ON SALE. The DAILY HERALD will be on sale each morning at H. J. Jones' book store, where it can be procured at 5 cents per copy.

JOINTS ABOUT TOWN.

Go to Searles' for shoes. Fine foot-wear at Searles. Mens underwear at Searles. E. J. Lanning is in Portland. Silk mitts at the Ladies Bazaar. A. Cohen has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mrs. E. B. Purdon is visiting friends in Salem. Fine dressed chickens and geese at Hewitt & Garrett's. H. H. Hewitt has gone to Kalama, Washington, on legal business.

Wm. Faber has returned from Seattle and will make Albany his home. A new line of corsets in black and colors just received at the Ladies Bazaar.

The Oregon Pacific railroad company have put air brakes on all their stock cars. The wheat in this city is nearly all sold. S. E. Young sold 1000 Wednesday at 87 cents.

J. K. Weatherford has returned from a trip to Ashland, where he went on legal business. B. F. Thayer has taken a contract to build a neat residence for A. Hacklema in Hackleman's grove.

The ladies guild of the Episcopal church will give a lawn party and strawberry supper in the near future. W. S. Lee, druggist of Junction, spent a few hours with his brother, Engineer C. O. Lee, in this city yesterday.

J. G. Crawford, the photographer, who has been taking views in and about the metropolis, returned last evening. Hopkins Bros. have just received another invoice of the Superior cook stoves and ranges. The best in the valley, come and see them.

It does not pay to make your own ice cream, when you can buy it of Mrs. Schmidt for 50 cents per quart and by the gallon 40 cents per quart. Bananas 55 cents per dozen at A. J. Achison's fruit stand in the center of block opposite Russ House. Riverside oranges 6 cents and common oranges 50 to 40 cents.

County Commissioner B. W. Cooper was in the city yesterday. He was elected to the office by the friends of the different bridge districts, and went home, he said, a very weary man. A large audience was present at the lecture of Prof. English on phonology at the W. C. T. U. hall last evening. His lectures and phonological explanations are most interesting.

All members of the woman's relief corps are requested to be present at the regular meeting on Saturday May 16th at 2:30 p. m., to assist in arrangements for memorial day and evening. Summer has come at last and the Ladies Bazaar is now fully prepared to supply you with every thing in the furnishing goods line for ladies and children. They have the largest line of children's dresses and aprons ever shown in this city and at surprisingly low rates.

The Fire Bell Again. Last evening at 9:30 a fire alarm was sounded, which brought the department out promptly. The fire was located in the barn of H. F. Hubbard on Sixth and Jackson streets. It was an incipient blaze and was extinguished before the firemen reached the scene. The engines had scarcely been hosed when a second alarm was sounded. This time the fire was in the shed in the rear of the juvenile hall room, at the same place where the blaze occurred the previous evening. Both fires were evidently of incendiary origin. It looks as if the fire bugs had resumed their nefarious work. If so they may expect that with an alert fire department and police force they may suddenly find themselves transported to a place where they can kindle flames and shovel brimstone to their heart's content.

Foster's Reception. Last evening a very pleasant social gathering was held at the Congregational church, to welcome Rev. A. J. McLeod, who comes all the way from Connecticut in answer to a call to the pulpit of the Congregational church of this city. Mr. McLeod arrived in the city yesterday, and had not yet recovered from the fatigue of his long journey. He created a very favorable impression and will commence the church work with the best wishes and feeling of all. A lunch was served by the ladies of the church and a very pleasant social evening spent.

Excursion to Halstead. The excursion from Corvallis and way points to Halstead Sunday May 16, will leave Corvallis at 7 A. M., Albany 7:30, arriving at Halstead at 10 A. M., returning leave Halstead at 4 P. M., arriving in Albany at 6 P. M. All those wishing to join in this excursion may purchase tickets of C. B. Winn at Wells, Fargo & Co.'s office for $1.50 for the round trip.

Ladies. Having purchased an unusually large stock and realizing the lateness of the season, we have decided to sell everything in the millinery line at greatly reduced rates from this date on. Those requiring anything in this line will do well to give us an early call. The Ladies Bazaar.

HORSES FOR THE FIRE ENGINES.

Full Text of the Favorable Report of the Committee on Fire and Water.

The question of providing horses for the steam fire engines is one of importance both to firemen and citizens, as the efficiency of the fire department would be greatly increased thereby.

The report of the committee on fire and water presented at the last meeting of the city council recommended that horses be furnished, and the plan of the committee, as outlined in their report will no doubt be adopted at the next meeting of the council. It is as follows: To the Honorable Mayor and Members of the Council of the City of Albany: We your Committee on Fire and Water and Chief Engineer to whom was referred the matter of providing the fire engines with horses, beg leave to submit the following report: We have investigated the matter very carefully, both as to expenses and the benefits derived therefrom, also of making our fire department more efficient and prompt in case of fire.

It is a well known fact that the city of Albany has the reputation of having one of the best and most efficient volunteer fire departments of any city in the State, and your committee sees no reason why our fire boys should be compelled to always drag the engines and hose from their stables through mud and dirt, when they could be hauled by horses, at an expense not to exceed twelve dollars and a half per month, for each engine after the necessary charges and repairs are made.

Our plans briefly stated is as follows: Mr. A. B. Lacy proposes, and agrees to furnish and drive a team, and haul number one's engine to and from all fires during the night and on Sundays, free, providing the city will furnish him with a dwelling house, a set of patent swinging harness and make the necessary repairs on the horses at the engine house. Another, Frank Purdon proposes to furnish horses for number two's engine on the same plan, and for the same consideration, as above mentioned. We would further state that we can procure dwelling houses at the sum of twelve and a half per month each, which will cover the entire expense, after the stalls are made, and harness purchased. As to the expense of fitting up the stalls it will amount to about forty dollars for each engine. The patent swinging harness and swinging device complete will cost about one hundred and fifteen dollars per set. Your committee feel that our fire department is entitled to all that is asked in the above recommendations. Respectfully submitted, F. M. FRENCH, B. F. TABLET, W. H. GARRETT, C. H. STEVENS, Chief Engineer.

Will Albany Celebrate. On the anniversary of the signing of the declaration of Independence is fast approaching and Albany is just making to move for a suitable celebration. Last year we all went to Salem and spent our money, now why cannot we make the eagle scream in Albany on the Fourth day of July, 1891, in a manner that will overshadow all former demonstrations of the kind in this city, and at the same time keep our money at home. A big celebration and a big steel bridge will go well together, and now that it is assured thing let us exert ourselves for the other.

Did Not Stick. At Rockford Spokane county, Washington, an attempt was recently made to prosecute a party of base ball players, for playing upon Sunday. A man by the name of Garitt was the complaining witness. The trial was by jury and after a vigorous prosecution and defense the jury consumed the best part of 24 hours in deliberation, and brought in a verdict of "not guilty." The judge charged the cost up to the complaining witness, and in default he is likely to board the amount out in the city jail. Who says that base ball is not a power in the land.

Pack Train to the Mines. J. W. Hazleton, superintendent of the Albany Mining & Milling company's mines, has come to Gatesville, where he will take a party of men and a pack train into the mines. They will take in supplies preparatory to active work as soon as the snow is off.

Oakville Picnic. There will be a picnic in Stone's grove near Oakville on May 25, under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E. Come everybody and tell it to your neighbor. A. Y. Smith, chairman of the committee on grounds.

A Large Contract. The Albany Wire Works has been awarded the contract for furnishing 100 wire mattresses per day to two Portland wholesale dealers for a period of one year. The contract will require the manufacture of 30,000 wire mattresses in complete it new machinery has been added, and several carloads of wire is being received by the company. Albany's manufacturing industries are steadily growing.

THE SHEDD TRAGEDY.

Further Particulars of the Suicide of Mrs. Young—Sensational Features.

Further particulars of the suicide of Mrs. Carrie Young at Shedd, show that her little daughter was asleep in bed with the mother at the time of the tragedy. It is thought the mother had administered chloroform to the child, as the report of the pistol did not awaken her. A letter was left addressed to the deceased's mother, asking her to pay certain small debts. She also requested that her finger ring be given as a keepsake to Geo. E. Hackberry. She also left a letter addressed to Jack Andrews, Portland. The letter was not opened. Andrews is a freight conductor on the Southern Pacific railroad and for a short time was conductor on the Roseburg local train. Mrs. Young had made several trips on his train, going to her Roseburg home. There is considerable speculation as to what connection there was between the unfortunate woman and the conductor, and as to what were the contents of the letter addressed to him.

The New Cure For Animals.

The rapid strides recently made in the more humane, scientific and successful treatment of the diseases of domestic animals, is not only a matter of surprise, but is cause for congratulation. Not only are the old, barbarous and inhuman methods largely discarded, but the new ones cure much quicker and more surely.

Not only that, but diseases formerly considered incurable are found to yield as snow before the summer sun, the mild influence of the new system. True the people learned slowly. The firing, the drenching, the blistering and the bleeding went on in the treatment of animals long after it had disappeared in the treatment of people.

But the continued advertising of Dr. Humphrey, and more than that, all the grand success of his specialties in curing disease of domestic animals, could not be understood, until now every stockman who is up with the times uses his Veterinary Specifics.

They would just as soon go back to the sewing machine in place of sewing machine, or to the grain cradle in place of the reaper, or the mail coach for the telegraph, as to return to the mode of firing, drenching and blistering in the place of Humphrey's Veterinary Specifics. His veterinary book of 100 pages is sent free on application to the Humphrey Med. Co., Cor. William & John streets, New York.

Hop Lice. Hop growers of the Willamette valley will have to battle with the hop lice this year. T. D. Linton found them in large numbers in the yard across the river last week. He found them on the vines and on old trees near the yard. He sent a twig from the plum tree to Prof. E. L. Washburne, of the State Agricultural College, who pronounces them genuine hop lice and says to look out for them. Mr. Linton says they were out by the thousands while it was raining but Sunday when the sun was shining not one could be seen. A great many have said that moisture will drive them away but that does not seem to be the case. They have made their appearance earlier this year than last, and in much greater numbers.—Eugene Register.

Organizing a Gun Club. The sportsmen of Albany and vicinity met yesterday afternoon preparatory to organizing a gun club. An afternoon meeting practice was held adjoining the city and some good scores were made. The club is not yet fully organized, but it will be within a day or two. It will be composed of about 25 members. A team of crack shots will go to the state shooting tournament at Salem on May 22 and 23 and will contest for the prizes offered. The club will practice every afternoon on the vacant grounds at the mouth of the Calapooia.

Slaughter of Two Song Birds. Mrs. Ole Bull and others employed themselves during the interval between the sessions of the late National Council of women in Washington in getting signatures to a pledge drawn up by Miss Willard not to wear the bodies or feathers of birds, because of the great cruelty practiced by those who obtained them, and the beautiful song birds, which, in inexcusable fashion involves. Over 150 women signed it. No doubt others would have done so could they have been asked.

Right She Was. "Turn that wrapping paper the other side out," said a lady in a dry goods store, as the clerk was putting up her purchase in a printed wrapping paper. "I don't want to be a walking advertisement for your store. I read the papers as all the intelligent people ought to do, and I think that in them is the place to advertise your business. Instead of asking your customers to carry your sign around with each purchase of goods, go and tell the people through the papers what you have to sell and how you sell it."—Ex.

Beautiful Goods for Men. Do you want a new suit of clothes that will fit you? W. R. Graham, the leading merchant tailor, has just received the finest line of spring and summer suits ever brought to Albany, including diagonals, chevrons and plaids. He has also a beautiful line of pants goods in any style desired, in fact he can suit the most fastidious. Call and see. His elegant line, there is no doubt but that you will be more than pleased. Mr. Graham keeps abreast with the times and guarantees a fit.

Peaches in the vicinity of Salem, says the Journal, have been injured by the cold rains. The leaves have curled and fallen off, which generally means that the fruit will fall off also. While this seems to be true in general, a few orchards favorably situated are not injured. Mr. Clark's which has a western slope, is not injured. Some others seem to be all right.

HARRISBURG GRANGE MEETING.

Rowland, May 10, 1891. To the Editor of the Herald.

Yesterday was a gala day with Harrisburg grange, it being the day appointed by that grange for an open or informal meeting, the hour for meeting being 11 o'clock. By that time quite a goodly number of patrons, together with several of the farmers, had gathered to order by the worthy past master, E. E. Upmeyer, who stated briefly the object of the meeting. He also stated that the meeting would be addressed by some of "our ablest speakers," which sounded more like sarcasm from the fact that the first one called was the "Grumbler." But the object of this was obvious, for the next speaker called was Hon. R. A. Irvine, of your city, who held the audience in rapt attention for something like an hour, with one of his characteristic grange speeches, the contrast being so great that Mr. Upmeyer's sarcasm stood out in bold relief.

Mr. Irvine set forth in glowing terms the struggles and triumphs of the grange for the last twenty-four years, together with the obstacles that the order had to surmount to reach the proud distinction that it enjoys today, of being the foremost order for the elevation and advancement of the condition of the agricultural classes, giving due credit to those other orders and associations for the part they are taking in trying to ameliorate the condition of the laboring and producing classes.

At the close of Mr. Irvine's remarks the ladies of Harrisburg grange announced dinner. It was not necessary to elaborate on this, as it was well—it was a grange dinner, and nearly every one knows what that means.

After dinner and an hour of social converse, the house was called to order, and Mr. William Powers was called out and made some very pointed remarks, setting forth what the grange had done in a business way.

At the conclusion of Mr. Powers' remarks Mr. Thomas Froman, of Clatsop county, was called out and stated in glowing terms what the grange had done in an educational way for the farmers, illustrating the point by his own case, saying that when he first joined the grange he could not say "worthy master" without trembling in his boots, but now Mr. Froman hardly knows where to stop when he gets started.

Mrs. Powers, of Oak Plain, read an article on the political situation that was terse and to the point. Rev. Potter, of Pleasant Hill, Lane county, was present and remarked that he believed the dinner was the best he had ever had "mumst," as after eating one grange dinner he must have another.

After remarks by Robert Miller, of Charity, and various others, the meeting adjourned, all seeming to feel that the day had been well spent. CHAS. J. CHUBBS, GROOMER.

He Wants Damages. The Seattle Post-Intelligencer tells how there are many peculiar damage suits brought in the superior court of King county. Among the strangest was brought by Charles A. Johnson against the Clatsop Railway Company for $5,000 because a tree blew down on him and broke his leg last Christmas morning. Johnson was employed in repairing the company's road in King county, and was to be furnished safe and suitable quarters. He says he was ordered by the company's agents to sleep in a certain house, which was frail and incapable of sustaining any great weight; that he was ignorant of his danger, and on the night before Christmas morning a heavy snow storm blew down the house, knocking it down, and falling across one of his legs broke it. He says the railroad company was negligent in not having this house more secure, and as he had to have his leg amputated by reason of the accident he has been damaged to the extent of $15,000.

Gram's New Atlas. One of the most useful books in every business house, and in every family living room, is a reliable and complete atlas of the world. This want is ably filled by Gram's Atlas, a work that is full and complete in every particular and contains as much information as does some of the ponderous encyclopedias at a cost several times as much. Mrs. M. Falt is now canvassing for the latest edition of this book, which contains the last census complete, and an addition of thirty-five new maps of cities and many pages of valuable matter above what was in the last edition. The work is brought up to the present year and is thorough and complete.

Rev. H. H. Fairall, D. COAST NOTES.

Sheepman throughout Eastern Oregon are busily engaged in shearing their flocks, and the wool clip will be very abundant and of excellent quality.

Governor Penney was looking over the asylum farm on Tuesday. He found it in good condition and thinks he will buy 100 acres more to add to the farm which now consists of 640 acres. This other land lies adjoining the farm and is for sale.

On the 6th, of June the farmers' alliance will run a state organization, in Oregon. On the 8th, a grand alliance picnic will be held at Athena. President Polk of the National alliance will be present from Washington and Hon. J. Cole from Kansas. They will deliver addresses.

Fishermen say that the water of the Columbia river is too clear for the wheels to successfully catch salmon during daylight, and consequently at night is the time when they make their hauls. When Snake river begins to rise the water will become murky, and salmon cannot avoid the wheels in the day time.

A. T. Yeaton of Salem, is the owner in fee simple of a most wonderful pea vine. The strange part about this species of the "garden sass" is that it "never dies." The vine referred to was planted over a year ago and is in the height of its glory to-day, covered with beautiful blossoms and hundreds of well-filled pods. Mr. Yeaton identifies this new vine and is at a loss to account for its strange action. During the past year it has remained green and shows no sign of dying. It holds out like a green leaf and its owner thinks he has secured a valuable species of this highly-prized vegetable. The seed was secured from out the large seed bins of "Uncle Jerry Rusk," and Mr. Yeaton is going to give the new find a chance to distinguish itself.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer relates the following peculiar accident: James McLaughlin, aged 22 years and unmarried, met with a serious accident while working on the trestle of the Great Northern at a point three miles this side of Mukilteo. Together with other workmen he was prying up a heavy log. One side of the massive timber flew up and carried him about thirty-seven feet into the air. By force of the fall he sustained the leg of the unfortunate man was broken about the thigh, and in another place midway between the knee and the ankle. In addition to this his left wrist was dislocated and his face and head badly bruised. He was brought into the city on the tug Queen City, and is now resting easily at Providence hospital. It is the opinion of Drs. Willard and Leonard, who attended the man, that he will recover.

THE WORLD ENRICHED. The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfectly laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effective to cleanse the system generally. In the Spring time, or in fact, at any time, any the better it is known the more popular it becomes.
