AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

The "Veteran of 1812" Will Be Repeated This Evening.

The play "The Veteran of 1812" presented at the opera house last night by the G. A. R. Post, assisted by local talent, was witnessed by a large audience, and was most interesting. Following was the cast of characters: Col. Warren, the veteran of 1812, J. R. Wyatt; Bill Jones, the scout, S. W. Beece; Jim Haines, the villain, G. E. Fish; Sheriff Slason, W. Baldwin; Old Zibe, the drayman, F. Fox; Pete, the drayman, W. W. Mason; Capt. Hardy, U. S. A., R. F. Tabler; Charles Morrison, sergeant, H. L. Wa'den; Jake Whitaker, Yankee lawyer, R. B. Vank; James Mason, corporal, J. F. Whiting; Judge Wentworth, J. R. Wyatt; Clerk of court, W. Baldwin; Kesiah, the waitress, Yankee maiden, Jennie A. Clayton; Mary Morrison, the sergeant's wife, Mrs. H. C. Harkness.

The participants acquitted themselves with credit, and received the enthusiastic applause of the audience. Some beautiful tableaux added much to the enjoyment of the play. The proceeds will go as a benefit to the G. A. R. post.

The play will be repeated this evening, and the entire proceeds will go into the relief fund for the assistance of several destitute families in the city. The admission will be 25 cents to all parts of the house.

LEBANON NEWS.

Several new lamps adorn our street corners of late.

Hazlett the "Pilgrim Printer" slept in Lebanon one night last week.

Dr. Courtney sold out this week to the trustees of the Presbyterian church, on which they will build a parsonage.

There was $110,288 expended in building in Lebanon for the year 1890, and we want the people to know it. Please help us sink it.

W. J. Guy's license expired Thursday last and his saloon will be closed until the newly elected council meets in February. The license is present is twelve hundred dollars and Mr. Guy will doubtless await the action of the new council; in the meantime we have but one saloon.

The Goodyear Minstrels.

Goodyear, Elitch & Schilling's Minstrels will appear at the opera house Tuesday Jan. 20. This is a large and finely equipped company and it is claimed the costliest, richest dressed first party in the country, styled the Monte Cristo Royal Court. Walls of silk, plush, velvet and satin draped, and festooned with heavy gold and silver ornaments. Comedians representing Monte Cristo jesters, vocalists as gay cavaliers, musicians as Monte Cristo fishermen, the company includes Chas. W. Goodyear, Chas. E. Schilling, America's representative musical artist, Geo. H. Edwards, the quaint comedian formerly with Haverly's Minstrels, Albert Leech a favorite young comedian, Clivette Expert Equilibrist Juggler and shadow-graphist makes show of men, women and animals by the movement of a finger. Brothers London, European athletes. Symonds, Hughes & Rastus comedians, singers and dancers. Southern quartette, W. Haverly, Dan Bentley Brothers and a host of others.

How It Will Be Done. The following conception of what the reaching extent of our government is will probably cause a smile from those who read: "Should the recently-invented air ship of E. J. Pennington prove a success, there will be little need of congress; sailing with the tariff, for the air ship could sail over the custom houses and avoid the paying of duties on imported goods. Probably the air ship will be the means of settling the long debt of much-discussed tariff question, "Ochoco Review." Probably the air ship will land upon the top of Mt. Hood, where revenue officers will not dare to climb, or mayhap they will scatter the goods as they fly and watch the people as they grab for them.

Cruelty to Animals. The Salem Statesman says a correspondent who signs himself "Salem" talks as follows on the subject of cruelty to animals: "A man was fined $5 for cruelly beating a horse on the head with a loaded butt of a whip. Another was fined $20.50 including costs for selling a book without license. The two transactions carry their own convictions. There should be a society here for the prevention of cruelty to animals. Won't some lunatic person take the necessary steps to organize one. It is believed it would be supplied with the necessary funds for the prosecution of such cases as reported above."

Those Opals. The Princeton Review says that Dr. W. H. Hays of Hay creek, was in town Wednesday. He says he is well satisfied with his opal mine and thinks it is a valuable find. He has sent a number of the stones below to experts who pronounce them of the best quality, and equal to the best opals of Hungary.

TALKS WITH BIG MEN.

How Some Pacific Coast Men Behave When Interviewed by the Newspapers.

PORTLAND, Jan. 16.—(Good, live interviews, well written, make the best kind of newspaper reading, and to secure them calls into play all the genius and talent of the interviewer, yet not one person in ten, in fact, not one in a hundred, outside of a newspaper office, has any idea how they are obtained or how the interviewed conducts himself while being interviewed.

TALK WITH RAILROAD MEN. The railroad men, as a rule, are hard to deal with. They will talk when they have to, but generally speaking, it takes a pump to get anything out of them. Henry Villard is one of the most cautious of railroad men. He insists that all questions shall be put so that he clearly understands them and then he must read the written answer to be sure that everything is all right.

President Hill, of the Great Northern, does not like to talk, and tries to evade the reporter. If he is cornered he says: "Now you must excuse me, for I am very busy. I have business with the editor of your paper, and will be at the office in half an hour. I will meet you there and tell you what you want." It is ten to one he will never show up.

George W. Hunt dilates his own questions and answers. "Now and me what I am going to do," he says, "and I will answer 'I shall not tell.'" "Now tell me that the public wants to know, Mr. Hunt, and I will answer: 'The public must not know.'" Col. F. E. Hogg, of the Oregon Pacific, is pleasant, but he does not tell much. His silence is always golden. There is not much use in trying to pump him about anything he wants to keep quiet. Huntington is always affable, but like all the Southern Pacific men, he never lets the right hand know what the left doeth. Holcomb, of the Union Pacific, is like a clown. One must have a "dead chin" upon him to get him to talk. He always makes the interviewer feel at home, except so far as giving him news is concerned. "I don't know a thing" is his invariable answer.

Nelson Bennett is very cautious and gets angry if leading questions are asked.

GOVERNOR PENNEYER'S SVAVITY. Affability is one of the requisites of a good politician. Governor Penneyer, of Oregon, is an old newspaper man, and knows a good item. He is one of the best men for the interviewer that ever lived. No matter who he is talking to, he is the president of the United States not excepted, if a reporter enters the office he immediately invites him in and introduces him to his friend. The governor is somewhat mischievous and lets many cats out of the bag.

Senator Dolph, of Oregon, and Senator Spire of Washington, are dignified and cordial. The former insists upon reading the manuscript of an interview with him before it is handed in.

Representative Hermann of Oregon, and Wilson, of Washington, are ready to talk at any time and upon any subject. The same may be said of Senator Mitchell, Senator Mitchell and Representative Hermann are the great handshakers of the Pacific Coast. They never fail to answer a letter.

Mayor DeLashmunt of Portland, keeps constantly in trim for an interview, a horse race, or a magazine deal. He is very accommodating and writes articles for the papers when the boys are over-worked.

Henry Failing, the millionaire banker of Portland, does not like to talk. He tells reporters that what they are inquiring about is private business and of no interest to the public; that it does not make any difference to the world whether a man eats salad or rump steak for dinner.

Joseph Simon, now president of the senate in the Oregon legislature, has said several times that he would feel better if there were no reporters or newspapers.

United States Judge Matthew P. Deady, of Oregon, is a friend of newspaper men and likes to help them along.

W. S. Laed, Oregon's wealthiest man, seldom knows anything to tell but treats the boys well.

HOW THE HUMORISTS ACT. Bill Nye tries to say funny things about the ubiquity of the reporter when he is about to be interviewed. Tom Nast makes a good talk. Robert J. Burdette is very accommodating. Ore Sunday I was assigned to cover Burdette's sermon in an East Portland church and a baseball game. Both were set down for the same hour. My choice was the baseball game and I asked Burdette to report his own sermon. He complied and when I got the copy this note was attached to it: (Private to editor.) At this point R. J. B. having delivered two sermons to-day and having a third to deliver to-night, has to abandon the task of helping out the Ore Oregonian reporter, who ran away from church to see a ball game and bulldozed the preacher into reporting his own sermon.

You s' baternally, ROBT. J. BURDETTE. Burdette evidently thought that was a good joke.

SENSATION AT SWEET HOME.

A Rejected Lover Who Threatened to Kill His Sweetheart.

A correspondent of the Lebanon Express from Sweet Home furnishes the following racy particulars of a sensation that occurred in that usually quiet place: Quite a sensation was created at Sweet Home recently, when a certain young man, whose occupation is barbering, wrote a certain young lady a letter, which read about as follows: "DEAR — I am in so much trouble and misery without you; and you know when I asked you to be mine you said you would if I would be a good boy, and now I will give you till to-morrow noon to make up your mind, and if you do not marry me I will kill you and then end my life."

He went to the girl's home about 4 o'clock in the morning to deliver his letter. The girl not being at home, he gave the letter to her ma, and the mother being a little suspicious, opened the letter and read it. She went to call in assistance (she being a widow); also notified her daughter; then as she was going to town she met the disappointed lover, who wanted to compromise and not say anything about the matter. She gave him back the letter and he read it with increased energy and greater speed, and soon put the torn-covered letters between him and his cruel sweetheart.

CITIZENS' MEETING.

For the purpose of hearing the report of the committee appointed to examine the proposed changes in the city charter and taking such action as may be deemed proper with the intention of making the fatal leap, but seeing the fish come to the surface of the water he thought he would not feel his love-wrecked form to the little minnows, then startled at the sound of hoofs, he read with increased energy and greater speed, and soon put the torn-covered letters between him and his cruel sweetheart.

Chairman of citizens' committee.

Bring Your Horses and Get Your Gas.

Mr. H. Brandenstein from San Francisco, will be in Albany buying horses on the 20th and 21st inst., at Mr. L. Sanders' stable. He desires to buy the following horses, viz: Bays and blacks, age from 4 to 8, weight, 1275 to 1350 pounds, 15 to 16 hands high, well broke and sound and in good condition. L. SANDERS.

A True Saying.

It was the girl who had studied the currency question who remarked "There is not enough gold to go round," when she discovered that the engagement ring was so small for her. By buying your groceries at Mueller & Garrett's, you will always have gold enough to go round.

America Takes the Lead.

America now takes the lead as an iron producing country, united with China, we could do the washing and ironing of the world. Mueller & Garrett are taking the lead in the grocery business of Albany, as their cash figures please every one.
