

Morning Daily Herald

ON SALE. The DAILY HERALD will be on sale each morning at H. J. Jones' book store, where it can be procured at 5 cents per copy.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

All my dry goods at cost. E. C. Searls. A fine line of men's low shoes at Searls'. Mr. A. E. Strang, of Salem, is in the city. R. N. Thompson, of Brownsville is in the city. T. J. Black, of Halsey, was in the city yesterday. N. B. Standish, of Brownsville, was in the city Friday. W. J. Monteith came up from Portland last evening. Buy your Oxford ties at Searls' and get the latest styles. Fine dressed chickens and geese at Mueller & Garrett's. Ladies, get a pair of those beautiful "Russia" shoes at Searls'. Miss Sadie Cohen has returned from an extended visit in Portland. J. H. Campbell and son have taken a contract to build a fine residence for Mr. Walden at Corvallis. Georgia Reed's Comedians will give one of their inimitable performances at the opera house Monday evening. R. Veal has sold to A. B. Griggs, recently from Polk county, two lots in the third ward. The latter will erect a neat residence. A light frost occurred throughout Linn county, Friday evening. Early fruit, especially peaches, have been damaged somewhat. Mrs. C. C. Goldworthy starts this morning for Mineral Point, Wisconsin. Her sister, Mrs. C. O. Lee, will go as far as Portland with her. What does Albany propose to do about celebrating the Fourth of July? It is time arrangements for a rousing celebration were commenced. The strawberry crop in the vicinity of Albany promises to be enormous this season, and these luscious berries will be plentiful in the markets a little later on at very moderate prices. The citizens of Corvallis offer to pay $250 for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who entered J. M. Nolan's store on the night of May 5th and opened the safe. Summer has come at last and the Ladies Bazaar is now fully prepared to supply you with everything in the furnishing goods line for ladies and children. They have the largest line of childrens dresses and aprons ever shown in this city and at surprisingly low rates.

Baseball.

The Lebanon Baseball Club and a mixed nine, mostly from the country, played a friendly game on Saturday. We understand that the game had been arranged to take place between the first and second nines of Lebanon, but the "Greys" concluded that the second nine could not interest them so they broke the agreement and played with the Tennessee club. The result was that the "Southern Confederacy" (the Greys) were badly beaten.—Lebanon Express.

The West Shore Failure.

There is a probability of the West Shore being revived. It had a successful existence of over sixteen years under the management of Mr. L. Samuels and was a credit to Portland and the Northwest. Some new men, who had no experience, but imagined they knew just how to run the page, took hold of it, and it quickly collapsed. It is now likely that Mr. Samuels will take up the broken threads of the work and revive the West Shore, which is still good property.

Match Ball Game.

Following is the Albany base ball nine which goes to Lebanon this morning to wipe up the ground with the nine of that place—if they can: Ala Marshall, c; E. Larimore, p; Alex. Rane, 1st b; Eugene Blodgett, 2nd b; Percy Young, 3rd b; Van Wilson, s; Wm. Welch, r. f.; Wm. Leinert, c. f.; E. Rietzke, l. f.

To the "Mascoots."

In view of the fact that the "Mascoots" of this city are not yet organized, the challenge of the "Linn's" made yesterday is withdrawn as to that line. The challenge is especially extended to the "Albany's," and their reply is awaited. The forfeit of the "Linn's" is in readiness.

Another Unfortunate.

Base ball accidents are as thick as bees. Last evening while the Mascoots were out practicing Chas. Mueller got a ball on the end of the nose that made him see cheaper prices in groceries than he has seen for a month of Sundays.

Surveying Party.

The city surveyor of Salem, Lon Gesner, has been awarded a contract by the government to survey lands on the Alsea river. He was in this city yesterday with a party of surveyors en route to Alsea, where he expects to be kept busy for the next five months.

The Santiam Mines.

John Hazleton, the superintendent of the Albany Mining & Milling company, and Geo. F. Harris, of the Golden City company, came out from the mines last evening. They brought some of the finest specimens of free gold ever brought out of the mines.

G. A. R. MATTER.

Memorial Day Will Be Appropriately Observed In This City.

The regular meeting of McPherson Post, G. A. R., was held at their hall last evening. The post is making necessary arrangements for the appropriate observance of Memorial Day. The exercises of the day by the G. A. R., have always been impressive and well attended, and this year will be no exception.

A committee of general arrangements, consisting of L. H. Montanye, J. B. Miller and Robert Brown was appointed to make preparations for the Memorial Day exercises. The matter of the memorial sermon on Sunday, May 24, was left with the Ministerial association of Albany. The union services on that day will be held in the M. E. Church.

A committee consisting of R. Fox, L. H. Montanye and S. S. Train, was appointed to ascertain the names of all soldiers, sailors and marines buried in the cemeteries of Linn county, where graves remain unmarked. Information as to this matter, which should include the full name, company and regiment of the deceased, should be sent to the committee, whereupon, under act of congress, grave stones will be furnished by the government.

The members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. are arranging to get up an entertainment which promises to be an interesting affair, and will be given at the opera house on the evening of May 30—Memorial Day.

Death of A Prominent Man.

Yesterday at his residence on the prairie southeast of this city, Mr. William H. Churchill, passed away, after a lingering illness. He was one of Linn county's most highly esteemed citizens and a well to do farmer, whose elegant farm and home on the Roberts Bridge road has for years been the admiration of all passers by. He came from Iowa in an early day and was fifty years of age. Three brothers and four sisters, a wife and four children will be joined by the entire community in mourning his loss just in the meridian of life. Funeral will take place from the residence to-day and the burial will be in the city cemetery at this place.

Lacomb Advised.

The Lebanon Express notes prosperous conditions as follows: Since Sweet Home has a daily mail in addition to an express office, Solaville has a telegraph office, a telephone line to Lebanon, a wooden mill and possibly a moteline, Whitcomb is increasing in population and prosperity and is strong in the hope of being connected with the outside world by means of a railroad, is now being the inhabitants of Lacomb to build a telegraph line to Lebanon and by being within hauling distance of the mother town there is danger of your being outstripped by ambitious rivals.

Irrigating.

The Times-Mountaineer refers to an irrigating scheme as follows: A plan is being originated by a Spokane man to irrigate several thousand acres of sandy land lying along the Columbia river by an immense steam pump, having a capacity of 1200 gallons a minute. The owner says it can be run with little expense, and that one man could catch enough drift wood during the summer to furnish fuel for the whole year. If this can be operated successfully, it will redeem many acres which are now considered worthless.

Congar Killed.

For some time nightly depredations have been committed on the bands of sheep belonging to Mr. Alex. Montgomery, who lives a few miles up Thomas creek. Last week his dogs chased the mutton thief up a tree near the scene of his nightly rapts. Mr. Montgomery now having a gun, the services of Lot Harris and his little gun soon subdued his congarship and brought him tumbling to the ground. The "varmint" was afterward brought to town and excited considerable attention.—Sci Rep.

Farmers Alliance.

The Sci Press says last Saturday the Linn county Farmers Alliance Union met at the city hall and held quite an interesting session. The attendance was good and every member seemed quite earnest in the work. As the proceedings were of a private nature, nothing was furnished us for publication. The vote of thanks was tendered the citizens of Sci for the use of the hall. Their next session will be held in this city on the second Saturday in June.

Teachers' Associations at Yaquina.

The next State Teachers' Association will be held at Yaquina bay, which on account of its many advantages maintains its position as one of the finest summer resorts on the northwest Pacific coast. The route thither from points in the Willamette valley is via the Oregon Pacific railroad, the train connecting with those of the Southern Pacific Co., at Albany and Corvallis.

Will Celebrate.

The Masonic fraternity of this state are looking forward to a great treat on September next. The Masonic Ve eran association of the Pacific coast will celebrate at Oregon City, on the date mentioned, the fortieth anniversary of the establishment of the most Worshipful Grand lodge of Masons in Oregon.

Special Notice.

We have just received a fine lot of California canned honey, clipped beef, peaches, apricots, pears, etc. Don't fail to try them, at Mueller & Garrett's.

LEBANON NOTES.

Newly Items from This Thriving Town Across the Prairie.

Another car load of paper mill machinery arrived last week. We understand that the freight bill of the company, on machinery alone, will foot up about $8000.

There is no doubt that Albany is fast becoming the center of trade in Oregon outside of Portland, and business men are turning their eyes toward Albany as the future trade center for Eastern Oregon and the Willamette Valley.

There are conflicting opinions relative to the value of the coal discoveries east of town. By some they are considered good for cropping, while others, accustomed to seeing Eastern coal of a higher grade, are inclined to put a conservative estimate upon discoveries of this kind.

The first of a series of base ball games will be played by the Lebanon Greys and the Albany nine on next Saturday afternoon. Arrangements have been made for five match games between these two clubs and much interest is being manifested by all lovers of this kind of sport.

Mr. Ayer and family living in the suburb of Lebanon were poisoned Tuesday evening after having partaken of buttermilk and canned strawberries for supper. None of the family were able to go for a physician, and the alarm was raised and responded to by Dave Ridgeway, who hastened up town for Dr. Booth. The doctor found the parents and one child in a pretty bad condition but hastened to relieve them from danger.

The report of the Southern Pacific agent at this place shows that Lebanon is almost with her neighbors. The total number tons freight received in month of April, 126; total number tons forwarded during same period, 491; total number tons received and forwarded combined, 617. Exclusive of the above figures, the company shipped from this station for use at other places for themselves, 24 cars of locomotive wood.—Lebanon Express.

A Neglected Corner.

One of the neglected corners of Oregon is Alsea bay, sixteen miles south of Yaquina bay, not, however, because it is not contiguous to a section rich in natural resources. The bay is lined with rich tide lands, and along the coast back of Walport, a small village near the mouth of the bay, is a long stretch of fertile bottom land. Beyond this, inland, the country is hilly and broken. This bottom land is found for a number of miles southward along the ocean beach. But little farming is being done, as it is not easy to ship bulky articles to distant markets. Shipping enters the bay only once in a while, since there is no commerce to speak of. The entrance over the bar is deep enough to admit coasting vessels, being as much as seven feet at high tide. The settlers, who are found up the valley of the Alsea river, and up the Yachats southward, give their attention to the raising of stock. The out-range is green all summer. Some of the farmers have turned their attention to butter-making and with good results; yet, strange to say, not enough butter is produced to supply the twenty-five families of Walport. The trouble is that many of the settlers take life very easy. A half dozen varieties of clams and huge crabs can be dug from the sand and rocks, and trout and are abundant in the streams, and salmon in the bay, and bear, elk and deer, besides smaller game can be shot in the woods. Why should the settler work blisters in his hands? The timber on the bay and up the river is sure to attract the attention of going through the woods you eye meets on every side trees of majestic proportions, free from knots and "as sound as a nut."

Militia Encampment.

From the Salem Journal we learn that it has at last been decided to hold the encampment for the Second Regiment, Oregon National Guard, at Eugene. The people of that city subscribed $1200 to induce the boys in blue to spend a week with them. Coos bay offered $4000 if they would hold the encampment there, but the inconvenience of 500 men to get to the bay with their camp equipments precluded the possibility of their going there, yet the liberality of the people of Coos county is appreciated by the militia. The Second Regiment is composed of ten companies of infantry and one company of cavalry. The First Regiment is composed of the same number of infantry, one company of cavalry and one battery. The Third Regiment is composed of the ten companies only. The First Regiment will hold their encampment somewhere near Portland, and the Third Regiment will go into camp near The Dalles. Each Regiment is required to hold the encampment in their own territory. Only one regiment will be in camp at the same time. The First and Third Regiments will use the same camp equipment. The pay roll of each regiment will be about $5000 and half as much more will be required for transportation and rations. The companies all look forward with delight to the time when they will take the appearance of soldiers in the field. This is the first time they have had such an opportunity to make such a display and will doubtless acquit themselves with credit.

Excursion Postponed.

As the weather has been so unfavorable the Congressional Sunday school excursion from Corvallis to the Oregon Pacific front has been postponed from May 9 to Saturday, May 16.

Fire Kindlers.

If you want a good and easy fire kindler, one that will kindle your fire every time. Call on or come and see me. A. J. Fox.

COAST NOTES.

The Prineville News says the weather was cold enough on Tuesday night of last week to form ice on water out of doors.

A house being built near Florence, Lake county, collapsed and three men were injured. One man named King had both legs broken and may die.

Inspector Dubson, of Crook county, states that out of thirty bands of sheep inspected by him this spring only six bands are afflicted with scab, and these are not very bad. None of them have lost any wool.

Monday night a fishing boat belonging to the Aberdeen Packing company ran foul of a trap in Baker's bay and capsized. The crew saved themselves by climbing up the stakes, and were rescued the next morning. The boat and net were lost.

The people of Milton are enterprising and are about to build a wooden mill at a cost of $50,000. The paid up stock necessary to conduct the business has been placed at $25,000, with a reserve fund of $25,000. The prime mover and principal solicitor in this much needed industry is D. Tallot, a gentleman who arrived in Milton from the eastern states about one year ago, and has since his residence there been noted for his enterprise and investments of capital in city property and improvements.

The Umatilla reservation will soon be no longer recognizable by the oldest inhabitant. About sixty buildings, many substantial and many others, small cabins, have been, and are being erected south of Pendleton on McKay creek and on the strip along Wild Horse. Fully 150 plows may be counted on the reserve, breaking new land. Soon wheat fields, will take the place of uncultivated hills and valleys, and the zone of grain will be changed to golden corn with which to increase the prosperity of Pendleton and that entire section. Fences are being built in every direction, and it is hard, even now, to drive to the agency.

AN ODD SUPERSTITION.

Good Luck to See Liberty Kiss Washington's Monument.

The Washington monument leans against the blue sky, a great white shaft, and it towers nearly 200 feet above the Capitol dome, which stands on a hill about a mile away. The Goddess of Liberty is of bronze globe on the cap of the dome, measuring nineteen and one-half feet from her toes to her head. She is a woman of wonderful beauty, and a Pennsylvania Railroad train carries the statesman out of Washington it goes around apart of the city in such a way that the traveler looking from the windows sees the great figure of the statue of Liberty coming nearer and nearer to the Washington monument, until at last the two are in direct line with his eye and the great goddess forms a black silhouette against the pure white of the monument.

This view of the monument has to be caught on a train going at rate of forty miles an hour. There are a number of car tracks just at the point where it becomes visible, and a passing freight car will shut it out. It can only be seen for a second, and in only one time of day, and in a dozen trips. Public men leaving the capital on missions keep their eyes glued on the windows, and if they are lucky enough to catch the combination they expect to find their missions successful. If not, some of them feel the superstitious dread of failure assured, and it is strange how many times they are correct.

When Hansbrough went home to seek for an election to Congress he kept his eye glued on the Goddess from the time the train left the station, but just as he was about to see her kiss the monument a freight car rushed in and the moment passed. He went to Dakota and failed to get his election. The last time he left was to make his fight for the Senatorship. But I will let him tell the story himself.

Said he: "I watched the Goddess as she left the depot. The tracks were full of freight cars, and I feared I should miss it. Senator Farwell was with me, and he also kept his eyes toward the Capitol. As we went out of the city freight cars increased, and as we neared the point where the two come together the track was full of them. I kept my eyes on the window, however, and I just caught a view of the Goddess against the monument between the cars of a passing train. I was leaning over and watching closely as I did so, and when the two came together I excitedly clapped or I have against the goddess, saying, 'I've got it!' and I nearly scared the wits out of an old woman who sat in front of me and who must have thought I was crazy.

"Well, I went out to Dakota and secured my election. I don't of course, believe that the monument and the goddess had much to do with it, but Charlie Farwell, who failed to see them, went out to Illinois for the same purpose and got lost.—Washington Correspondence.

Excursion To-Day.

The Willamette University Band of Salem will give an excursion on the river to this city to-day. It is expected that the excursionists will arrive about 11 o'clock.

WAS NOT IN IT.

FAIR MOUNT, May 7. To the Editor of the Herald.

There has been, perhaps, enough written concerning the unfortunate affair at our school house, but as there has been some misrepresentation, I would like space enough to rectify one at least. The name of M. Hopper was given as one of the boys who was engaged in the affair, but such was not the case. He had no part in the matter. Please correct the statement and oblige.

A LOVER OF JUSTICE.

A Law-Abiding Male-Driver. Kanabth County Star. On the road the other day Bill Fee, the stage-driver, met a big mule-team that took up the whole passage. "Let me pass!" yelled Bill to the surly muleskinner. "Dem'd if I'll do it!" was the reply. "You're a darned Oregon wagon-road Bill, and I can't let ye pass with-out aviolatin' the constablin'!"

Sympathy.

Mrs. Duce—Oh, dear? This paper has published a horrid scandal about me. Miss Mina Ann Pussley—How terrible! How did they get hold of it?
