ON SALE. The DAILY HERALD will be on sale each morning at 11. J. Jones' book store, where it can be procured at 5 cents per copy.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

Geo. Humphrey went to Salem yesterday noon. E. D. Cusick came up from Salem yesterday.

Al Haskers, of Newport, spent Sunday in Albany. It is said that a newspaper is soon to be started at Mill City.

Mrs. Coll Van Cleve and children went to Toledo yesterday. Miss Lora Vance takes her departure to-day for a visit in Portland.

Be sure and get a pair of blankets that Sears is selling for less than cost. Geo. H. Keeney left yesterday for a trip to California for the benefit of his health.

Marriage license was issued yesterday to B. Wheelton and Miss Bertie S. Brandon.

Miss Anna Farrell went to Tangent yesterday to take charge of the school there.

John Isom, jr., one of Albany's sportsmen, bagged 68 ducks near Brownsville last Sunday.

Mrs. W. C. Davis, who has been ill with typhoid fever for nearly four months, is convalescing.

Joseph Watson and Johnnie Reynolds took yesterday's noon train for Portland, where they will reside in the future.

Mrs. Phell, of Corvallis, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. P. Schlosser, in this city for a few days past, returned home yesterday.

Miss Patton, of Sacramento, Cal., who has been visiting with Mrs. Scott, in this city for several months, leaves to-night for her home.

J. W. Cusick, C. W. Watts and S. A. Dawson were among those who went to Salem yesterday to witness the opening of the legislative session.

The Railroad street sewer, upon which the contract is now completed, was examined yesterday by the committee on streets and public property.

Miss Minnie Monteith went to Salem yesterday noon. Miss Monteith was engrossing clerk two years ago in the senate and expects to secure the same this year.

Eat good things and enjoy yourself while you live for you will be a long time dead. If you buy your groceries of Parker Bros. you cannot be otherwise than happy.

The proprietor of the Willamette hotel at Salem has been fined $29.25 for having a "runner" at the train, contrary to the provisions of an ordinance just adopted.

The attendance at the public schools of this city is 500. The attendance at the college, the Sisters Academy and private schools makes the number nearly a thousand.

Pasco has made another contract whereby the public will be indemnified to deal its optic once more. A San Francisco firm will scatter pamphlets to the extent of $50,000.

Gamblers plentiful now and the sportsmen around Albany are taking advantage of it, and bring in good strings. Plump Mallard ducks find a ready market at $3 a dozen in this city.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet at 2.30 this afternoon at Mrs. H. Evers's. This is the annual meeting, at which time the yearly reports will be made, and a full attendance is desired.

Masons and their families are invited to attend a social in the banquet hall of the Masonic Temple this (Tuesday) evening. A short programme will be rendered followed by games, etc.

Mrs. Ellis, of Forest Grove, department president of the Women's Relief Corps, is visiting McPherson Relief Corps in this city. She has just returned from Mehama, where a corps has been organized.

On July 26, 1890, the steamboat Three Sisters went up the river to Corvallis and the same day the Champion went down it to Portland, and since then not a boat has passed Albany, going either way.

Miss Kittle Cooley, of Brownsville, who had been visiting relatives and friends in Albany for a week or so has returned home, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. G. W. Wright, who will visit her parents Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Cooley.

Neatly printed proceedings of the fourth annual session of the Oregon Press Association has been received from the secretary, F. C. Pentland. An interesting history of the association is given, together with a list of nearly all the members.

Mr. Eagan, of the firm of Eagan & Achison, left yesterday for Roseburg to take charge of their marble works there. They are doing some fine work in that line here, and will execute equally as fine work at their new establishment in Roseburg.

Mr. Joseph Tall is now canvassing the city for an addition to the library started a year ago. One hundred books were delivered there and he proposes to add two new books for each new member. The books are by standard authors, and will make a creditable library.

The initiative steps in the matter of bonding the city for $75,000 for a system of public improvements are progressing in a satisfactory manner. Harmonious work by the committees is all that is needed to secure the end sought and give Albany the desired public improvements, which will add materially to the growth and prosperity of the city.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

A Fine Oil Painting of Mt. Hood Presented Note: from the Secretary's Pa.

The members will please remember the special meeting, which the president has called for to-night at 7 o'clock. It is very necessary to have a full meeting. Please do not neglect this.

Next-day meetings will be held in the Y. M. C. A. hall every day this week from 11:20 to 12:30 o'clock. We especially ask our business men to drop in, if only long enough to say "Thank God."

The Y. M. C. A. hall was too small to seat the crowd that came to hear Rev. Robt. Cairns at the gospel meeting last Sunday. Truly God has sent a power among us. The man who can sit and listen to the practical and searching talks of Rev. Cairns, and not heed his warning, must have a heart harder than the rocks of the old Granite state, and is to be pitied.

The association received this week an exceedingly fine oil painting of Mt. Hood. It has been our pleasure to see many paintings of Mt. Hood, and beautiful views too, but never have we seen such a beautiful and artistically arranged foreground as the one in the picture just received. The art displayed, is something to be admired, and the Y. M. C. A. of Albany, wish to extend many thanks to Miss Martin of McMinnville, the donor of this beautiful and acceptable gift.

H. W. Yocum, General secretary.

FOR RAILROAD COMMISSIONER.

To the Editor of the Herald: The Herald, places A. D. Rowe, of East Portland, F. J. Miller, of Albany, and C. C. Hogue, of Corvallis, in nomination for railroad commissioner.

E. B. C. C. Hogue and F. J. Miller are known to be well fitted for the position, and at the same time will be pleased to see them receive the appointment. Mr. Hogue is doubtless better posted in railroad accounts, freights and passenger business than any man in the state, while Mr. Miller is an acknowledged authority on bridges and tracks.

ALBANY, Jan. 12, 1891.

JOE WAS MUCH SURPRISED.

The sequel to the presentation of a gold-headed cane to Joseph Webber, the veteran fireman of Albany who has removed to Portland, which was noted in the Herald some days ago, is found in the Sunday Oregonian as follows: Every old fireman of Portland remembers Joe Webber, one of the "back fire boys" who ran with the "maize," Joe at one time filled the responsible position of chief engineer of the Portland Volunteer Fire Department. For many years Webber has lived at Albany, and always took a very lively personal interest in fire matters in that city. He also filled the position of chief engineer there. About two weeks ago Mr. Webber removed to this city to reside. Friday a small delegation of Albany men came down armed with an elegant gold-headed cane. They found Joe at the Hotel Perkins in the evening. After a short search, the delegation consisted of Captain Lanning and George Humphrey. They proceeded to "hold Joe up" and to "cane" him after the most approved style. Mr. Humphrey made the presentation speech. Joe was greatly surprised, but soon managed to find his tongue and voice. The cane, which is a beautiful one, is properly engraved, and is a gift from Joe's many warm friends in Albany.

Fire Department Matters.

A meeting of the board of fire delegates was held at the hall of Linn Engine Co. No. 2, last evening. Several bills were allowed and some minor business transacted. The resignation of J. D. Guiles was accepted, and D. J. Baburille was received as delegate from Linn Engine Co. No. 2. The resignation of Thomas Rhodes as delegate from Linn Engine Co. No. 2, was accepted, and he was received as delegate from Rescue Hook and Ladder Co., he having been transferred to the same company. The application of Charles Metzgar for permission to be transferred from the Albany to the Salem fire department was granted. What is Salem's loss is Albany's gain by the transfer.

Have a Shearing Bee.

The Yaquina Republican, in speaking of an appropriation for a world's fair exhibit, gives vent to the following: Fifty thousand dollars! My goodness gracious! What a pile of money to be spent at that "ere world's fair at Shikago." We had better keep that money at home and advertise for shearers and send that amount in a shearing bee and get the moss nicely amputated and carry a few tons to the fair, and no doubt we would take the prize for-for what.

Surveying Public Lands.

Surveyor General Byars of Portland, is doing all in his power to satisfy the demand for the survey of public lands. He informs a Herald reporter that he has already let the contract for the survey of one township on the Calapooia above Brownsville, and five townships on the North San Pacific, along the line of the Oregon Pacific. He says that the whole appropriation of $20,000 by congress will be speedily expended for this purpose in various portions of Oregon.

Harkback!

"Harkback," a lasting and fragrant perfume. Price 25 and 50 cents. For sale by Fushay & Mason.

I have a few more blankets that I will sell for less than cost to close. E. C. Sears.

200 bushels of Red wheat wanted immediately at Morris & Blount's.

YAQUINA BAY.

Something of the Growing Towns—Harbor Improvements and Shipping.

A correspondent of the Northwest Reform Journal of Portland, writes as follows of his visit at Yaquina Bay:

Of the towns along Yaquina Bay, we first came to Toledo. Toledo is virtually at the head of the bay, and Newport at the foot, or mouth of it, with Yaquina City as an intermediate point. Eight miles from Toledo to Yaquina City, and five miles from the latter place to Newport.

Toledo has a good prospect of making quite a trading point. It is also said to be quite free from heavy trade winds, thus making it a very desirable place in which to live.

Yaquina City is the western terminus of the N. V. & C. railroad, and is also where the docks are located where the vessels tie up. There is a collector of customs and two great warehouses. The town can boast of a large hotel, also.

Newport is a larger town than the other two bay towns, Toledo and Yaquina City. This place is at the mouth of the bay and is the most important port in fact, the town is laid out across the high point to the beach. The government is doing considerable work here in improving the harbor. The new appropriation amounting to $165,000. This appropriation, it is said, will keep the work going on for another year. There are several hotels here, but it is said there is lack of hotel room during the hot season.

We climbed up the high sand-hill here and viewed the mighty Pacific. Here are the roaring breakers almost on our feet, and these ocean swells do break upon the shallows with a crash sometimes that can be heard for several miles. Far down the coast, out beyond the breakers, we espied a mistle vessel coming our way. It would go to the vessel in plain view on the sea-wall, then down to a deep gully it would go quickly almost out of sight. Twenty minutes time brought it much nearer, and we observed that it was heading inside the plunging breakers. At times the masts would swing over till apparently they were their tops into the sea, then the ship would ride up onto a high wave, masts erect. We could soon see that the vessel was coming in over the Yaquina Bay bar, which had been so rough that the Oregon Pacific steamer Willamette Valley was not able to get out for some days. But this strange vessel threshed around over the seething waters of the bar shallows. Some of the old boatmen thought it would be compelled to wait outside till there were quiet waters, but the vessel drove into Newport harbor to the surprise of many, and it proved to be the steam-coasting schooner Mischief, from Sitka.

We looked out over the vast expanse of waters toward Japan and could understand how great the distance to Hong Kong when one calls the distance across our continent to New York, and yet the latter, in point of distance, would scarce make a halfway station between Newport, Oregon, and Hong Kong, China.

A College Paper.

The State University notes in the Eugene Journal says that there will soon be started in Eugene a semi-monthly paper devoted to the interest of the University and the Laurean Extension societies. Who will have the honor of being the first editor of this new literary venture has not yet been decided. There will be an editor-in-chief and an assistant from each class. The work required to run the newspaper successfully will be considerable, but we think the two societies will be equal to the emergency. Such a paper, if well conducted, will be one of the best advertisements for the University. Let us then, all try and make the new paper a success.

Mines in Crook County.

L. R. Griffin, who has been operating in Crook county for the past seven years, says the prospects are better now for the development of paying quartz mines at the head of Ochoco than ever before. For the past two months Mr. Griffin has been prospecting a nine-foot ledge and a forty-five foot ledge. He says the rock shows away up in the hundreds, and he believes further development will show it to be a valuable mine. The McCallister Bros. are also sinking on a ledge that shows an excellent grade of ore, probably the best that has ever been struck in the district, and are down twenty-two feet.

Indians Claims Allowed.

The following Indian claims have been allowed by the department at Washington: E. J. Alexander, Pasqua, $200 for depositions by Banacks in 1873; J. E. Freeman, Umatilla county, Or., $100 for depositions by Banacks in 1878; Thomas P. Strougins, Canyon City, Or., $67 for depositions committed by the Banacks in 1878; John Campbell, Clark county, Wash., $52 for depositions by Kickitais in 1875; John Mullaly, Vinson, Or., $200 for depositions by the Banacks in 1878; H. A. Salisbury, Vinson, Or., $420 for depositions by the Banacks in 1878.

How-wot at Umatilla.

Head men of Umatilla gathered at Umatilla to the number of forty or more, for the purpose of holding a big pow-wow over the sale of the Umatilla reservation. The exact nature of their deliberations is said to be known only to the Indian themselves. Chief Peo and other big men of the reserve passed through Pendleton a day or two ago on the train to join in the talk.

COAST NOTES.

Newly Items Obtained from Exchanges Throughout the Northwest.

The Indians and employes at the Siletz agency have subscribed over $500 for a new M. E. church to be erected there.

The steamer Walluski, of Yaquina, smashed her propeller and under one-day last week and had to be beached for repair.

Work has been commenced on the south jetty at Yaquina, putting in rock. A good deal of rock put in there last year has sunk down.

The Indians are having a genuine ghost dance across Mill creek, says The Dalles Chronicle, and we understand the same performances are going on across the river and at Celilo.

Robert Buchanan, of Corvallis, who was injured by being thrown from a horse recently, died at his home, January 4. He was 25 years old at the time of his death, and was a graduate of the Agricultural college.

About 1000 Chinamen and a large number of white men are still at work at the railroad grade in Cow creek canyon, with the expectation of having the new track most on the bay and in fact, the town is laid out across the high point to the beach. The government is doing considerable work here in improving the harbor. The new appropriation amounting to $165,000. This appropriation, it is said, will keep the work going on for another year. There are several hotels here, but it is said there is lack of hotel room during the hot season.

The capital lumbering mills, of Salem, will resume operations next week. They have been lying idle for several weeks on account of not having logs enough to keep them busy all fall and winter. They have now a small raft of logs on hand which were cut and put in a boom a few miles above the city, and were towed down a few days ago. They also have a number of logs which were left on the flats by the floods of last winter.

Died of his Wounds.

The Salem Statesman says: G. G. Binham, district attorney, is in receipt of full particulars of the stabbing affray at Tillamook, Christmas eve, in which E. H. Hauxhurst was stabbed in the stomach, and from the effect of which he died. During the afternoon of Dec. 24th a row occurred in Hauxhurst's saloon at Tillamook, Ed Hauxhurst, J. S. Childers, and Otis Howell being the participants. The two former had some words, followed by blows, and the three had been drinking. They were separated and afterwards Childers and Howell commenced quarreling. At the beginning of the quarrel Howell was seen to take a knife from his pocket, but as it was so close to the other that it was impossible to learn. The evidence is conflicting, but Childers was struck three times with a knife, only one blow, however, made a wound. While the two were fighting Hauxhurst staggered between them. The three were separated and Howell and Hauxhurst put out of doors. The latter was found to have been cut in two places, one blow opening the abdomen and letting out his intestines. The wound was probably made by Howell, although they were fast friends. Howell was arrested on complaint filed by Childers, and before his examination was completed the man who had been stabbed, Hauxhurst, died. The coroner held an inquest over his remains, finding a verdict to the effect that he had died from a knife wound made by Howell. On the Childers' charge Howell was bound over to await the action of the grand jury for carrying a concealed weapon and having made an assault with it. And then on a complaint of J. G. Day and the verdict, Howell was given examination before the justice of the peace and held without bail to await the action of the grand jury, charged with murder in the first degree.

The Personnel of the Legislature.

The legislature of Oregon, that has just convened at its regular biennial session, says the West Shore, will be called upon to enact the most important legislation demanded of any legislature since Oregon became a state. The people have a natural interest in knowing something about the men to whom such vital interests are entrusted. Upon examination, it appears that there are twenty-three republicans and seven democrats in the senate and forty-two republicans and eight democrats in the house, giving the republicans a majority of forty on a joint ballot. The significance of this is that it insures the election of a republican successor to Senator Mitchell and renders the republican party wholly responsible for the legislation of the session, since it has two-thirds majority in each house. Separated into groups, there are twenty-nine farmers and stock-raisers, nineteen merchants, fifteen attorneys, eight manufacturers, our bankers, four physicians, two real estate dealers, two mechanics, one accountant and one newspaper teacher. This shows a pretty fair representation of the leading business elements of the state, and augurs well for the passage of enlightened legislation. The youngest member of the senate is J. E. Myers, of Seio, and of the house W. E. Thomas, of Portland. The oldest member of the senate is J. C. Carson, of Portland, and of the house, John Minto, of Salem. Mr. Myers and Mr. Minto are respectively the youngest and oldest in the entire body. Less than one-third of them have been members of previous legislatures, and are to that extent free from the unprogressive spirit of their predecessors. Nine only are of foreign birth, nine of the others being natives of Oregon.
