

Morning Daily Herald

ON SALE. The DAILY HERALD will be on sale each morning at H. J. Jones' book store, where it can be procured at 5 cents per copy.

NOTICES ABOUT TOWN.

Silk mitts at the Ladies Bazaar. A fine line of kid gloves going at cost at Searls. Fine dressed chickens and geese at Mueller & Garrett's. The Building and Loan Association will meet Friday evening. A new line of corsets in black and colors just received at the Ladies Bazaar.

The Mill City Gazette, a four column weekly folio, is a candidate for patronage at Mill City. It is published by S. G. Merrill and O. A. Cheney of Albany.

Miss Frankie Payne, six-year-old daughter of Mr. Martin Payne, was given a very pleasant birthday party at her father's residence yesterday afternoon.

Summer has come at last and the Ladies Bazaar is now fully prepared to supply you with everything in the furnishing goods line for ladies and children.

A fierce cock fight occurred Sunday between Schultz Bros, brass back cock and Wm. Emerick's black breast. The fowls were pitted at the slaughter yard and fought for twelve rounds in a wicked manner.

"Why don't you run a newspaper like that," said a grocer in a country town to a country editor, throwing out a Chicago daily. "For the same reason that you do not run a grocery store like that," the editor replied, pointing to a five-column advertisement of a Chicago house, showing a twelve story building.

An Early Morning Foot Race. Yesterday morning a resident of Benton county, who lives just across the river, came to this city in search of an officer.

Amputated. The many friends of Miss Iva Templeton, of Brownsville, will regret to learn that after ten months of suffering she has at last been compelled to lose her injured limb.

A Fugitive Encounter. A couple of young men about town engaged in a bloody pugilistic encounter a few evenings ago. They hid them to a secluded spot to fight with bare knuckles.

Could Not Be. A dastardly trick is reported to have taken place at the bay recently. All the coupling pins were taken from the cars and thrown, apparently, into the bay.

Apt Students. The Chinese copy the Melican's ways very readily, which was illustrated by one Ah Joe, a Chinaman contractor, who is said to have skipped out leaving various creditors in the lurch.

NOW FOR A BRIDGE.

The City Council Will Advertise for Bids Immediately.

FOR A HIGH STEEL BRIDGE. Assurance That the County Will Join in Its Construction—The Work Ordered Commenced at Once.

Regular meeting of the city council was held last evening, all officers and members being present and Mayor Cowan in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The committee on streets and public property reported in favor of opening Lyon street to the river and removing the obstructions in the street. The report was adopted and due notice to the property owners was ordered to be given.

The committee on fire and water and the chief engineer reported in favor of providing horses for the fire engines. The report of the committee to this effect was referred to the committee to be acted upon at the next regular meeting.

The city surveyor submitted an approximate estimate of the cost of the completion of the sewerage system of the city, which was $25,000 for new sewers. The report was placed on file.

The work of grading Sixth street recently inaugurated was ordered to be done within 30 days.

Officers Elected.

The four Christian Endeavor societies of this city held a union meeting Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church, with W. H. Young, district secretary in the chair, and organized a Union Christian Endeavor Society for Albany, with the following officers: Miss Hettie Miller, President; G. E. Probst, of the Congregational, Fred Fortmeyer, of the Presbyterian, D. W. Meyers, of the Christian, and C. E. Sox, of the U. P., Vice-Presidents; Miss Annie Althouse, Secretary, and Chas. Cusick, Treasurer. A committee on constitution and by-laws to report at a meeting at the U. P. church Friday evening, was appointed, consisting of Miss Libby Irving, Miss Catherine Althouse, Miss Flora Mason and Mr. Meyers.

State Normal School Graduates.

Last week finished what is known as the final examination in the State Normal school at Mansfield. Twenty-five young ladies and gentlemen underwent examination in all but three of the studies of the course—twenty-six in all. The questions were prepared by the State Board of Education. Of the twenty-five who were examined, six failed to obtain the required standard of 80 percent. The names of the successful students: Misses Anna Powell, Maggie Riddell, Ida Schofield, Alice Savage, L. Savage, Laura Davidson, May Gilson, Helen Hibbard, C. Edna Higley, and Messrs. Charles Simonson, W. A. Wynn, C. Webster, C. V. Altman, A. L. Briggs, E. E. Edmonds, W. A. Gilmore, J. B. V. Hughes and Dale Ireland.

Inspecting the Road.

The Salem Journal says that the Board of Railroad Commissioners held Portland this morning for an inspection tour of the Union Pacific and its branch lines in Oregon. The board intended to have started last week, but were delayed by the presidential party. The members could not accommodate the inspection and the party was over this line. General Manager McNeil accompanied the commission. The entire month will be spent on this road, and every bridge will be examined.

A Timber State.

Oregon is becoming renowned as a timber state. The Eastern papers are just now realizing that fact. The Chicago Inter-Ocean of a recent date says: "It is estimated that Oregon has merchantable timber amounting to 400,000,000,000 feet. At a moderate price, says an authority, it would pay the national debt twice over. The time is coming when it will be of more value than any mine of gold or silver. The world is just waking up to the value of growing forests."

Cram's New Atlas.

One of the most useful books in every business house, and in every family living room is a reliable and complete atlas of the world. This is ably filled by Cram's Atlas, a work that is not only complete in every particular and contains as much information as does some of the ponderous encyclopedias that cost several times as much. Mrs. A. M. Tait is now canvassing for the latest edition of this book, which contains the latest census complete, and an addition of thirty-five new maps of cities and many pages of valuable matter above what was in the last editions. This work is brought up to the present year and is thorough and complete.

Ladies!

Having purchased an unusually large stock and realizing the lateness of the season, we have decided to sell everything in the millinery line at greatly reduced rates from this date on. Those requiring anything in this line will do well to give us an early call.

COAST NOTES.

News Items from Exchanges Throughout The North-west.

Flaree, an excellent forage plant, is said to be introducing itself in Grant county in places where the famous bunchgrass has been tramped and pastured to death. California has the same range plant, which is said to be very handy and the best thing for sheep.

There has been a call issued to the residents of Skapanon, Clatsop Plains and vicinity to meet at Gray's hall next Wednesday, to take steps to build a new warehouse at Skapanon landing. A good opportunity is now offered to secure the lot and put up a new building.

Neil Nelson, of Nehalem, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart Saturday. He was a shiftless fellow and had trouble with his wife, who supported him. He stepped out of the door, telling his wife not to follow. She heard a pistol shot, and, looking around, saw him fall dead.

Frank Carter, aeronaut, was quite badly injured at Anity, Friday. His balloon was not sufficiently inflated, and this, together with the fact that a high wind was blowing rendered the ascension difficult. In his effort to ascend he was dargged over a barbed wire fence, which inflicted some very severe wounds.

Interest in the fabulous "Blue Buckets" gold diggings has again been revived in the southern part of Harney county. The Grant County News man says that he has visited Burns lately he was informed that a man had just been found the hoops and bail on the old "blue bucket."

Lin county is increasing rapidly in population and material wealth. The Lebanon Express says Sweet Home has a daily mail, in addition to an express office; Sodaville has a telegraph line to this place; Waterloo is to have a woolen mill, and possibly a motor line; Whitcomb is increasing in population and prosperity, and is strong in hope of being connected with the outside world by means of a railroad.

As Governor Penoyer has not seen fit to appoint the additional judge provided for by the legislature, Judge Webster must soon leave for east of the mountains, to hold court in Klamath and Lake counties, although there is still considerable important business in Jackson and Josephine counties to engross his attention. Judge Webster will not return to Jackson county until after the middle of June.

Grant county's population is over seven hundred greater than it was ten years ago, notwithstanding the fact that Baker and Crook counties have each taken a slice of our territory, and Harney county was created from nearly two-thirds of what territory we had left.

Mary Cary, of Crook county, has had a great success in growing alfalfa in that dry country. She says that grass may make a fortune for graziers in Eastern Oregon.

The damp, cloudy weather last week was worth thousands of dollars to the farmers of Crook county. Nothing but frosts can now prevent fine crops of hay and grain being raised throughout that county.

Representative Johnson, of Grant county, says the farmers in that valley can sell several hundred head of cattle this year, and let still have plenty of stock cattle. He thinks the sales that may be effected may possibly bring the farmers out of debt.

The Grant County News makes this lament: Oh, for a railroad, so the people of this valley might reach their surplus fruit to a fertile land beyond the mountains, and find a market. Every tree will be heavily laden, as now all danger of frost may safely be said to be over.

Wm. Stanley, who was working at McIntire's camp near Astoria had his leg broken in a rather singular manner last week. Stanley is a chopper and was standing on the side of the road watching a "turn" go past previous to going to supper. There were three logs in the load. Two passed him safely but the rear log glanced and swung round striking a skid, which flew up and struck Stanley just below the knee, completely breaking the limb.

The opal find in Morrow county is about thirty miles south of Heppner, in the locality where the celebrated fossil beds are, between the John Day river and the Snake. The discovery was made by sheep herders in that vicinity as long as five years ago, and about two years ago Lev Shafer found the bed and took specimen home but had no idea of the value of it at the time. The rock crops out about 200 feet along the hillside and tips into the hill in a ledge. The ledge shows that the interior contains a good quality of fire opal.

Thomas H. Tongue, and other farmers of Washington county have suffered the loss of many sheep recently from ill bred curs. There is an old saying in New England, that will apply here that "the sheep is a dog that kills sheep." To mutilate his tail close behind his ears.

Funeral Service.

The funeral service of Ora Morris, who died on the 14th of February of diptheria, and daughter of Mrs. B. Morris, will be preached next Sunday at the Christian church by the pastor Mr. Stewart. Friends invited.

No. 1 screen doors, wired and stained, $1.50. Adjustable screen windows, wired and stained from 70c and up at Sugar Pine Door and Lumber Co., Albany, Or.

MURDERER ROSE.

The Fredrickson tragedy in Pacific county, Washington and the trial of the murders of Fredrickson and wife and the subsequent lynching of two of them, will be remembered. Also the fact that Geo. Rose, one of the murderers escaped from jail. The Grant Harbor Times has the following: "If Geo. Rose, the murderer, is still wanted by the authorities, he can be found in the hill about four miles from the mouth of the Humptulps river; so say several persons who have seen him in that direction recently and circumstances give the color of strong probability to their story. There is well founded suspicion that not only George Rose, but Capizze Otook, the Indian, and possibly John Black, all three fugitives from justice, have been in the Humptulps since their escape together from jail at Montesano on the night of November 20, 1890. Here is a chance for some enterprising individual to earn $1000 reward offered for the capture of Rose, and $400 each for Black and Otook."

Returned to The Old Home.

Twenty years ago a one-horse circus passed through this country, and after its departure John Welch, of Beaverton, Washington county, missed his 15-year old son, Martin Welch. The boy had run away with the circus. Nothing was heard of him, and the old folks long since mourned him as dead. Last week a heavily bearded gentleman of 37 walked into the Welch home, at Beaverton, and called Mrs. Welch "mother." She did not understand, and told the book agent to go. "I am not a book agent," said he, "I am your runaway boy, mother." That settled it. A messenger was sent out for the father, who came home to welcome the son back. Martin then told how he had gone with the circus and followed the occupation of a rider. He had been all over the world, but is now back to stay though he left the circus behind.

Roadway.

Quite an exciting incident to one of our business men took place yesterday afternoon. Mr. A. L. Lamb, Mitchell, Lewis & Co's agent, was out on the Lebanon road with his team and light buggy. The rein holding the whitetails gave way and the horses became frightened and ran away, overturning the buggy and landing Mr. Lamb in the ditch. The horses ran to the stable in the city, leaving their owner to foot it, in which was a difficult matter with both ankles partially sprained. The buggy was completely demolished, which was the only real damage.

Woman's Ways.

A woman sees more things in heaven and earth than are dreamed of in man's philosophy. She is full of sweetness and charity as a man is full of male sense and egotism. She can manage a man by making the vain hulk believe he manages her. She can tell you better how much principle there is in a man to the square inch of his face than you could discover by a month's dealing with him.

She will marry a man to "reform" him, and, though clothed in rags, declares that she is happy with the brute. She can't throw a stone because she isn't built that way, but she can fire a world of pathos into an appeal for a new dress that will burst the toughest purse-strings asunder.

She is usually more adept at making matches than at striking them, and, while she may not know how to sharpen a knife, she can in two minutes hone up her tongue in a way that will make it sharper than a two edged sword.

She may not be able to jump a four-rail fence, but she jumps to conclusions, and nine times out of ten she gets there while a man is reasoning it all out.

She can quicken a man's mental faculties by giving him pieces of her mind. She doesn't seem to feel the loss, either. True, she spends much of her time before the glass, but so does a man, only his too often has a beard on it.

According to some she was called woman because she brought woe to man. This interpretation, however, is not only not scriptural but is not borne out by the facts. She is also a conundrum, but we will never give her up—never! With all her faults we love her still.

But as she is seldom still we shall have to throw the mantle of charity over her for a few days. The perfect woman is a rara avis, and should she, by any accident, cross your path, young man, don't be disappointed if you find her inquest of a perfect man.

THE WORLD ENRICHED.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring-time or, in fact, at any time any the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

Rev. H. H. Fairall, D. D., editor of the Iowa Methodist, says editorially: "We have tested the merits of Ely's Cream Balm, and believe that by a thorough course of treatment, it will cure almost every case of catarrh. Many cases as a class are afflicted with head and throat troubles, and catarrh seems more prevalent than ever. We cannot recommend Ely's Cream Balm too highly. I used Ely's Cream Balm for dry catarrh. It proved a cure."—B. F. M. Weeks, Denver.
