LIVE STOCK TUMBLE Not in Price but in Distance That Terminates Fatally. THE BRIDGE GAVE WAY. And the Oatle West Down-More Solid Than McInty-Only Eight Shaved Up. SALEM, Or., Sept. 11.-Thursday Lee and Walter Brown were driving forty head of beef cattle from one pasture to another, over in folk county. When they reached the Davidson bridge, across the Luckiamute, about ten miles southwest of Independence, the whole band was driven on to it. The bridge broke under the weight and plunged to the bed of the stream, fifty feet below. All the cattle except eight were killed outright. LADY SMUGGLERS. Smiles and Protestations Do Not Move the Customs Officials. From New York comes the story that four women were disconsolate and angry at the Custom-house. The surveyor's men say that they are four dressmakers, who have been seeing Paris and laying in a stock of ideas and about $15,000 worth of goods for the fall trade. They arrived in New York, two on the steamship La Touraine and two on the Eider. They forgot to tell the Custom-house inspectors just what was in their trunks, and the trunks were detained. Mme. Lang and Mme. Mulvaney of Louisville owned three trunks, and came on La Touraine. Miss E. Montagne of New York, and Mrs. Boyd, who said she lived in Denver, but whose business cards were marked Minneapolis, brought the other four trunks on the Eider. The trunks were opened at the Custom-house and were filled with expensive dresses, marked with the names of well-known Paris dressmakers, silk and velvets, opera cloaks, silk under-clothing, satin and silk slippers, laces and a number of dresses and cloaks that had not been completed. There were bills in the trunks showing when they were purchased, and on many of the dresses were tags on which were marked the maker's name and price. When the owners of the trunks found that their pleadings had no effect they engaged lawyers. REFUTE THE CHARGES. Kansas Not as Bad Off as Has Been Told. From Topeka, Kansas, comes the report that a committee appointed at the recent meeting of the republican league clubs of Kansas to draft an address to refute the alleged slanders against the state by advocates of the people's party gave its report to the public. It is a carefully prepared statement of the progress made by the state and is optimistic in the extreme. The members of the committee are pleased to see the "crime of being a state of borrowers" they will attempt neither to palliate nor deny. From this platform of the republican league this sentence is quoted: "Our debts stand for our investments and not for our losses. They represent our enterprise and not our misfortune; our property, and not our poverty. They will be paid to the last penny in legal currency of the country, not a coin clipped nor a dollar depreciated." The sentence is made to the enormous crops raised in Kansas this year and the estimate made that $104,000,000 will represent the net result of the year's work. "Some of this profit," says the report, "will be added to our permanent capital, but most of it will be employed in liquidating our indebtedness. Kansas is marvelous in its history, matchless in its resources and magnificent in its achievements, and the party that maligns the state and discounts itself is already struck with the blight of death."

PECULIAR CRIME. A San Francisco Police Officer Shot Dead. HE FALLS IN THE STREET. A Well Known Actor Accused of Doing the Shooting-He Says It Was Not Him. SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.-Late last night officers at the branch police station on Folsom and Fifth streets were startled by a pistol shot fired just outside the door. Rushing out, they found Officer Maurice B. Curtis, "Sam'l of Posen," the well-known actor, who shot and killed Police Officer Alexander Grant, who had arrested him last night, telling the following story of the affair: "I was at the Grand opera house last night with my wife to see Bernhard in 'Camille.' I left the theater about 10 o'clock to go to the Tivoli theater with William Kerling, one of the proprietors. We had a drink together, and I left him to return to the opera house for my wife. When I reached the corner of Third and Mission streets, I was suddenly tumbled into the gutter and after that I remember nothing, only somebody pulling and jerking me about until I found myself in a wagon with handcuffs on my wrists." When Curtis was taken to the jail last night he appeared to be under the influence of liquor, and incoherently told of his doings during the night, protesting he had no weapon and that he was innocent of the murder. The place where the officer arrested Curtis is some blocks from the station-house, but the shooting occurred within half a block of the station, and within hearing of a number of policemen. Grant was killed immediately, the bullet entering the middle of the forehead near the hair, penetrating the brain. He was 38 years of age and had been on the police force about 5 years. He was well liked by his brother officers, many of whom were unable to control their grief when he was brought to the station dead. Curtis, who is known throughout the United States from the character of "Sam'l of Posen" in a play which was created for him, has resided for the last two or three years at Berkeley, Cal. He had acquired considerable property through the profits accruing from his success as an actor and erected a large hotel at Berkeley, which has since been converted into a seminary. He began as a call-boy at the old California theater in this city, gradually working his way up through minor roles to the position of a recognized actor in comedy parts. The pistol with which the shooting was done was found in the street near the scene of the tragedy. Curtis was visited by a large number of friends at the city prison this morning. He still adheres to his former statements and declares that Policeman Grant was shot and killed by some outsider and that he himself is innocent. His attorneys, George A. Knight and H. I. Kowalsky, claim the evidence against him is wholly circumstantial, and that a number of witnesses intimate with Curtis will testify they never knew him to go armed. No date has been set for the examination. William Kreling, of the Tivoli opera house, this morning said that Curtis was not intoxicated when he left the Tivoli, although he may have been drinking some. Mrs. Curtis did not know of the shooting until this morning. She told the reporter that she never knew that her husband carried a pistol except when he went hunting. She thought there must be some mistake about the whole thing. FIGHT TO THE DEATH. Two Desperados at Bay in an Unoccupied Hut. PURCELL, I. T., Sept. 11.-A fierce fight occurred near here yesterday, in which a United States marshal and party captured two noted desperado outlaws, after mortally wounding them. A posse, in charge of Deputies Swayne, Cook and Ekins, have been on the trail of William Carley and Ross Riley several days. They cornered them to day in an unoccupied hut and demanded their surrender. The outlaws responded with a volley from their revolvers. The posse returned the fire. A fusillade was kept up for some time, the outlaws finally surrendering. They had both been shot, it is thought fatally. Note of the posse was injured. Carley is a horse thief, who escaped from the Arkansas penitentiary. Riley is a Cherokee negro; he was one of seven murderers of Cherokees.

RUSSIAN SOUTHWESTERN FRONTIER OF Asia as far as the Danube, and troops are rapidly arriving and in large numbers. This would be the base of departure for a Russian army advancing toward the Balkans and Constantinople. At Tutsch Keg four regiments were quartered where last year there were only two; at Valkovo and Killo, five regiments had recently arrived in addition to the men already there. At Kagul three regiments arrived also about a week ago, and Jalouch reinforcements of 7000 men have recently taken up their quarters. Troops are pouring in at the same rate in other villages. These places are of little consequence apart from their strategic position, and an invasion would naturally concentrate. In view of these facts, the correspondent concludes that Russia intends at no distant date to make across the Danube for Constantinople, and that her preparations show that this time she means to have a force sufficient to overcome all obstacles. ITALY CASE. A New Phase Developed by the Steamship Company. LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.-Attorney William Goodrich of New York, as proctor for the South American Steamship Company, the new claimant for the Chilean steamer Itata, has filed an answer to the information for libel against that vessel, in which he contends that no lawful seizure of the vessel was without the territorial limits of the United States, and the surrender of the Itata was compelled by violence by the United States cruiser Charleston and was a breach of international law and the law of nations. Furthermore, that the claimant company, which built the Itata for traffic purposes, had no participation in the use of the steamer for the alleged unlawful purposes which caused the seizure, and ought not, therefore, to be deprived of its property. The answer prays that the vessel be released and that claimant be allowed costs and also damages for detention. CHINAMAN BRIDEGROOM. Captures a Handsome White Girl Whom He Marries. PORTLAND, Sept. 11.-There is a strong probability that a marriage was consummated at Vancouver this morning between Elizabeth Perry, a 17-year-old girl from Washougal, and Nip Gee, an Americanized Chinaman. The story as published this morning was inaccurate, and the truth of the affair seems to be that it is the result of nasty and ill-considered action on the part of the employer of the girl and her lover. Miss Perry is a tall girl, as large and well developed as a woman of 25. She has dark hair, brown eyes and a more than ordinary prepossessing appearance. Gee, the Chinaman, is not a bad-looking fellow, with his close-cropped hair, civilized clothes and straight eyes. He speaks correct English, and as Miss Perry says, "He is all right, even if he is a Chinaman." A Stockbroker's Death. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.-About 8 o'clock this morning the janitor of the Hachinen building discovered the dead body of Charles M. Stokes, Sr., a well-known stockbroker, lying on the floor of his office. There was a bullet hole through the dead man's head, and beside his body lay a revolver with one chamber discharged. The case is evidently one of suicide. No one has been found who saw Stokes after the 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It is thought the deed of self-destruction was committed about that time. Stokes was about 60 years of age and one of the best-known stockbrokers in this city. He was a member of the firm of S. G. Wallace & Co. The dead man leaves a wife and six children. Trouble Feared With the Miners. NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 11.-Acting under the orders of Adjutant General Norman, twenty-five rifles belonging to the local military company at Knoxville has been turned over to the superintendent at Bricerville, to be used in the protection of convicts. Several thousand rounds of ammunition will also be sent there. There is much uneasiness all through East Tennessee, and the miners are reported to be making great threats. A Murderous Tramp. WHEATLAND, Cal., Sept. 11.-A brakeman on the southbound Oregon express, which passed through here at 2 o'clock this morning, was knocked off the train by a tramp who hit him with a diode iron blind-baggage car. The train continued to Lincoln before the absence of the brakeman was discovered. The engine went back for him. The brakeman was found not seriously hurt. Tackled the Wrong Man. GREEN RIVER, Utah, Sept. 11.-Yesterday Cass Hite and A. F. Kohler revived an old quarrel. Kohler got a Winchester rifle and paraded the streets, saying he would shoot Hite. Hite was trying to avoid to pacify him; when Kohler drew a revolver and fired three times, killing Kohler instantly and wounding Frank Drake, who was standing near by. MASSING TROOPS. Russia Evidently Means Something By the Movement. BERLIN, Sept. 11.-A correspondent who has been visiting the
