Wedding Belle.

Marriage license has been issued to Henry Siesens and Miss August Haley. The groom, who lives at Halstead, is well known in this city, having resided here for many years and is one of the city's pioneer farmers. John Schloesser, while fishing last summer at Halstead, promised the bride to make her a present of a rocking chair whenever she should wed, and he fulfilled his promise and sent her a handsome easy chair as a wedding present. Justice Humphrey had promised to perform the marriage ceremony, but was away on business and sent his regrets.

A Good Showing.

One of the mines of the California mining district, The Lucky Boy, which is to be opened by the California road, a bill for which is before the legislature, not long since had an assay made in Tacoma, which produced $60 in gold per ton, a good showing.

Arm Broken.

Otto Maxwell, a little son of John Maxwell, residing near Albany, was thrown from a horse Tuesday, breaking his arm at the elbow. It was a severe injury, the bone protruding through the flesh. Dr. Wallace attended the unfortunate boy.

A Good Riddance.

The tramp, who was arrested at the Southern Pacific depot with a lot of stolen cutlery in his possession, was discharged yesterday for want of evidence. He left the city without delay.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

The Largest Deed Ever Recorded in Linn County—An Old Land Grant.

In the office of county recorder, E. E. Davis yesterday, a document of more than ordinary interest was filed for record. It was a patent from the United States government to the Oregon & California Railroad Co., under acts of congress July 25, 1866, June 26, 1868, and April 19, 1870. The instrument covers 18 pages of description, and conveys title to the land grant to that company containing 125,125 acres in Linn county, being the largest deed ever filed for record in Linn county. It bears the signature of President Grant, on May 20, 1872, also the autograph of E. A. Fisk, acting general of the land office.

The following deeds were also recorded:

State of Oregon to Ella G. Buckler, west 1/2 of section 36, tp. 11, S. R. 2 E., containing 240 acres, $ 400

J. A. Buckler and Ella Buckler east 1/2 of section 36, tp. 11, S. R. 2 east, containing 240 acres, 1200

J. A. Buckler, wife to Chas. E. Wheeler, west 1/2 of section 36, tp. 11, S. R. 2 east, containing 240 acres, 1280

State of Oregon to J. A. Buckler east 1/2 of section 36, tp. 11, S. R. 2 east, 400

Sunday Closing.

The following business firms of Albany have signed an agreement not to keep their stores open on Sunday: Conn & Hendrickson; C. E. Brownell; Matthews & Washburn; Wandell & Hollenbeck; E. M. French; Fortmiller & Irving; Knapp, Barrill & Co.; Albany Furniture Co.; Mitchell & Lewis Co.; Mueller & Garrett; C. Meyer; S. E. Young; Thos. Brink; T. L. Wallace & Co.; Thompson & Overman; L. Visebeck; C. A. Brown; Allen, Ross, W. E. Read, N. A. Blodgett; Stewart & Sox; L. E. Blain; Smith & Sanders; Price & Robinson; E. C. Searls; L. E. Judson; Parker Bros.; Hopkins Bros.; Will & Link; G. W. Shapson; I. Beas; J. J. Dubrille; William Mack.

The Vagrancy Law.

The last legislature, by repealing the vagrancy law, left the tramp matter in such a condition that those who are safe from arrest as long as they remain outside the city limits. This makes it difficult for the police officers and tends at the same time to colonize the loafers just without the city's limits. With a strict vagrancy law rigidly enforced very soon the cities of the Willamette valley could have fine streets. This would be accomplished by working the "vags" on the streets breaking rock for purposes of macadamizing.

Before the Public.

"Farmer" Jones, of French Prairie, now generally referred to as he of bemo fame, is for about the dozenth time of recent days brought into public notice. He has made application before the circuit court of Marion county for divorce from his wedded wife. The story is told in the court docket: "No. 61—S. W. R. Jones vs. Cynthia Ella Jones, divorce." With breathless impatience the query is ventured, what next?

Notice to the Public.

Dr. McAlister will treat patients at his residence with father notice, Cor. Ferry and 9th streets.

Golden Drip Syrup at Parker Bros.

Wilcox has the combination and is making splendid photographs. Golden drip syrup at Parker Bros. It is very fine for breakfast.

LAND SWINDLERS SENTENCED.

Stone and His Confederate Now Behind the Bars in the State Penitentiary.

Frank Stone and E. J. Hyde were convicted in Judge Deady's court in Portland Tuesday after a hearing by the jury of fifteen minutes. The charge was subornation of perjury. On the previous day Stone was convicted of conspiring to defraud the government out of 160 acres of timber land.

Hyde is said to be one of the most desperate men in the country. Both he and Stone kept up a brave front while the verdict was being read, but when they were taken in the United States marshal's office, they broke down. When Stone was arrested and put in jail at Walla Walla, he refused to be handcuffed. A dozen men tried to use force, but he knocked every one of them down. He has a grand form and an iron will, but when out of the court room this morning he and Hyde, an equally guilty fellow, said with one accord:

"I would prefer death to going to prison."

"But," said a deputy, "you may not have a hard sentence."

"No," responded Hyde, "and I am not yet in the penitentiary, and I'd rather be shot than be taken there."

When Sheriff McFarland brought them down from Walla Walla, they told the officials never to give them the least opportunity, for they would take advantage of the slightest chance to escape.

Stone was sentenced to five years of hard labor, and Hyde to three years, in the penitentiary at Salem. The prisoners looked exceedingly nervous, and after court adjourned they turned to the sheriff and thanked him for the kind treatment he had accorded them while in jail at Walla Walla, as well as during their trip from that city to Portland.

COAST NOTES.

Salem has a bill in the legislature to extend her city limits.

There are about 300,000 young salmon in the Curry county hatchery.

Last Wednesday at Roslyn, Wash., $85,000 was paid out for labor at the coal mines.

Special Agent Bayard has nearly finished the work of examining the Unatilla Indian claims.

During a fierce wind at Seattle last Sunday, the steamer Cascade sunk at her wharf at Seattle, doing damage estimated at $2,500.

Bogus 45 pieces are in circulation in Albany and other Willamette valley towns. They are good imitations, nearly full weight, and dated 1889.

The old picture and frame stall is being worked in the Willamette valley again by an enterprising company in Chicago. A beautiful (?) crayon portrait of the victim is sent free in consideration of a $25 order for a $5 frame. Several people living near Salem have received the circulars.

The secretary of state has already purchased $50 worth of postage stamps for the members of the legislature, and he finds the supply is short and more will have to be purchased.—Pendleton, East Oregonian.

Oregon can't do too much to preserve and nurture her fruit interests. The horticultural commission should not be abolished, but strengthened. The fruit curing industries should also be protected.—Salem Statesman.

Work has commenced on raising a $75,000 subsidy to secure the establishment of Penitentiary manufacturing enterprises to cost $300,000. Property owners are enthusiastic over the scheme.

It seems that the people of Portland and suburbs want consolidation, but their representatives in the legislature, most of them, don't.

At John Day's river the railroad company has two double pumps working, suicing sand into the river, to save the track from being covered.

John Smart, living near Pendleton, caught a tramp in his cup board the other day, and made him come out at the point of a shotgun. The culprit begged hard for mercy and said he was very hungry, and was allowed to depart.

Wishes He Was in Oregon. The Eugene Register says: Rev. M. S. Riddell, the new pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city, writes from Ness City, Kansas, where he went after his family, that when he arrived there he found one of his boys with one foot frozen, regular blizzards prevailing and snow from tree to four feet deep. He says there is a great deal of suffering there. On account of the severe weather and scarcity of food, stock can scarcely be given away, much less sold at any fair price. He finds it far different from Oregon and says it will be astonishing the number of people that will flee from that country in the spring. People desiring to get away from there find it hard to dispose of their property at a reasonable price, and many of them will bring everything with them. Rev. Riddell has been making arrangements to locate a large colony in the vicinity of Harrisburg.

Something Good. In a certain part of this city there are two parties in business who are the talk of all the people of Albany, especially those fond of gold mines. Their stock is complete and prices low for cash. Location, corner of 24 and Ellsworth streets.

A Severe Accident. A little son of Mr. Thom of Tangent was severely hurt yesterday by his older brother accidentally striking him upon the head with an ax. A frightful gash was cut in the scalp, which was sewed up by Dr. W. H. Davis of this city.

LETTER FROM PORTLAND.

Newspaper Comments on Topics of Interest in the State.

PORTLAND, Or., Feb. 3, 1891. To the Editor of the Herald:

Our distinguished governor's aspirations toward presidential honors among his friends and political supporters, as well as his admirers of the Alliance in Oregon as well as some of the western prohibition states, hoping doubt to wield the balance of power and run another St. John in the next presidential campaign. Evidently the governor is laying for some good opportunity to add to his popularity with Eastern Oregon by favoring the building of a portage railway at The Dalles and Cascades, and he is right. The people of the great inland empire do not want to be bottled up at home and subjected to the whims of the Union Pacific railroad or any other corporation that wish to bleed them.

The bill before the legislature relative to co-operation like associations seems to favor lock companies and workmen's organizations to our home institutions which have been organized on a sound business basis and are emphatically equitable in all of their contracts, and honorable in all of their transactions. The order of United Workmen is an institution that has been thoroughly tried and found wanting, always meeting its losses promptly according to contract, and neither should it or like co-operative associations be hampered by legislative enactments that will in any manner abridge their rights, or check their growing popularity among the class of people who desire the cheapest and least expensive insurance.

As to railroads, I dare not venture a prediction, or make an assertion lest I prove a false prophet, or what is worse, a willful provocator. What Jay Gould or William Reid intends doing no man can find out, but being of similar disposition it is supposed they will continue to act in like manner, that is they will owe their employes as long as they can, and as stubborn blocks to any and better men from accomplishing the work they have unfortunately been allowed to interest themselves in. Mr. Penra has lately returned from the East and seems to be greatly interested in the future welfare and early construction of the Albany and Astoria road across the Nehalem through Tillamook, Nestucca and Grand Ronde, by burran.
