A MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

The papers contain frequent notices of rich, pretty and educated girls eloping with negroes, tramps and coachmen. The well-known specialist, Dr. Franklin M. Jones, says all such girls are more or less hysterical, nervous, very imbalanced, and usually only get to headache, neuralgia, sleeplessness, immoderate crying or laughing. These show a weak nervous system for which there is no remedy except Restorative Nervine. Trial bottles and a 25 cent book, containing many marvelous cures, free at Stansard & Cusick, who also sell, and guarantee 100 Miles' celebrated New Heart Cure, the finest of heart tonics. ## A ROYAL SPENDTHRIFT.

Ex-King Milan of Serbia Squandered His Wife's Fortune.

BERLIN, July 21.—Of the justice of ex-Queen Natalie's claims against her divorced husband, Milan, whom she is suing in Paris, there does not seem to be any trouble, but of her chance of recovery any part of her squandered fortune there seems to be a great deal. Milan long ago spent all of her money that he could get his hands on, and all he was able to borrow from confiding men and women. At present he is living on the income which the Serbian government guaranteed to him as the price of his remaining away from Serbia, and this is the only source of revenue he has. It is not at all likely that he has anything left over when the periodical payment is made, nor is it probable that the treasury at Belgrade can be further drawn upon to help him out of his trouble. Therefore, the only satisfaction Natalie is likely to get out of the suit is the opportunity it will afford her to see the dispossessed king and his wife, who she has visited her wealth.

A SLAVE'S REVENGE.

A Method of Vengeance as Efficient as it was Deadly.

In Hayti and Martinique the custom of the "lesbians" is not indigenous to the islands, but has been employed by the negroes in disposing of their enemies, says the St. Louis Post Dispatch. A horrible but well-authenticated instance of negro ingenuity and malevolence is told in Martinique. A huge negro, recently imported from the Guinea coast, had been whipped by the order of his master, and one of the great planter profits of the island while it was under French rule. The victim made no complaint, but meditated revenge. One day he found the tail of a pair of serpents in the garden adjacent to the house. Watching an opportunity, he killed one and dragged its body to the house through a window that was always open, and into the bedroom of the beautiful daughter of the planter. He dragged it to the bed, lifted the coverings and coiled the reptile on the sheet. When this was done he carried the dead snake away and cast it into the adjacent stream.

As night approached, the serpent's mate followed the trail, crept through the open window and to the bed of the planter's daughter. The latter, half awake made a motion to jump away from the intruder. Instantly the latter were buried in her neck, and in a few hours she was a corpse.

The Girl Wives of India.

I expect the little girls in India would be the same precocious, strong, fully developed girls that we find in other tropical countries; and how great was my astonishment to be told that they were little, quarter developed beings, and to be told that they were wives, and serving not only their lords and masters, but their mothers-in-law and other community family of ten, twelve, fourteen or twenty. Talk of maturity for these little creatures! They can never come to full maturity, for they were robbed before they were born, and have never had a chance to grow. I have never exercised, with all the food they need, and above all, if they could be made happy until they were twenty-five years old, it might not be a sin for them to give birth to an immortal soul. Maturity does not depend upon the mother-in-law and other community family of ten, twelve, fourteen or twenty, but upon the condition of the present system; and thus it is evident that these children of India, instead of coming to maturity earlier than other girls who are born in a temperate climate, are five or ten years later in reaching any approximate standard of womanhood.—From the Herald's London Edition.

Not the Prophet's Legacy.

At a recent meeting of the West Academy of Sciences Professor I. Araback read a paper which is destined to arouse great interest in the Mohammedan world. Among the most cherished treasures of the Crown of Turkey is an alleged original letter of the Prophet, which was discovered about the middle of the present century in an Oriental cloister. In 1858 it was purchased by the Sultan Abdul Medjid for 500,000 piasters, European and Oriental savants declaring their belief in the genuineness of the letter. Years ago, however, Professor Araback, after extended scientific investigations, expressed his doubts as to the letter. Since then he has continued his studies among the celebrated manuscripts in the collection of Archduke Rainer of Austria. From the results of his investigations, which he has made the professor asserts that the letter is a forgery made at least two centuries after the death of Mohammed. Among other things the professor says that he can prove that the seal of the letter belongs to a period subsequent to Mohammed's.—New York Tribune.

Finances in Portugal.

Lisbon, July 21.—The currency tension is extreme. The premium on a pound sterling is now 15 per cent. At a meeting of 5000 workers in Braga it was resolved to request the government to take steps to prevent speculation in English gold to the detriment of Portuguese circulation.

THE UPPER RIVER.

Major Hahbury Reports Its Condition to the Government

WORK THAT HAS BEEN DONE

A $60,000 Appropriation Would Make the River Navigable to Albany the Year Round.

PORTLAND, July 21.—Major T. H. Hahbury is doing all in his power to benefit navigation. In his report to the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1891, concerning the improvement of the Willamette river from this city to the head of navigation, he says: During the low water of the past season boats drawing fifteen inches could ascend as far as Albany. The lowest water on the river all of the lower lock at Oregon City was thirty inches. The total amount appropriated for the work since the present project was adopted is $124,000. At the commencement of the fiscal year there was a balance on hand of $19,221. The river and harbor act, approved September 19, 1890, appropriated $11,000 for this work, of which sum $5,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary may be used, in the discretion of the secretary of war, for improvement of the river at Clackamas rapids and Ross island.

Before any work could be done upon the Willamette river above the falls, extensive repairs were necessary to the plant with which this is carried on. A new hull and a cabin provided, such of the old machinery as could be used was transferred to this hull and supplemented by new machinery. The cost of this work charged to this appropriation was $273.63. These repairs and additions could not be completed and the boat made ready for work before the 10th of February.

After shipping up a crew the boat left Portland on the 12th, her captain being under instructions to proceed up the Willamette as far as Harrisburg, removing only the most troublesome obstructions found on the way, and then drop back, clearing out all snags in the channel for work. About this time the rainy season commenced and the river began to rise, so that on reaching Harrisburg there was a twelve-foot stage of water. There being no immediate prospect of fall to a stage favorable for work, the boat was ordered back to Portland at the end of the month and laid up in ordinary, with all hands discharged. During the time she was out thirty-five snags and twenty overhanging trees were removed.

It is proposed to devote the balance of the fund now available for work on the Upper Willamette to closing chutes, scraping bars as far up as Harrisburg. This will be done with the snagboat Corvallis and her crew during the months of July and August. With this work it is expected that a navigable channel, at least two and a half feet in depth, can be maintained during the low water season as high up as the town of Corvallis.

A recent inspection of this river from Albany to Portland has confirmed an idea long entertained that if an appropriation of $60,000 could be made available in one sum for its improvement under the project, from Willamette falls to the head of navigation, and a yearly appropriation of ten or twelve thousand dollars, a great deal of money might be saved to the government, and navigation through the low water, which is the most important season, permanently maintained. These favoring and other structures that are built from year to year as funds become available are temporary, flimsy affairs, intended only to contract and direct the water during the lowest stages. With these and some scowage and clearing a little depth is obtained over the bars, and light-draft boats can for a little longer time make their trips.

RIOTING MINERS.

The Affair is Assuming Terrible Proportions.

A BIG FIGHT IS IMMINENT

The Miners Can Get Reinforcements Sufficient to Defeat a Large Force of Militia.

COAL CREEK, Tenn., July 21.—The miners were surly but not suggestive this morning. The public is in fever heat over the expected arrival of troops from Knoxville, of whom nothing definite has yet been heard. Advice from various points in Kentucky and Eastern Tennessee, state that the miners can get reinforcements sufficient to defeat a large force of militia. The people of this section are unitedly opposed to convict labor and if necessary will resort to the utmost measures if possible. There is intense excitement over the report that five hundred soldiers of the state militia have reached Clinton, and will march over the mountains at Byerville. If something is not done at present, the affair will attain terrible proportions. Many conferences will be held at Brucyville during the day to bring out a sentiment but nothing definite is expected to result.

CHATTANOOGA, July 21.—State troops to the number 400 have reached Knoxville and are preparing to go to Coal Creek. It looks like the way to death.

KNOXVILLE, July 21.—Miners have burned the convicts' stoker at Coal Creek and cut the wires to Briceville. Telegraph operators are powerless and can send no messages unless sanctioned by the miners. Great excitement prevails and bloodshed seems near.

It is rumored here that 1500 miners are on the way to Oliver Springs mine to relieve 300 convicts there. It is expected the troops will return to Coal Creek this afternoon with the convicts and the matter will be brought to issue.

ENORMOUS CROPS.

Will There Be Another Wheat Glut This Year?

PORTLAND, July 21.—The wheat crop in the Pacific country will be enormous this year, and the railroads will be taxed to their utmost in order to carry it all to market. It looks now as if the complaint of last year about transportation might be repeated this season.

C. H. Prescott, second vice president of the Northern Pacific, however, says his line will have 1000 new freight cars and 40 new locomotives to convey this mighty harvest to the sea. It is not a high estimate to say that 15,000,000 to 18,000,000 bushels of grain will comprise the yield of Whitworth, Garfield, Douglas, Spokane and Lincoln counties in Washington, and Latah county in Idaho. If both the Northern and Union undertook to carry away all this in 100 days, or a little more than three months, it would take 25 trains a day to do it. Eastern Oregon will add tremendously to this total, and good times can be looked for both in the state and the one to the north, if the farmers can get their wheat to the market.

HALL AND FITZSIMMONS.

Governor Merriam Cannot Interfere With the Fight.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 21.—Governor Merriam was besieged this morning by a large number of citizens seeking to prevent the Hall-Fitzsimmons fight to-morrow night, but he told them the attorney-general had ruled that he could not interfere. He promised, however, to issue a proclamation urging the city authorities to enforce the laws on the subject, as Mayor Smith will not stop the fight. The sports are greatly elated, although warrants will probably be taken out for both principals and their trainers. Each man is in fine condition and betting is brisk. The board of trade has unanimously adopted a resolution asking Mayor Smith not to interfere to-morrow night.

FIGHT WITH NATIVES IN AFRICA.

PARIS, July 21.—A dispatch from the west coast of Africa says a French expedition of fifty persons from L'Thon, to avenge the death of Frenchmen, encountered 1200 warriors, armed with European rifles, in the village of Sousse. A fight lasting four hours occurred. Many natives were killed and a large number wounded. The natives retreated. Two Frenchmen were killed and twelve wounded.

The Railway Men's Union has decided to resume work to-day.

A FIRE AT CHICO.

CHICO, Cal., July 21.—About 9 o'clock last evening there was an alarm of fire, which proved to be a small dwelling house. When it was about under control a second alarm was sounded which proved to be the worst fire that this town has suffered for eight years. The fire started in the rear of the G. W. Dorn building and soon communicated to the adjoining property. The loss will be nearly $20,000.

HE RAISED THE CHURCH DEBT

A Sleepy Gambler's Mistake but He Didn't Back Out.

"Talking of raising church debts," the Buffalo Express says that the man who had been everywhere said: "I cleared up a debt for a church in Deadwood once in spite of myself."

"Yes!"

"It happened this way: I had been playing poker the night before. Came out a cool $10,000 winner. Then a kind of remorse came over me and I went to church. The sermon was pro and I went to sleep. After the sermon the parson explained that the church was in a little debt and he thought this would be a good time to pay off. I woke up just in time to hear him say: 'We must raise $5000. Well, you see, I was half asleep, thought I was still playing poker, and 'bearin' that put me on my nerve. The d'acon with the plate was right beside me in the aisle. I pulled out my roll and yelled out, 'I'll see that $5,000 and go $5,000 better.' With that I put those $10,000 on the plate. Before I was well enough awake to know where I was, the whole congregation was singing and the minister was praying for me. I wasn't going to backwater then, so I let the money go. Good job on me, wasn't it?"

"First rate, and did you really quit gambling?"

"Yes sir; quit for good and all," he said. And he added: "By the way, have you got any tips on to-day's races?"
