The harvest of the Willamette valley's prune crop for 1891 is just about finished, and from carefully prepared estimates it is judged to to be perceptibly larger than last year's crop. Many new orchards bearing this year for the first time, and their product added to the average crop in the old orchards, brings the total out-put up to quite a handsome figure. The growing of prunes in Oregon is a success, and their cultivation may be expected to increase from year to year for many years. Linn county has many acres of fine prune land. Oregon Prunes command good prices everywhere, and they have thus far proven themselves a sure crop. Next year there will be five times as many pounds raised as there was this year.

The Albany Firemen.

Concerning the Albany firemen at Victoria the Times of that city says: Albany's hose team is composed of as fine a lot of boys as one could meet. They are not "kickers," and accept the judges decisions with grace. Their names are W. H. Warner, W. Reese, C. W. Watts, J. J. Du Bruille, L. A. Allen, Jas. Murry, Frank Gernnell, James Spencer, H. Squires, H. Lague, J. E. Delgier, N. Jordan, A. L. Lamb, A. Renny, M. Willams, Chas Meadin, A. Sternburg, C. W. Grubbs, H. S. Craynor, Robt. Hartin. Concerning the speed race the paper also says: Albany's fire fighters were then called to the scratch. The friends of this team were almost sure that the time of the Astorias would be broken, and the appearence of the men indicated that the confidence would not be misplaced. They got away to a splendid start as the ball dropped, and made cyclonic time to within 30 feet of the line, when Sternberg fell and was dragged under the reel, which passed the mark in the official time of 28 to 4-5 seconds. Had it not been for this accident Albany would have made it warm work for Astoria.

Noted Indians.

Capt. J. W. Crawford, of Salem, Indian agent at Umatilla reservation, has some Indians on exhibition at the Portland exposition. Three Indian chiefs arrived to take part in the programme of "Pioneer Day." They are Joseph, of the Nez Perces; Moses who is considered the statesman of of the Northern tribes, and is at the head of the largest Indian reservations; and Lot chief of the Spokanes. On Friday they were joined by some fourteen Umatillas; these latter executed that evening war and ghost dances were given in the music hall. The different dances were given in full costume, and in view of the fact that the Umatillas are noted for the gorgeousness of their apparel, the spectacle was witnessed with great interest.

Removal Notice.

W. R. Graham has removed his tailoring establishment to new commodious quarters on First street, opposite the Farmers & Merchants Insurance office. He has a fine line of cloths for winter suiting overcoats and garments for men and youth, which his skillful tailors will make up on short notice in neat and fashinable styles. His prices will be found most reasonable.

Paid His Fine.

Bad blood has recently existed between Gibson Meyers and a young man named Vaughn at Lyons. The former was arrested Saturday on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and was fined $10. He came to this city yesterday in company with Constable Berry of that place and paid his fine.

In Recorder Henton's Court.

A tin horn gambler named Wallpole, who is well a quainted with the police of Albany, has returned from Portland. He got into an altercation yesterday with Frank Marshall and was knocked out into the street by the latter. He swore out a complaint against Marshall, who paid his fine to Recorder Henton.

An Overturned Buggy.

W. Ross and Frank Blodgett were returning from Corvallis Sunday, when their horse became freightened at a skunk in the road and ran off of a grade in the road. The buggy was broken to pieces, but the young men were not seriously hurt.

NEWS OF THE COAST.

Interesting Items from Exchanges Throughout the Northwest.

T. P. Lee is shipping the last of his melons this week, making 36 car loads in all this season.—Grants Pass Courier.

Fishing parties to Rogue river are quite frequent now and judging from the large number of dead fish to be seen in the river giant powder is extensively used for bait. The fish commissoner could make himself quite popular here with the masses if he would prosecute the parties who use giant powder. A conviction would be easy as the citizens along the river are opposed to it. In a few years Rogue river will lose the reputation of being a good stream for fish unless this nefarious practice is stopped.—Central Point Enterprise.

Salmon are taken with the hook and line quite frequently off the mouth of the Columbia river and just inside, and the tug boat men have been enjoying rare sport for the past two weeks. A twenty-pound salmon in the full enjoyment of all his faculties, can make more fun on the end of a line than anything that wears fins and scales. Crouper and rock cod are found in considerable numbers when the tug boat men have time to look for them.

Wonderful Electrical Discovery.

On Friday night two dynamos belonging to the Crouch-Houston Electrical Manufacturing Co., of Eugene, Oregon were placed on exhibition at the Portland Exposition. The effect on the vast crowd assembled on both Friday and Saturday night on seeing bare, exposed electric wires in close connection and short circuit, handled with impunity, trodden on, exposed to the bear flesh, was something electrical. It seemed almost incredible, yet the hard fact remained that it was left for an Oregonian to discover what all else had failed. Experts and others gathered about this wonderful machine and handled the uninsulated wires, but all efforts to produce a shock were unavailing. Beside the act that danger is altogether obviated by this new and wonderful system of electricity, it has an economic feature which cannot be overlooked or estimated. On other systems where high tension light is generated, the expensive resisting coil is imperative, but on the Crouch-Houston system this large item of expense is altogether done away with; again, as all wire on this new system is bare, a large sum of money can be yearly saved by non-insulation.

Belshazzar.

At the opening rehersal of Belshazzar last Friday night thirty-two were present and the enthusiasm and earnest vim that was manifested is highly encourageing and already success is assured. To-night promptly at 7:30 the Metronome will begin to measure time, and at this meeting we have every reason to believe that our number will be greatly increased. Amater singers will find that the drill in a cantata of so high a degree is very beneficial and they will do well to avail themselves of such an excellent opportunity. All singers are welcome to this feast of song. Please let us all remember that the time of those who instruct is valuable and that promptness is the road to success, and be on time. Remember the place of meeting. Prof. E. G. Lorillard's residence, Fifth street between Jefferson and Railroad.

Lady Dixie on Dress Reform.

Perhaps, just now, when so much is being said about dress reform, it may be interesting to recall Lady Florence Dixie's idea of an ideal walking costume for women. A few years ago she began a vigorous crusade against the long skirt. "The bugbear skirt," she calls it, "hampering to the limbs, the sponse of mud and dirt." She does not want women to adopt the garb of men, because it is so ugly. She says: "I unhesitatingly delare that the day is fast approaching when the hideous and senseless long skirt will die a natural death. I am not an advocate of trousers for women, for I think trousers are hiedous at any time." But what she does advocate very strongly and earnestly is the general adoption for street wear of a costume similiar to that which she puts on when in Scotland. It consists of a flannel skirt' knickerbockers, a short kilt skirt and loose jacket, a style of dress and not all strange or novel, except in its adaptation to general wear. And it is the lack of startling originality in the idea that is one of its chief recommendations. For it is the oddness and unusualness of most of the proposed reform garments that cause their condemnation without trial and almost at sight. Very few women, however much they may rebel in secret against the tyranny of their present style of dress, care to make guys or spectacles of themselves by donning outlandish costumes that have only a promised, and rather dubious, possibility of superior comfort to recommend them.

Harris Left Town.

A fellow named Harris, who had separated from his wife, a step-daughter of W. S. John, made a second attempt Saturday night to kidnap their children, which were in the custody of their mother at the residence of F. A. Burkhart. The police interferred and Harris was ordered to leave town, which he promptly did.

Sunday afternoon while drying fruit in a Curran dryer at the farm of W. J. Obermeyer, near Tangent, the dryer caught fire and burned to the ground. It was only by hard work that the barn near by was saved.

The Grismer-Davies Company.

The sale of reserved seats was opened yesterday at Will & Link's music store for the engagement of the Pacific Coast favorites Joseph, R. Grismer and his charming wife Miss Phoebe Davies, supported by their powerful company, which will occur next Friday night at the Albany opera house, presenting for the first time here the picturesque military drama "Beacon Lights," of which the following is found in the San Francisco Post Mr. Grismer produced last night at the Alcazar a melodrama new to us, Beacon Lights, which was originally written by DeWitt Young and revised and altered by the actor himself. It is a drama that deals with military life in Mexico and it affords a chance for effective costumes and stage pictures, and all of which are excellently attended to in this production. It has many and strong merits. It is more resaonable than most pieces of its kind. The scenes are well worked up and the writing of the play is terse and to the point. The hand of the actor is noticeable in it, in the arrangement of incidents and the developments of situations. The story is new and few of the characters have been found in other plays. Grismer has every prospect of making money with it, and he and Phoebe Davies have both excellent parts. Mr. Grismer plays Captain Allen, a soldier of the kind he can best play, and Miss Davies makes a great deal out of Carrie Calhoun a part exactly suited to the peculiar vein of comedy which she possesses, first shown in her splendid protrayal of Chispa, and afterward of Rosa Leigh in Rosedale.

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY AGO

There settled in Baker county, Oregon, near what is now Baker City, a man who has since become identified with the resources and development of that country. This man is no other than Mr. John Stewart, one of the wealthiest and most influential citizens in the county. In a recent letter he says: "I had been suffering from pains in my back and general kidney complaint for some time, and had used many remedies without any but temporary relief. The pains in my back had become so severe that I was prevented from attending to my work and could not move without the use of a cane. Hearing through a friend, of the wonderful cures effect by Oregon Kidney Tea, I was induced to try a box, and from that very first dose I found instant relief, and before using half the contents of the box the pains in my back entirely disappeared. I have every faith in the virtues of the Oregon Kidney Tea, and can conscientiously recommend it to my friends. I would not be without it for anything."

Oregon Kidney Tea cures headache, incontinence of urine, brick dust sediment, burning or painful sensation while urinating, and all affections of the kidney or urinary organs of either sex.
