Rev. G. M. Pierce said: First, let us drop the removal question from our plans; second, let us start a new university here and now; third, let us call it the "Portland University."

Rev. R. C. Houghton said: Let us drop the removal question from our plans; second, let us start a new university here and now; third, let us call it the "Portland University."

MURDER AT PENDELTON. A Union Pacific Employee Killed by a Tough.

PENDELTON, Or., Dec. 26.—Yesterday morning at 7 o'clock at the Union Pacific depot in this city a man known as a horse, shot three times with a .33-caliber pistol Scott Marchbank, an employe of the railroad company. The trouble was over a few dollars due the former from the latter. Immediately after the shooting the horse took to the hills, but was captured at a late hour in the afternoon. Marchbank will probably die, as two balls entered his side and are buried deep in his body.

DESISTE WORKMEN. Portland Full of Workless Railroad Laborers Out of Work.

PORTLAND, Dec. 26.—The condition of affairs of the discharged laborers of the Union Pacific's Sound extension seems to grow more complicated every day. At present there are over 1000 idle laborers in the city, and the chief of police has information that 700 more will arrive to-night. No money is yet in the hands of the contractors for the men. Many of the laborers are being furnished beds at the city jail.

ANOTHER BANK SUSPENDED. WOODSOKET, S. D., Dec. 26.—The Saulton county bank, run by Leon L. Stevens, was closed this morning. The county treasurer had $8000 of the bank's money in the bank, and a number of merchants were also caught. SCIENTIFIC NOTES.

A German finds the human eye most sensitive to light of medium wave length, being more affected by green rays than by red, and by red more than by blue.

Oxygen is the most abundant of all the elements. It composes at least one-third of the earth, one-fifth of the atmosphere and eight-ninths by weight of all the water on the globe. It is also a very important constituent of all mineral, animal and vegetable.

The acquisition of Heligoland has given the Germans an opportunity of testing the suitability of submarine cables for telephonic purposes, and it is stated that some experiments made between Heligoland and Cuxhaven, seventy-five kilometers distant were most satisfactory.

Some interesting experiments have recently been made in Denmark in felling trees with gun cotton. For felling a tree twenty-five inches in girth, it took two men a quarter of an hour to make the incision, the rate of work being to make one bore hole for each foot of circumference.

The best pictures so far taken of the moon show that parallel walls, whose tops are no more than 200 yards or so in width, and which are not more than 1000 or 1200 yards apart, are plainly visible.

The web of the spider is secreted by certain glands as a thick, viscous liquid, and passes into the air through organs known as spinnerets, several groups of which are situated on the under side of the abdomen.
