In Litigation.

Eugene Journal: The heirs of Col. I. R. Moore, who left so much land near Eugene, are now lawing at great rate over the division of the property. When going to Yaquina Bay early in this month we met Col. Kelsey at Albany returning from Salem where he had been on this business. This week Col. Kelsay, of Corvallis, and P. H. D'Arcy and Joe ... Bingham, of Salem, were in Eugene, wrestling over this business.

An Ancient Document.

Justice Geo. Humphrey showed us yesterday, a patent issued by Andrew Jackson to James Little, for one hundred and sixty acres of land, being the northwest quarter of section thirty-five, township four north range eight west in the territory of Arkansas. It is dated August 7, 1832, and is a venerable document on parchment.

For Better or For Worse.

The fickle god of love is leaving no stones unturned in Linn county. Yesterday the county clerk issued papers for the cementing of hearts to Wm. Bates and Clara M. Crabtree, W. H. Cyrus and Ladonia Stringes and Geo. H. Dodge and Josie Jackson.

THE LEADING WHEAT STATES.

Where Our State Stands in Regard to Raising Cereals.

Wheat is coming in to the warehouses and mills of Albany very slowly, and sales are few. The price paid at this city is 81 cents. Oats are bringing 35 cents per bushels.

GRAIN OF THE NATION.

Although the condition and quantity of grain and other products in the country's crop of 1891 are much better than was expected, Oregon even stands ahead of the general average in corn, wheat, rye, oats, barley, potatoes, apples and and grapes.

This from the advance sheets of the September report of the department of agriculture, which has just reached here, and is authoritative.

THE CONDITION AND QUANTITY.

At the time of harvesting the condition of Oregon wheat is given at 97. California is 98, Washington 93, and we are eight points above Kansas, which is given at 89. Texas is 98, and Illinois is 100. The general average for the entire country is 96.9, so that Oregon is better off than than the average condition of the country.

The report says of wheat that the condition is high, considering both spring and winter varieties, in soils, latitudes and elevation so widely differing. The general average has only been exceeded twice since 1879—in 1882 and 1884. State averages are quite uniform, but ten falling below 95, and three below 90, the lowest being 83 for South Carolina, and 84 for North Carolina.

THE LEADING WHEAT STATES.

The figures for the principal wheat growing states are as follows: Ohio, 98; Michigan, 98; Indiana, 100; Illinois, 100; Wisconsin, 90; Minnesota, 100; Iowa 99; Missouri, 94; Kansas 89; Nebraska, 98; North Dakota, 94; South Dakota, 99; California 98; Oregon 97; and Washington 93. East of the Alleghanies: New York, 99; Pennsylvania, 99; Maryland, 97; and Virginia, 95. In the southwest of Texas, 97.

SPRING WHEAT INJURED.

The report says that the spring wheat of the Pacific coast, has been somewhat injured by "hot and blighting weather." This cannot apply to wheat in the Willamette valley, which has not been damaged at all, and where there is a much greater yield than last year. The Palouse country is where wheat has suffered, and the yield is much smaller than in 1890. Walla Walla is not quite so bad, but the yield and quality is inferior to last year's crop.

The statement in the report probably does not apply to California, where there is the first crop in quality and size that has ever been raised. It will be some 36,000,000 bushels larger than last year.

RYE AND OTHER GRAINS.

Oregon's rye crop is put at 91. The general average condition is 95.1 in the United States. Oats are 99 and the country only 90.7. Barley is 99 and the country only 94.6. Buckwheat is 95 and the country 94.8.

It is not unlikely that the wheat crop in the Northwest, which is some 2,000,000 bushels smaller than last year, will be made up for by the increased yield of barley and rye.

ADVICE TO "MOTHER."

To the Editor of the Herald:

I wish your correspondent "Mother" and all the Christain men and women of Albany would read the eighth chapter of of the gospel according to St. John third to eleventh verses inclusive. If a person has fallen, is it not better to give them a helping hand to lift their feet from miry places and plant them on the rock of Salvation, than by the scandlers tongue drive them still farther from the paths of virtue. FATHER.

J. H. French, of Butter creek, Umatilla county, is the loser of a $225 Hereford cow. The remains of the animal were found in a cabin into which it had been driven and then shot. The door of the cabin was found locked.

The Eastern Oregon Republican very properly asks the establishment of fire limits in the city of Union. The buildings are almost exclusively of wood, and the erection of new ones, in the business portion of the town, should be restricted to brick or stone.

Pendleton burglars are getting very bold. During the temporary absence of Mrs. Hagen, of that city, from her home, a thief or thieves rifled the bureau in a sleeping room, securing a watch and other jewelry of considerable value, amounting possibly to $150.

The people of Astoria are much pleased with the progress being made with the government work at the jetty. They says that the long talked-of bar is no longer there, and that the mouth of the Columbia can take in the largest ship that sails the Pacific.

Mr. J. H. Gray, of Combs Flat, Crook county, finished thrashing last week, and reports flattering results from his harvest. His barley yielded seventy-one bushels per acre, wheat forty-five bushels per and oats forty-two bushels per acre for his etire crop.

George Sealy lost a fine horse on Coos river last week. The animal which was 4 years old and well bred, got its right hind leg caught between some logs, and broke it in two pieces. As there was no chance of saving the horse, it was shot, to put it out of misery.

J. D. Carlos, of Lakeview, lost a good mare by trying to lead her behind a wagon Monday. The mare pulled back, and he gave his wife the lines of a four-horse team to hold, while he went around to whip up the mare. The team turned around, upset the wagon, and broke the mare's neck.

Coos Bay News: Track was laid on the Roseburg & Coos Bay railroad last week from the depot to some distance beyond the draw bridge. This will give the company an opportunity to put on a construction train when the locomotive, which is now due, arrives, and track laying will be resumed with the arrival of the next vessel with rails.

Pendleton parties are preparing to construct an irrigation ditch along the McKay creek region. One of them says that "there is enough water in McKay creek at the Junction of its two forks to irrigate a large body of land. As an irrigation proposition, the prospect offered in this enterprise is is the finest I ever saw. About 30,000 acres of comparatively level land may be covered by the company's canals, and the cost of applying the water will be nominal, such a natural plan is offered for a system of irrigation. Nature had built for the purpose of reservoir a basin containing 127 acres. It is estimated that this entire basin may be filled with water to an average depth of twenty-two feet by a dam fifty feet high. Natural routes for the ditches are also at hand. A fine body of agricultural land south of Pendleton and is tributary to this city. When irrigated its productiveness will be enormous, and the benefit to that city incalculable."

NEW TO-DAY.

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY AGO

There settled in Baker county Oregon, near what is now Baker City, a man who has since become identified with the resources and development of that country. This man is no other than Mr. John Stewart, one of the wealthiest and most influential citizens in the county. In a recent letter he says "I had been suffering from pains in my back and general kidney complaint for some time, and had used many remedies without any but temporary relief. The pains in my back had become so severe that I was prevented from attending to my work and could not move with out the use of a cane. Hearing, through a friend, of the wonderful cures effected by Oregon Kidney Tea, I was induced to try a box, and from that very first dose I found instant relief, and before using half the contents of the box the pains in my back entirely disappeared. I have every faith in the virtues of the Oregon Kidney Tea, and can conscientiously recommend it to my friends. I would not be without it for any thing."

Oregon Kidney Tea cures headache, incontinence of urine, brick dust sediment, burning or painful sensation while urinating, and all affections of the kidney or urinary organs of either sex.
