AN INTERESTING SIGHT.

The Fellish Waters of the Willamette Brought by a Herd of Cattle.

A party of Eastern Oregon stockmen, who have been buying cattle in Benton county, came to the river, here, yesterday, with a herd of 350 head of cattle, on way to east of the mountains. As the ferrying not only was an expense but also a consumer of valuable time, the owners concluded to make the cattle do their own ferrying, and drove them into the river opposite the mouth of the Galapago. The way these sturdy bovines plashed the water and beasted the waves, is reported by those who saw the sight, to have been magnificent. They were crossed over without an accident and passed on with unhindered.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

CORVALLIS GRANGE HALL, Oct. 11. 1891.—Linn Co., Business Council P. of H. met in regular session with Mr. J. Bryant in the chair. The roll being called, a quorum was found present. The council proceeded with the usual course of business. The minutes of the last session of the council read by the secy, and stood approved. In the absence of the agent of the council there was no report of the financial proceeding of the patrons in this part of the jurisdiction. Before adjourning for dinner, Prof. French requested the council as a body to visit the Agriculture College buildings farm, etc. The patrons in this part of Benton county, asked of the council for a subsidy to be located at Corvallis, which was granted with the approval of the council agent, Mr. M. Miller, of Albany. Considerable talk was indulged in by different members in explanation of the workings of the Linn County Business Council, Dr. Cooper, Messrs. F. Jackson, Dawson, Scott and others. Dinner being announced the president declared a recess for that purpose, which all partook of heartily, interspersed with a good deal of talk. Immediately after lunch headed by E. G. French and E. G. French, the council as a body started for the Agriculture College farm. On arriving at the building all were shown through the different rooms and the manner of conducting said institution, throughout was explained. The greenhouse was gone through also to the dormitory, farm, site, building, etc., and their different uses explained in a hurried manner as the evening advanced many persons in attendance who had never been at the Oregon Agricultural College. Taken around by the visitors in examining the facilities, buildings, stock, etc., an hour was spent in regret the time spent. My only complaint was that our time was too short to make anything of a thorough examination. After two hours time spent we returned to the council hall and resumed business. The next meeting of the council, will be held with Grand Framer, No. 10, Linn county Oregon, on the first Saturday, in Nov., 1891. A vote of thanks was tendered by the council to Corvallis grange for the use of their hall, to the ladies for the report furnished, and to the professors of the college for the interest shown in the council. No other business of importance appearing before the council, all seeming to have enjoyed themselves in the days work done, the council adjourned. Con.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Directors of the Farmers' Savings bank of Weston, met Tuesday evening and elected the following officers: Robert Jameson, president; G. W. Postel, vice-president; J. D. Israel, secretary. The bank will begin business as soon as possible, probably within two weeks. A band of 300 head of beef cattle bought by Hanley Bros., in Klamath county was driven over the mountains last week by the way of the Lake of the Woods and Fish Lake, and arrived in the valley in good condition. The Fish Lake route is something new and a pair of it pretty rough for a cattle drive. S. A. Carlton, of Jackson county had a costly experience with the hot October sun last week. In driving a bunch of 120 fat hogs from this place near Brownsboro across the "desert," to Central Point for shipment by rail to Portland, he lost twenty-five head, valued at about $2000. It was an exceptionally hot day, and the fat hogs, overcome by the heat, lay down and died. Wednesday morning Mrs. C. Hoffman, aged 73, a pioneer lady of Jacksonville, Or., went out to her poultry yard and found a large coyote inside the chicken house. She promptly closed the door and called her son-in-law, David Lynn, who shot the brute. It was afterwards skinned, and the $200 bounty claimed in the name of the owner, a well known lady who captured the animal.

Seventy-five pound codfish are being caught off Point Angeles, Wash. All over the state of Washington people are protesting against the high rating of property on the assessment rolls. In Seattle, lots worth $500 are assessed at $300. Pleasant that's nothing. Homes are going up as if by magic in the burned district of the hills, and in a few months this desolate portion of the city will be pretty well covered with buildings. The Boise Statesman tells of apples recently sold in that city weighing from one to one and a quarter pound each. In addition to their size they were of excellent flavor and perfectly free from blight.
