

Morning Daily Herald

ON SALE.

The DAILY HERALD will be on sale each morning at H. J. Jones' book store, where it can be procured at 5 cents per copy.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

What is 75 cents per bushel. Go to Sears' for a new pair of shoes. School hats, at the Ladies Bazaar. A fine line of school shoes at Sears'. New style neckwear at the Ladies Bazaar. A complete line of gents furnishing at Sears'. Very little is doing in the police court of the city. Wear a pair of Sears' shoes and you will be happy. Farmers can now sell their wheat at a good figure. Lettuce fresh from the garden every morning at Parker Bros. Albany plasterers get their supply of sand by the car load from Lebanon. $10,000 still left to loan on good farm security, immediately by S. N. Steele & Co. F. M. Redfield, of this city, has been appointed notary public by Governor Penneyer. The Delmonico restaurant now keep on hand all kinds of cakes, pies and fresh bread. Miss McDonald, assistant operator in the Western Union office, is quite ill with a gripple. John O. Goltra of Portland, is in this city, being summoned by the serious illness of his father. Alex. Rennie, of Salem, has accepted the position of keeper in the Albany Iron Works. Ed. Schmeier left yesterday for Eastern Oregon. He went from this city to Portland on the boat and will go via The Dalles. Stories of large catches of trout will be forthcoming now from these piscatorial inclined. The close season for trout expired April 1st. The Springfield Gazette mentions that the Oregonian Railroad Co's engineer Mr. Sronie, has broken up camp on the McKenzie and now has his headquarters at the Graham house in this city. Mr. Sronie and his three assistants are engaged in running the level on the trestle work between here and Coburg and will have everything in readiness for the bridge men, as soon as the pile-drivers are through with their work. It begins to look as though we would have a railroad in the future. Staples & Co. have ordered up a large number of men from below to finish up the grade. Honors For Oregon. Students from this state in the Eastern colleges and schools invariably make a record which can be referred to with pride. One of the latest of these examples is that of Dr. John A. Giesenberger, who arrived home yesterday. He graduated from the St. Louis Medical Institute, in St. Louis, Missouri, with the highest honors, carrying off the second medal, and completing the rigid examinations for a three years course, after only two years in the school, the most of them in the city. The examinations on proficiency and not on the length of time spent there. Dr. Giesenberger made a tour of the southern and western states after his graduation and made very many observations upon the conditions in the places visited. He reports what crops looking exceedingly well wherever he traveled in the wheat region, but found no country that pleases him as well as Oregon. At Ashland, in this state, he made arrangements with Dr. C. H. Hall, and will return there in a few days and assume the practice of that gentleman. Success will attend him for he has the requisite ability and energy to conquer it. A Popular Appointment. An infusion of young blood just from President Osborn, of the Portland Chamber of Commerce in the Oregon Board of Immigration, cannot fail to have the best of results. We refer to the appointment of Messrs. Geo. S. Eddy, Geo. L. Walker, D. L. Durham, and J. H. Hart as directors of the board. Mr. Eddy is a very bright and energetic young man, whose long experience and wide acquaintance with railroad men and affairs will be of incalculable value to the board. Mr. Walker is a young member of the great corporation of Stager & Walker and Mr. Durham, is well known as the cashier of the Commercial National bank of Portland. A Coal Discovery. A few months ago a little son of Blair Howard who lives in the Wabso hill near Willard, found what he thought was petrified wood, on the banks of a little stream that runs through the farm, but which was really coal. Investigation followed and a vein of fine coal about two feet thick has been uncovered. Experts claim that the prospect for a good mine is good. The coal is of a good quality and if found in sufficient quantity will be a great help to this whole country.—Woodburn Independent. Just Received. I have just received my spring stock of Blazer jackets, Russes accordin platid capes and beaded capes in the latest styles. I wish you do well to examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere. G. W. SIMMONS. A Word to the Wise is Sufficient. Call and examine my styles and prices on ladies, misses and children's hats before purchasing elsewhere. Mrs. C. J. Sower, Ladies Bazaar.

THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

A Full Report of the Last Day's Session. The Entertainment.

At 9 o'clock County Superintendent Russell called the association to order, pursuant of its last day's work. Prof. James McCourt, of Salem, gave a practical illustration of the metric system, explaining by apparatus the various denominations of the system. The subject received good attention and the teachers as a body passed a resolution, recommending the professor's method and apparatus. A paper, "The Common School Hygiene," was read by Prof. H. E. Michener, of Halsey. The necessity of uniformity of country school work was well brought out and many teachers gave voice to its necessity. Prof. W. T. VanSeay, of Jefferson, read an interesting paper on "Physiology and Hygiene." The question of hygiene and narcotic stimulants received the attention of every teacher and visitor present. Mrs. Wilson, of Albany, Prof. Walker, Mrs. A. H. Dadd, of Salem, and others, offered valuable remarks. The temperance movement of the W. C. T. U. received cordial sanction. The expiration of time only, caused the discussion to close, and the earnest thoughts and sentiments expressed will long be remembered. Resolutions then were passed: 1st, That every teacher should give his influence and his vote for the prohibition of the liquor traffic. 2d, The existing laws prohibiting the sale of cigarettes, cigars and tobacco to minors should be rigidly enforced. The discussion of "The Subject vs. Predicate" was introduced in a paper by Prof. Walker. The subject was ably presented, and evoked deep study and careful preparation. Miscellaneous questions were taken up. The questions proposed had little interest and proved both instructive and fruitful. The association adjourned to meet at 1:15. AFTERNOON SESSION. Superintendent McCloy called the meeting to order, and the exercises opened with an excellent paper by Prof. R. N. Wright, of Lebanon. The paper was presented in Prof. Wright's well known, forcible manner, and displayed a fountain of elevating and ennobling thoughts. Mrs. S. A. Grubbe, of the Salem schools, presented a paper discussing the value of reading circles, and the manner of conducting them. The paper was an able exposition of the importance of the teacher's culture, intellectual and moral. The teacher must elevate his standard. President Condit heartily commended the thoughts presented by Mrs. Grubbe, and advocates the organization of teachers' reading circles. Prof. J. B. Horner, of Roseburg, gave a review of the work of the State Teachers' Reading Circle, and many teachers testified to the benefits of the course as pursued during the past year. Discussion of teaching penmanship was taken up, and led by Prof. H. M. McKee, of the Albany school. Prof. McKee gave a number of movement exercises by way of illustrating his topic. Prof. Condit gave a talk on "Blunders in English," illustrating on the black-board the structure of inflexible and principal classes. Great interest was awakened in the limited time at his disposal. Miss Ames of the Willamette University, gave an interesting talk on the manner of conducting recitations in reading. Prof. J. B. Horner, of Roseburg, Prof. M. K. Brown, of Turner, and Mrs. S. A. Grubbe, of Salem, were made a committee on resolutions. A large number of visitors were of interest in the proceedings. After remarks by Superintendent Russell and Hon. E. B. McCloy, the association adjourned. The enrollment during the session was 150. The following additional local teachers were enrolled: Carrie Slobanaker, Jefferson; Sadie Williamson, Lebanon; Stella Ames, Salem; John H. Goddard, Seio; E. H. Denton, Millers; Deville C. Lee, Sheridan; J. B. Horner, principal of the Roseburg schools. EVENING SESSION. The closing exercises at the opera house were attended by the usual audience, to the full extent of seating and nearly all the standing room. State Superintendent McCloy opened with one of his excellent addresses. Resolutions were read by Prof. Horner. Violin and piano—Selection from "Past and Present"—H. J. Hopkins and daughter. Recitation—Mrs. M. R. Brown, Turner. Nightcap song—Pupils of Kindergarten. Address—J. M. Powell, State Normal school. Chorus solo—"Goin' Thru the Rye"—Wm. Richards. Address—Prof. J. B. Horner, principal of the Roseburg school. Music—Appollo club. Reading—Miss Ames, professor of elocution in the Willamette university. Fun drill—By request. Music—Appollo club. A Good Price for Wheat. A pool of wheat was formed by Linn county farmers some time ago for the purpose of getting a good price for their crop. Yesterday the outside lot, amounting to 7000 bushels was sold to W. H. Coltra at 70 cents a bushel. This is the best price paid in this county this season.

METROPOLIS NEWS.

Comments on the Olds Case—Better River Steamboats and Routes.

PORTLAND, APRIL 1. The Sandy Oils force has at last culminated in something of a lull in the penitentiary for protection rather than for punishment after having been convicted twice of murder, and justly sentenced to pay the penalty of his crime. Only think of it, convicted according to the testimony by two honest unprejudiced juries where the crime was committed. Yet this Washington county jury find him only guilty of manslaughter, while the Clatsop county judge instead of giving him at least as much as the law would allow, fifteen years, awards the lightest possible penalty. Is he wiser, and his judicial opinion of more consideration than the judge and juries of Multnomah? The Oregonian is right in its condemnation of the methods that brought about such an ending to so heinous a crime. If the criminal had stolen a case of money or forged a six bit check, he would not get off so easily, as Prosecuting Attorney Stevens truthfully said in commenting upon the trial and sentence. In speaking of steamboating on the Columbia river it is distinctly stated that a large side-wheel steamer will be built and put upon the Portland, Astoria and Ilwaco route, to accommodate the summer travel to the seaside. She will be ready for business by middle of June if possible and is to be well and magnificently finished and furnished while she will be no lagged, but will get there a little ahead of the present fleet. She will be owned and run by the Ilwaco Navigation Co. The Dalles and Astoria Steamboat Co. are getting things in shape to accomplish a good work for the people of the upper river. Whether Astoria citizens will take any active part in these new navigation ventures remains to be seen. Astoria was always slow to tackle any enterprise that would positively benefit and build her up. The old mossbacks are slowly disappearing, but the young ones that were born with nose on their backs, a sluggish race are inclined to pool along in the same old rut their father's trod. The weather for a few days, has been a little moist but today spring is apparent in the warmer weather. All is bright and pleasant but the collector of bills seems to find a stringency in the money market, but notwithstanding all this everything is bustle and activity in the city and Portland will experience a great building boom in this summer. Grain visaged war has no terrors for the people of this coast. Many look upon such a possibility as a sure foundation for better times, and while Europe wanes, Uncle Sam's sons will furnish the supplies.

NOTES HERE AND THERE.

The gun was brought into use in Saloon in Pendleton recently. It was in the hands of the vendor of drinks, and he was simply fooling with it, when a chunk of lead lead out of one of its barrels accidentally hit a friend, standing near by, in the leg, giving a painful but not dangerous wound. The vendor's gun was removed to prevent further accident. Edward Wilson, head miller in McCally's mill at Walla Walla, disappeared Saturday afternoon, and no trace of him can be found. He had domestic trouble, and it is feared he has committed suicide while temporarily insane. Speaking of Snake river and its prospects the Lewiston Teller says: Within a few miles along the river there are six bands of sheep, numbering in all over 25,000 head, and large numbers of cattle and horses are on the range. All these wintered excellently without feed. The valleys Times Mountaineer says: The four occupants of the city jail are at work on the streets this morning. The one troubled with nervous prostration is as active as a fly, and the one with the wart on his nose can shovel dirt equal to an old mimer. Undoubtedly the air and exercise has had a beneficial hygienic effect upon the men.

TWO ACCIDENTS.

The Seio Press relates of two accidents in that place and vicinity: Mr. Francis Fleener, whose residence is about 3 miles west of town, was trimming or pruning trees in his apple orchard Tuesday, and for that purpose he climbed well up into one which by some means he either slipped, or the limb upon which he was standing was broken, and he fell to the ground, a distance of about 12 feet. His left collar bone suffered a compound fracture in consequence. Dr. Alborn of this city was called and reduced the fracture, leaving the old gentleman quite comfortable at 9 p. m. On account of Mr. Fleener's age being over 65 years, the shock will probably be worse upon him than the injury. As A. J. Johnson stepped out of D. Morris' candy-shop Tuesday he stepped with his right foot into a hole or depression in such a manner that his ankle was twisted and thrown out of place. The injury was quite a painful one. Dr. Hyde was called and placed the ankle in its proper position, Arch will have occasion to use crutches for several days. Holding An Inquest. The results of a would be inquest were given by the Grant's Pass Courier in the following: "Justice of the Peace Chas. Ladd, of Merlin, was imposed upon Monday last week by a few of his humorous friends. A messenger rode up to his office and informed him that a suicide had taken place about four miles up on Lonsie creek. Of course Mr. Ladd immediately sallied his lance and started for the scene of the tragedy, the messenger stated that there would be no trouble in securing a coronor's jury, as quite a number of the neighbors had assembled. When Mr. Ladd arrived he found quite a crowd with their faces all drawn down, looking very serious; and upon questioning them, they stated a very strange death had occurred, and from all appearances they thought suicide was the intent. The justice finally wanted to see the body, when the party gathered him to the back side of a tall picket fence surrounding a garden and there the deceased was hanging by the neck stiff and cold in death. Chas. saw in a minute that the boys were playing him. At first he was angry, but after a moment's reflection, asked the boys to take "a smile" with him which they were all ready to do, and the farce was laughed away. The subject of the inquest was one of the neighbors dogs, who, while chasing a rabbit, attempted to scale a picket fence, and the strap around his neck caught in one of the pickets and when found he was dead. The next time Chas. answers a summons in that vicinity he will collect his fee in advance, not but what he would get it, not simply as a matter of good faith."

MARRIED.

PHILLIPS—MORRIS—On Thursday evening at 6 p. m. at the residence of Mr. Geo. Harris, in this city by Rev. Jas. F. Stewart, Mr. M. T. Phillips and Miss Iraphine Morris. The happy couple started yesterday for their home in the eastern part of this county where Mr. Phillips is engaged in teaching school. The best wishes of a host of friends go with them.

Another Pistol.

Examples of the efficacy of the well-producing pistol continue to multiply. The Astorian relates one. A little child from Gillies, of Alton, on Gray's harbor, was killed last week in a most terrible manner. The little daughter of a neighbor had obtained leave of Mrs. Gillies to take the child riding with her own baby sister, and had placed the two together in a buggy and had taken them to her home. Her mother, while doing her housework, came across a pistol, and the daughter being asked questions responded: "A 12 year-old brother responded: 'He shot 'em,' and taking the weapon he playfully thrust it at the baby carriage, exclaiming, 'Boo!' The pistol was discharged, the bullet entering the head of the Gillies baby, with fatal effect. It is said that the weapon had been a plaything about the house for some time. A few days before the father of the household had taken it, had it repaired and loaded. The others knew nothing of it."

Disappeared From View.

Dr. H. W. Stricker, of Astoria, left home March 28, on a trip to his land about eighteen miles beyond Olney, says the Astorian, where he was to meet Frank Hall and look after some surveying lines. He told his clerk he would be back on Monday the 29th. On Tuesday, the 31st, he had not returned, and that afternoon Jeff Hall, who had been out there waiting for him, came in, saying that nothing had been seen of him. He was seen on Saturday evening about three miles the other side of Olney, where the road forks, and took the military road to the right, the right road to reach his destination. Since that nothing has been seen or heard of him, and his continued absence arouses grave apprehensions as to his safety.

For An Open River.

The Salem Journal has been interviewing Superintendent Hadley of the Oregon Pacific, during a recent visit that gentleman made to the capital city, and elicited the following: "He stated that the matter had been talked of in an informal manner by Mr. Hoag and himself, and plans were about as follows: The Oregon Pacific Co. will give freight tickets at schedule rates, for all money advanced by the people of Salem. This money to be used in improving the river between this city and Oregon City. If the citizens will do that they will run one of their boats all summer. In this manner Salem would be out nothing and could thus obtain an open river. As soon as the river gets low they would put one of their boats to work cleaning out and deepening the channel and have another make regular trips to Salem. This scheme need not necessarily interfere with the independent boatmen by Salem men. In fact it would insure the boat trade all the year. There is material in this subject worthy of the board of trade. Let steps be taken at once to have an open river."

There Are a Few Left.

The Lebanon Express says that a passenger on Tuesday morning's train reports that 150 Mongolian pheasants just outside the city limits, and yet some people are afraid that they will become extinct in a few years.
