Ice cream, candy oranges and coffee will be served. Patrons will be spared to make their evening pleasant and entertaining. Everybody is cordially invited.

Mountain Whitecaps. There are, it seems, a body of men in the vicinity of Knight, up in the Silver Creek falls country, who were not exactly pleased with the outcome of a certain criminal case which has given hearing by the late grand jury. These men are showing their disapproval by actions which are kinder than words. The object of their wrath resides about a mile from Knight and Monday evening about 9 o'clock six of these men betook themselves to the home of the man whom they seek to drive from the community. They posted a letter on his front gate, their request was couched in no unambiguous terms. They told the man he must leave the community in thirty days never to return. Accompanying the note was a very suggestive piece of happenen cloth. This may be nothing more than a practical joke, but it has created no little excitement.—Salem Statesman.

The Oregon Pacific Stock. The dispatch published in the Herald as to the low rates offered to C. P. Huntington on the Oregon Pacific stock, has created considerable comment in this city, but this does not indicate any different state of things than exists in the case of a good many railroads of the country that are in operations and doing a good business. The stock quotations in New York of the 4th inst., gives the Kansas & Texas railroad at 11 cents, the Denver & Rio Grande at 17 cents, the Atchison at 27 1/2, so it will be seen there is nothing alarming about the Oregon Pacific's offer at 10 cents.

POLITICAL SPRING CHICKENS.

Senator J. H. Myers is Patriotic, and would give all the Officers to Albany Man.

It is refreshing to note the spirit of hope with which Senator Jeff Myers, of Sio goes on counting his political spring chickens according to the old adage, or on the ball shelf, so to speak. In a cheerful little speech in the Portland Telegram, he fixes up the state for the next state election in a fashion that is really interesting. There are no republicans in it, of course, but Jeff is patriotic, and the offices are all for Albany men and right good democrats they are too.

He says: The young democrats are fairly in the political swing now, and their power and influence will be felt all the more keenly as the years succeed each other. I desire to see the young men occupy a share of the public trust, and nothing would give me greater pleasure than to help elect a young democrat to congress from Oregon's new district.

Either Robert Veatch or W. R. Elyen would be a valuable candidate for the Southern district. I think either one would come as near election as any democrat in the state. Veatch would make an excellent man.

Senator Elyen, of Umatilla, stands a good show for the nomination in the First district, with L. B. Cox an excellent second. Whether either could be elected must be decided later by the people.

Each county will go in for the office of state treasurer, next time by putting up J. L. Cowan, a good democrat, who is well qualified for the position, and being already a wealthy man, would not be at the mercy of his bondsmen, as a poor man would be.

I understand, too, that Weatherford, of Linn, would like to be governor. So would I, but Governor Penney seems to be in good health, and I guess he has a fine lease on the office. At any rate, he suits the people, and that is all the party asks.

ARBOR DAY.

How It Will Be Observed by the Pupils of the Public School.

Today is Arbor Day, and it will be observed with appropriate exercises at the public school.

Exercises will be held on the grounds, beginning at 2 p. m. Trees will be planted and the occasion will be one of interest.

Following is the programme: Invocation. Recitation, The Leaves. By two little girls. Song, Flag of Our Country Brave. Recitation, The Dream and the Tree. Recitation, Woodman Spare that Tree. Dedication of the Trees. Responses to the naming of the trees. Song, America.

A STANDING NUISANCE.

ALBANY, April 9, 1891. To the Editor of the Herald: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your issue of the 4th inst., containing a notice of a nuisance at the corner of Fourth and Baker streets, Albany. As yet the nuisance is still there in full bloom, an eye sore to residents in that quarter and a standing disgrace to the city. The public will think that a city council has not nerve enough to enforce their orders unless something is done soon. THOMAS WARD CITIZEN.

Young America to the Front.

A firm of small boys composed of the little sons of several Albany merchants, have a typical boys store in the last ward. They were seen removing it yesterday from St. Bernard's barn to Cash Stewart's barn, second floor. The following advertisement was picked up by a citizen:

Notice—Stewart Bros. & Sternberg—Dealers in all wooden work. We have a full line of tops, flower racks, doll beds, rubber guns, small doll chairs and wooden toys, etc. All sorts of wood trimmings. Everything made to order. We will give you a first class job, cheap. Call and see us. Our prices are: Tops, 5, 10 and 15 cents; flower racks, two for 5 cents and four for 10 cents; doll beds, 10, 15, 20 and 25 cents; rubber guns, 10, 15, 20 and 30 cents. Toys at all prices from 1 cent to $1. Take the elevator from the coasted. Telephone connection with the Albany street railway and the proposed new bridge.

When Cheated, Don't Squawk.

Independence West Side: A man is not hesitating of much credit who will gamble with cards or dice, take other people's money for nothing, and when he needs with a reverse, call in the protection of the law and arrest not only those directly implicated, but drag in innocent spectators. The public has no sympathy for the losses of a professional gambler. Gambling is contrary to law, and the man who habitually defies the law should not expect when he gets worsted.

About Completed.

The railroad bridge across the McKenzie river on the Oregonian railroad is nearly completed. It is enclosed and covered, and the workmen are now waiting for a little more material with which to complete some minor parts. The long trestle at the south end of the bridge is now being constructed. No track laying can yet be done as the grade is too wet. It is not likely that trains will run into Springfield before June 1st.

UNITED PRESBYTERY OF OREGON.

The United Presbytery of Oregon met in the United Presbyterian church in Portland Wednesday and was opened with prayer by the moderator, Rev. M. M. Marling, of Albany.

Twenty ministers and a number of elders were in attendance. Rev. W. A. Spalding, of Spokane, was elected moderator, and various committees were appointed, into whose hands papers and reports were placed for examination and proper disposal.

This Presbytery embraces in its field the states of Oregon and Washington, but the hope is expressed that there will soon be organized the new Presbytery of Washington.

Delegates from the various societies of the churches in the Presbytery were also in convention Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. T. J. Wilson, of Albany, served as president, and Ada Phillips, of Waukegan, Wash., secretary. The annual missionary sermon was preached at 3 p. m. by Rev. W. A. Spalding, of Spokane, on the subject of "Fidelity and Fruitfulness in Christian Work."

The thank-offerings from the different societies were handed in, amounting to nearly $50, after which Mrs. W. R. Stevenson, of Portland, read an excellent paper on "Methods of Raising Mission Funds," followed by the prayer of thanksgiving by the president.

An enjoyable reception to the members of the presbytery, and also delegates to the L. M. S. and Y. P. S. C. E., was given by the ladies of the Portland church.

The W. P. M. S. had charge of the exercises in the evening. The following programme was carried out: Opening anthem, by the choir. Devotional exercises, conducted by Mrs. Alier, of Warm Springs, Oregon. Annual address, by the president, Mrs. T. J. Wilson. Paper, by Miss A. R. Phillips, of Waukegan, Wash., "Educational Work in India."

Paper, by Mrs. J. H. Nallock, of Colfax, Wash., subject, "The Relation of Our Women to the Functions of the Church."

The closing exercises were held Thursday as follows: 9 A. M., Presbytery business. 11 A. M., conference. "The Proposed Changes in Our Home Mission System." Discussion opened by Rev. J. H. Nallock. 2:30 p. m., conference. "Evangelistic Work in Our Presbytery." Rev. T. J. Wilson. 3:30 p. m., convention of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the different congregations in the Presbytery; also the same convention in the evening.

THE COUNTY COURT.

The county court met yesterday and after transacting some routine business adjourned to meet April 22, 1891, to consider the matter of the location of the bridge across the Willamette at this city.

The petition of J. A. Crocker and others for the location of a county road, was allowed, and E. M. Miller, J. E. Hyde and R. C. Miller were appointed viewers to meet with E. T. Fisher at the beginning point of said proposed road Wednesday, April 23, 1891, at 10 a. m.

Romance.

The April number of Romance, the magazine of the New York story club contains nine complete stories, all of great interest. Among the writers in this number are: Honore de Balzac, Guy de Maupassant, Henry Cleveland Wood, Robert G. Denig, Opie P. Read and Miss M. E. Torrence. The opening story is by Balzac, and besides being a masterpiece, it is noteworthy as the only one in which the great Frenchman deals with animal as distinguished from human life. Every reader of good stories will find something to his taste in Romance. The price is only 20 cents a number, or $3 a year, and a specimen number will be sent on application for 10 cents to the publisher, Address: The New York Story Club, 20 E. 23d St., New York.

KIRKPATRICK-RALSTON WEDDINGS.

On Wednesday evening April 8, 1891, at 9 o'clock, the marriage ceremony of Mr. H. Y. Kirkpatrick and Miss Lorena Maud Ralston occurred at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. C. H. Ralston, at Lebanon; Rev. N. L. New being the officiating clergyman. The spacious parlors were converted into a veritable flower garden and were charmingly decorated with vines and foliage that clung to the chandeliers, or were entwined about the snow white draperies, while here and there, adding color to the scene, and relieving the emerald and the teal, the orange blossom and cape jessamine, were lavishments of perfume-breathing buds and blossoms. The flower-giving spring lavished her richness in the beautifying of the scene when the central arch was swung for the white rose sent forth its message of love to the calling bride and the hyacinth and the orange blossom breathed forth sweet whispings to the enrapt beholder.

The upper room was resplendent in decorations of daffodils and here an exquisite repast was served. Presided by the deacon girls, Misses Eunice Kirkpatrick and Jessie Ralston, who were clad in snowy white, came the bride whose grace of carriage and beauty of face were never more perfectly brought out, than in the beautiful gown of white cashmere with white silk down trimmings, worn, leaning upon the arm of the groom, who wore the conventional black Prince Albert. When directly under the flower arch, while over their heads hung in letters of silver the initials "R-K," the minister, in the ceremony of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, joined the happy hearts in holy wedlock, the groom making use of the wedding ring, when the solemn words pronouncing the union complete were uttered, one of the flower girls let drop the letter "R" and Miss Lorena Maud Ralston became Mrs. H. Y. Kirkpatrick.

Congratulations were extended and the guests were invited to the dining rooms where an elegant collation was discussed.

Mr. Kirkpatrick and his fair partner left Thursday morning on Portland train, to visit Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and other Sound points. Upon their return to Lebanon, which will be their future home, they will begin house-keeping on Main street. Mr. Kirkpatrick formerly edited and controlled the Lebanon Express and is well and favorably known in this county, while Miss Ralston is the eldest daughter of C. H. Ralston, banker and leading citizen of Lebanon, and is a beautiful and accomplished lady. Both the bride and groom were leaders in society at Lebanon where they have hosts of friends who will wish them a happy pilgrimage through life. The happy couple were recipients of many beautiful presents.

Following is a list of the presents, and the donors: Miss Fannie Griggs, parlor chair; Mrs. M. and Belle Kirkpatrick, bed-room set; Mrs. Joseph Ralston, silver sugar spoon; Jessie Ralston, napkins; Chas. Ralston, knives and forks; S. M. Garland, parlor lamp; Rev. J. R. Kirkpatrick, set of Appleton's Cyclopaedia of American Biography; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ralston, china set; Mrs. Chas. Ralston, handsome brocade; Grandma Ralston, beautiful bed spread; Mrs. Kirkpatrick, bed-room set; Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, handsome water set; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ralston, silver card receiver; Mr. M. E. L. Cowan, individual silver casket; Dr. and Mrs. Condit, set desert spoons; Mrs. Maud Wright and Mrs. Carrie Hackman, silver forks; Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Miller, silver cake dish; Mrs. A. M. Earnest and Annie Lee, handsome 241 line spoon holder; Mrs. M. and Mrs. Condit, set desert spoons; Mr. and Mrs. Griggs and family, beautiful silver toilet dish.

COAST NOTES.

A carload of eighteen heavy draft horses, purchased in the East by A. N. Holcomb, of Seattle, and en route for that city, was derailed and all the animals burned to death near Laurel, Mont.

Seals and sealions are reported in great numbers off the mouth of the Columbia. This is indicative of the presence of many salmon, but it takes a large percentage of the number to feed the voracious sealions.

The sheep raising industry never had a brighter outlook in this country than at present, says the Ochoce Review. There were no losses during the winter, the clip this spring will be large and of fine quality, and the price of both wool and mutton have an upward tendency.

Independent steamers on the Upper Willamette are still talked of at intervals. Citizens of Salem have about decided to own the controlling interest in a boat to run in opposition to the Oregon Pacific's line. Twelve years ago Salem capital was interested in steamboats on the Willamette. At that time things were lively along the river. The People's Transportation company had four boats on the river, the Relief, the Reliance, the Success and the Onward. Two independent boats were operating about the same time, the Enterprise and the Active. The last named boat was built by Captain Apperson, and her race with the Reliance was a memorable one. The race had been talked of for a long time and everyone knew just when it was to come off, and the interest was, of course, very great.

The remains of one of the boats, the Reliance, are now decaying in the slough above the mill at Salem.
