A NATIONAL EVENT.

The holding of the World's Fair in a city scarcely fifty years old will be a remarkable event, but whether it will realty benefit this nation as much as the discovery of the Restorative Nervine by Dr. Franklyn Miles is doubtful. This is just what the American people need to cure their excessive nervousness, dyspepsia, headache, dizziness, sleeplessness, neuralgia, nervous debility, dullness, confusion of mind, etc. It acts like a charm. SPECULATION DANGEROUS.

Scarcely a day passes without the news of some large failure flashing over the wires—the usual result of speculation in stocks or some equally dangerous venture. The same electric current carries to dear distant friend the sad tidings of death of loved ones—too often the result of speculation in patent nostrums. Moore's Revealed Remedy is no speculation but is sold on positive guarantee. Do not fail to go to your druggist and ask for your money if not satisfied. We known you will go and buy another bottle. For sale by all druggists.

A Newspaper Man Killed While Drunk in Portland.

NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL.

Salem's Board of Trade to Be Reorganized—Another Report From Superintendent Rowland, of the Asylum.

PORTLAND, Oct. 19.—N. S. Groves, well known to newspaper men in this city, was found dead this morning. Shortly after 6:30 his body was discovered lying on the logs at the end of one of the docks belonging to the Willamette Steam Mill Lumbering and Manufacturing Company. Though not recognized at first, a card in his pocket showed that he was N. S. Groves, advertising solicitor for the Oregon Express and Alliance Farmer, published by D. C. Ireland in East Portland.

It is supposed Mr. Groves wandered down the path in an intoxicated condition, and, becoming dazed when he found himself at the edge of the wharf, lost his balance and pitched headforemost down on the logs below.

The dead man was subject to spells of extreme melancholy, and at such times drank to excess. He had been suffering from one of those spells recently.

A party of Indians camped in the main street of Orting the other day, and there, unnoticed by the passers-by, a little babe was born. To the white people who passed and repassed a dozen times during the day, there did not seem to be any excitement or anything unusual going on, and when the train came along that evening the mother, with her new-born babe slung in a shawl, was able to clamber into a box-car unaided.

The West Side narrow gauge lines are being gradually transformed into standard gauge railroad. All the new ties that have been put in since the Southern Pacific bought the road have been standard gauge ties, and now all the new bridges and fills are being made standard gauges.

Recently the telegraph lines along the narrow gauges again passed into the hands of the Western Union, and it seems they are there for good this time as the company is just now spending a good deal of money in rebuilding the lines in a substantial manner. The force is now at work near Whiteson.

One of Lowell's Anecdotes.

Lowell, like Abraham Lincoln, was fond of hinting in a pungent anecdote doubts or disapprovals he did not care for the moment to expressout right. Thus when the elective system began to be a burning question at Harvard, and extremists were inclined to preach an absolute freedom of choice in undergraduate studies Lowell was asked at a Phi Beta Kappa dinner for his opinion on the question "Well," he said, with a twinkle in his eye. "I have been thinking that the faculty might meet with the same difficulty that an old landlord whom I knew, once did. He had a great many original gastronomic theories, and confided to me once his conviction that ordinary ducks could be made to attain precisely the same flavor as canvas-backed ducks by feeding them largely on celery seed. I asked him why he did not try the experiment, and he replied mournfully that he had often endeavored to, but, said he, 'the trouble is the blamed things won't eat the seed!'"—Boston Transcript.

They had been fighting for some time when the attention of a policeman was attracted by the noise He forced an entrance and found both men in a terrible condition They were cut and both covered with blood, which was flowing from many cuts. A STARTLING REPORT

Positively Stated That Balmaceda Is Not Dead.

SAID TO BE HIDING IN THE EAST

News East of the Rockies—The Farmers Alliance Is Going to Pieces—The Poet Whittier Seriously Ill.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 19.—Dr. Francis Rivers and Signor Carlos del Rio, late of the military staff of President Balmaceda, Chili, arrived here yesterday en route for New York. They had with them Louis Bloch, of California, as interpreter. Through him they said that Balmaceda was not dead, all reports of suicide to the contrary notwithstanding, and that they expected to meet him either in New York or in Europe.

ANOTHER STORM RAGING.

The Worst Ever Known on the English Coast—Much Damage Done

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—A dispatch from Bermuda to the signal officer in this city announces a severe cyclone storm, dangerous to shipping, is raging at Bermuda.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The hurricane which prevailed on the west coast of Ireland for several days past is pronounced to be the worst storm known in that part of the country in twenty years. The river Shannon overflowed its banks and submerged large quantities of land in its vicinity, drowning a considerable number of cattle and sheep, and destroying several houses and many farms, and other buildings.

THE FARMER'S ALLIANCE.

The Organization Is Fast Going to Pieces.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 19.—Ex-United States Senator Wade Hampton, who is visiting here, in an interview, says the farmers' alliance is rapidly disintegrating in the South and that within the next four years it will entirely disappear. The people, he says, are rapidly awakening to the absurdity of the demands the organization has promulgated.

John G. Whittier Seriously Ill.

AMESBURG, Mass., Oct. 19.—John Greenleaf Whittier, the famous Quaker poet, is so ill that even his closest friends were debarred from seeing him yesterday, on the order of his physicians. Mr. Whittier has been ill for a long time, but was recovering. On Wednesday he walked out of doors for the first time in many weeks. He caught a severe cold which settled on his lungs, and he is again confined to his room.

Assessments and Taxation!

The Oregonian says "the subject of the Oregon tax and assessment laws is again being taken up by the newspapers, but in the light of experience with past legislatures it seems a hopeless task to try to remedy the evil. By the showing of the various county assessors it is clear that property is assessed at less than half its value. This does not, of course, cut any figure in the amount of taxes each individual must pay, but only in the rate of levy, which makes a bad showing to a stranger who expects to pay on his entire property and avoids locating in a place where the tax rate is high. But it is also clear that a large proportion of real and personal property in the state, many people say one-half—although that is a radical view—escapes assessment altogether, which not only increases the rate of taxation but also the burden of those who are honest enough to pay their taxes. It is always those who have the most property who are most successful in escaping taxes, while a man with only a few hundred or a few thousand dollars in property pays a great deal more than his just proportion toward the general expense of the state and county. The Eugene Register's view, that the main trouble can be remedied by the assessors themselves, is quite correct and, indeed, if these men would do their sworn duty faithfully and without fear, there would be little need of any change in the present laws." The trouble with the legislative work upon this subject is that the legislature has always incorporated to much in the bills. If single subjects ot amendment were made the object of one bill, it could be passed and become a law, but the rule of action has always been to consolidate the several points of desired amendment into one general bill, which always causes enough objectors to spring up to defeat the the whole thing. Experience should cause our legislature to improve on past methods, and do better in the future.

Gillhooley—What a wonderful thing the electric light is.

Gus de Smith—Yes, it is wonderful. I expect after while it will be used to make the crops grow, instead of the sun.

"There are crops now that thrive by electric light,"

"Nonsense"

"No nonsense about it. There are lots of young men in New York who sow most of their wild oats by the electric light."—Texas Siftings.

Sorry she Spoke.

Mrs. Bumpus—Will you let me love and pet you, and you won't think like those men that read the funny papers, think it is because I want a new dress or something of that sort?

Bumpus—Yes, and to show you I won't think its for dress, we will make it a point when you love and pet me that dress or anything of that sort shall never be mentioned.—Brooklyn Citizen

An Illusion Removed.

Fangle (to Crinkly. Yale-yard, '93)—By the way, I saw a man from your college at a summer resort. He was carrying everything before him.

THE OREGON PACIFIC

THE BONDHOLDERS TRYING TO REORGANIZE.

A Committee Appointed to Prepare a Plan—They Want to Oust Receiver Hogg.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—A meeting of bondholders of the Oregon Pacific was held in the Farmers' Loan and Trust building, and after adjournment there were exciting rumors of a row. The meeting was largely attended, fourteen millions of the fifteen millions of outstanding bonds being represented. The venerable John I. Blair, of New Jersey, one of the largest bondholders, was present, and the story that rumor circulated was that a violent altercation had occurred between Mr. Blair and Egerton Hogg receiver and president of the road.

Investigation, however, showed that the altercation was purely imaginary. President Hogg did not attend the meeting, being at present in Oregon. Doubtless had Mr. Hogg been present when the bondholders were expressing their opinions of him there would have been an altercation. His financial methods were bitterly criticised, and hopes were expressed that means would be found to take the road out of his hands. The road when completed will be 600 miles long. Only 140 miles have been built, and yet the entire $15,000,000 of bonds, the maximum limit on 600 miles, have been issued. The question of reorganizing the company was discussed ane a committee was appointed to prepare a plan.

THE REV. SAM SMALL.

Arrested for Swindling a Friend Out of $1000.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—The Rev. Sam Small was arrested in this city on a charge of obtaining $1000 by false pretense, made by the Rev. H. N. Monroe, an Episcopalian clergyman at Newton, Lower Falls. Mr. Small has been stumping this state for the past few weeks in the interest of the prohibition ticket. Secretary Merden, of the prohibitory state committee, went bail for him, and he has been stumping the state ever since. The case was brought in the civil court to avoid the scandal that a criminal case might bring to the cause of prohibition. It is said that the transaction which resulted in the arrest of Mr. Small was agreed upon in August, 1860, when Mr. Small was president of Olden university. It is alleged that Mr. Small induced the Rev. Monroe to pay $1000 for a lot of land which he declared was worth that sum. The land belonged to the university, and it is alleged that the university demanded only $?00 for it, and that Mr. Small made $500 by this transaction. When Mr. Monroe heard of this he demanded the return of the money. As it was not forthcoming, he caused the arrest of Mr. Small.

Mrs. Parnell Still Very Ill.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Mrs. Parnell continues in a very weak and precarious condition. She is unable to sleep without the aid of drugs, and cannot partake of solid food.
