THE NATION'S LOSS.

The Remains of Secretary Windom Received in Washington.

THE FUNERAL PREPARATIONS

Congress Adjourns Out of Respect to the Dead Secretary—An Executive Order Issued.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The president and members of the cabinet assembled at the Baltimore & Ohio station this afternoon to receive the remains of Secretary Windom, which arrived on the train at 4:30. Besides them, nearly all the leading public officials in Washington were at the depot. When the train arrived the casket was taken in charge by Company B, of the treasury national guard, and borne slowly to the hearse. When all was ready, the procession formed and moved. The president and all his official family followed the remains into the house and waited in the back parlor while the undertaker and assistants placed the body in the front room and opened the top half of the lid, so as to expose to view the secretary's features.

Mrs. Blaine remained with the president and was the only lady present when he and the members of the cabinet were ushered into the room and looked upon the face of the distinguished dead. When the party left the house the bereaved widow and daughters entered the room and remained there a few minutes. While Mrs. Windom was kneeling over the casket sobbing, the British minister came to the house and left a message of condolence for the family.

Secretary Windom's death is especially deplored by the newspaper men. He was accessible to them at all times. He believed the public had a right to know what the executive departments were doing, and never declined a reasonable request for information concerning the business of the treasury. It is expected an order will issue from the white house to-morrow cancelling all official receptions and entertainments during the remainder of the season.

The time for the funeral will depend upon the arrival of the son, but probably it will take place Monday, with private services at the family residence, and with public services at the Church of Covenant, of which Mr. Windom was a member.

AN EXECUTIVE ORDER.

The following executive order was issued this afternoon through the secretary of state and sent to all other heads of departments:

SIR: Hon William Windom, secretary of the treasury of the United States, died suddenly last night, in the city of New York, at the hour of eleven minutes past ten o'clock, in the 64th year of his age. Thus has passed away a man of pure life, officially, stainless integrity, distinguished by long and eminent service in both branches of congress, and being twice called to administer national finances. His death has caused deep regret throughout the country, while to the president and those associated with him in the administration of the government it comes as a personal sorrow. The president directs that all departments of the executive branch of the government and officers subordinate thereto shall manifest due respect to the memory of this eminent citizen in a manner to comport with the dignity of the office he had honored by his devotion to public duty. The president further directs that the treasury department in all branches of the capital be draped with mourning for a period of thirty days; that on the day of the funeral the several executive departments shall be closed, and that on all public buildings throughout the United States the national flag be displayed at half-mast.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS.

Immediately after the reading of the journal the senate adjourned as a mark of respect to the late Secretary Windom.

In his opening paper, Chaplain Rev. G. J. Butler referred very feelingly to the death of the secretary.

After a few affecting words of tribute to the worthy deceased secretary of the treasury by Representative Dunnell, of Minnesota, the house, on motion of McKinley, as a mark of respect to the deceased, also adjourned.

DEEP REGRET IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, January 30.—At a meeting of the board of trade and transportation committee this afternoon, a resolution eulogistic of the public life of William Windom was adopted. The resolution in closing says: "As secretary of the treasury under President Harrison, he labored courageously and successfully to avert a widespread panic in a season of threatened financial trouble. He died in speaking earnest and honest words, and he fell at his post of duty as truly as a soldier falls on the battle field."

Previous to the adoption of the resolution, ex-Secretary of State Bayard, in a brief speech, paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the deceased. F. B. Thurber, in seconding the resolution, eulogized Mr. Windom, who, he said, had piloted the financial ship of state between the Scylla of grangerism and the Charybdis of Wall street, and perished at the post, being the third secretary of the treasury in this administration to succumb to the exacting duties of the treasury department. "Is it not about time," said he, "that these duties were so divided and regulated that further sacrifices of a like nature may be avoided?"

A FATAL FIRE.

Three Lives Known to Have Been Lost, and There May Be More.

Municipal Trouble at Cheney.

SPOKANE FALLS, Jan. 30.—The tax payers of Cheney have asked the superior court for an injunction restraining the mayor and municipal officers of Cheney from bonding the town for $10,000 to be used in improvements. It is stated that the city treasurer refused to give up the books or make any official financial statement of disbursements since his term of office.

CHILIAN REVOLUTION

SEVERAL BATTLES FOUGHT AND MANY KILLED.

An Army of 15,000 Insurgents Preparing to Move On the Capital—A Bombardment Threatened.

BUENOS AYRES, Jan. 30.—According to Chilian advices received here there have been desperate, sanguinary battles fought in the provinces of Chili between rebel forces and government troops. Many were killed on both sides. Reports are conflicting as to which side was victorious. There is little action on either side at Santiago de Chili.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—Gaulers says that 12,000 Chilian government troops have been dispatched from Valparaiso against the insurgents.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Advices from Buenos Ayres state that 15,000 insurgents are massed at Quillota province, Valparaiso, fifty miles from Santiago, and it is reported they are contemplating an advance on their capital. The insurgents threaten to bombard every port on the coast unless their demands are granted by the government. President Balmaceda's forces have recaptured Iquique. The insurgents have come from Lapena, where, after a desperate engagement, 5000 government troops compelled the insurgents to retreat to Lanorita.

CHARLES BRADLAUGH DEAD.

The Eminent English Free-Thinker Passes Away.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Charles Bradlaugh died at six o'clock this morning. At the moment of the coming of death Bradlaugh was in a state of insensibility. Arrangements are partially effected to hold the funeral Tuesday next, which will be of the simplest description, and there will be neither procession, mourning emblems nor funeral service.

Charles Bradlaugh, the eminent English atheist and republican, was born in Hoxton, London, September 26, 1833. He developed an early taste for politics, and at the age of 15 he appeared as an orator before street audiences during the political turmoils of 1847–48. He became editor of the National Reformer, which paper he controlled up to the time of his death. In 1873 he visited this country and delivered a number of lectures. He was a man of great personal popularity and a polished orator. He was a member of the house of commons for Northampton.

Three witnesses also testified to the good character of Clarke. The examination will be resumed to-morrow.

At the afternoon session of the house Minto introduced a bill for an appropriation of $12,000 for the purchase of the state fair grounds.

The joint committee on wagon road appropriations have completed their report. The amount reported by the committee for consideration of the legislature is $97,000.

The re-apportionment bill in course of preparation will probably make few changes in the present arrangements. Superintendent of Census Porter has been communicated with and in reply insists that the state be re-apportioned according to the June census, no notice being taken of the recount of Salem and Multnomah county. A majority of the committee is inclined to this view and the bill will probably be reported on that basis. As regards the division of the state into two congressional districts it is practically agreed upon by placing the whole of Eastern Oregon and Columbia river counties into one district, and the Willamette valley and Southern Oregon counties, including Klamath and Lake, into a second.

A STINGING REBUKE.

THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSIONERS SCORED.

They Attacked Mr. Wannamaker and Were Told by the President to Mind Their Own Business.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—A few days ago the Post of this city contained an article saying that President Harrison had severely rebuked the civil service commissioners for their action in attacking Postmaster-General Wannamaker through the newspapers. Mr. Harrison was alleged to have said that he preferred to have the commissioners mind their own business and not to be making war upon the administration, and more to the same effect. The truth of the publication was promptly denied by the commissioners, and since that time Edgar Hatton has dared them to make a denial under oath.

The fact is that the president did administer a stinging rebuke to Chairman Lynch, and all the commissioners must have been aware of it. The man who is responsible for the leak by which the public was placed in possession of the facts about the interview between the president and Lyman is no other than Russell Harrison. When Lyman called at the White House a few days after the letter to Wannamaker was published, the president took him to task and told him the commission was exceeding its powers by attacking Wannamaker in the public press. The president was very emphatic in declaring that he did not propose to have them attack his administration in that way. He gave Lynch such a scoring as he has not received in a long time. Lyman was naturally not anxious to have the facts made public. Russell Harrison, however, who was in the city at the time, and was aware of what had taken place, considered the matter too good to keep. The result of his talkativeness was the publication of the facts in the Post. Messrs. Roosvelt and Thompson emphatically denied the truth of the publication, while Lyman gave a general sort of denial, which made the story appear even more probable. Its corroboration now places all members of the commission in an unenviable position, and would seem to make them amenable to more of the president's discipline.

A SUCCESSFUL AIR SHIP.

The Wonderful Feat Accomplished by Inventor Pennington.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—The air ship invented by William Pennington, of Mount Carmel, Illinois, was tried again to-day, and to all appearances it was thoroughly demonstrated that a craft has at last been invented that permits feats of aerial navigation never before accomplished, propelling and steering. The ship travelled in a satisfactory manner around the interior of the exposition building. The speed attained was not great, but the inventor is sanguine of much better results with a satisfactory battery.
