THE PILPIT AND STAGE.

Rev. F. M. Shroat, Pastor United Brethren Church, Blue Mound, Kan., says: "I feel it my duty to tell what wonders Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My Lungs were badly diseased, and my parishioners thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and an amount well, gaining 20 lbs. in weight."

Arthur Love, Manager Love's Funny Folks Combination, writes: "After a thorough trial and convincing evidence, I am confident Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, beats 'em all, and cures when everything else fails. HEIGHT OF CRUELTY. Nervous women seldom realize the sympathy they deserve. While often the pictures of health, they are constantly ailing. To withhold sympathy from these unfortunates is the height of cruelty. They look weak, faint, and shortness of breath, fluttering, pain in side, weak and hungry spells, and finally swelling of ankles, oppression, choking, smothering and dropsy. Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is just the thing for them. For tired nerves, nervousness, headache, weakness, etc., his Restorative Nervine is unequalled. Fine treatise on "Heart and Nervous Diseases" and marvelous testimonials free and guaranteed by Stanard & Cusick.

TO GOOD TEMPLERS. Do you know that Moore's Restorative Remedy is the only patent medicine in the world that does not contain a drop of alcohol; that the mode of preparing it is known only to its discoverer; that it is an advance in the science of medicine without a parallel in the nineteenth century; that its proprietors offer to forfeit $1,000 for any case of dyspepsia it will not cure?

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, he fell away, and he was terribly racked with electric Bitters. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. He used Bucklen's America Balm, and seven boxes of Bucklen's Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, D. C., had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one bottle Bucklen's Salve cured him entirely. Sold by Foshay & Mason, Drug store.

A MYSTERY EXPLAINED. The papers contain frequent notices of rich, pretty and educated girls eloping with negroes, tramps and coachmen. The well-known specialist, Dr. Franklin M. Miles, says all such girls are more or less hysterical, nervous, very irritable, unbalanced, usually subject to headache, neuralgia, sleeplessness, moderate crying or lateness. These show a weak nervous system for which there is no remedy equal to Restorative Nervine. A BLOW AT ROYALTY

A Sensation in the Baccarat Scandal Case.

PRINCE OF WALES SCORED

An English Barrister, Who Had the Courage to Call Things by Their Right Name.

LONDON, June 8.—When the trial of the baccarat scandal case was resumed to-day, Sir Charles Russell took up his address for the defense, which was interrupted last Saturday by the adjournment of court.

Afterwards Solicitor General Sir Edward Clarke, leading counsel for plaintiff, took the floor, and in a few sentences, invited the attention of the jury. He then commenced by saying it had been common talk that the Prince of Wales' continual presence in court during the trial of this suit had been for the purpose of restraining the tongues of lawyers engaged in the case from commenting upon the Prince of Wales' connection with it. This remark caused a sensation which was nothing to what followed. Continuing, Sir Edward said he had a painful duty to perform and that he intended to perform it honestly and fairly. His opponents, he continued, had always been careful to allude to him, counsel for plaintiff, as the solicitor, and he added: "While I am proud of the title, I must remind the jury that I appear in the case simply as an English barrister and am obliged to disregard friendship and watch my interest and comment on the conduct and evidence of one of the highest in the land."

Sir Edward Clarke, who he uttered these last words, turned around and faced the Prince of Wales, upon whom the gaze of everybody in the court was then fixed, and who nervously crossed his legs, while the audience were agitated at what was taking place. In several directions whispered comments were heard, and to attack the Prince of Wales we distinctly heard and caused all the attention to be riveted upon plaintiff's counsel. Continuing, the solicitor general remarked that Sir Charles Russell for the defendants had said in the jury found for plaintiff and regarded the document the latter had signed at Tandy Court, the military authorities would take the matter up and that Sir William Gordon-Cummings' name would be struck from the army list.

"Why," he said, "in such terms," exclaimed Sir Edward Clarke, raising his voice until it echoed throughout the court, "that it would be impossible for the authorities to do any such thing and leave on that list the names of any of our army and navy officers."

"The Prince of Wales and General Owen Williams," this bold statement seemed to completely take away the breath of the audience, and cause by far the greatest sensation of the entire trial. A hushed murmur of astonishment and surprise was heard, and some irritant on swept over the courtroom. One must thoroughly understand the almost religious worship of royalty which prevail throughout Great Britain to clearly understand the full meaning of Sir Edward's words aimed directly at the heir apparent. Amidst this, the Prince of Wales sat on the bench to the left of the lord chief justice, immovable—not a muscle of his face apparently twitching, leading his head upon his arm and endeavoring to appear totally unconcerned. After the sensation had somewhat subsided, Sir Edward followed with an arraignment of the Wilsons, which was most severe and cutting. "Yes," exclaimed the solicitor general, referring to Wilson, "they undoubtedly have money, but if Sir William Cumming would condescend to take from such a source, I shall not ask the jury to fix the damages beyond the nominal sum. When court adjourned for luncheon, the Prince of Wales hurriedly left his seat on the bench, and contrary to his usual habits of politeness, completely disregarded the humble courtesies of several persons seated in his immediate vicinity.

THE STORY OF THE FLIGHT OF THE IATA.

She Was Aided by the Emeralds, and the Use of False Lights Nearly a Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—An Acapulco special gives the details of the Iata's arrival at that point. The Emeralds and Iata left together, and on their arrival at Cape St. Lucas, the Esmeralda, who is known as Silvia Palma, and the son of the president of the Chiapas senate, and formerly a lieutenant on the Minotaur of the English navy, went on board the Iata and took her to San Diego, where he got $25,000 in gold coin and supplies. The Iata then steamed south at the rate of ten knots, but the Esmeralda had gone. The Iata continued to a point 100 miles south of Manizilla, Mexico, where the Esmeralda was sighted. They were about to put coal on board the Esmeralda in a large purchased at San Blas by the Esmeralda, when the signal of the pursuer having been sighted was displayed by a steam launch posted as a lookout. The Iata immediately put west at the top of her speed. The pursuer was the United States cruiser Charleston, and as soon as the Esmeralda had hoisted the launch board she prepared to meet the Iata. The meeting took place off the harbor of Acapulco at 7 o'clock in the morning, and when the Esmeralda's searchlight fell upon the Charleston's men beat to quarters and every man went to the guns. The Esmeralda was also prepared, and Captain Palma told the correspondent that had a signal shot been fired on either side it would have been the signal for an instant engagement. The Charleston eventually steamed into the harbor without exchanging salutes, and the Esmeralda followed.

AFTER MANY YEARS

A Disappointed Lover Returns with a Fortune.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 8.—Thirty-three years ago this month Alexander Bole, the most popular farmer of this section, a young man of great promise disappeared. It was impossible to secure a trace of him, and it was decided that he had lost his life in the mountains, either by accident or foul play. Friday night Bole returned and where he found only a sister left. He says he went east first because of a love disappointment. Then he served through the war and afterward went West and he is now worth $250,000, and is a stock raiser in Kansas.

THE WHISKY TRUST WINS

CHICAGO, June 8.—Judge Bodsett this morning quashed the United States indictment against George G. Gillison, secretary of the whisky trust, charged with conspiracy to destroy Shufeldt's distillery. The decision is one of the greatest that has been rendered by the state court and not for the United States court to decide, in which there is no statute of penalty for the crime for which he is indicted.

Jews Going to Turkey

LONDON, June 8.—Large numbers of the refugee Jews from Russian persecution are taking refuge in the Asiatic provinces of Turkey, where they are considerably treated.

STATE AND COAST.

An Unknown Man Crushed Beneath a Locomotive.

ON THE UNION PACIFIC LINE

Warrant for the Arrest of Violators of the Fish Law at Oregon City—Northwest News.

PORTLAND, June 8.—Between 9 and 10 o'clock last night an unknown man was killed by engine No. 2, on the line of the Union Pacific railway, at a point near Bristol, Ore., about twenty-eight miles from this city.

On the person of the deceased was an account book of the Commercial National bank, in the name of Addie C. Jennings. The book had been used for some time past as a memorandum for salmon catching, which fact suggests that the dead man had been engaged in that line of business. The book also contained the names of G. G. Gustin and C. H. Pierce.

The hands employed on the freight train, which brought the remains to this city this morning, claimed to know nothing whatever of the details of the accident. They simply stated that the man had been killed by engine No. 3, and orders had been left to convey the body to Portland. Further particulars of the affair cannot be learned until the engineer arrives on the westward bound train tomorrow.

AN ENGLISH FORTUNE

It Finds an Heir in a Poor Ohio Carpenter.

SPRINGFIELD, O., June 8.—James Wood, lately a poor carpenter here, is on his way home from England richer than a millionaire. He has just arrived in this city. The story of his rise from poverty to wealth has many romantic features. Many years ago his grandfather, a young naval officer, loved and married a young girl in Waterford, Ireland. The marriage was beneath his social station, and his wife being of a spirited nature, did not long bear the indignities forced upon her. She soon left her home and came to this country. Here she found employment to support herself and her child, a daughter, who afterwards became the mother of James Wood, now the happy heir to a large portion of the great Wood estate. The finding of the heir was through the accident of a friend seeing the advertisement of the executors of the estate.

THE MASONS

The grand chapter Royal Arch Masons convened in Masonic hall to-day and will continue for two days. The officers are: Seth L. Pope, G. H. P.; J. Tuttle, G. H. P.; Geo. E. Chamberlain, G. K. P.; Geo. Med. Stroud, G. S. R. P.; Earhart, G. Sec.; C. Taylor, G. P.

A THREATENED MUTINY

Troops Refuse to Go Into Camp According to Law.

BALTIMORE, June 8.—A sort of mutiny is liable to occur among the Maryland militia on account of the notice issued by the adjutant general that the state will not guarantee the payment of the men as in previous years. The privates have heretofore received $1.33 per day for the ten days spent in camp, and as many of the soldiers have their salary cut off while in camp, there is much indignation. It is likely all of the men will refuse to go into camp this year.

Violating the Fish Law

OREGON CITY, June 8.—Fish Commissioner Myers has been looking for violators of the Saturday night fish law about here for some time past, and as a result warrants are out for the arrest of several parties. It has tended to put a quietus on the lawless practice.

Oregon Indian War Veterans

PORTLAND, June 8.—The grand encampment of Oregon and Washington will meet in this city on Monday, the 15th inst. That evening a banquet will be given to the delegates and their ladies by encampment No. 2, which promises to be a happy occasion.

SOME BEAUTY RECIPES

Harmless Ways of Bringing Art to Improve Nature.

Perfumes should be indulged in by every one, for their stimulating and refreshing properties cannot be overestimated. They are health and beauty giving, especially lavender, lemon, rose, sage and benzoin. Those with pale complexions can in time bring color to their cheeks by bathing with benzoin water or lotion virginal. Thick lips can be reduced by rubbing with tannin.

Faint lips can be induced to show color by friction with black grapes. Lemon, orange and cucumber peels are excellent for the complexion. Let them soak in your water jug, for they not only soften but tonify and freshen the complexion, keeping the flesh healthy and firm.

When wiping the face always wipe upwards, for this saves many a wrinkle and fulness under the chin. The eyes should always be wiped toward the nose to press out the fine lines from the corners.

A good plan to preserve the skin from becoming set and old is to give the face perfect rest four or five times a day. No matter how busy one's life is, if possible to lie down for even five minutes at a time, close the eyes and keep the face in repose. If this is done daily it will prevent the haggard look noticeable with too many women.

Missionary Murdered in China

LONDON, June 8.—Advices from Shanghai report fresh outrages against foreigners at Wufeh, near Kiu Kiang. An English missionary and custom officers were murdered, and the European residents are appealing for the protection of a man-of-war.

Australian Steamer Wrecked

MELBOURNE, June 8.—The reported loss of the steamer Taranung, employed in the Australian coasting trade, is confirmed. Pieces of wreckage have drifted ashore, which show the steamer has gone down. The fate of the passengers and crew is unknown.

CABINET CHANGES

A RUMOR THAT IT WILL BE RECONSTRUCTED.

Several Important Changes Are Likely to Be Made After the Fall Election.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—It is stated by a Vermont republican, who was formerly clerk of a prominent committee of the house of representatives, that Secretary of War Proctor would retire after the fall elections, and then Mr. Harrison's cabinet would be reconstructed. Mr. Blaine, he said, would remain at the head of the state department. Mr. Tracy as secretary of the navy, Mr. Miller would go on the bench and Mr. Noble would be provided for with a foreign mission. The reconstruction of the cabinet would be made, he said, by and between Secretaries Blaine, Foster, Tracy and the president himself, with the object of promoting Mr. Harrison's reelection. All stories, he said, as to who would be selected for cabinet vacancies were merely conjectures, as no person had yet been selected or even discussed.

The Reason We Failed to Get the Contract No. 13.

The following interesting story is going the rounds of the Eastern press:

"The letter of the contract at Washington yesterday for the construction of cruiser No. 13 recalls the experience of Irving M. Scott in securing the award for the one known as No. 6, which is now being built at the Union Iron Works."

The speaker was a prominent politician, and he had just been mentioning the fact that California had not been properly represented in the United States Senate for years.

"When the bids were opened," he added, "it was found that Cramp was $14,000 under the Scots, but in going through the papers Mr. Scott found that his competitors had drawn a pen through one of the specifications. Nothing had been substituted, and Scott saw a chance to make a vigorous protest.

"Just let me wipe out that specification," said Mr. Scott, and "I'll make your vessel $100,000 cheaper."

"Some hard work was needed to be done once, and it was decided to appeal to the President. Now, what was the result? Arranged it all, but there was no Senator at hand. Senator Hearst, unfortunately, was in Washington, but to ill to leave his bed. Senator Stanford was in Europe for his health. Jones of Nevada was enjoying himself with a party of friends at the Hoffman House in New York and Stewart was quarreling with the President. In this emergency Mitchell of Oregon was appealed to, and through his efforts the contract came to San Francisco. For nearly ten years Californians have been compelled to depend upon the Senators of other States."

Conditions of the Weather.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The pressure is highest in the Middle Atlantic states and lowest in Assiniboia. Fair weather prevails, except light rains in the Mississippi valley, east Gulf and South Atlantic states. Temperature has risen in the upper Lake region and Northwest with high southerly winds in Dakota.
