HONEST PATRIOTISM.

The patriotic sentiments expressed by President Harrison, at Knoxville and Greenville Tennessee, called out a warm hearted and enthusiastic applause that shows that the old flag of our country is still revered and cherished. The response to his words will do much towards knitting together the different sections, and making them one and indissoluble.

Among his remarks President Harrison said: "I rejoice to stand here in East Tennessee, among the people who so conspicuously and at such sacrifice, during the hour of the nation's peril stood by the flag and adhered to their conceptions of public duty, and I am especially glad to be able to say that these who followed other views of duty, and took sides against us in that struggle, without division in voice or heart, to-day praise Almighty God that he has preserved us one nation.

There is no man, whatever his views upon questions that then divided us, but in view of marvelous benefits which are disseminating themselves over these states, must also bless God to-day that slavery no longer exists and that the union of free states is indissoluble.

The confederate soldier has full, honorable, and ungrudged participation in all the benefits of this great government. I could not not doubt that these could be among the first of our population to follow the old flag if it should be assailed from any quarter. "I rejoice to see in the hands of children here that banner of of glory which is the symbol of our greatness and promise of our greatness and promise of our security. I am glad that by common consent of all our people without regard the past differences we have once and forever struck hands upon proposition there shall be one flag and one constitution."

The small boy, in various localities often runs into dangers he wots not of. Three of them near Washington found a can partly filled with nitro glycerine, and amused themselves by throwing stones at it. One of the missles jarred it sufficiently to wake up the giant reposing in the innocent looking material, and the consequence was a shaking up of the earth and air for miles around, and a premonition of the day of judgment to the inhabitants. Not enough of two of the boys could be found over which to hold first class funerals, and the third one only lived long enough to tell how it happened. If that kind of material is allowed to lay around loose, some one beside the small boy should be cognizant of the fact and responsible for it.

It is remarkable that religion-enthusiasts, like the Mrs. Woodworth who, last year, sent a large proportion of the citizens of Oakland, California, to the mountains, with her prophecy that the city would be destroyed, can hold the attention of the people, when the simple course of events prove them to be arrant imposters. Yet that same Mrs. Woodworth is holding such a sway in Missouri, that the inmates of lunatic asylums is being materially augmented by the victims to her powers of hypnoptic control. Such persons should be placed under restraint as a safe guard to the susceptible people.

Questions of etiquette are very puzzling, and oftentimes worrysome, but to the average on looker the smallness of the etiquette quarrel between the board of lady managers of the world's fair, at Chicago, and their secretary Miss Phoebe Cousins, does not warrant the quarrel that is waxing so warm and of such dimensions that it seems likely to completely destroy the usefulness of the board. These quarrels about nothing are terrible wearysome affairs.

There is hope for the struggling newspaper man. It is said that the probable republican candidate for governor of the state of Kentucky, was a few years ago a reporter on a small paper in Indiana, and that a vivid description of a lynching party gained him a situation on a city daily, which led to his present prospects. However lynching parties are not numerous enough to to give every poor struggling reporter a chance to rise out of their sensational possibilities.

In celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of its birth recently the New York Tribune published a fac simile of its first issue which contained a notice of the death of William Henry Harrison then president of the United States. It was given in a supplement, but some careless reader glanced at it, and thought it was the latest news, hence the rumor on the streets of New York, that President Harrison was dead. People should read with more care.

Dead things have strange kicking powers, and often bob serenely up at unexpected times. Although it would seem that the Panama Canal is now quite dead, there yet appear to be people in France who entertain hope of a revival of the project in some form. One scheme to this end is that of M. Amedee Lobillot, who proposes to connect the two unfinished portions of the canal by means of a ship railway, the work to be completed in three years at a cost of $50,000,000.

FOUND AT LAST!

—THE WATERPROOF—

OIL BLACKING,

For harness, boots, shoes, carriage and buggy tops, patent leather, etc.,

CANNOT BE EQUALED

in numbers of good qualities. The following are a few of its qualities:

1st. It is lasting and durable.
2d. It does not rub off on the hands or clothes.
3d. It is perfectly waterproof.
4th. It softens the leather to its natural state.
5th. It gives the leather a new and glossy appearance.
6th. It contains not one ingredient that is injurious to either the leather or stitching, but is a preserver of them.
7th. It can be used on the finest boots and shoes and not prevent the use of the common boot-blacking, but will soften and keep them from cracking.

Now, my friends, if such an oil as this would suit you, go to the drug store of Hulin & Dawson, where you can get it for 50 cents per box. One box will oil more than one set of harness. Receipt for making the oil is sold only for individual use.

Take Simmons Liver Regulator One Dose

WORTH

100 Dollars.

DEAR S. L. R: I consider one dose of Simmons Liver Regulator worth $100. I was constipated, had Headache, could not ... with satisfaction or appetite ... the blues, and felt altogether out of sorts. I resorted to Blue Mass, Calomel, Quinine, and every remedy suggested, but only obtained temporary relief. One dose of S. L. R did me more good than $100 worth of doctors and doctoring. Respy, J C MARTIN.

I have been a teacher for twenty years, and during that time have had repeated attacks of headache, produced by torpid Liver, and have been entirely cured by Simmons Liver Regulator. I found it to be of so mild a character in its action as not to interfere, in the least with my duties in the school room. To those similarly situated and subject to the same, I cannot too highly recommend Simmons Liver Regulator.
