I am an old man and have been a constant sufferer with catarrh for the last ten years. I am entirely cured by the use of Ely's Cream Balm. It is strange that so simple a remedy will cure such a stubborn disease—Henry Billings, U. S. Pension Agent, Washington, D. C.
For eight years I have suffered from catarrh, which effected my eyes and hearing; have employed many physicians without relief. I am now on my second bottle of Ely's Cream Balm, and feel confident of a complete cure.—Mary C. Thompson, Corro Gordo, Ill.

Union, Or., Oct. 5.—The people of this city are dumfounded at the news of the death of Mrs. J. C. Summers, a prominent and well-known lady merchant of Union. Her body was found at about 6 o'clock this morning, lying face down, with her hands tied behind her back in a ditch, gushing water on her feet. Life was extinct. Whether it is murder or suicide is yet a matter of doubt. A jury has been impaneled, and a coroner's inquest is now being held.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 5.—John H. Barton, an American, who for the past two years has been engaged in mining business near Metzilian, situated in the state of Hidalgo, Mexico, arrived today. He brings information of a bloody Indian outbreak which occurred some time ago in progress in the district of Tulancingo in that state. The trouble is the outgrowth of a dispute between several colonies of Spaniards, Germans and Indians, new settlers now attempting to settle on the lands of the natives. Parson says that a few days before his departure a settlement of whites was attacked by Indians and nearly 200 persons were massacred, including men, women and children. The colonists have appealed to the government for protection and several battalions of troops are on the way to the scene of the trouble.

IN DEEP TROUBLE.
GLOBE TROTTER TRAIN GOT MAD AND SWORE.
FRISKY COLLEGE STUDENTS DISTURB HIS LECTURE—HE KNOCKED ONE MAN DOWN—AN EXCITING SCENE.
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—A remarkable Sunday evening meeting was held by George Francis Train in the hall of the Grand opera house last evening. The hall was crowded. Many prominent men were present. On the right of the stage were also fifty young students of Columbia college, the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Xavier college and members of the Camerica Club. They had come with the professed intention of disturbing the meeting, and they succeeded. Mr. Train was tendered an ovation upon entering the hall, and the oration continued until he left at the close of the meeting. Whenever he attempted to speak the applause became deafening and he invariably took a seat until some semblance of order was restored. At times he became profane in his remarks about the disturbers, which only increased their shouts of derision. At last he gave in, and stopped his lecture.

SUSPECTED OF MURDER.
A Tramp Accused of a Grave Crime in a West Virginia Town.
PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 5.—A tramp named William Downey was arrested last night for the murder of Mrs. Henry Covert and her son Jopling the burning of the bodies and of the victims' home, and the robbery of $1000 in gold and the robbery of the tragedy was in Raleigh county. The family was a thrifty one and lived in a solitary place. Mrs. Covert had a grating for gold, and turned all she saved into it. For years she had been hearing her savings at her home, and had accumulated about $1000. The charred remains of herself and son were found by a passer-by, who, on Saturday morning, saw the smoking tubers of what was once their home. The community is much excited and would lynch the tramp if any evidence against him was stronger.

A ROYAL SCANDAL.
The Princess of Wales' Son and a Dead Actress the Cause.
LONDON, Oct. 5.—Newspapers here denounce the coroner for keeping secret the depositions taken at the inquest as to the cause of the death of Lydia Miller, or Mantou, the actress, who committed suicide last week. Considerable interest is being taken in the case. At the inquest Saturday, Lord Charles Montague, brother of the Duke of Manchester, testified to having been on very intimate terms with the deceased. Since the inquest, mysterious allusions have been made in the newspapers to a certain high personage, understood to be Prince Albert Victor, eldest son of the King of Wales, who is also said to have had intimate relations with the dead girl.

A Bad Editor.
There are not very many in-ects on W. C. Gilstrap, editor of the Oakesdale, Wash., Sun and deacon in the Cumberland Presbyterian church of that town, who is well known in the choir, who is wanted by the sheriff there on six different charges of seduction, three complainants being married women and three young women of the city. It was thought if caught the law would not be given an opportunity to take its course. It is a pretty sure thing that when an editor gets mixed up with church business he is going to take a grand and lofty tumble. The temptation is altogether too great to resist. Even Henry Ward Beecher didn't make a success of the combination. Editors should not monkey around the pulpit.

Drawn on an Envelope.
One of the finest yards in the country for the rapid handling of trains is the Pittsburg and Lake Erie yard at Charters," said a Youngton railway official yesterday to a Post correspondent. "and it was laid out, or the rough drawing of it, on an envelope. President Newell and Superintendent Holbrook, now of the Baltimore & Ohio, were at Charters one day looking over the territory for a yard. Drawing an envelope from his pocket, Superintendent Holbrook made a few lines on it, and, turning to President Newell, said it was laid out in the manner indicated, it would secure most efficient service. The veteran railroad president was quick to see the value of the lines drawn, and promptly said: "Lay it out in that way." The result is a yard that is unexcelled for traffic purposes."

Made Him Remember.
On several occasions her husband had carried about him in his pockets for some days important letters which she had asked him to mail for her, saw the Philadelphia Times. Recently she gave him a letter addressed to himself, with the request not to read it until he reached his office. Although this struck him as a very strange proceeding, he nevertheless concluded to comply with her wish. Arriving at his place of business, he opened the letter and read as follows:
My Dear Husband: I must hereby inform you of a circumstance which will prove to be very disagreeable to you, but it is my bounden duty to tell you of it. I have once for all determined to bring this matter to your notice, let the consequences be what they may. For a week past I have foreseen that this must be done, but I have thus far restrained. The supreme moment has at last arrived, and the crisis is at hand. I am compelled to speak out. Do not judge me too severely, and bear up like a man.
By the time he had read this letter he stood on all fours with horror, and with a trembling hand he turned the leaf and read on:
We are completely out of soap! Please go at once to your grocer and order a box of ——— soap and have it sent home in the course of the afternoon. I also want a dozen of ——— 5-cent packages of starch. I have adopted this mode of asking you to do me this favor, so that you may not forget it!
Nor did he forget it!
