OPENING THE COLUMBIA.

The matter of getting around the obstructions in the Columbia river, so as to give uninterrupted shipment for the products of the inland empire, is one of absorbing interest to dwellers in that rich and productive country. The Waterway convention has been in session in Walla Walla, in which the ways and means of reaching that desired end was discussed.

The committee on resolutions reported two memorials. The first memorial was to congress and was adopted after considerable discussion. The memorial alludes to the distress of producers, because of inadequate transportation facilities, and urges the necessity of the permanent opening of the Columbia river through a completion of the Cascade locks and constructing a boat railway above The Dalles. It deplores the slowless and dilatory manner in which work has been done at the locks, believing much money and time has been wasted, and that work could be more economically done by contract under the supervision of the war department. The memorial urgently requests that the bill of Senator McConnell for the improvement of Snake river be passed. Also Mitchell's bill for a boat railway above The Dalles, and Dolphs' bill for an appropriation sufficient to complete the locks. Another memorial to the legislatures of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, was introduced, but has not been acted on by the convention yet. It recites the same grievance and asks for an appropriation of $100,000 from each state for providing a portage railway around The Dalles and Cascades of the Columbia river as a temporary relief for grain producers.

In the arguments upon the assessment and taxation question, their are many phases and points brought out that are simply perplexing and mystifying. These points of argument bother instead of helping and make the matter more difficult to put right in the minds of the legislators. One of these perplexing arguments, that leads the mind away from the true subject and sends it off to mire down in the quagmires of doubt and decision, is the very specious, plausible, but wholly deceptive claim that in making the assessment the tangible property and not the individual is the thing for the assessor to hunt up. No more false and misleading statement could be made. The assessment and taxation law must of a necessity hunt and locate the individual, and then determine the individuals just and equitable liability in the matter of defraying the governmental expense. Governments never yet made property pay taxes. In every case where an individual owner can not be located, the government seeks out and finds an individual who will assume ownership and pay the taxes. Indeed the burden of part of the present taxation law is that in attempting to locate property, the government in a measure assumes a quasi ownership in it, and to that extent it becomes a burden and an expense until the individual owner can be found and the government relieved of its care. The question is complicated enough without dragging in these false and mystifying statements in argument.

ALBANY'S charter bill has passed the legislature, empowering the city to issue her $75,000 bonds. There is now is nothing to prevent Albany from going forward this summer with the bridge and other public improvements and a healthy amount of public and private building.

THE CONSOLIDATION.

The matter of consolidating the three cities of Portland, East Portland and Albina, is being worked for with might and main in Portland and before the legislature at Salem.

Mayor Delasmutt issued a call for a mass meeting of the citizens to take place last night for the purpose of organized action favoring consolidation of the three cities. strong opposition prevails in both East Portland and Albina, and the measure is likely to fail. There is no question as to the right and expediency of the movement, but local prejudice is the hindering cause. The mistake was in allowing the separate municipalities in the first place. The outlying cities should have been additions to or suburbs of Portland at first.

THE Santiam mines are no longer an unknown quantity. The new machinery there is converting the ore into bullion, and the district is now a scene of active mining operations, which promise satisfactory results.

THERE must be no wrangle in Albany over the location of the bridge. One or more competent government engineers should make a survey and fix the location, and this should be final.

SALEM is infested with tramps and pick-pockets. Can it be that these fellows regard Oregon's solons as a verdant, unsophisticated lot, offering a rich field to prey upon?

THE WORLD ENRICHED.

The facilities of the present day or the production of everything hat will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time any the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

CURE

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

"Some months ago I purchased a box of Dr. J. P. Gill's Catarrh Cure for my own use, but finding my nephew, C. A. McMahan, needing such medicine I let him have my box of medicine. He now sends for three more boxes, saying it is the best thing for catarrh ever tried by him and his friends. I got another box to use in my case, and cheerfully recommend it to others,

Ex-County Commissioner Lane Co, Oregon,
Springfield, Lane county, Oregon.

Prof J. W. Johnson, president of the State university, says it cured him of a cough after two other prescriptions had failed. Likewise two of his little girls used it to cure their coughs. Mrs Mark Bailey, wife of Prof. Bailey, sent it to Prof. Johnson, and recommends it to all who suffer from colds and coughs. For coughs it acts like a charm, and can be inhaled into the pipes or passages, where no other cough cures can reach.
