The Fairmount Sunday school, across the river in Fulton county, will give a picnic at the place next Saturday. Everybody is invited. Mr. Wm. M. Hoag, vice-president of the P. R. R., was in the city last night on his way south by the overland S. R. train.

Mr. John Schmeier wishes to inform his patrons that his cars will be found in readiness at all times to go to the trains or any part of the city at reasonable rates. Leave orders at the stable. A curious freak of nature is reported from the farm of Frank H. Marsh near Knox Butte. A good old Durham cow the other day presented her owner with twin calves. One had every mark of a thoroughbred Hereford, while the other was unmistakably a Jersey. Both calves are well developed and perfect specimens.

At the Opera House. It was a very small audience that was present at the opera house last evening to witness the performance of Miss Abbie Carrington in the opera "The Girl of Castile," as was expected after the very unfavorable criticism reported at Salem. The few present were disappointed in seeing but six people on the stage and the absence of an orchestra or chorus, but when Miss Carrington sang they forgot all else for the time, for she certainly possessed magnificent, sweet voice and sang beautifully. Several other members of the company also sang well, but Mr. Carrington did not do so. Public notice when he sold tickets at $1.50 to hear a grand opera company, although he might sell tickets at that price to hear Miss Carrington sing and the public would get their money's worth. Her costumes were during the evening were magnificent. The company members left in all-including the manager and pianist.

Canal Revenue Fees. The Dulles Times-Mount Vernon says that Captain Lewis, collector of the U. S. and office in that city, has received the following reply from the commissioner of the general land office in answer to a letter relating to the repayment of fees, and this will finally settle the question: "The law which requires you to comply with the law under which they have made their entries, within the time prescribed by law, are not entitled to repayment of fees, commission or purchase money."

Declared Insane. Yesterday morning Mrs. Sarah Jones, a middle-aged woman, and her daughter Rebecca E. Jones, who have been residing in the southern suburbs of the city, were taken before Judge Brockhara and a board of examining physicians, consisting of Drs. G. W. Maston and J. P. Wallace, and were declared insane and taken to the asylum at Salem. They have been a terror to the neighborhood and had used insulting and abusive language in a public manner until it became unbearable.

Important Notice. From and after this date I will sell my dry goods for 50 cents on the dollar. My goods including stock, such as, at greatly reduced rates, such as, 70-cent neckties for 50 cents; $1.00 underwear for $1.00 per suit; $3.00 and $4.00 suits for $2.50 per suit; $6.00 silk shirts for $4.75; $4.00 black silk shirts for $3.50; and everything in proportion. My large stock of goods at reduced rates to reduce stock before removal. E. C. Skayman, June 4, 1891.

Soldiers Under Arrest. Several soldiers have been arrested at Washburn, where the company in the building of A. H. Hunt, and placed in the county jail, which is strongly guarded. One of the number is said to have confessed the crime and implicated those now in detention. The county officials as well as the officers at the fort will use every precaution that there will be no successful attempt at releasing these soldiers.

Atty Rights. By the active efforts of Engineer Lee the property owners in the north blocks on First street west of Broad street, have agreed to put in four incandescent lights in the respective alleys in the blocks named. The action is an excellent one and will undoubtedly be followed by the other property owners on First street.

LETTER FROM PORTLAND.

Newly Comments on Topics of Interest from the Metropolis. Special Correspondence. PORTLAND, June 2.—Judging by what we hear on the streets, from representatives of different sections of this state, Washington and Idaho, we certainly have no cause to complain. To be sure there is some stringency in the money market, but really times are by no means hard here, compared to other portions of the country, indeed we may consider ourselves a favored people. There are no retrograde movements, but a steady advance in every direction. Prosperity abounds in every vocation of life on this Northwest coast. We have good crops and good prices. Every product bears a good price, and every producer is an independent and self-supporting citizen. Every city, town, and hamlet, shows marks of improvement, while many are fast growing into pretentious cities with all of the modern evidence of civilization in prominent array at every corner, and in every conceivable form. Now is it hard times that brings this all about? Ask the old pioneer, whose early reminiscences recall the days, months and years of privation through which they successfully passed, and to which they refer to with conscious pride. They are passing rapidly away, but they have inculcated lessons and habits of thrift that their successors will long remember and practice in the building up of the finest and most prosperous of the Pacific States.

The steamboat and railroad and the telegraph are wonderful aids to civilization and improvement, but without the Press and the daily Journal they would be less powerful.

The election consolidating the cities of the East side with Portland in one great municipality was carried by such overwhelming majorities that the feeble opposition, with boss Lotan as manager, that the proceedings looked as a rather one-sided affair, and their sack with all its boasted efficacy and powerlessness against the honest convictions and wishes of a long suffering, ring-ruled community. So Jim and his "bloomin' ferry" will be laid up for repairs.

The W. C. T. U. have been in session the past week and their labors have been wonderfully interesting, and no doubt will prove beneficial to the great cause they (the women) so ably advocate. And in point of intelligence and administrative ability as well as political judgment, I think a class of citizens their votes might prove to be an effective civilizer and creator of public sentiment, and promoter of good law and good manners. But lady, a very eminent authority on woman and her follies, her destitutions and insidiously as a class, represents her sex as so utterly unreliable that she is not to be trusted, and that pride and hypocrisy are her two greatest faults. Her duties of feminine excellence she carries to enticement. She says that a woman cannot trust her secrets to a bosom friend with confidence—a man is more reliable; but Bab, I think, must be a sour disappointment, and don't you stand for her sex as opportunity offers. I may be mistaken, and Bab might be a very pretty lady with a very sweet disposition and an unimpaired habit of telling the truth where it were better to have left the ungainly facts to the civil and inventive imagination of other readers.

Next week I'll tell you about that Albany real estate man in Portland.

A LETTER FROM NEVADA.

RENO, Nev., May 28. To the Editor of the H. Herald. The state of Nevada, especially in the northwestern part, is very dull. Mining and stockraising are the principal resources of the state and at present the bottom has dropped out of both. Your correspondent paid a visit to the famous Grants, 140 miles from Virginia City, a few days ago, and was struck by the great change in mining that has taken place there in the last few years. The mines are all running or are being run on the assessments, and not one are paying, in fact the stockholders have forgotten that they ever had received a dividend. The monthly pay roll of the several mines amounts to nearly two hundred thousand dollars, and one would naturally suppose that times would be good when so much money is in circulation in a town the size of Virginia City, but it is far from lively. Not one-half the men that found employment in the mines a few years ago, are at work now. Formerly, one mine, the California and Virginia City, employed 1800 men, while at present about 500 men find employment. Stock in the C. & V. has dropped one-half within the week, and the regular assessment of 50 cents per share must not be overlooked. The mines all pay union wages, which is $1 per day, for men underground and $1.50 for men above ground. This mine is drained by the great surface tunnel, which is seven miles in length, and a fine piece of engineering. The Hale & Norcross, Best & Belcher, Savage, Utah, Belcher Yellow Jacket and numerous other mines are located within half a mile of the business part of town, and when a blast is fired, a person not accustomed to it would think an earthquake had broken loose in the neighborhood. Virginia City has seen its best days, and it is only a question of time when its mines will close forever. The ponderous and valuable machinery that is now all iron and motion, the hests that sound like distant thunder, will be silent. Such is the prediction of men who think they know, and unless the yellow metal shows itself in larger quantities, it must be so. Carson, the capital of Nevada, and the town which gained so much notoriety from the discovery of a town of its size, is also in a sad state. A stranger notices this more than an old resident, but the business men have to admit that there is no business. Steamboat hot springs, situated a few miles from town, are quite a place of interest. The springs are numerous, and range in boiling up every few feet within the ten acre field of lava. Huge cracks in the earth run the entire length of the lava beds, and one can look into them and see the boiling water far below the surface, while the air is full of escaping steam, which can be seen from quite a distance. The bath house is nicely arranged and one can either plunge or bathe. The water is so hot it is necessary to use cold water in order to make it suitable for bathing. The springs are a favorite place for picnic parties, which can be seen from quite a distance. The bath house is nicely arranged and one can either plunge or bathe. NORTHWEST NOTES.

New Items Obtained from Exchanges Throughout The Northwest. Corvallis will celebrate the Fourth of July. H. F. Fisher, of the Corvallis flouring mills, purchased the first of this week 17,000 bushels of wheat at Brena, Va., delivered free on board of the boat, at 95 cents per bushel. Father Champagnagne is now corresponding with the Catholic board of Indian missions at Washington, D. C., with a view of having an Indian school established at Lakeview. The McMinville correspondence to the Portland Telegram says: Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Bee are the parents of a baby born on the 15th, which, when two weeks old, weighed but two pounds and fourteen ounces. The child is healthy and growing rapidly. Mr. H. Cherkins while working on the Siuslaw railroad survey recently met with a very painful and dangerous accident. He was strangle his wife, she succeeded in freeing herself, and stayed the night with a neighbor. On returning she found he had decamped, taking with him all the available cash, $60. Mrs. Miller has made application for a divorce. Tuesday morning at Mr. A. C. Alexander, of King's Valley, was coming to Corvallis, he saw a beautiful sight on the Cardwell hill, five miles west of there. He was driving along unthoughtfully when five large deer trotted up within 200 yards of his wagon and then scampered off into the brush unharmed and unnoted.

A South American Republic. The exhibit which the South American republic of Colombia will make at the World's Fair will be a very notable and interesting one. A communication received at Exposition headquarters describes its character in part as follows: "Columbia's fair world's building will be modeled after her national capitol at Bogota. The exterior will be in imitation sandstone of which it is built, while the interior will be partitioned and ceiling throughout with the precious hardwoods of the country, comprising more than a hundred varieties, both rough and polished; an exhibition in wood alone, a parallel to which has never been presented by any other country in the world. The interior will be filled with the products of the country—coffee, cocoa, rubber, ivory, nuts, wax, gums, fibers, etc.—while the nearest exhibit will doubtless be the finest ever shown in the United States. Within the building Indian women will be seen weaving the much-appreciated Panama hat from fiber prepared on the spot, all hand work, stripping and weaving the fiber in threads as fine as linen. An Altagracia manufactory of hemp sachets will be operated in full operation, while the "petate," a fine palm fiber mat will be turned out by the native hand loom, manipulated by skillful workmen of the country. Hammock-makers will brand the beautiful grasses of Colombia into artistic work, all of which can not fail to find appropriate purchasers, thus leading to a commerce in these useful and valuable articles. The sealer exhibits will be made by private parties but will have a place with in the Columbia building, because they present an interesting and important feature of her industries so exclusively Colombian that her exhibit would not be complete without them.
