DOWN TO DEATH

An Excursion Train Goes Through a Bridge.

SOME ONE BLUNDERED.

And a Horrible Massacre is the Result—Heart Rending Scenes Are Enacted.

BERNE, June 15.—The total number of people who lost their lives yesterday by the collapse of the railroad bridge on the Moenchen, Stein & Bale railroad is now placed at 120, with hundreds more or less injured. Another account of the disaster says fifty-seven bodies are already recovered, and that forty persons are severely wounded. It is feared many others are dead whose bodies have not been found. The victims were mostly leading citizens of Bale and its neighborhood.

Scenes which are heart rending were witnessed in Bale to-day when the bodies of a large number of victims were taken there by sorrowing relatives, and representatives of a majority of the best families of Bale are among the killed and injured. Several families are practically wiped out of existence by the disaster, the full extent of which is not known even at this hour. Bale is now a scene of bitter desolation and mourning. Nearly every family in the city may be said to have been touched by the calamity, for those who have not actually lost one of their members have dear friends or acquaintances either among the dead or among those who are mourning the loss of relatives. Those who were wounded include so many serious injuries that almost each hour records another death or another case in which the physicians give up all hopes of saving the patient's life. Everything the local and municipal authorities can do to help the wounded, recover the dead or assist those in distress is being done. Clergymen, priests and physicians and a large force of troops and firemen and scores of vehicles to be used as ambulances have been dispatched to the scene of the wreck.

Troops and firemen are busily engaged in removing the wreck, recovering the bodies of the dead, and transporting the wounded to their homes or to hospitals. Physicians and ministers of the gospel are doing noble work in administering to the wounded and comforting the bereaved. The neighborhood of the collapsed bridge now resembles in many features the after episodes of a battle or the closing acts in some warlike struggle. Still more so was this the case last night, when the river banks were illuminated by huge fires, the troops and firemen working unceasingly, dragging the river for the dead, nursing the wounded and keeping guard around the spots where it was not thought advisable to admit the crowds of people who had flocked to the scene from every village in the canton. The work of the soldiers in dragging the river is greatly impeded by the fact that the stream is considerably swollen by the melting snow. Thus the waters carried away many bodies and several days' dragging will be required before the soldiers' work will be completed. That "somebody" is to blame for the accident nobody doubts, but the people are so taken up with present duty that the question of blame is postponed for the present from any official consideration.

IT COST HIM HIS LIFE.

That Was the Price An Austrian Officer Gave For His Temerity.

VIENNA, June 15.—A member of the Austrian nobility, a cavalry officer, some time ago entered the Turkish army, and, the better to secure his advancement in the service of the sultan, embraced the Mohammedan religion. As another bid for promotion he wrote a book on tactics, which was really a valuable resume of the military practice of various nations, with special reference to the necessities of the Turkish army. The superior officers of the diligent Austrian, however, through jealousy, or some other motive, refused to approve the work, and put a veto upon the expressed intention of the writer to present the brochure to the sultan. The author seized an occasion when his duties brought him near the sultan and made an attempt to hand the book to the mighty potentate. He was immediately arrested and hurried away, the impression being created among those who witnessed the episode that he was regarded as an assassin. His fate is unknown, but the Austrian embassy has caused inquiries to be instituted through the regular diplomatic channels as to the case. The fact that the unlucky officer had become a Mussulman may be used as a bar to the successful prosecution of inquiry. It is thought the victim has been bow-stringed before this time.

A WONDERFUL EXHIBIT.

A Display Relating to Pre-Historic Man at the World's Fair.

CHICAGO, June 15.—All possible phases of pre-historic man in America and the life of the aborigines at the time of the landing of Columbus will be illustrated at the World's Columbia Exposition by the department of archaeology and ethnology. Prof. F. W. Putnam, of Harvard University, is the chief of this department, and is pronounced the most competent man in America for the position. He has been granted $10,000 for immediate work in his department, and has already begun with great enthusiasm the task of collecting and preparing a most extensive exhibit. He has arranged with the Perry expedition to Greenland to get models of Eskimos and their huts and equipments. A similar collection will be made from a tribe of Aleuts. He has planned to reproduce portions of the celebrated stone ruins in Yucatan. For several weeks, under Prof. Putnam's direction, excavations have been progressing in the vicinity of Fort Ancient, Ohio, the greatest known earth works of the mound-builders. A large number of skeletons, some of them in a good state of preservation, has been exhumed, and numerous stone utensils and various ornaments found. The graves and skeletons within them will be shown at the exposition in exactly the same state, except for the earth covering them, in which they have existed for thousands of years.

Edison's Latest.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Edison's latest production, an electrical fan for office ventilation, like all of Edison's inventions, has taken remarkably well with the general public. Contrary to the usual run of new inventions, the manufacturers have placed it on the market at a very reasonable figure ($22), the result being that the Edison Company has been unable to meet the demand for them.

MORE TRAIN WRECKS

AN EXPRESS COLLIDES WITH A FREIGHT.

Smashed Up Locomotives—Several Train Men Killed—Passengers Escape With Slight Injuries.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—The north-bound Los Angeles express, due in this city at 11:45 this forenoon, collided with a freight train in the switching yards at Port Costa shortly before 10 o'clock. The crash was a very serious one, the engines of both trains being badly smashed, and the mail and express cars of the Los Angeles train telescoped. A brakeman named Jordan, on the freight train was killed, and engineers Moore and Abbott both injured, and both firemen hurt. It is reported a number of passengers were injured but no details are obtainable.

The wreck occurred south of Port Costa, in the switching yard, and while the Los Angeles train was approaching the station. A gravel train consisting of fifty cars was on the main track and the passenger train crashed into it while moving at a high rate of speed, though an attempt was made to stop the train by airbrakes. Two men are reported killed, both train men, and five or six passengers wounded.

Woolen Mill for Milton.

Pendleton East Oregonian: The gentleman who made proposition to build and operate a woolen mill in Pendleton with a capital of $50,000, subscribing to half the stock if the citizens and property-owners would subscribe to the balance, is on his way to Milton from the East having received a proposition from the people of that place. It is probable, since he received no substantial encouragement here, that he will locate in Milton and have a woolen mill in operation inside of ninety days, the first to be established in Eastern Oregon. A woolen mill will undoubtedly pay at Milton, yet Milton is not so near the raw material nor has she as good transportation facilities as Pendleton, but Milton people know the value of manufacturing enterprises, and if they keep up their energies Milton stands a first rate show of being the largest town in Eastern Oregon in ten years. It takes live people to build a town, and Milton's people have shown themselves to be alive in this woolen mill project

What Fruit Sells For in New York.

The Albany, N. Y., Telegram of June 7th contains the following quotations: Strawberries were sold yesterday at from twelve to fifteen cents a quart. The berries are from Delaware and New Jersey and are not so plentiful as usual. The local berries are expected in market the latter part of the coming week. Small quantities of bananas are coming, and the red variety is very scarce. The best grades are sold at forty cents a dozen. The local trade is relying upon the south for vegetables. The market yesterday displayed a large quantity of cucumbers which were retailed at five cents a piece. Peas were sold for eighty cents a peck and new Bermuda and Charleston potatoes were meeting a good demand at the same price.

STATE AND COAST.

The All Popular and Important Base Ball Game.

CIRCUIT COURT AT SALEM.

A Neighborhood Quarrel—It Results in the Serious Injury of Two Persons—Penitentiary Arrivals.

SALEM, June 15.—Baseball interest is growing. A picked nine, with Salems battery, defeated the Salems yesterday afternoon, in a twelve inning game. Score 14 to 10.

The Capital Adventure company nine defeated the Baker & Strang team also, in a score of 27 to 26.

Circuit court adjourned this evening until Saturday, the most important cases yet unheard, being continued to next term.

There was a neighborhood quarrel this morning out in the Dickman neighborhood near Buena Vista. Dickman and son are Germans, and the quarrel was with John Whiteman and John Dornan. Young Dickman came to Salem and it is said, in the fight he was badly bruised up and his father nearly killed. No arrests have yet been made.

The latest arrivals at the state penitentiary are John Devlin, one year for larceny; Oscar Wilde and H. H. Snow, each two years for burglary; Geo. Williams and Thos. Martin, each two years for the same crime, and J. Birch, one year for larceny.

SEAL FISHERIES.

The Agreement Between the Two Countries.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The president to-day issued a proclamation stating that the agreement for the modus vivendi between the government of the United States and the government of her Britannic majesty, in relation to fur seal fisheries in Behring sea, was concluded on the 15th day of last June. It reads:

"For the purpose of avoiding irritating differences and with a view to promote a friendly settlement of the questions pending between the two governments, touching their respective rights in Behring sea and for preservation of seal species, the following agreement is made without prejudice to the rights or claims of either party. Her majesty's government will prohibit until May next seal killing in that part of Behring sea lying eastward of a line of demarkation described in Article No. 1 of the treaty of 1867, between the United States and Russia, and will promptly use its best efforts to insure the observance of this prohibition by British subjects and vessels.

"Second—The United States government will prohibit seal killing for the same period in the same part of Behring sea, and on the shores and islands thereof the property of the United States, in excess of 7500 to be taken on the island for subsistence and care of the natives, and will promptly use its best efforts to insure the observance of this prohibition by United States citizens and vessels.

"Third—Every vessel or person offending against this prohibition in said waters of Behring sea outside the ordinary territorial limits of the United States may be seized and detained by naval or other duly commissioned officers of either high contracting parties, but they shall be handed over as soon as practicable to the authorities of the nation to which they respectively belong, who shall alone have jurisdiction to try the offense and impose the penalty for the same. Witnesses and proofs necessary to establish the offense shall also be sent with them.

"In order to facilitate such proper inquiries as her majesty's government may desire to make, with a view to the presentation of the case that an agreement for arbitration may be arrived at, it is agreed that suitable persons, designated by Great Britain, will be permitted at any time, upon application to visit or remain upon the seal islands during the present sealing season for that purpose.

"Signed and sealed in duplicate at Washington this 15th day of June, 1891, in behalf of their respective governments by WILLIAM F. WHARTON,
Acting secretary of the United States.
JULIAN PAUNCEFOTE,
Envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary.

"Now, therefore, be it known, I, Benjamin Harrison, president of the United States of America, have caused said agreement to be made public to the end that the same, and every part thereof, may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States of America and citizens thereof. In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed."

The Airship Will Fly.

BURLINGTON, Ia., June 15.—The Burlington Airship company, with a capital of $10,000,000 with $1,000,000 paid, was organized and the papers of incorporation taken out in this city Saturday. This organization is the outcome of a ten days' conference between J. Pennington, the inventor of Pennington's airship, and a number of Burlington capitalists. The proposition of the incorporators is to at once remove the business and construction plant from Mount Carmel and St. Louis to Burlington. The ship will carry forty passengers, and will attempt to fly from Burlington to New York. The incorporators are all reliable Burlington capitalists who seem to mean business. The expected initial flight will take place on July 4.

More Floods.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., June 15.—A gentleman just arrived from Geer county, in the extreme southwestern part of Indian territory, says the Red river and its north fork have been out of their banks for over a week, completely hemming the people in and cutting of all communication with the outside world. People everywhere are suffering. One-half the wheat crop is entirely ruined, and corn and oats are nearly all killed. A cloudburst inundated Fraser, ruining every merchant's stock of goods and compelling the people to flee for their lives. Two persons were drowned in town and three in the country along Turkey creek and Salt Fork. A dozen or more houses were washed away. The damage done in that county alone will exceed $500,000.

The Anaconda Mine Sold.

CHICAGO, June 15.—A special dispatch from Butte, Mont., says August Belmont, as agent of the Rothschilds, has been instructed to close a deal by which the latter will, September next, take possession of the great Anaconda copper mines. The price to be paid is stated at $20,000,000 and $25,000,000. The purchase by the Rothschilds is said to be for a foreign syndicate.

Sam Small's Side to the Story.

PHILADELPHIA, June 15.—With reference to the report telegraphed from Denver on Friday last, Rev. Sam Small says the Colorado conference was misrepresented and himself damaged by the incorrect report that it dismissed or expelled him from the Methodist ministry. He says that, having resigned the presidency of the Utah university, he asked to be reported to the Colorado conference and there be discontinued from further connection. The vote in the matter was purely formal, and in no sense penal or condemnatory.

Relieving Her Felings.

Mrs. Brown (at Mrs. Smith's tea)—"Oh, dear, that dreadful Miss Smith is singing again. I wonder what started her."

Tom Brown (aged 7)—"I dropped a nickle down her back when she wasn't looking."

No Doubt She Will.

Old Bachelor—"Do you expect to marry, or do you prefer to keep your liberty, Miss Van Sand?"

Miss Van Sand—"What a funny question, I intend to do both."
