I am an old man and have been a constant sufferer with catarrh for the last ten years. I am entirely cured by the use of Ely's Cream Balm. It is strange that so simple a remedy will cure such a stubborn disease.—Henry Billings, U. S. Pension Attorney, Washington, D. C.

For eight years I have suffered from catarrh, which effected my eyes and hearing; have employed many physicians without relief. I am down on my second bottle of Ely's Cream Balm, and feel confident of a complete cure.—Mary C. Thompson, Cerro Gordo, Ill.

We are the only people who carry the celebrated E. & W. collar and cuffs. Always have the latest styles in stock. T. L. Waller & Co.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Cran's Unrivalled Atlas.

The new edition of this unrivalled work is now being delivered by the agent, Mrs. A. M. Tall. The work is a most excellent one, and this edition is a great improvement upon former ones, giving all the latest data and much new matter that was not in the previous editions. It should be in every family, and on every business man's desk. Those who are not supplied can procure the atlas by addressing P. O. Box No. 60 Albany Oregon.

Me srs. Hyman & Brownell are prepared in their nursery to furnish all kinds of stock, and those intending to plant should call upon them.

STATE AND COAST.

A New Budget from the State Capital.

AT THE ASYLUM FOR INSANE.

The Governor and Secretary of State Visit the Portage Railway—Death of an Oregon Pioneer.

SALEM, Sept. 24.—Emma Langworthy was brought to the asylum to-day. She is aged 37 years and has been in the asylum in Michigan.

The Northwest Real Estate company of Portland, filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state to-day. The incorporators are H. A. Thomas, W. E. Marsh and J. W. Connaughy. Capital stock, $20,000.

The Willamette University trustees to-night decided upon the plans for rebuilding the Willamette University building.

To Inspect the Portage Railway.

PORTLAND, Sept. 24.—Governor Penneyer, Secretary McBride and Treasurer Metchner are the three state officials who went up to the Cascade locks this morning to inspect the work of the portage railway, note its progress, and the manner in which the work is being conducted.

Death of I. R. Dawson.

PORTLAND, Sept. 24.—I. R. Dawson died very suddenly to-day of heart disease. Deceased was aged about 55 years.

A PERMANENT LAKE.

No Likelihood That Salton Lake Will Dry Up.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—A prospector who came in from the Colorado desert yesterday after a six months' trip says that he has ridden around the greater portion of the Salton lake, and that, in his opinion, there is little likelihood of its drying up. In any event it could not evaporate should the flow cease before the freshets of next season, when it would again pour into the basin. He thinks that next year the breach already made will be enlarged, and that a greatly increased amount of water will flow in, making the lake a permanent feature for many years to come. The past summer has been eventful in desert history, as there have been an almost unbroken succession of rain storms, and storms of water, and the immense quantities of rain have fallen, and the thunder and lightning have been something terrific.

Seattle Secures the Next Meeting.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—The labor convention adjourned this morning, selecting Seattle as the place of the next meeting. W. J. Armstrong, a Seattle delegate, thanked the convention for the honor conferred. Prior to adjournment a series of resolutions were introduced by Armstrong relative to the mining trouble in Washington, and calling on all bodies affiliated with the new organization to give financial aid to the union miners of King county.

THE DOWN-TRODDEN SEX.

A Funny Instance Which Happened in Detroit Lately.

He was a big, sullen looking fellow, towering fourteen inches above the neck, indolent and being little more than a brute, and the casual observer would have said at a glance that she was a broken-spirited, brow-beaten wife to whom marriage had been a failure, which would have proven that the opinion of the casual observer is of little value, says the Detroit Free Press.

They entered a clothing store, and he asked to be shown some "pants." He picked up about the first pair shown him and said that he would take them, when she snatched them from him, tossed them aside and said: "Well, you'll do nothing of the sort, Jack Smith. I think I see you paying $7 for a pair of pants. This pair at $5 is just as good, if they don't look quite so well. They're too short? They're nothing of the sort, and I can let them be a little shorter. Here, Mr. Clerk, do up these pants."

Then she fished an old leather wall up from the depths of a pocket in an unsuspected place and paid for the "pants," after which she graciously tossed the big bully by her side a 10 cent piece, saying as she did so: "There's the dime you said you wanted to get some tobacco with. Go out and get it while I wait for you, and don't be gone more than ten minutes either, for we're going home on the next car. Hurry up!"

He "Worked" the President.

The taking of Dr. Henry J. Helmbold to a madhouse recalls to mind the case of the New York World, one of the most successful of the great advertiser's methods of attracting attention to him-self. It was the evening before the second inauguration of General Grant as president that Dr. Helmbold arrived in Washington from New York, bringing with him his team of six blooded bay horses, which, in mounted harness, were attached to the most expensive victoria of that day. He announced at once the purpose of his visit, and, driving to the White House, tendered the use of the equipage to the president in his trip to the capitol the next day. The offer was, of course, politely declined, as Dr. Helmbold had expected it would be; but the fact that the offer had been made was telegraphed far and wide, and that was all the doctor desired. It was a great advertisement of his life, and had been secured at a comparatively small cost. The next day he added to the record already made. He appeared himself in the procession to the capitol, flashily dressed and driving the very famous team, of which everybody in town had heard, and was probably, next after the president, the most observed individual on the avenue. He was delighted with the success of his scheme.

TO BE PROTECTED.

If the Chinese Government Falls the Other Powers will Take It Up.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—A week ago Secretary Tracy remarked: "If the American missionaries and American citizens in China are to rely upon gunboats for their protection rather than on the Chinese government our fleet in those waters must be very largely increased."

While there is no formal alliance yet, the United States government has reached an understanding with the governments of Great Britain, France and Germany by the terms of which, in the event of the failure of the Chinese government to afford adequate guarantees for the protection of their property and interests of citizens of other nations, that duty is to be undertaken by the governments of the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany acting jointly. In case of riot or other disturbance vests in the citizens of the four nations the right of self-defense, and they are authorized to protect their consulates and other interests.

A Peculiar Society.

Over thirty years ago says a dispatch from Medford, Conn. fifty ladies of the First Church here formed the Society of Old Maids. Every one of them vowed that they would never marry. Each member paid $5 fee on admission. The interest of the principal thus raised was to be expended in an annual dinner while the principal itself was to go to the member who remained unmarried the longest. The young men of Medford have during the past three decades succeeded in leading to the altar all except fifteen of the original fifty, but these, having withstood the temptations of so many suitors, are determined to remain single to the end of their lives. The young men of Medford have during the past three decades succeeded in leading to the altar all except fifteen of the original fifty, but these, having withstood the temptations of so many suitors, are determined to remain single to the end of their lives.

A Tax on Bachelors.

Some curious measures have come up in the state legislature during the past few months, and the Georgia legislature, which is still in session, is evidently determined not to be behind the rest in this respect. It has just introduced a bill providing for the taxation of bachelors. Under its provisions the Georgia man of thirty who has not yet found a wife will be taxed $25, that sum to be increased by a like amount for every five years of bachelorhood. At the rate of the man who persists in keeping his neck out of the matrimonial yoke until he is sixty, would have to pay about $200 a year for his single blessedness. At a green old age it would cost him a good sized salary. The state legislatures have announced in cranks, but they have produced no bigger one than the author of the anti-bachelor bill in Georgia. Of course the measure will fail to pass and it is useless for the Georgian old maids to build any matrimonial hopes upon it.

Over a Century Old.

New York Sun: A few days ago children, while playing round the church at South Paris, Me., discovered a can of powder under the old edifice. From its appearance the can is supposed to have been under the church since 1774, when it was the custom of the colonial patriots to secrete their powder in and near meeting houses. In the year mentioned John Sullivan, of Berwick, raised a company of men, and, going to Fort William and Mary, at Portsmouth, N. H., captured 100 barrels of powder, part of which was concealed in the old church at Durham, Androscoggin county, and used the next year by the minute men at Lexington and Bunker's Hill. It is thought that the can found at South Paris is part of the same lot that Captain Sullivan seized from the King's men 117 years ago.

Coming Home Again.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The amount of bullion withdrawn from the bank of England on balance to-day was £100,000, for shipment to America.

DEATH ON THE RAIL

A Terrible Wreck on a Pennsylvania Railroad.

NINE BODIES RECOVERED.

Steam and Boiling Water Poured Over the Victims—The Shrieks of the Injured Were Terrible.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Sept. 24.—A terrible wreck occurred this morning on the Pittsburg & Western railroad at McKim's siding. At this point a work train, with a force of fifty men was engaged in putting down a new track. While they were on the train throwing off dirt a freight car crashed into the cars and engines up in a mass. Steam and boiling water poured over those caught in the wreck, and for a moment there was silence, then the air was broken by the shrieks of the dying, making the scene so terrible that one of the trainmen who had escaped uninjured, fainted with horror. The trainmen and laborers not injured, began at once to assist those imprisoned in the debris. By 11 o'clock the bodies of eight Italian laborers were taken from the wreck, and, with Engineer Houghton, this swells the dead to nine. At least twenty men are injured, several of whom cannot recover. All the bodies are terribly mangled and disfigured. Short time physicians and citizens were at the scene rendering all assistance possible. All trains are delayed, but a large force of men are at work clearing the track.

NEBRASKA REPUBLICANS.

They Point to Blaine as the Next President of the United States.

LINCOLN, Sept. 24.—The republican state convention was called to order here at 10 o'clock this morning by Chairman Watson, of the state central committee. He made a brief speech, congratulating the delegates upon the large attendance, and predicted success for the candidates to be nominated. "If the signs are true," said Chairman Watson, "the republican national convention at Omaha in 1892 will nominate the next president of the United States, and that man will be the glorious captain of the gallant ship of state, the skillful navigator, fearless leader, bright, brilliant and matchless Blaine." At the mention of the name of Blaine a cord from the delegates was thrown and the room resounded with the shout of approval. The effect was magical; 500 delegates immediately sprang to their feet and cheered. In concluding his speech the chairman introduced George H. Thummler, of Grand Island, as the delegate to the national convention. He was greeted with cheers. His speech was brief, consisting mostly of predictions of republican success. The temporary officers were declared the permanent ones and the committee on resolutions was appointed.

Among the resolutions introduced and referred to the committee, was one opposing any fusion whatever with the democratic party. All the resolutions were referred to the committee on platform and the committee took a recess until 2:30 this afternoon.

The committee on resolutions immediately met and began the formation of a platform. There was a little difference of opinion as to the financial and transportation question. Finally it was decided to place the republicans of Nebraska on record as declaring for the republican legislation in the last congress on the silver question. An equitable adjustment of freight rates is demanded and the McKinley tariff law and principle of reciprocity warmly indorsed. The administration of President Harrison is approved, and Nebraskans point with pride to the diplomatic victories achieved by the state and agricultural departments under the present republican administration, in securing the admission of American pork into France and Germany.

THE KING'S LOVE AFFAIR.

Seriously Interferes With His Welfare and Happiness.

PARIS, Sept. 24.—The young King of Annam caused a sensation in Algiers which will result in the adventurous youth being sent almost immediately under a strong escort from his pleasant quarters near Algiers to Morocco, where the King, who has been in custody in Algiers for three years past, is the victim of a love affair which will have a very prejudicial effect upon his future comfort.

Although nominally a prisoner, he lived in a villa called Des Fines in the village of Eider, about a mile and a half from Algiers, and has practically had unrestrained liberty. He was not allowed to receive visits, indeed, but no limit was put on his own actions, and it is out of his liberty that all the trouble has grown.

The King, a good-looking young man of 23, wears European clothes, plays the piano and rides a bicycle. His attendants report that of late his bicycle has carried him in the direction of Algiers almost every night, whence his majesty did not return until early morning. The authorities decided to investigate the case, and discovered not only a romantic love affair, but a plan of escape from Algiers, which was actually to have taken place the very night following its discovery.

The whole thing had been worked out by the young woman in the case, and she was promptly arrested. The King has been deprived of his bicycle, and has since been a close prisoner in his villa. "By an official order was received," transfer him to Medeah next Friday, in which place his movements will be most carefully watched, but it is considered a matter of the highest importance to prevent his return from Annam.

THEIR WAR PAINT ON.

A Party of Whites Attacked by Alaskan Indians.

JUNEAU, Alaska, Sept. 12.—Intelligence has just reached here from the Upper Yukon that a band of hostile Chilkats had attacked a small party of two whites and five Indians who have been hunting on Lewis river for some weeks, and that several had been killed. It is thought here that the party is the Ewing-Earlsiff one, which is composed of E. B. Ewing, a prominent journalist of Missouri, Herbert Earlsiff, a young Englishman, and five Indians. They were all well armed, and it is feared that a desperate encounter has taken place. No particulars could be learned from the Indians who brought the news.

Trying to Bull the Coffee Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—An effort was made by one of the members of the coffee exchange to squeeze the market, but the attempt resulted in a failure. Three or four leading firms in the New York exchange have been attempting to bull the market for September coffee for some time. Unfortunately for them they ran afoul of European bears and big receipts in the cities of Brazil. Coffee began to go down, and in spite of the efforts of the bull clique, it kept going lower yesterday, there being a fair amount of drop from 57 to 56 points. In a week the price of September coffee has gone down a cent a pound, or about $1.33 a bag.

Waiting for the Little Heir.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Ex-President Cleveland and his charming wife have returned to their city residence, 810 Madison avenue, having come from Buzzard's bay on the steam yacht Onondaga, which belongs to Mr. E. C. Benedict, one of the most intimate friends of the Cleveland family. This sudden return to the city is said to be on the advice of the family physicians of the Cleverlands, who were called to Buzzard's bay last week in anticipation of the interesting event which is expected to occur very soon. Society is much surprised, and although only the nearest of Mrs. Cleveland's friends are admitted to her presence, cards and other remembrances from her friends pour in steadily.

Testing Some Heavy Mortars.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, Sept. 24.—Several heavy shell mortars were tried on Sandy Hook to-day, some being over forty tons in weight. The vibration was the heaviest ever felt here, many houses being shaken and no little alarm manifested among the inhabitants. The pilot of a steamer off Sandy Hook said one of the discharges shook the steamer from stem to stern, and the pilot-house had all its windows lowered. The distance from here to the Hook is over three miles, yet the shocks were felt clear down to Red Bank and Locust point.

Arrested for Vagrancy.

SAUKALITO, Sept. 24.—Reddy Gallagher, the well-known pugilist, was yesterday arrested by Constable Creed, on a warrant sworn out by Dr. Crumpton, on a charge of vagrancy. Gallagher was taken before Judge Simpson, but was released on his own recognizance. It appears the people of this burg have become so exasperated at the lawless acts of this class of visitors that they have determined to make it very warm for them in future.

Secretary Blaine at Ellsworth.

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—An Ellsworth (Me.) special says: Secretary Blaine arrived there last evening, having left New York on a wagon out by Dr. Crumpton, on a charge of vagrancy. Gallagher was taken before Judge Simpson, but was released on his own recognizance. It appears the people of this burg have become so exasperated at the lawless acts of this class of visitors that they have determined to make it very warm for them in future.

Stanley Will Resign.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—It is true, as has been frequently stated, that Henry M. Stanley never accepted the governorship of the Congo Free State, but early in the present year he promised to consider the question of taking the position.

Smallpox in Mexico.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Word is received from the City of Campeche, Mexico, that the smallpox is raging there. Over 1000 cases and more than 200 deaths are reported. The people are panic-stricken and the disease is spreading.

Land Surveying.

Do you know that Moore's Revealed Remedy is the only patent medicine in the world that does not contain a drop of alcohol; that the mode of preparing it is known only to its discoverer; that it is an advance in the science of medicine without a parallel in the nineteenth century; that its proprietors offer to forfeit $1,000 for any case of dyspepsia it will not cure?
