NAVAL WARFARE.

Chilian Waters the Scene of a Fierce Combat.

THE INSURGENTS VICTORIOUS

Gunboats Have to Run—A Torpedo Sinks a Spector Vessel—A Bloody Battle.

New York, June 3.—A special from Valparaiso, dated April 30, says that a few hundred miles north of this port, was the scene, April 24, of another battle, which resulted in the sinking of one merchant bark, and the defeat of the government flotilla by the insurgent cruiser Magallanes. On the morning of the 24th, three government men-of-war were discovered by a lookout on the Magallanes coming into the bay from the northeast. The flotilla was divided into two columns, the Condell on the starboard side, the Sargant Alca on the port, and the Lynch nearly in the rear. They formed a triangle, with the opening of the angle toward the Magallanes. When the government gunboats attacked the Magallanes, she could only work her forward batteries and light Hotchkiss guns. Her heavy stern guns could not be brought into play. She was in a very disadvantageous position, as the Sargant Alca swept her port side while the Condell did the same for her starboard. Exposed as she was to the raking fire of the Sargant Alca and the Condell, the Magallanes made every shot tell. One of her shells carried away the smokestack of the Lynch and killed her twenty men. The Sargant Alca was nearly blown to pieces. Both her masts were gone, her smokestack was on a level with the deck, and the pilot-house and officers' cabins smashed. The Lynch fired a torpedo at the Magallanes, but it failed to explode, and by a singular coincidence a huge cannon ball dropped into the water, causing a swell which changed the direction of the torpedo. The diverted torpedo came up to the bark Aertha. All hands of the latter vessel were on deck watching the battle, when suddenly an explosion took place right under the vessel. The vessel began to sink and in a few minutes she disappeared from view, only her masts showing. The crew managed to escape in boats and by swimming ashore. Only two persons were seen to have survived. The Condell kept up an incessant fire on the Magallanes, and in order to bring all her broadsides to bear on the Condell, the rebel cruiser turned about. The Lynch then began a fusillade from her guns, blowing the yardarm of the cruiser into the sea. At the end of the yardarm was a flag. In a moment one of the gunners sprang overboard and seized the yardarm. Catching hold of ropes which were thrown to him from the ship, he was soon standing on the deck, holding on to the dripping rigging. This action caused the rebels to fight with more vim, and it was soon evident that the pace was too hot for the government vessels. The Condell gave a signal, and at full speed the fleet put to sea. They continued firing their guns, though with little effect. The Magallanes gave up the chase, but, seeing it was useless, returned to Chancaran.

A COSTLY BERTH.

Passenger Sues for $500 Lost in a Steeper.

Seattle, June 3.—The damage suit of P. H. Gager against the Pullman Palace Car company to recover $511.19, which he lost in one of their cars, came on for judgment before the superior court. Gager's complaint and the testimony of his witnesses showed that while en route from Portland to Tacoma on the night of June 5, 1891, in a sleeping-car, $204.19 in money and two gold rings, valued at $1, were stolen from the pockets of his pantaloons.

INEVITABLE DEATH

IT WAITS AT THE DOOR OF CANADA'S ABLE PREMIER.

The Politicians Already Looking for a Successor—Sir John Thompson Likely to be the Man.

Ottawa, Ont., June 3.—It is declared on the authority of a prominent French Canadian that the cabinet will be re-organized by Sir John Thompson with the following changes: Premier and minister of justice, Sir John Thompson; minister of railways, Hon. J. A. Chapeau; minister of public works, G. A. Kirkpatrick; president of the senate, W. B. Ives; leader of the senate, Louis-Philippe. The politicians said that the remaining portfolio would remain the same, except that Sir John Thompson would be made lieutenant-governor of Quebec, and Sir Charles Tupper will stay where he is. It is all bosh, he declares, about Sir John Thompson resigning the premiership.

Gen. Walker on the New York Census.

From the June Forum. The most important instance of an attempt to secure external evidence against the eleventh census is afforded by the painful case of New York City. It will never cease to be a source of regret that the administration at Washington did not take the initiative in this matter and direct a re-enumeration, as was done in the case of both New York and Philadelphia in 1870. As it is, the record is made up with a very unhappy state of things; a national enumeration which credits the city with 1,155,301 inhabitants, and a police count of 1,000 in excess. It is not possible to explain away the difference. Either the census officers throughout large districts did their work with culpable negligence, or else the police who were set to follow them made their canvass recklessly and wantonly. As between the two enumerations thus strongly contrasted, the presumption is, on general principles, in favor of that conducted by the general government. Police census and school census have often been shown to be untrustworthy. The ways of inflating a census are so many, and all of them are so easy, and the examples of St. Louis, Minneapolis, and St. Paul exhibit so strikingly the passion for exaggerating population for local prestige, that no statistician of experience would be willing to take much upon such a count unless he had watched it in progress and had seen that its spirit and its methods were not those of an enumeration gotten up to show the largest results possible.

Shot and Killed His Brother.

GRAND BANK, N. F., June 3.—James Follet shot and killed his brother Edward on the street today. The cause of the shooting was Edward's undue familiarity with his brother's wife. It was evidently his intention to shoot his wife too, but she escaped. The murderer was arrested.

Harvest Prospects in Germany.

R. R. COMMISSION

Interstate Commerce Looking After Coast Matters.

TROUBLE AT SPOKANE.

They Have Investigated at Portland and Will Hold a Session—Matter in the Courts.

PORTLAND, June 3.—The gentlemen composing the interstate commission are in the city and will hold sessions to-morrow and Friday, in reference to any irregularities in railroad charges. This is a national board whose jurisdiction embraces all the railroads in the country, so far as the transportation of freight and passengers from one state to another is concerned. They listen to complaints which may come from any city or town as to unjust or excessive rates charged by any railroad, and, after careful investigation, render their decision, which is binding. Spokane has complained of being charged excessive freight rates by the Northern Pacific, as compared with rates on freight to Portland over the same line from the East. The commission listened at Spokane to all the evidence presented and also to the statements of the railroad company, and now have come here. They will call upon a number of jobbers here to come before them and state the facts in the case. Shippers and importers will be questioned as to the natural effect upon railroad transportation by water competition. In this manner the commission will be able to ascertain the rates of freight by water from New York, and can then decide whether the railroads can consistently or safely, so far as their future business prospects are concerned, charge Portland higher rates than at present. After hearing all the evidence which may be presented here, the commission will also be able to decide whether the railroad should raise the rates from the East to Spokane, as desired by merchants of that city.

ANOTHER LYNCHING.

Negro Gamblers Meet With a Sudden Termination.

NEW ORLEANS, June 3.—The meager details of the shooting and killing of a negro, and the lynching of the men connected with the murder by a mob, on the Grand Bay plantation, in Pointe Coupee parish, near Hermitage, has reached this city through passengers arriving from Bayou Sara. The trouble originated in the levee camp of Lynn A. Debatie, and originated with a game of "craps." A number of negro gamblers from Baton Rouge have been in the habit of visiting the various levee camps along the river in West Baton Rouge and Pointe Coupee parishes every week, going up in the steamer on Saturday evening and returning on Monday morning. These gamblers make their visits to these camps about payday for the express purpose of robbing the laborers on the levees of their week's earnings with their gambling devices, and almost invariably a row attends each trip. On Sunday morning at an early hour, a number of negroes were engaged in a game of dice when a dispute arose among them which resulted in the shooting and killing of William Jennings, a laborer, employed as a scraper-driver for Flynn & Debatie. The killing was done by Sam Hummel, one of the gamblers from Baton Rouge, and it caused general indignation among the levee hands, who at once organized themselves into a body for the purpose of avenging the murder of Jennings. This resulted in the hanging of Alexander Campbell, Samuel Hummel and another negro whose name was not learned. Excitement in the vicinity of these characters will be a warning to others of the same class.

THIEVES ARRESTED.

Had the Drop on Them, So They Could Not Skip.

THE DALLES, June 2.—The two horse thieves were captured Friday at Biggs just as they were stepping on the ferry boat. One was a large, powerful man, but before he could draw his weapon Richmond had him covered with his revolver, and he threw up his hands and surrendered. They were lodged in the county jail in this city, and the next morning taken to Portland, where the larceny was committed.

Statement of Uruguay's Debt.

MONTEVIDEO, June 3.—The budget statement made by the government of Uruguay is regarded as satisfactory. A surplus is expected after paying the service of public debt and railroad guarantees.

Abrigees at the World's Fair.

The American Indians want to be represented by an exhibit at the World's Fair, and at the agencies in the West they are signing petitions to be granted the privilege. The petitions are addressed to the President of the United States and his cabinet, and to the Commissioners of the world's fair. In quite pathetic language they set forth the deplorable condition of the Indians and protest against the celebration of the discovery of America to them without being accorded proper recognition and a chance to make an exhibit which will not only serve as a most appropriate background upon which to illustrate the progress of 400 years, but will show that the Indians themselves have made greater advancement than is generally supposed.

Fighting for Land.

TEXASMAN, Neb., June 3.—A section of land on the west bank of the Missouri river in the south corner of this county has led a family feud. There is no ownership to it other than a squatter's claim, and as a consequence the land is non-taxable. On the small tract there are two or three parties who claim ownership, not by the right of purchase and another by the right of possession, and within the last thirty or forty days several fights have occurred. The authorities are informed that all the participants carry rifles.

Killed by a Blast.

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—Mrs. Barbara Frost, a widow living in the southern part of the city, was killed last night by being struck in the head by a mass of rock hurled from a quarry 500 yards away.

HONOR TO THE GRAY

FIVE YEARS OF HARD WORK CULMINATES IN A MONUMENT

Confederate Veterans in Line—Jeff Davis' Daughter Lifts the Veil.

JACKSON, Miss., June 3.—Five years of labor and effort on the part of the women of Mississippi, culminated to-day in the unveiling of the monument to the Confederate dead of Mississippi. Their wives, sons and daughters are here from all parts of the South. Several Eastern and Western states are also represented, Iowa especially being a large contingent. Early this morning a reception was tendered the confederate veterans at the capitol building. Among the prominent ex-confederates there were Governor Gordon of Georgia, commander of the United Confederate veterans; General E. Kirby Smith, General J. N. Billups, Governor Stone, General A. J. Smith and a score of others. At 10:30 the procession began to move. Ten companies of Mississippi National Guards came first; behind them and especially ten white—large contingents of the monument to the Confederate dead of Mississippi. The procession, which was two miles in length, was greeted with cheers by crowds which lined the streets through which it passed. The stars and stripes were carried at the head of every division and floated from the capitol. Side by side with them were carried the torn and tattered confederate battle flags. When the grand stand was reached the exercises opened with prayer. The monument, which up to this time was draped in white muslin, was formally unveiled by Mrs. Margaret Davis Haines, daughter of Jefferson Davis, amidst prolonged applause. The monument was formally presented by Miss Sallie B. Morgan, the presentation speech being made by Hon. C. F. Hooker. It was accepted by Colonel J. R. McIntosh. Senator Waltham delivered an oration upon "The Confederacy," which elicited repeated applause. When he concluded, Mrs. Luth Manship recited with stirring effect a poem entitled "The Sentinel's Song." Then Governor Lowry followed with a brief oration on "The Life and Character of Jefferson Davis," in the course of which he said when partnership had given place to sober reason the judgmental historians would accord the late president of the confederate states a front rank among the great statesmen of his day, as well as those who had preceded him. At the conclusion of the oration and music, the exercises were brought to a conclusion by a benediction.

Jews in the Argentine Republic.

LONDON, June 3.—A Vienna correspondent of The Times says it is semi-officially announced the Russian government is disposed to negotiate with Baron Hirsch in the matter of transporting expatriated Jews to the proposed Jewish colony which Baron Hirsch intended to found in the Argentine Republic, the operation occupying twelve years.
