Thompson and Miss Elsie, Mr. Thompson will be remembered as the son of Rev. E. J. Thompson, who was the pastor of Presbyterian church in this city several years ago. It has long been conceded, says the Oregonian, that, in the way of fruits, Oregon distances all competitors in the race. To this may be added flowers and climate. Those living east of the Rocky mountains are now suffering the rigors of winter. Snow, ice and biting cold now prevail east, while Oregon basks in general sunshine. Homes are blooming out in exuberant yards and gardens are not bad. Quiet but very interesting meetings are still in progress at the United Presbyterian church. Quite a number have signified their intention of joining the church at 11 a. m. Sunday. The services are being conducted by Rev. W. W. Logan, of Portland, assisted by the pastor, Rev. S. G. Irvine, and Rev. T. J. Wilson. The usual 3 o'clock prayer meeting will be held this afternoon. Services at the usual hour this evening. A Small Boy's Revolver. The other night at the show a mysterious pistol shot was heard and immediately a small boy who was standing in the door, darted around the corner of the opera house, and down Second street as if shot, with the seat of his trousers ablaze. The boy, who was a little son of H. Laupman, was fooling with a revolver in his back pocket when the weapon was discharged. The boy was not much hurt, the only damage being the loss of a quarter section of the rear of his pants. He has since the accident, however, been taking his meals in a standing position. The Sheriff Apologized. Sheriff Scott was made the victim of a good joke on Monday at the Albany depot. Matt had a warrant for the arrest of a certain clergyman whom he did not know and some mischievous boys pointed out Rev. T. P. Boyd of Lebanon as the man he was seeking. Rev. Mr. Boyd established his identity. Matt apologized and the crowd laughed.—Lebanon Express. A Broken Car. Yesterday afternoon the 5-year-old son of John Millard, while riding horseback in the southern suburbs of this city had the misfortune to fall from the horse and break his left wrist. He and James, little son of James Elkins, were riding one horse and both fell, breaking the wrist of the former as above stated. The other boy was not hurt.

THE PEOPLE DON'T WANT IT.

A Speech at Lyons in Favor of Dividing Linn County.

LYONS, Jan. 23.—Hon. H. W. Parker, who was a candidate on the prohibition ticket last June made a speech at this place last night upon the question of the division of Linn county. He wants to create a new county, the boundary being the North Santiam on the north, the North Santiam on the south and west and with the present lines of Wasco and Crook counties on the east. He set forth the disadvantages of Albany as the county seat and tried to show the conveniences of having Scio the seat of the new county, also the immense wealth of the proposed new county, claiming $1,010,000 of taxable property exclusive of indebtedness, now the lands of the county would increase in value making the burdens of taxes much lower, except around Scio, where they will be repaid doubly by increase of value on their lands. He also labored to show that the expenses of the new county would be more in proportion than the old county. After Mr. Parker had recited all these benefits of his division, he then explained his view of the present purpose of Linn county to build a new courthouse at a cost of $250,000, a bridge across the Willamette river at Albany at a cost of about $75,000 or $80,000. Also a new jail at a big price which all must help pay or form a new county. He did not try to introduce political reasons to influence anyone to espouse his cause, as some are doing. Within the last day or two the matter has been presented in the following fashion, it talking to a good sound democrat the county division agitator will say: "We are pretty sure of another democratic county, which means another democratic representative." If the candidate is a republican, old Linn, or what is left of her, will then be republican soil, giving one more republican representative. If he is a proli it don't make any difference about the politics, as they are not in it.

The Newspapers of Oregon Favor an Appropriation for the Albany Orphan's Home and Hospital.

Concerning the appropriation of $10,000 asked by the Ladies Aid Society citizens of Albany from the Oregon legislature the newspapers of the state agree that the object, the completion of the Orphan's Home and Hospital in this city, is worthy and that the appropriation should be granted. The Oregonian says: The Ladies Aid society, of Albany, has presented a petition to the legislature, asking an appropriation of $10,000 to help them to complete, furnish and place in operation the new orphan's home building, now being erected in that city. The building has already cost the society about $2000, donated by the citizens of Albany, and will have cost $15,000 when completed. The society is composed of the very best citizens of Albany, and enjoys the full confidence and support of the merchants and public officers of both city and county. These have aided with money and other contributions the good work of the ladies, which has been carried on continuously during the past fifteen years. The good which they have done is little known outside of their immediate vicinity, but its effect has been more far-reaching. Especially in the case of young children who have been reclaimed from vice and crime, the benefit of the aid has been of no small importance. City and county have both paid out much money to aid in cases of destitution found by the society, and to pay expenses of keeping children at the homes in Salem and Portland. The need of a building at Albany, to be used as a children's home and hospital has become very pressing, with the rapid growth of that city, and it is not at all improbable that this society will be included in the list of charitable institutions which receive annual aid from the state treasury. The Salem Journal says: A committee of ladies from Albany are in attendance at the legislature to present the matter of an appropriation for the orphan's home and hospital at Albany, an institution under the control of the Ladies' Aid Society of Albany, which has a building erected and enclosed, and desires aid to complete and endow it. The object is a worthy one and should receive the same state aid that similar institutions in Portland and Salem receive. The Salem Statesman says: Albany wants some state aid for her orphan's home. She should get it. Such appropriations is money well spent.

The People There are Indignant Over the Evangelical Church Riot.

A correspondent from Sweet Home, who is an outsider, in the Lebanon Express of the 23d inst. says of the Evangelical church riot there: We had a ghost dance here Saturday night, in which the two parties of the Evangelical Association took part. And to come to pass that one Rev. Mr. McElroy, lead by Elder Bittner and others assembled at the church for the purpose of worship, and to they found the door locked, and it came to pass, after a long pro-wo and a long and fervent prayer, that one Nothing whose sir name is Samuel, with a heavy pole, assisted by others, broke in the door; and it came to pass that they were warned against breaking the door by Elder Yost's party, who were secreted inside of the house, but the blows fell fast and heavy until at length the door gave away, then like bold Gideon of old with his pitcher and his lamp, in marched Elder Bittner led by Samuel Nothing. Now where this ghost dance will end is very hard to tell, but it looks like the time is at hand when the plow shares shall be beaten into swords and the pruning hooks into spears. It also makes one think of the passage of scripture that is often quoted that "a house divided against itself cannot stand." Now, verily, what is this world coming to? We use unto you, hypocrites, for verily, verily I say unto you that the day will come when the earth shall burn as an oven, and ye all you that are in it, shall be burned that all in Sweet Home that sayeth Lord, Lord, will not hear the voice saying "Well done, thou good and faithful servant" but instead it will be, "depart from me, ye accursed, I know not where ye go." Kind reader, your writer is not a follower of Brother Yost, and yet as far from the other leader, but it makes my blood run cold to hear and see such outbreaks in civilization; were it in the Rockies or at "Tina" I could not get it out of my head, but no, it is in Sweet Home, Linn county, Oregon. COSTLY GOOD NATURE. E. Berry Wall Tells a True Story on Himself. E. Berry Wall and two of his friends were taking lunch at a New York cafe, and when one of the party, who conducts the atrial enterprise, said: "A few weeks ago I received a letter from an unknown correspondent in Nevada asking me to read a play book which I wrote back that I would do so for $10. A week later I received the manuscript which was in French, and as I do not understand that language, I was compelled to ask a friend to do so for me, and he did so in favor and charged me $12 for the service." "I had a worse experience than that," responded the ex-king of the drosses. "I was in Paris some time ago, and one of my friends there was a lady, who is one of the wealthiest in New York. She wanted me to engage a carriage for her one day, saying: 'I don't want to pay about 50 francs for it, I found that I could get a nice rig for that amount, with a coachman and footman, and that two footmen would only cost 10 francs more. Thinking to have my friend as well as possible, I took the extra footman, but to my surprise, when I knew me, to send the lady the bill for 50 francs and I would pay the 10 francs myself. She was so pleased with the turn-out and its moderate cost that she ordered me to send her one during her stay in Paris. This lasted six weeks, and I was out over 400 francs by my gallantry. However, I had plenty of money then, and I didn't mind the expense."—Chicago Herald.

RESIDENT.

The speech of Mr. Parker is amusing, if it is nothing else. The idea of Albany wanting to expend $250,000, or any other amount, for a new county court house exists only in the imaginative mind of people who are agitators, and must have some question to agitate. In fact Albany has a very good court house, which will serve the purpose for a good many years to come, and Linn county also has a very good brick jail that is big enough to hold all the prisoners the county furnishes, and this time the jail is a large one. The city will probably build a new jail soon, but Mr. Parker will not be asked to help build it. The city of Albany will manage to raise enough money to erect a creditable jail without any outside help. As for a bridge across the Willamette, the city and county both recognize the need of it and it will be built. Albany will come forward with a good half of the sum necessary and the people will see to it that the county also does her portion of the work. The people have been taxed alike to build wagon bridges in every portion of Linn county where they have been needed, and the only "kick" that is raised against the county paying a just portion of the cost of a wagon bridge at Albany is from small-souled sources, which will not prevent the work from going forward. There is no need of any one losing any sleep over the question of dividing Linn county. It is a good, big, healthy and prosperous county, and bids fair to remain so in years to come, in spite of the efforts of a few who would like to do some tinkering legislation in hopes of securing something better by a division of the county.

IT Points A Moral.

The Grants Pass Courier says: If you wish to see a mad man just go over to T. P. Lee's warehouse where he has about eight men busy repacking apples. The trouble is, he bought from several parties without examining every box, when he came to examine them to ship he found over eighty boxes of worm eaten and swiveled apples that would not make first-class hog feed. This is one thing our fruit growers should consider that it is to their interest to see that their apples are packed properly. Had Mr. Lee shipped these apples as first-class apples he would have ruined the apple market of Southern Oregon for several seasons at least. It is human nature, but it does not always pay to be so greedy.

FOR Taxing Church Property.

A petition containing nearly 10,000 names has been presented to the state legislature, asking for the taxation of church property. Among the signers are said to be a number of ministers and many church people. Three other petitions that were to have been presented with this one, were lost before reaching "headquarters." This one, having for its object equitable taxation, is being pushed by the Oregon sector union, and a bill embodying this principle will, in all probability, be presented to the legislature before the close of the session. The measure has many supporters, who will make every effort to secure the passage of such a law.

Ran Over by a Hand Car.

Frank West, section foreman on the Oregonian railway was seriously hurt Tuesday near Lebanon. The weather being foggy the regular train came up in him rather unexpectedly while he and his men were on a hand car, and it is thought that he jumped off before the car stopped and in doing so the car passed over him. Dr. Foley of Lebanon was called and pronounced him badly bruised.

THE Participants in the Sweet Home Riot.

The six participants in the Sweet Home church riot were all bound over to await the action of the grand jury. Rev. H. J. Bittner, who stood a trial was held in $500 bonds. The others then waived examination, and were held in the sum of $100 each. Their names are Rev. C. A. McElroy, George Slaven, Rudolph King, Samuel Nothing Sr. and Samuel Nothing Jr. The affair, which was a most unfortunate one, grew out of the rupture in the church, and was a result of an attempt of the opposing branches of the divided church to grab the church property. The court held that Rev. Mr. Bittner was instigator of the breaking of the church door and that he aided and abetted in the same. The defendants all gave bail for their appearance at the next term of circuit court.

YAQUINA NOTES.

The Willamette Valley passed out for S. F. Sunday after being in port about 14 days. Mr. D. P. Bine, after going to the expense of tunneling into his coal mine for quite a distance, had the same cave in a few days since, and has suspended operations on the mine for a while. Mr. B. has no doubt have to timber in order to make his mine safe. The coal is of similar quality to that of Coos Bay. A stevedore in the employ of the O. P. got on a drunk the other day and when he sobered up discovered that his watch was missing. He accused M. G. Germano, his keeper in Kincaid's saloon, of stealing it, which accusation M. G. resented, and performed the John L. Sullivan act on his accuser, knocking him out in one round. The watch was subsequently found near the car shops, where the stevedore had lost it in his drunken wanderings. Crop Outlook. The Eugene Register says that a good many farmers are worrying some now for fear next season will not be a good crop year. The streams in the valley are always fed until late in the summer by snow melting in the mountains, furnishing a splendid irrigating system. The amount of snow now stored in the mountains is much less than is common at this time of the year, in fact there is no snow around except on the highest mountains. We will either have to have more snow in the mountains or furnish it during the summer to insure good crops. But Oregon always comes out all right. Ladies Aid Society Committee. The committee from the Ladies Aid Society to present the matter of an appropriation from the state to the legislature, we are informed by Mrs. Train on her return from Salem yesterday, should have also contained the names of Mrs. C. C. Kelly, Mrs. W. R. Bilyen and Mrs. J. K. Weatherford.

FOR Work.

The Coos Bay News says the new locomotive, to be used in construction work on the Reseburg railroad, will be here early in March. It is being built at Paterson, N. J., by the Cook Locomotive & Machine Co. The dimensions are, gauge 4 ft. 8 1/2 inches, cylinders 72x24 inches; 6 driving wheels of 50 wheel diameter each; four-wheel truck forward, and eight-wheel tender. The capacity of the water tank is 3,000 gallons. It will weigh in working order 90,000 lbs. A True Saying. It was the girl who had studied the currency question who remarked "There is not enough gold to go round," when she discovered that the engagement ring was too small for her. By buying your groceries at Mueller & Garrett's, you will always have gold enough to go round.
