Water is being wasted to such an extent and so unnecessarily that we are obliged to enforce a strict observance of the rule in regard to hours for sprinkling, viz: From 5 to 9 A. M. and from 10 to 10 o'clock P. M., and to caution all users of water to guard against leaks from faucets or other fixtures. The continuous running of water through closets or other fixtures, or permitting hose streams or sprinklers to run all night, will be deemed sufficient cause for shutting the water off from premises where allowed without further notice. THE WHEAT SUPPLY

Crops Will Be Short in All Parts of Europe. IT WILL MAKE GOOD PRICES. The United States Will Be Called Upon to Make up the Amount Required—Contradictory Reports. New York, Aug. 8.—Bradstreet's London correspondent has forwarded a report on the condition of wheat abroad, which indicates that Europe will have to import about 281,000,000 bushels this year. His statement with respect to Russia the most contradictory reports have been issued, but there is no doubt the wheat crop is a big failure in many parts of the empire, and that it would be a safe estimate to assign it at 15 per cent. less than last year's crop. Latest reports of the Hungarian minister of agriculture indicates a reduction of 20 per cent. for the current harvest in Austria-Hungary. The weather has improved the prospect. He allows 75,000,000 bushels for the new crop of the United Kingdom, and 145,000,000 bushels as the necessary imports. France will require about 100,000,000. Germany will have to import not less than 35,000,000. Italy 25,000,000, Spain and Portugal 16,000,000, Switzerland 8,000,000, Turkey 10,000,000, and the rest of Europe 32,000, a total import of 281,000,000 bushels. He estimates that if the allowance of 300,000,000 bushels for export from India and 144,000,000 from the United States be made, there will still remain a deficit of about 104,000,000 bushels to be supplied from minor sources outside of Europe.

A PISTOL'S WORK.

It Assists in a Daring Bank Robbery and Murder. THE SECOND JESSE JAMES. The Cashier Was Shot Down and an Old Farmer Instantly Killed—All Done in Daylight. COLUMBUS, O., August 8.—A special from Lima, O., says: One of the boldest bank robberies and murders ever perpetrated in this section of country occurred this morning at Columbus Grove, a town of about 2000 people, twelve miles north of here. Cashier Maple had just opened the exchange bank and laid out $3000 near the cashier's window. About 8:30 a man appeared in the door with a revolver in each hand and he immediately began shooting. Cashier Maple was struck twice, once in the arm and once in the right side. As he fell to the floor an old farmer, William Vandebark, aged 60, entered the door, having come to get the money for some will. He just stood by the door, the robber turned and shot him dead. A third man sat in the lobby of the bank, paralyzed with fear, and he was not molested. The desperado then grabbed $1500 in greenbacks, shoved them into the pockets of his coat, and darted out of the door, shouting: "I am the second Jesse James." A crowd had been attracted by the shooting, but there was a scattering when the wild-eyed murderer appeared on the street, having a large family. A big reward is offered for the capture of the villain. CINCINNATI, August 8.—A special from Wapakoneta, O., says word has reached here by telephone that the Columbus Grove robber was overtaken in the woods and shot to death. ANOTHER REPORT. LIMA, O., Aug. 8.—A number of armed men entered the City bank at Columbus Grove, and at the point of revolvers ordered Cashier Maple to give them the keys to the vault. The latter refused and called for help and a desperate fight ensued, during which the cashier and a farmer who rushed to his assistance were shot and probably fatally wounded. The robbers are said to have secured $12,000 and escaped.

VILLAINS' WORK

TWO WHITE WOMEN STRIPPED AND BEATEN. Thirty Strong Men Cruelly Torture Two Women of Loose Repute and Their Negro Paramours. NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 8.—An employe of the cotton mills at Weston, Miss., arrived today bringing an account of an affair in that town early this morning. For the last two months two white women have been working at Weston. They came from the North, and were known as Agnes Keardon and Mamie Hasel. They were watched, and it was found that they often visited a cabin outside town. Investigation also revealed that two negroes sometimes visited it. The negroes were Ed Hall, a driver, and Coleman Erb, a plantation hand. A notice was posted at the door of the cabin warning the four to leave before last night. They refused to heed the warning, which was accompanied by threats of whipping. About 2 o'clock this morning, a party of about thirty men went to the cabin. They approached quietly, and then made a rush for the door, which was jarred from its hinges. The inmates were quickly overpowered, led outside, stripped to the waist and bound to stumps. The thirty men took turns in flogging their bare backs with whips, every lash bringing blood. The women received forty-five to fifty lashes each, when they fainted from pain. The men took the terrible punishment better, and were given a larger dose. After the women had regained consciousness, they and the two men were allowed to return to the cabin and dress. They then started north on the railroad track. A Fortune Scraped off a Roof Near a Mint. Three thousand dollars for an old tin roof would be a pretty steep price, but the man who got the battered roof from the old Tabernacle Church at Broad street and South Penn Square, which is now being torn away, for that sum will be in great luck. Some years ago the paint was scraped off the old roof and yielded $5000 in fine gold. It is almost as certain to yield as much this time. The gold comes from the mint. When gold is being coined a considerable quantity of it volatilizes with the smoke through the chimney, and as soon as it strikes the air it falls. Much of it strikes the roof of the Mint; so much of it that the officials save even the water that falls upon it during a shower. All the drains from the roof are connected with large vats in the cellar of the Mint. Before the water finally gets into the sewer it is strained through many blankets and sieves, which retain the gold. Notwithstanding all these precautions, the gold that is annually washed into the Delaware from the Mint is worth thousands of dollars. Every particle of dirt swept up about the Mint is carefully stored away with the washings from the roof, and once every year it is sold to the highest bidder, as it cannot be used at the Mint.—Philadelphia Record.

Then, Brink has just received some of the finest lozenges ever brought to Albany, and he is selling them at a close margin.

THE OREGON PACIFIC.

Wm. M. Hoag Talks About the Road in San Francisco. SAN FRANCISCO, August 8.—Manager Wm. M. Hoag of the Oregon Pacific Railroad, is getting ready to go to Corvallis, Oregon, the headquarters of the company. Regarding the statement that employes of the road were anxious for their money and were solicited as to when he would arrive, Manager Hoag said the matter was greatly exaggerated and that the indebtedness was not near so great as was claimed, since the total operating expenses were less than $10,000 a month. He said there is an immense wheat crop in the Willamette valley, and much other produce along the line. The affairs of the road, he added, would soon be straightened out all right. The road is graded now some sixty odd miles east of Albany in the Cascade mountains.

The Sequoia Americana.

The British at one time attempted to appropriate our Sequoia Americana to themselves, because they found some good specimens growing finely at their Kew gardens, and they named it Wellingtonia. Later, however, their best botanical authorities ascertained that their specimens had been brought from California, where these big trees had been properly named Sequoia, after the Indian chief who had first revealed their existence to white men, and had guided them into the Mariposa grove for them to behold the wonders—trees 300 feet high and 3,000 years old; and thereupon the English writers restored the name of Sequoia to their own specimens. The name is a souvenir of this country, and, at this period, when we are trying to stir up British interest in our Columbian Exhibition, it is bad form for Americans to misquote the name of one of our greatest natural attractions, and concede it to England.

THE BODY OF MISS NELLIE BOISE RECOVERED. It Was Found in the Rocks at Low Tide—The Body of Will Steel May Also Be Found. PORTLAND, July 8.—The body of Miss Nellie Boise, who was drowned at Ilwaco, has been recovered from its watery tomb. The body was found at the rocks about one-half mile to the south of Stout's this morning at low tide. The spot where the body was discovered is often known as Dead Man's Hole, and is sometimes called Baird's Hollow. Several bodies have been washed up there before, while others have been drowned in the locality. It is now thought the body of Will Steel may also be recovered.

AN EARTHQUAKE SHOCK.

It Causes a Disturbance Along the Colorado River. YUMA, Ariz., August 8.—Colonel Smith, an American trapper, accompanied by Gardner, a hunter, and Espito, a Cocopah Indian, have returned from the Gulf of California, and give additional details concerning the earthquake and tidal wave of Thursday last. About 6 o'clock that morning a heavy shock struck the country about five miles below Lerdo colony, in the state of Sonora, Mexico, on the Colorado river. The sky darkened and a thunder storm arose, accompanied by great flashes of lightning. The river rose, as a huge wave from the gulf was driven inland, and corals, fences and landing places were washed away by the rushing waters. The shaking of the ground increased, and the cracking, grinding noise of the crumbling hills was intensified. The second shock caused the earth to open in many places, some fissures being four to seven feet wide and from twenty to thirty feet long, and seemingly fathomless. Men were thrown to the ground by the force of this shock. About a dozen men noticed a fissure in the middle of the river bed, into which the Colorado was pouring with much noise. A third shock of earthquake destroyed three small habitations of the colonists, and cracked the others. No human lives were lost, but a large amount of livestock was killed.
