A peculiarity about the "1891" is that adding the first figure to the second makes the third, and subtracting the fourth figure from the third gives the second. Adding the four figures together gives us the number of the century.

The police of this city are on the lookout for a tramp who had stolen two shot-guns near Corvallis. He came to this city with the stolen property, but left suddenly, going into the country and carrying the two guns as if he expected an Indian outbreak.

C. A. Carey, a steamboat man of experience, wants Salem business men or cannery men to assist him in building and equipping a light draft steamer to run from Salem to the head of navigation. The boat would be about thirty tons capacity, and the proposition meets with favor generally.

The ties and stringers for the new railway bridge across the McKenzie at Colburg have been put in place. The frame work of the bridge is nearly all cut and ready to put together, and with the present force of twenty-five men the bridge will be ready to swing in about ten days, unless the river should rise so as to hinder.

There has been more tramping in Corvallis lately than ever before in our history. They come by twos, fours and half dozens and petty pilfering is getting common. Something ought to be done to stop this and able bodied men ought to be made to earn an honest livelihood. — Corvallis Times.

A telegram was received yesterday by Mr. Charles Pfeiffer from E. J. A Residence Burglarized. Burglars entered the residence of W. E. Hendrickson last evening while the family was at work. They locked the front door and then proceeded to satisfy themselves with a good square meal. After this the house was gone through and a pair of blankets and one of Mr. Hendrickson's coats taken. One of Mrs. Hendrickson's dresspockets was relieved of $1.25, and it is thought a twenty dollar gold piece went the same way. A lot of notes and wheat receipts were left undisturbed. The police were notified, but no arrests have as yet been made.

THE CITY WATER WORKS.

Some Proposed Improvements Which Should Not Be Neglected.

The announcement that the owners of the city water works are arranging to extend the water mains, and in the first extend the city, will be grateful to the citizens of Albany. Many of the new residences, and indeed many others in some portions of the city, are not reached by the water mains, and in the first extend the demand for a water supply has been so great that the city council has been petitioned to allow property owners to lay pipes of their own to be supplied by a wind-mill.

Wm. M. Hoag, one of the owners of the canal, it is announced, will be in this city today to confer with the city council about extending the water mains. It is to be hoped there will be no further delay in this work, as it is a matter of public necessity. It will be especially a necessity in view of the sewer extensions which will be made this season. Arrangements will no doubt be made for the early extension of the water mains, and it is not improbable that some new buildings and other important improvements will be made in the city water works.

While the subject is being considered some emphatic action should be taken to prohibit the draining of lateral sewers into the canal from which the water is taken. The health of the city demands that the practice of draining filth into the water of the canal, which is used in hundreds of families for household and drinking purposes, be summarily stopped. It is an open disgrace and a gross outrage upon water consumers that this should be tolerated for a day.

CALIFORNIA ON WHEELS.

The Wonderful Exhibit Visited by Hundreds of People in This City.

The two cars laden with California exhibits, known as "California on Wheels," was visited by hundreds of people in this city yesterday. The cars were well-tracked near the Southern Pacific depot. Our sister state has made a splendid exhibit and shows much enterprise in sending the cars all over the country, which has proved a novel advertising scheme. In many respects it is no better than Oregon can do. Aside from the tropical fruits and vineyard products the display was fine, but was not more than can be seen at exhibits of Oregon products, and the great, such as wheat, etc., can be had in Oregon. It is a display that does credit to the State of California and the entire coast.

This is the second tour of "California on Wheels," the first having been over the Central Pacific and on East as far as Boston. The train left San Francisco on Dec. 3, 1889, has been constantly on the road ever since, traveling over 14,000 miles of railroad, visiting thirty-two states and territories and being visited by over million and half people, yet the exhibits are in perfect order.

The train will visit Eugene, Medford, Roseburg, Friday; and Modoc and Ashland Saturday. It will make nine stops in the leading cities of California, arriving at Oakland the 28th inst.

Sugar Beet Industry.

A number of capitalists of Portland are seriously considering the question of manufacturing the business of manufacturing beet sugar in Oregon. The matter was under consideration by several persons here some fifteen years ago. They made all necessary experiments in growing the beets and having them analyzed, and found that the percentage of saccharine matter in beets grown in some cases more, which is much more than is found in beets grown in Germany. The parties who made these investigations had concluded to form a company and invest $200,000 in the beet sugar business, but just then the treaty with the Sandwich Islands admitting their sugar free of duty went into effect, and that wrecked the scheme in the heart. Now that the McKinley bill provides for a bounty of 2 cents per pound on all sugar made in this country, the time is favorable for going into the beet sugar business and some of the wealthiest and most enterprising citizens have the matter under serious consideration.

Hunting His Money.

The Astorian relates how a festive Pittsburg lost his wealth in Astoria. It says that William Gosling is a young man, who, when at home, resides in the smoky city of Pittsburg. Just at present he is in this city and is marveling at the ways of the wicked, and with the aid of the police is trying to recover $800 in gold coin which was stolen from him Friday night while he sat in a comatose condition so to speak. Mr. Gosling arrived in Astoria several days ago as a passenger on the American ship Keaper, and by the time he gets back home he will be able to write a book. When the young gentlemen left home he was excited, and up to the present time he seems to have fared pretty well in this respect. On the trip around the horn the vessel encountered some very heavy weather. Several exciting incidents, such as a sailor falling from aloft and being dashed to death, the daring way of a sail or two and huge seas tumbling on board occurred, and it was with a sigh of relief that Mr. Gosling stepped ashore there. Friday morning a money advices reached him from home and he drew it out that evening Mr. Gosling started out to see Astoria by arc and incandescent light. He got along all right for an hour or two, but after that his memory is a blank until about seven o'clock yesterday morning, when he was found lying in the street near the corner of First and Benton streets by a policeman. The officer broke the sleet covering that had formed on the sleeping stranger and woke him up. It took Mr. Gosling some minutes to recover his senses, and then he made the discovery that his health had flown.

The last thing the young man remembers was taking a couple of drinks. The police are endeavoring to find who stole the money, but so far without success.

THE WORLD ENRICHED.

The facilities of the present day or the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Eggs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly and promptly and effectually cleanses the system gently in the morning, in fact, at any time any the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

THE STREET RAILWAY.

A Good Many Thousand Dollars Will Be Expended on Extending the Line.

One of the directors of the Albany street railway company stated yesterday to a Herald reporter that it is a settled fact that the street car line will be extended this year. Definite plans will not be determined until the annual meeting of the stockholders is held, which will take place on the first Wednesday in March.

The company has been considering the question of converting the line into an electric railway system, but this has not been fully decided upon. Some extensive improvements will be made, and a circuit of the city will probably be made, which will reach the growing suburbs. The road has been paying as well as was expected when it was built, and the receipts will be largely increased by the extension of the line so as to reach the many new residents of the city. Proposals have been made by an Eastern electric street railway company to put capital into the extension of the road, but whether this is accepted or not, the company will spend a good many thousand dollars in this work during the coming summer.

A party of San Francisco capitalists have been looking about Astoria with a view to establishing a large tin manufactory at that point. They do not ask for a bonus, but will make contracts with the city.

The Farmers Alliance movement is gaining ground rapidly in Eastern Oregon and it will soon be a flourishing organization, especially in this county, wherein many local alliances have been organized. — East Oregonian.

The Capital City Railway Company of Salem is preparing to change its motive power used for running its dynamos from steam to water. It is the intention to use the water wheel that stands just west of the power house and to the south of the bridge on east state street. This wheel was formerly used in driving the machinery in the oatmeal mill that burned a few years ago, and affords power equal to forty-horse.

A carload obtained considerable circulation last week, says the Colville Miner, to effect that Chief Joseph and a band of 100 followers had decided to camp at Colville Friday night while they wait for a comatose condition so to speak.

Mr. Roseburg arrived in Astoria several days ago as a passenger on the American ship Keaper, and by the time he gets back home he will be able to write a book. When the young gentlemen left home he was excited, and up to the present time he seems to have fared pretty well in this respect.

On the trip around the horn the vessel encountered some very heavy weather.
