ON SALE.

The DAILY HERALD will be on sale each morning at H. J. Jones' book store, where it can be procured at 5 cents per copy.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

Hon. Jeff Myers is in the city. E. B. McElroy was in this city yesterday.

Miss Anna Martin, of Corvallis, is visiting in this city. Clark's Diphtheria Preventative, Hulm & Dawson sole agents.

City recorder Henton will begin assessing the city next week. C. J. Messer, of the Portland Evening Telegram, is in the city.

A choice lot of fresh vegetables, received from the steamer, at Allen Bros. Stop at Boenicke's window and see those fine seedless oranges just received.

The finest in the city, those fine seedless oranges at Boenicke's, delivered to any part of the city. For anything nice in the vegetable or grocery line, go to Mueller & Garrett's, the leading grocers.

A pair of fast black ladies' hose free with every pair of ladies' shoes, costing $3 or more, at Sears' shoe store. A lot of choice Eastern and California creamery butter at 85 and 75 cents per roll just received at Allen Bros.

George Viereck has arrived from Philadelphia, and will make his home with his brother, L. Viereck in this city. Keep the diphtheria from your houses by using Clark's Diphtheria Preventative. For sale by Hulm & Dawson only.

Children's all wool dresses made in the latest style can be had for less than cost of material at the Ladies Bazaar. Reserved seats for Prof. E. G. Lorillard's concert, Friday evening, Feb. 27th, on sale at Will & Link's at 50 cents each.

One of the pianos to be used by Prof. E. G. Lorillard on Friday evening, Feb. 27th, will be a fine H. F. Miller upright. Wm. Pfeiffer received a serious fall at the Revere House Tuesday which sprained his back, and from the effects of which he is confined to his bed.

Prof. E. C. Lorillard assisted by Miss Leona Willis of Salem, and some of Albany's best musical talent, will give a concert at the opera house on Feb. 27th. A competent shorthand student desires to act in the capacity of stenographer with a lawyer or business man for practice only. No salary. Address "Z" care of HERALD office.

On the noon train yesterday Alvin and Mark Long left via Yacquina bay for San Francisco. They will remain there a few days and afterwards will continue their journey to Mexico.

The Ashland Record says: Mrs. A. T. Kyle left Monday to visit her sister, Mr. C. W. Ayers. Mrs. Ayers expects to leave Albany and move to Portland, where her husband's headquarters now are as general manager of the Siskiyou Stone Co.

Morgan Bros, recently of Portland have located in this city and will open a real estate office next door to Thompson & Overman's harness shop. They select Albany as their place of doing business after having viewed the whole situation, and they exhibit sound judgment in making the selection.

The Astoria Columbian has been changed to an evening paper, which leaves the Astorian sole survivor of the morning field. The Astorian is a right good newspaper. It publishes the same telegraph service that is furnished the HERALD by the Associated Press.

List of Deserters.

City Marshal Hoffman is in receipt of a descriptive list of the deserters from regiments serving in the department of the Columbia since the 14th day of July, 1890. There are 55 names on the circular, 10 of whom escaped from the Vancouver barracks. All but two are privates. In describing each the rank, company and regiment, age, height, color of hair and eyes, complexion, where born, time of enlistment, and time and place of desertion given. A reward of $50 will be paid for the apprehension and delivery of any one of the number.

Trunk Stolen.

Last Thursday Mark Long went to the railroad depot in Portland, having his trunk which the expressman placed on the platform. Mr. Long purchased his ticket and then returning for his trunk, found it was gone, some person having taken it during his few moments absence. The police were notified at once and detectives put at work but up to this time nothing has been heard of the missing trunk. Besides his clothing, it contained several instruments and $45 worth of music.

The Boys Will Go Camping.

The members of the O. N. G. are feeling jubilant over the passage of the bill providing for their annual encampment. This is a long sought measure, and will be thoroughly appreciated. The place of the encampment is not yet determined. Albany would be a central location, and the best kind of grounds could be found at or near this city for the purpose.

For Sale.

A good team of young horses, well broken and true pullers; a new Mitchell tubular 3/4 wagon and a good set of harness. Call on Morris & Blount corner First and Baker.

RAILROAD MAGNATES.

The Oregon Pacific Ferry Inspect Their Possessions in This City.

General Manager Wm. M. Hozer, and Wallis Nash of the Oregon Pacific company, accompanied by J. B. National, a New York capitalist, were in this city yesterday, having come over from Corvallis on a special train. They visited different points of interest about the city and the distinguished visitor was shown the company's grounds and other property here, and was introduced to several business men.

It is understood that he is here looking over the Oregon Pacific line as a possible stockholder of the road. The party has inspected the line to the front, and have also been over to Yaquina.

Mr. National was pleased with the evidences of prosperity in Albany, and was greatly interested in some of the rich specimens recently taken from the Santiam mines. The party returned to Corvallis in the evening.

OBITUARY.

On the 23rd day of February 1891, the earthly life of Blanche A. Davis, daughter of W. C. and W. A. Davis, came to an end, at the age of nearly fourteen years, her birth day being upon the 4th day of July. A sweet, winsome child, she was an example of patient suffering, having been for a number of years under the care of skillful and able physicians but a hopeless case. So winsome was she and so thoughtful of others that the care she required was a pleasure. She was a great reader and during the closing months of her life had completely read—and some portions re-read the entire new testament. The parents and relatives of Blanche, while they sadly miss her and cannot but mourn her loss, have as a comforting thought, the memory of her amiability, and the thoughtful care for all who ministered to her. She was certainly of those whom it was said, "of such is the kingdom of heaven."

More of the Beautiful.

Fossil Journal: The snow is about ten inches deep on the high ridges and plains of Gilliam county. There was about four inches on the valley in which Fossil is located, and none on lower Pine Creek and the John Day. There is about six inches at Sevier Prairie. It melts a little each day in the sunshine. A chinook would now be in order.

Camped at Stayton.

Gypsies are certainly birds of passage. And they go by droves. Just now this part of the state is full of them. Up at Stayton there is a band of them. They are camped not far from the city and seem to be enjoying themselves completely. There are about sixty of them in the herd.

A Crowd.

There was quite a crowd at the Ladies Bazaar yesterday securing bargains. The clearance sale will last but a short time longer.

OUR NORTHERN NEIGHBORS.

What a Tourist Agent Saw in a Long Trip Farming Lands in Oregon.

Jam Miller, the tourist agent, has just returned from an extended trip of observation throughout the northwestern country, on which he was absent about four weeks. He was accompanied by Mrs. Miller on his journeying. Mrs. Miller's observations into a few leading points. He visited Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Spokane Falls, Victoria, Vancouver, the Willamette and Kootenay river valleys, and also made a tour along the Canadian Pacific railroad as far as North Bend, on the Fraser river. He intended to push on to Glacier, but a severe storm came up, so that he was convinced that it would be impossible to view the glaciers, and he turned back. To see what there was to look at, he took freight trains where there were no passenger trains running by daylight through particular tracts of special interest.

"It was particularly impressive by two facts," said Mr. Miller. "The first was that the Puget Sound country does not hold out any more like the former section of California. The second was that all that country is bound to be tributary to San Francisco. The farms in certain valleys like the Willamette and Kootenay river valleys are thriving and producing. There they have prairie land as a basis. But in the country where forests have been cut away to make farm or town sites, the cost of clearing up the stumps is very large. I talked with a banker who headed a syndicate to clear up 100 acres of stumpy land for a town site and the average cost of clearing proved to be between $80 and $100 per acre. Where you find these stumpy farms of course it is evident that it will take a poor farmer a long time to clear up a large tract. There are some farms where only a few acres have been brought under cultivation, and the homes of the farmers are only cabins. Of course rich men can go ahead and make farms anywhere, but the poor man finds it slow and expensive to acquire much of it from Boston, has gone in there in buildings. There is also some San Francisco capital in buildings and lands. The public improvements are also good. I was surprised to see how almost every section of the Northwest is supplied with street railways, electric or cable, or both. Seattle, for instance, has two cable roads out to Washington lake. Whatcombs cable road out to Lake Whatcombs. The electric roads go over hills as steep as any we have here. Such a great deal of eastern capital is being poured into the Northwest, and the laws of the state, and shall have passed such examination thereon as may be approved by the state board of education, shall be entitled to receive a state diploma, as is now authorized by law, and after five years of successful teaching in the state of Oregon, shall be entitled to a state life diploma, as now provided by law, when they shall have paid the required fee for said diploma."

A Significant Amendment

There was an amendment passed by the legislature to senator Fulton's railroad bill, as published in the HERALD, yesterday morning. Its provisions, which are as follows, will be of special significance in the light of the recent developments in the Albany and Astoria railway's plans: The amendment provides "that any company that shall construct a line of railway from a point on the sea coast through Southeastern Oregon to a connection with a transcontinental line, and shall build not less than 600 miles in Oregon, and not less than seventy-five miles within two years from the passage of this act, and not less than fifty miles per year hereafter until completed, and shall complete the same, the entire line, within seven years, shall be entitled to the provisions of this act."

Graduates Will Become Teachers.

An important law affecting college graduates of Oregon was passed at the recent session of the legislature. It provides "that all persons who shall complete a required course of study and receive a literary degree therefor in any institution for learning of collegiate or university grade, chartered or incorporated under the laws of the state, and shall have passed such examination thereon as may be approved by the state board of education, shall be entitled to receive a state diploma, as is now authorized by law, and after five years of successful teaching in the state of Oregon, shall be entitled to a state life diploma, as now provided by law, when they shall have paid the required fee for said diploma."

More Indians Heard From.

Wherever the red skins come to sight it appears they are up to deviltry. The Baker City Defensor says that the Umatilla Indians are reported to be petitioning for the return of the Middle and North Fork of the John Day, says the Long Creek Eagle. They are on their regular tour and as is usually the case, are doing about as much damage and devilry as possible. We understand that the agent of the Umatillas has been petitioned to keep these roving bucks on the reservation, but such petitioning seems to have availed nothing. These Indians are reported as slaughtering all kinds of game as they go, an act which is not allowed the settlers, especially at this season of the year. Much valuable timber is being destroyed at their hands.

The Pocket Gun.

Sadness and disaster follows wherever the pocket pistol comes to the surface. The Dalles Times Mountaineer relates a case of that nature. Last Saturday afternoon at Hood River, several boys were playing with a revolver, when it accidentally discharged, the ball striking Newton Thomas—a son of Dr. E. Thomas, of that town—aged 13 years, over the right eye. This occurred about 4 o'clock, and the boy died at 7 the same evening. Everything was done that possibly could be to relieve the boy; but the wound was necessarily fatal, and his life was departed from the first. This is the only son of Dr. E. Thomas, and his death will be a severe blow on the parents, who have the sympathy of the community in their terrible bereavement.

Appreciated.

The fame of Oregon's principal and most valuable fish has become world wide. The Astorian says that in Paris an aquarium is maintained for the purpose of breeding fish for replenishing the rivers of France. A quantity of Columbia river salmon are kept in a tank specially constructed for the purpose of artificial breeding. As a result, more than 200,000 healthy fish are transferred to the river Seine every year.

with the Great Northern to build jointly from Seattle to Portland.

San Francisco Bulletin.

COAST NOTES.

An additional mail clerk has been put on the Ashland-San Francisco run. Twenty emigrants arrived last Sunday at Grant's Pass from Iowa. A militia company has been organized at Hood's River.

Pendleton has started a crusade against the houses of ill fame within the city limits. Snow on the level at Cornucopia is over six feet deep.

Baled hay is said to be worth $20 per ton aboard the cars at Portland. A limited amount of the stock of the Single Rail and Saddle Car Company has been sold in Union county.

The light-ship that the government proposes placing at the mouth of the Columbia river will be 112 feet in length, will have 29 feet 9 inches beam, 12 1/2 feet draft, and especially fitted for riding out heavy gales and seas.

A canvass of the democrats of the Washington legislature resulted as follows: Grover Cleveland—14; Robert E. Patterson—4; David B. Hill—1; Frances Cleveland—1; Best Man for Northwest—1. A total of twenty-one, all democrats in the legislature.

The kiln of the Pacific Pottery company's works at Portland completed Saturday evening. It will be charged and fired in a few days. The first charge will be flower pots to be followed by jars.

William Barned while coming to Olympia on Saturday shot a bald eagle measuring eighty inches from tip to tip. The bird was not killed and Mr. Barned attacked with a club, but the eagle was enraged and gave his opponent a severe battle before it was conquered.

The other day a miller from Ohio was here looking for a mill site.

THE SPICE OF LIFE.

"I say, Eugene, you beat me and I will bow. Then mamma will give me a cake and I'll divide with you."

Jake Jimson (after the engagement)—Shall I name the day, dear? Cora follows—Oh, dear, no! Why not, darling? You are too procrastinating, Jake!

Editor—I believe I'll close my editorial with that line from Shakespeare, "We would rather be right than president." Foreman—You'd better not do it. Bill Wright was hanged last week, and everybody'll think you mean him.

Fine Oil Painting. The collection of paintings by Mr. A. W. Best, on exhibition in the building opposite Stewart & Sox on First street, were on exhibition last evening and were viewed by a large number. These paintings were on exhibition at the Spokane and Portland exposition and are the result of three years sketching by Mr. Best, and he has some of the most noted and picturesque views on the Pacific coast, and all our local artists and picture connoisseurs pronounce them to be the finest collection ever on exhibition in this city. He also has some of the famous figure paintings of Tojetti, the well known San Francisco artist. This collection is given in order to allow the public an opportunity to judge of his work, as he is here for the purpose of opening a class in oil painting. He has been teaching a successful class in Salem, and will teach in both places.
