An advertisement for bids for the construction of the Lebanon canal will be found in our advertising columns this morning. The citizens of that thriving town propose to provide good water works and power for manufacturing purposes.

Charles Charlton and a man named Stewart quarreled over a card game at Prineville a few days ago, when Stewart shot Charlton in the side with a revolver. Stewart was arrested. Charlton is a son of ex-Sheriff Charlton of Linn county. Alleged Discrimination.

The Salem Statesman rises with this wail: "The Southern Pacific company gives Albany a special emigrant passenger rate from Albany to all other points on its lines. No other town except Portland has such a rate. There is no apparent reason for Albany being made a distributing point for immigrants in prejudice of Salem and all other towns. The board of railroad commissioners has asked an explanation from Manager Koehler, and his reasons, if any, for not extending the rate to all. This is only the legitimate result of the advantages offered by five railroad lines centering in Albany, which is sufficient reason for the rate given, as it accommodates a passenger going in any direction. When Salem gets to be a railroad center it may secure a better rate.

DROWNED IN THE SANTIUM.

Geo. Cleveland Meets Death While Swimming Near Scio. Information reached this city yesterday of the drowning of a young man named George Cleveland in the south fork of the Santium near Scio Sunday evening.

In company with four other young men Cleveland was swimming in the river at the Oregon Pacific railroad bridge. He was seized with cramps in his limbs a sudden sink, drowning before the eyes of his companions who were unable to assist him.

His body was recovered about two hours later. He was not married and his parents reside in Portland. He was 23 years of age. The Excursion to Newport.

The sky was full of clouds Sunday morning, and this prevented a great many from enjoying the most delightful seaside excursion of the season. Notwithstanding this, two coaches were loaded at this city and one at Corvallis, including the Marine band from that city. The excursionists arrived at Newport at 11 o'clock, to find one of the most beautiful and bright days imaginable.

The schooner Mischief carried about seventy-five persons out over the bar, which was remarkably smooth. Fishing was indulged in but only two of the fishy tribe were landed from their haunts. Surf bathing attracted but a few, the water being very cold. At 5:30 the steamer T. M. Richardson left Newport for Yaguna, and at 6 o'clock the train pulled out for Albany. In a fight on board the train a blacksmith named Cosky knocked James Horton, drum major for the Corvallis band, down with a beer bottle.

The train arrived in Albany on schedule time—9:30. County Seat Fight.

Another county seat fight will soon be in full blast in this state, this time in Sherman county. The people of Moro have inaugurated the fight by purchasing the Oregonian, heretofore published at Wasco, and will move it over to their town to advocate their interests. The location now lies between these two towns, and until the last meeting of the last legislature Wasco had the best of the fight, and secured at her rival, Albany, have changed since the Hon. F. O. McCoy, who is an owner in the Moro town site and also a member of the Oregon legislature, but a spoke in Wasco's wheel by adding a considerable slice taken from the boundary of Sherman, thus giving it a majority of the votes. The moving of the county paper from the county seat to Moro indicates what the result of the next election is expected to be. Wasco however, proposes to let the fighting. It has bought a newspaper, hired an editor, and the war of words may be expected to break out at once.

Notice to Water Consumers. Water is being wasted to such an extent and so unnecessarily that we are obliged to enforce a strict observance of the rule in regard to hours for sprinkling, viz: From 5 to 9 a. m. and from 6 to 10 p. m., and to caution all users of water to guard against leaks from faucets or other fixtures. The continuous running of water through closets or other fixtures, or permitting hose streams or sprinklers to run all night, will be deemed sufficient cause for shutting the water off without further notice. Albany, Or., July 18, 1891. A. C. W. T. & L. Co. WALLACE BROTHERS, Cashier.

The Albany Won the Game. At 3 o'clock yesterday the baseball procession started down First street headed by the Jefferson team, followed the drum corps and then the Albany team. The game was called at 3:50 and occupied three hours. Some very good plays were made by both sides, but taken all in all poor ball was put up. Walker and Magers each distinguished themselves by making home runs. Nine innings were played and the score stood 16 to 27 in favor of the home team.

Lawn Socials. To-night the Y. P. S. C. E. of the First Presbyterian church will give a social on the lawn of Mr. D. P. Mason. The lawn will be artistically adorned with Chinese lanterns and other decorations. Excellent music will be furnished by the college orchestra and quartettes. Ice cream and cake will be sold in abundance. No pains will be spared in making the evening highly enjoyed. Both old and young are cordially invited.

How It is Worked. Tramps have hit on a successful wrinkle for "raising the wind" says the Pendleton East-Oregonian. They appear at the back door of houses, beg for and usually secure a coat, pair of shoes or any old clothing which kind-hearted ladies are disposed to give with the mistaken supposition that they might be bestowing charity upon an angel in disguise, and then sell these articles for beer money.

A Serious Fall. Peter Carson, while driving a binder across the river yesterday, was thrown to the ground by the seat breaking. The fall ruptured a blood-vessel, causing a hemorrhage that threatens to terminate fatally.

New and complete stock of spectacles and eye glasses just received at F. M. Freeman's. Every pair fitted by Johnson's Patent eye-meter, every pair fully warranted to fit.

THE CODLIN MOTH HAS COME.

A Linn County Fruit Grower Tells of His Experience With It. A Linn county fruit grower, who is staying at the St. Charles says the Oregonian, has this to say about the codlin moth which has appeared in that county.

"Having bought a farm with an orchard on it I determined to wage a fierce war on the codlin moth and prepared to do a thorough spraying. I sprayed the first time on May 18. Wet weather set in and I did not spray again until June 29. At that time I failed to see any signs of the moth. On July 13 I sprayed again. At this time I noticed many apples that appeared to be wormy, but upon examining found that the worm had barely eaten through the skin of the apple. Not being satisfied as to whether it was the codlin moth or not, I began to inquire of my neighbors whether their apples were wormy, and found they were, but not so bad as last year. My nearest neighbor has an old orchard, similarly situated as mine, and I found his fruit so wormy that I doubt whether he has a bushel of sound apples. Another neighbor has an orchard in fair condition. There is a fence running through it north and south, dividing it, so there are about a dozen trees in one part, with his plums and cherry trees, and the other part is planted with apple trees. The main part, or apple orchard, was sprayed twice in June.

Last Tuesday I examined the fruit in this orchard and found six apples affected with worms, in the part of the orchard that had been sprayed. I stood by two trees in the part of the orchard that had not been sprayed and picked twenty apples enough to fill two coat pockets. The work of the worms could be seen wherever two apples touched each other or an apple came in contact with a leaf or branch of the tree. First, I say the codlin moth is here with reinforcements; second, those who have failed to supply themselves with the necessary implements—a good spraying outfit—to fight this pest will have to treat wormy fruit. As "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," so constant vigilance, with right remedies at the right times, will be the price of good apples hereafter. I am of the opinion there is but one way of getting rid of this pest, and that is to use the horticultural board to see to it that every orchard in the country is thoroughly sprayed.

MILL CITY ITEMS. Mill City, July 21. State Organizer R. A. Irvine formed an alliance at King's Prairie on July 17, with 21 members. The officers chosen are J. R. Greider, president; Don A. Smith, vice-president; W. B. Robertson, secretary; J. T. McClary, lecturer; Mrs. Jennie Barze, chaplain; E. S. Barze, steward; Henry Miller, D. K. A. Davis, assistant D. K. Everything points to success in the future as far as this alliance is concerned. These mountaineers are thinking for themselves. They realize that every man needs to be a politician. The old theory that a legal citizen of these United States has no business in politics is to be exploded. Politicians need not send any more whisky here on election day to catch votes, as has been done in the past. Clean politics, clean men and clean measures are the watchwords, without regard to party.

Mr. R. A. Irvine, of Albany, and A. B. Slanson, of the Oregonian are in the city with their families accompanying them. Rev. Brown, of the Unitarian church in Salem, preached to a large audience here on the 18th. Hope look well. The hay crop is heavy. The leady bridge across the Santium river is nearing completion. Traffic to the Quartzville mines is lively. A detective from Southern Oregon was around here for a few days looking for a man.

NEWS FROM HARRISBURG. Harrisburg, July 20, 1891. Dr. H. A. Davis has a hop-house 40 x 70 feet well under way. Eugene Barshaw an experienced binder has the work in charge. The hop crop of this vicinity promises to be largely above average, the dreaded hop-louse is fast disappearing and the hop people are happy. The wheat yield in this end of Linn county will be largest for many years, many fields are already being harvested, also the hay crop is abundant.

The Lumber Co's drivers of 3,000,000 feet of logs are at hand, will commence to arrive in a day or two, a large drive of post and single bolts are passing this place by the river destined for Peoria. Eugene Barshaw has purchased from the Dallas nursery fruit trees sufficient to plant his late purchase from the Harrisburg Land Co. Snodgrass Bros. have contracted for the building of a large barn on one of the lots bought from the Harrisburg Land Company last week and will build them each a dwelling as soon as lumber can be had.

Mr. J. E. Whitman late of LaGrande Oregon has bought property in our city and will go into business at an early date. In regard to our water ditch, there remains the closing of a deal for Messrs Ladd & Dillon's property and franchise, then we shall commence construction. J. C. Sablin shipped a car load of very fine hogs to Portland this week.

OREGON'S BIG CROPS.

Sh: Will Export Many Million Bushels of Wheat. Crop-Weather Bulletin, No. 19, for 13th week ending, Saturday, July 19th, 1891. Careful estimates of the wheat crop of Oregon, and Washington show that both states combined will have for export at least thirteen million bushels of wheat; if the present indicated yield continues, which in all probability it will, this may be increased to fifteen million bushels or more.

In Western Oregon wheat harvest has begun in many sections and the yield is heavier than was anticipated. Spring wheat harvest is now about over. Oats, barley and rye are promising very good yields. The codlin moth has made its appearance and damage from them is expected. The hop yards have been sprayed and so far the ravages of the hop lice have generally been controlled. Apples will hardly be an average crop. Peaches continue to promise well. Pines, plums and pears will be fully an average crop. Gardens are doing well and vegetables are very plentiful.

A few acres of wheat have been cut in Unatilla county and by next week wheat harvest will be in operation throughout Eastern Oregon. All reports indicate the best harvest now about to be for many years. The grain is plump and heads well filled. Barley, oats and rye are promising. Hay harvest is yet in progress and it is very heavy. Fruit prospects throughout this section are very good. A beautiful harvest is assured.

THE WORLD ENRICHED. The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring-time or in fact, at any time any the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

Mothers? Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quietes pain, cures diarrhoea and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms, and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mothers' friend. 35 doses, 35 cents.

NEWS OF THE COAST.

Interesting Items from Eschsch: Throughout the Northwest. Wool buyers at The Dalles maintain the old price of 13 to 17 cents. A new postoffice has been established in the mountains twelve miles from Silverton. Indians go on a drunk at Cottage Grove Wednesday night, and Thursday morning one of the squaws was found dead. Fool play was claimed. Wasco and Moro are two rival towns striving for the county seats of Sherman county, which was recently cut off from Wasco county in Eastern Oregon.

A young man employed in the railroad yard at Burnsuir had his right hand crushed in making a coupling of cars last Monday, and the hand had to be amputated. It is believed that the potato yield of Clackamas county will be larger than it has been for many years. A large acreage has been planted, and the outlook is very favorable.

Mr. Joseph Sherar made the largest haul of wool Thursday by a single individual from The Dalles. This consisted of 200 bales, and he has sufficient on hand to load twenty-seven cars. The forthcoming report of the Umattilla county clerk will show the outstanding scrip to be but three-fourths what it was a year ago, viz: $90,000 against $120,000. The net value of the county approximately $50,000.

Horace Rosser cut his wrist badly with an ax up at his father's mountain ranch, near Ashland, one day recently, and the family had a difficult time getting the blood stopped. As it was, he was much weakened by the hemorrhage.

Tuesday as some of the Rockfield cannery Chinamen were bathing in the river, near The Dalles one Celestial went beyond his depth and was drowned. Search was made during the day for the body, and it was finally found and shipped on the train to Portland.

A large number of headers will be started in operation Monday in the county north of Pendleton, and the grain cut and stacked preparatory to threshing, which begins in two weeks. Reports are that grain will be plump and of fine quality. The yield, however, owing to the dry weather in May, will not be much larger than average.

A man named Harry Pond, who had been fined $5 for contempt of court by Justice Miller, of Pendleton, for failing to appear as a witness in a case, met the justice on the street subsequently and assaulted him by striking and kicking him. For his offense Pond was fined the ridiculously small sum of $10 in addition to the costs by another justice.

The C. T. Bradley Mining Company will run a tunnel from its mine at Sauger, north to Eagle creek, a distance of one and a half miles. By this arrangement the water power of Eagle creek can be utilized for operating the mills and running dynamos for lighting the mine.

John Teal, living near The Dalles, has a pond that is literally swarming with carp and several who have tested their quality say there is no sweeter-tasted fish taken from the waters. They propagate very rapidly, and there is no reason why their culture should not be engaged in.

At Sutor's mill, at Dallas, Tuesday morning, while Ira Mehrlin was cutting down a tree for timber, the top of a tree flew back and pinned his face clean to the earth. When the tree was pruned it was found that his nose and collar bone were broken and his face greatly disfigured.

A few days ago Walt Miller was crossing the Hanna bridge, near Jordan, with a load of lumber when the bridge gave way and the team and load were precipitated nearly fifteen feet into water below. One horse was killed and the other had three ribs broken, while Mr. Miller had a narrow escape from drowning.
