Mrs. H. M. Goss, mother of Dr. H. A. Leininger of this city, who has been visiting her son in this city for several weeks, started for her home in Genslow, Ill. yesterday. Yesterday afternoon as the autumn winds chased each other up and down the streets and whirled great clouds of dust into doorways and pedestrians faces, everybody asked, "where is the street sprinkler?" It was sadly missed at a time when most needed.

W. C. Davis, of this city, has purchased twenty-six acres of choice fruit land in the Santiam bottom, near the Oregon Pacific railroad, of John K. Bailey, paying for the same $50 per acre. Mr. Davis expects to have one of the finest peach orchards in the state in a few years.

Silver salmon are very plentiful at present in the bay. HARVEST IS OVER

How the Crops of Oregon Have Yielded—Linn County Cereals.

Following is Crop-Weather Bulletin, No. 29. For the week Saturday, September, 26th, 1891. In Western Oregon harvesting of cereals is over. There are a few small amounts of wheat and oats to thresh. There was no appreciable damage done by the rains. The buckwheat crops of Clackamas county is very good, small portions of it were damaged by rain. Hops are about all baled. Experiments show that sugar beets and sorghum do very well in Washington county. The rains softened the earth sufficient to allow of plowing in many counties. In portions of Linn county the corn is not ripening well. In Douglas county the wheat was not over an average in quantity, per acre and quality, oats are however above the average. In Jackson county grapes are ripening and wine making will begin next week. In Curry county a 200-acre field of barley, oats and wheat averaged 50.51 and 35 bushels per acre respectively. Reports indicate that every one is well satisfied with the result of the harvest.

In Eastern Oregon harvesting and thrashing is generally over except in Union, Wallowa and Baker counties, where thrashing is being finished up. Crops have been severely damaged from climatic conditions, as is the rule. Large yields are reported from every county, varying from 10 to 60 bushels per acre in some localities to 30 and 40 bushels per acre in others. In Union county for example, the field 600 acres averaged a fraction over 40 bushels per acre. The corn in Umatilla county is unusually good. The fruit along the Snake river was never so good and plentiful, in Wasco, Umatilla and Union counties, the orchards are filled with fruit, and the smaller orchards of the other counties have done remarkably well. The harvest has been one of plenty, and the quality of cereals and fruit a good average.

TO THE LADIES.

On Thursday and Friday, Oct. 1st and 2d, the Ladies Bazaar will have their grand opening of fall and winter millinery. All are most cordially invited to be present. Mrs. H. J. Sower.

A Domestic Fiend at Eugene.

An Eugene dispatch states that Saturday evening a climax was reached in an old and aggravated feud between T. E. Russell and the Gray family, which is the result of the divorce granted Russell's wife, who is the daughter of J. G. Gray, J. C. Gray, a brother of Russell's divorced wife, is now living in a critical condition with his skull crushed by a blow from Russell with a bar of iron. It seems the court in granting the divorce gave to the woman the two children and has since forbidden Russell from calling on the child. Russell, however, has a strong affection for the children, and has tried to be with them as much as possible. Saturday evening, as J. C. Gray was walking up the street with the little boy, he met Russell, who stopped and aimed the bar of iron, and was landing him when Gray told him to desist. Gray is a cripple and walks with a cane, and when Russell did not desist he struck him with the cane. A lively fight ensued, in which Russell struck Gray on the head with a bar of iron which he procured at a foundry near by, crushing the skull and inflicting a dangerous wound. Russell also was considerably hurt, but not seriously. He is now in jail without the privilege of bail on a charge of assault with intent to kill. This is the culmination of a protracted row over children. Russell will be held until the result of Gray's injuries is known.

The Pesky Peddler.

Once upon a May morn dreary she was working weak and weary; down upon her mazy moping; moping up the kitchen floor while the mop went flipping flapping suddenly she heard a tapping-tapping at the kitchen door. "This some visitor," she muttered, "tapping at the kitchen door; gracious Peter, what a bore!" Up she jumped and nearly swearing, hastily began preparing to appear as woman wish to when their callers look them o'er, yanked her apron off and slung it, snatched her head ar off and hung it, grabbed a demjan up and hung it o'er the greasy gown she wore. Then she found a plague peddler standing at the door—nothing more.

Stricken With Paralysis.

Mr. Ephraim Turner, one of the pioneer residents of Linn county, was stricken with paralysis at his home near this city on Sunday. The entire right side is paralyzed and he has remained unconscious since that time. He had returned a few days previous from a trip to the mountains with his son and George Hughes, and had been feeling in usual health. Dr. Wallace of this city has been attending him since he was taken, but it is feared that medical skill will not be able to effect his recovery.

En Route to Kansas.

Mr. J. H. Brownwell and son, J. G. Brownwell, came down from Gates, on the Oregon Pacific, yesterday on their way to Kansas, the home of the former, where he is a wealthy farmer. His son has been here for two years and was one of the workmen who took the Hennessey saw mill to get their wages out of it. He was taken ill with typhoid pneumonia and a telegram brought his father to him, and he has just recovered enough to travel.

FROM LEBANON.

Newsp Notes from this Thriving Town Across the Prairie.

LEBANON, Sept. 28, 1891. Work on the new bank building is progressing rapidly. Wilson & West are running a steam wood saw in town. There has been considerable improvement in Lebanon the last few years; still there is room for more.

Grass is growing finely throughout the country. There is some fall grain being sown on summer fallow, and such as came under my observation seems to have been put in good shape. The farmers generally are feeling quite jubilant over the good prices being realized for their grain, and I predict a larger acreage for the coming season than there was the past.

Hay baling is about finished in some parts of the country. W. K. Tomple's baler has made a successful run of nearly two months, with some more to do yet.

Born, to the wife of Willis Barwell, a son; weight, 10 pounds. Mother and child doing well, and by the use of plenty of catnip tea and a couple of strengthening plasters, it is thought the father may recover.

Mr. Ed. Nichols intends moving hence in the near future. He will make Illinois his future home. Miss Alice and Mr. Hayes people are attending school at Monmouth.

During the recent rains lightning struck a pear tree in the Burkhardt orchard, near Peterson's, knocking off several pears, but owing to the near proximity of one of the new fangled steam dryers, it did no further damage.

A few gallons of paint properly applied would add fifty per cent. to the beauty of Lebanon. Mrs. Edna Nichols has been quite ill for some time. Malgia Aerehart intends leaving Rock Hill in the near future. Lodi.

A Poor Fish Ladder.

Notwithstanding all the work and fuss about the construction of the fish ladder at Brown's Mill on the eastward line of the Oregon Pacific railroad, it is not in working order, and no water runs through it. The dam is now being built higher, to cause a flow of water. The fish commissioners should see to it that it is completed so as to be successfully operated. At present large numbers of fine salmon and trout are to be seen in the Santiam below the dam, but they can ascend the river no further.

At the Menagerie.

"I think there's a storm Bruin," said the Fox. "Stop your Lion," said the Bear. "Well, I'm not a Fox, I'm a crawler," said the Lion. "Then they gave three cheers and a Tiger and passed the crowler."

TAXING BACHELORS.

What Has Been Done in Wyoming Might be Done Elsewhere. The Wyoming legislature has passed a law taxing bachelors $2 a year. Whether the fact that women vote there has anything to do with this new departure I don't know, but why isn't it a just tax? Society says to a woman: "It's your business to be married as soon as you have made your debut as possible. Otherwise you'll be called an old maid, than which there can be no epithet more odious. But you can't choose a husband. That would be most unwomanly. You must wait to be asked."

The result is that the average woman takes what offers—not what she wants—rather than risk her chance on the future, and men stalk about literally the lords of creation. Well if these lords don't choose to take upon themselves the responsibilities of matrimony, why should they not pay a penalty? Just so long as women are taunted for single blessedness, just so long ought unmarried men to be taxed. This tax should begin at the age of 30, and be doubled every five years unless a bachelor proves that he has been crossed in love or is true to some sainted Maria whose memory is dearer to him than the smiles of sirens still alive.

Poverty, perhaps, might be an extenuation of the offense in this case it would be well to make the bachelor work out his tax in some way useful to the state, while the victims of blighted affection could be utilized in charity organizations.

The more I think this matter over the more righteous I think the tax. If rigidly enforced, it might relieve the embargo on women. When the sexes stand on equal ground it will be in order to tax both bachelors and old maids.—Kate Field.

Of a young lady who was buried in Baker City the other day, the Morning Democrat of that burg declares that she "was as pure as the snow that in winter time fell upon the tear wet mound, gentle as the soft breathing breeze that steals across it, scarcely bending the grass blades, fair and sweet as the summer blossoms of the rarest and most fragrant flowers planted there by hands tremulous with a great love and a great grief, chaste as the pale glow of night, bright as the stars that make the heavens glorious, even as she did the world around her."

If you suffer pricking pains or moving the eyes, or cannot bear bright light, and find your sight weak and falling, you should promptly use Dr. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve. 25 cents a box.

NEW TO-DAY.

THE QUARTER OF A CENTURY AGO. There is a new quarter of a century ago, near what is called the corner of the city, where a man who has since died, and whose name is now a Baker City, was one of the most influential citizens in the county. In a recent letter he says he had been suffering from pain in his back and neck, which continued for some time, and had used many remedies without any but temporary relief. The pain in his back had become so severe that he was prevented from attending to his work and could not go to work without the use of a cane. Hearing through a friend, of the wonderful cures of Oregon Kidney Tea, I was induced to try a box, and from that very first dose I found instant relief, and before using half the contents of the box the pain in my back was completely cured. I have every day the virtues of the Oregon Kidney Tea, and can conscientiously recommend it to my friends. I would not be without it for anything. Oregon Kidney Tea cures headache, iron tines, dizziness, back and chest pains, burning or painful sensation while urinating, and all ailments of the kidney or urinary organs of either sex.
