The Nicaragua canal is second in importance, of course, only to the Suez canal among the great works of modern times, the refusal of the United States government to take charge of this work under the administration of President Cleveland caused a temporary suspension of the enterprise. Thereupon, however a private company was organized, and in another shape the United States government has again taken it up—a shape in which it is said that the constitutional difficulties in the way of the original plan have been avoided. This matter has been in the hands of the finance committee of the senate during this session of congress, of which Senator Sherman is chairman, and this committee has prepared a favorable report for an appropriation to push the work to completion. An explanation of this report and of the committee's reasons therefor, as well as of the commercial importance of the canal itself, will be made in the Forum for March, by Senator Sherman himself. He goes into detail in explaining the financial aspects of the plan, as well, of course, as its political bearings, and thus thrusts the subject forward as a matter of public concern.

Sons of Veterans Society.

The "Sons" first social given at the G. A. R. hall Wednesday evening, was a decided success both socially and financially. A fine time was had and an elegant lunch was served, after which all adjourned to their homes, voting it one of the finest of the season. The boys wish to return their thanks to the ladies who so kindly assisted them in the undertaking.

Deep Snow.

A man came down from the Blue River mines last week, having left there Tuesday. He said on top of the hills the snow was five feet deep and in the canyons was probably fifteen feet deep. As it has been snowing a great deal since he left it is probably several feet deeper now.

PAVING MATERIAL.

To the Editor of the Herald:

I saw in a recent issue of your paper, an article on pavements, giving the cost of the same, manner of construction, etc. As this is the leading question before the people all over county at this time and especially with the citizens of Albany, it may be well for us to look into this matter and gain all the information we can on that subject. As to the kind of paving material, that is the paramount question. Brick is the material of which the "ironing pavement" will be built. I see its use is being advocated all over the country, by those who put themselves up for authority in such matters, and have made a good showing as to the advisability of its use, giving as evidence instances where it has been in use many years, namely, in Bloomington, Ill., where it has been in use for eighteen years, and other places not so long but long enough to justify the belief that it is the best material known for the purpose. At present there is much diversity of opinion as to what is the best paving brick. Some say the shales that are free from sand, others say any clay that will vitrify by burning, others that any "pipe clay." Each has its advocates with a theory, but the theory seems to be based on the fact that each advocates the use of his own material and often objects to all others. Not to make this article too long I will say I am looking this matter up fully, and will soon have the best information there is on the subject at hand, also that I am examining material in this locality out of which I believe good paving brick can be made successfully, and after further investigation I may say something further as to cost, durability, manner of laying, etc.

Improvements on the Willamette.

Hon. E. M. Wait, of Salem has been informed as follows by the secretary of the state board of commerce: That Hon. J. H. Mitchell, Senator, has forwarded to me a letter, from the chief of engineers, U. S. war department, in which, referring to the preambles and resolutions adopted by the state board of commerce, on your motion, he says: "Your communication, with its inclosure, has been read for report to Maj. Thos. H. Handbury, corps of engineers, the officer in charge of the improvement of Willamette river. Further action will be taken by this office when his report is received." Senator Dolph writes me, in regard to improving the Willamette: "No appropriation can be secured without a new survey, I will see the Chief of Engineers to day, and if possible, without further legislation have a new survey ordered. If this cannot be done without congressional action, I will secure a provision for a reserve in the river and harbor bill. In view of these, I am in hopes something in the direction you desire, may be done."

A Monster Case.

At one of the drug stores in Portland, a drummer for a drug company carried a cane that attracted a great deal of attention. The cane is one of the same style that is used by those gilliam parker knights, the English dude. The stick has a dog's head for a handle, which is as large as an ordinary small "top" head, and weighs a few ounces over a pound. The stick part of the cane is almost two inches in diameter, and is made of orange wood, and finely carved. The head is also of finely carved wood, and the cane is considered very valuable. The drummer received it as a present from a friend, who is now in London.

A number of young people were present from Salem and Corvallis, furnished by Parsons' orchestra of Portland. A splendid supper was served for the occasion by Will White, the popular caterer of the City Restaurant.

Day of Reckoning to Come.

The Baker City Democrat says: It is charged that Joe Simon was instrumental in the defeat of Riley's postage railway bill. If it be true, that gentleman can look for breakers ahead. The fight for an open river is not yet over. The people of Eastern Oregon will not down, and their enemies had better stand firm under.

COAST NOTES.

A singular chase was witnessed by several people Sunday four miles above Pilot Rock, Umatilla county. Five coyotes attacked a deer and pursued it over the hills. Occasionally the deer would turn and show fight when hard pressed, and then resume its flight. The interesting race was kept up until the animals were lost to sight in the distance.

Found Something Valuable.

A case of finding something different from what was looked after, is related as follows by the Eugene Register. Messrs. Frazer & Berry recently purchased a tract of land about a mile and a half south of Coward, intending to plant the same with prune trees. Last week while preparing the ground the workmen unearthed a fine vein about three feet in thickness. The gentlemen at once commenced to develop the prospects and have now dug down about fifteen feet and are confident they have struck a fine vein of coal of no small dimensions. They intend to continue their prospecting until they find out the extent of the find.

Snowslide.

We learn that Superintendent Oliver, of the Baisley mine, arrived in Baker City Tuesday morning, and reported that a snowslide had completely covered the mouth of a tunnel in which some miners were working. Workmen on the outside proceeded to dig away the debris from the opening, and liberated the prisoners. The men were badly scared, as the noise made by the sliding snow was terrific, and they thought the whole mountain was sliding.

Deer in the Kitchen.

H. R. Kincaid, of Eugene, has two pet deer. A few nights ago he thought it too stormy for them to remain out of doors. Having no other place to put them he managed to coax one under the house and his wife suggested that they put the other in the kitchen. As they did, it was soon all over the room and up on the table where it knocked off a lot of glass-ware and dishes, breaking quite a number of them.

Five Oil Paintings.

The collection of paintings by Mr. A. W. Best, on exhibition in the building opposite Stewart & Sox on First street, were on exhibition last evening and were visited by a large number. These paintings were on exhibition at the Spokane and Portland exposition and are the result of three years sketching by Mr. Best, and he has some of the most noted and picturesque views on the Pacific coast, and all our local artists and picture connoisseurs pronounce them to be the finest collection ever on exhibition in this city. He also has some of the famous figure paintings of Tojetti, the well-known San Francisco artist. This exhibition is given in order to allow the public an opportunity to judge of his work, as he is here on the purpose of opening a class in oil painting. He has been teaching a successful class in Salem, and will teach in both places.
