Lee sat down to the organ and began to play the wedding march and then the happy couple were escorted into the parlor where Rev. E. R. Pritchard stood waiting to receive them and to officiate upon the pleasant occasion, after a few pleasant remarks he proceeded to congratulate the happy pair and to extend to them the well wishes of the company for their future happiness. At the conclusion, all adjourned to the dining room where the tables were beautifully decorated with a wreath of flowers and heavily laden with a great variety of edibles. At a late hour the company dispersed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Redfield joyous and prosperous lives to the end.

A DECIDED SENSATION.

An Ugly Charge of Bigamy Which Will Separate a Happy Couple.

A decided sensation, which threatens to separate a hitherto happy couple of this city and result in an ugly charge of bigamy, has developed recently. About a year ago M. C. Bingham and Miss Hannah Warren were united in the holy bonds of wedlock, and thereby hangs a tale. It has recently been rumored that Mr. Bingham had a wife in the East, from whom he was not divorced. He had joined the Presbyterian church since coming to Albany, was a very energetic and upright industrial life, and his seeming anxiety to get married and vigorous wife-hunting on his first arrival was overlooked. Recently, however, a letter was received from a former wife in Alpena, Michigan, informing about her recent husband. It was received by the pastor of the church and naturally caused an explosion. The eastern writer wrote that they had never been divorced, but that Bingham had signed an agreement to pay her $500 per year to help support their child, which he had failed to do, and she wrote to an Albany lawyer to collect the money. The church is investigating the affair, as well as the prosecuting attorney, and some developments may be expected.

That Dairy Business.

In the proposition of Mr. C. H. Schmidt, which he makes in another column, in a straightforward and capable and plain manner, there opens to the citizens of Linn county the opportunity to make a change in their business arrangements that is vastly for their interests. Mr. Schmidt makes a plain, practical statement that is perfectly convincing, and has indisputable testimony as to the pros and cons of the dairy business, and also as to his own understanding of the whole business. His coming to this locality is a compliment both to his judgment and to the county, for in his judgment he pronounces this the best and most profitable country for the business of dairying, which is a fact, and it is certainly a compliment to the county to have a man of as mature judgment and ample experience arrive at such a conclusion. Our citizens should make the matter of the dairy association and model dairy farm a thorough rapid and permanent success.

Probably Fatally Injured.

A little son of Rev. J. E. Stewart of the Christian church, was riding with S. W. Reynolds on an overboard of dirt last evening, when in some way he fell off receiving perhaps fatal injuries. It was thought by some that the wagon wheel ran over his body, but others say he was thrown violently against the wheel. Dr. Maston was called and found the little fellow, who is five years old, in great agony, suffering from severe injuries about the stomach. The doctor thought last evening that his recovery was doubtful.

Nearly Drowned.

As one of the Oregon Pacific boats was coming up the river Monday, at Hill's landing below Salem, Rev. S. P. Wilson attempted to get on board. He started to walk the gang plank between the boat stopped, and was thrown into the river. He sank twice, and was fished out with much difficulty by the boat's men with the aid of a long pole pole. The presiding elder said he had always thought he was ready to die, but on the taking his involuntary plunge into the water, he was entirely mistaken about it.

Curtis Was Murdered.

The coroner's jury has found that John Curtis, of Harrisburg, who was found dead Saturday in East Portland, was murdered. There is no clue to the murderer. The remains were taken to Harrisburg for burial.

Fortmiller & Irving are constantly enlarging their magnificent stock of furniture. They received another full car load recently.

DAIRY ASSOCIATION.

SOME DETAILS ABOUT THE ENTERPRISE.

The Model Dairy Farm Meeting With Friends Everywhere Throughout Linn County.

The forming of a dairy association and the establishment of a dairy farm has been discussed considerably during the past three weeks; it is admitted by everybody that it is just what Linn county wants. It is an enterprise which will benefit everyone in the county and hurt no one—it is therefore entitled to a warm and hearty support. The Linn county grange took this matter up in their last meeting and appointed a committee to confer with the undersigned to get the details. After the meeting the committee requested me to place my proposition in writing and the following is a general outline of my plan which can be changed to suit circumstances. The first step should be the forming of a Linn county dairy association, which association should elect a president, including the county directors divided evenly through Linn county. These eleven officers constitute a managing board, they hold office for one year only but can be re-elected. The managing board elects a dairy commissioner who is to share all the benefits accomplished by the association and a monthly statement of affairs of interest to the stockholders shall be published in the local papers. The dairy association programme and object is to introduce a profitable industry in Linn county, to demonstrate practically that a wonderful benefit will come to everybody and to the whole county from a general and successful introduction of the dairy industry. The farmer's income will double and the population will double in a few years. The stockers will come in great numbers and land will be worth more. The dairy industry will soon demonstrate that 25 acres of land as a well managed dairy farm will give more net income than three times as much land in grain.

The managing board of the dairy association will establish a model dairy farm as soon as possible and the most important work of Linn county dairy commissioner will be to carry on the dairy farm as best as he can, and to demonstrate to the public that a model dairy farm should be worked from beginning to end. A good building must rest upon a good foundation and the builder must know to a certainty and in detail how to do every thing, if he builds, therefore we want a model dairy farm that is time and material and money wasted. If Linn county says we will not continue to pay a bushel of fine wheat for a roll of 2 lbs. of stale butter we will make it ourselves, then Linn county wants to know how to make fine butter. Yes, Linn county wants more than that, it must be easy for everybody who wishes to engage in this new industry to learn everything pertaining to it—otherwise it would be time, money and material wasted for everybody in the county—experiments are costly, therefore we want a model dairy farm that can be copied from with small moderation hundreds and thousands of times. Everybody in Linn county should be welcome on the model dairy farm to get free information about how to make fine butter, how to produce the milk, quality and quantity, what breed of cattle to keep, what crop to grow, therefore the model dairy farm must give information about butter making, breeding, feeding, relation of crops, etc.

How much money will it cost Linn county to establish the model dairy farm? $15,000 will buy 100 acres three miles from Albany, erect the necessary building, furnish machinery and 50 cows. The plant can be started smaller or larger according to the wishes of the shareholders.

ONE THOUSAND SHARES.

It is proposed to subscribe one thousand shares, each share to be worth fifteen dollars. There are probably over 3000 persons in Linn county and probably over 10,000 persons more affected indirectly by the movement.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

When you subscribe $15 towards the dairy farm you do not make a donation of $15 but you encourage one of the noblest industries in Linn county and you will get good interest on your money besides. Father, remember your boy, you like to see your boy prosper and you like to keep your boy contented on the farm. A great many boys will be delighted and encouraged to make a start which they otherwise would not attempt, and it is the first step in the right direction which is so important.

Another reminder that dear boy.

How many has wandered to the cities and lost his inheritance? How many have taken the farm but did not offer them what they thought they ought to have. We want you, fathers, mothers, to put in a good word for the association and model dairy farm.

Twenty organizers throughout Linn county.

It is proposed to select twenty men in different parts of Linn county, each to secure fifty shares. No one person can own or control more than ten shares? What does Mr. Schmidt ask as salaries for the association is organized, and he is chosen dairy commissioner for Linn county? Mr. Schmidt asks nothing but is

A SHAMEFUL CRIME.

Eliza Maxwell, an Ishama Farmer, Arrested on a Charge of Incest.

Eliza Maxwell, living between Knox Inlet and the Santiam, was arrested yesterday and brought to this city on a charge of incest, preferred by his 17 year old daughter, Abbie Maxwell. He was arrested at his home by Constable C. G. Burkhardt, who was accompanied by A. W. McLaughlin. The father, who is about 50 years of age, did not seem surprised. His wife, however, threatened to kill herself if her husband was taken away, but changed her mind. The crime is a most revolting one. The story of the girl is that her father commenced his inhuman treatment five years ago, when she was but a little over twelve years old. She told her mother about it, but the latter was too weak minded to prevent the desires of her brutal husband, and he continued the practice until the girl herself, out of shame of herself and parents, made complaint to procure her father's arrest. Maxwell denies that he committed the act, and said he did not want any attorney and would make no defense. The girl's story is no doubt true. The terrible outrage upon her has caused her to look like a woman 30 years old, but she seems bright mentally. Maxwell was arraigned before Justice Humphrey, and the case will come up for trial at 9 a. m. to-day. Deputy District Attorney J. R. Wyatt will appear for the state.
