MERIT WINS.

These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits, Foshay & Mason Druggists.

A NATIONAL EVENT.

The holding of the World's Fair in a city scarcely fifty years old will be a remarkable event, but whether it will realty benefit this nation as much as the discovery of the Restorative Nervine by Dr. Franklyn Miles is doubtful. This is just what the American people need to cure their excessive nervousness, dyspepsia, headache, dizziness, sleeplessness, neuralgia, nervous debility, dullness, confusion of mind, etc. It acts like a charm. SPECULATION DANGEROUS.

Scarcely a day passes without the news of some large failure flashing over the wires—the usual result of speculation in stocks or some equally dangerous venture. The same electric current carries to dear distant friend the sad tidings of death of loved ones—too often the result of speculation in patent nostrums. Moore's Revealed Remedy is no speculation but is sold on positive guarantee. Do not fail to go to your druggist and ask for your money if not satisfied. We known you will go and buy another bottle. For sale by all druggists.

THE REFORM SCHOOL

This State Institution Will Be Opened on November 5.

NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL.

The Oregon Pacific and Union Pacific Boats Resume Traffic on the Upper Willamette—News of the State.

SALEM, Oct. 27.—The board of trustees of the Oregon Reform School consisting of the governor, secretary and school superintendent, held a meeting this evening and gave notice that on November 5, the reform school at Salem would open for the reception of boys between the ages of 8 and 16, lawfully committed thereto. The superintendent is B. J Miles, late of the Iowa State Reform School. The building is already furnished and ready. This building was constructed a year ago at a cost of $30,000 and occupies a prominent position on a sightly knoll five miles south of Salem, on the line of the Southern Pacific. All correspondence relative to the admission of pupils should be addressed to B. J. Miles superintendent, Salem, Or.

The trustees of the first M. E. Church of Woodburn, filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state to-day. Value of property $5000. The trustees are: Samuel Layman, P. L. Kenedy, J. N. Poorman.

The river is nearly two feet above low water mark and traffic on the upper stream resumed today. The Oregon Pacific's steamer Three Sisters, passed up this afternoon and is expected down on her regular run hereafter. The Union Pacific started the steamer Modoc to-day, and will start the independent steamer Elwood also, in a few days.

The city took action to day to enjoin the Southern Pacific from running trains down Front street on their new switch, but the papers were not served as the company will probably settle and have the proceedings dismissed by complying with the provisions of the city ordinance, granting the company the right of way. This ordinance calls for the planking of the track and covering of the mill race. This will be done right away by the company, says its agent.

SHIRKING PAYMENT.

Promised Interest on the Money and Then Refused.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—A case involving the power of cities to collect interest on municipal funds has been heard here. The suit is brought by the city to recover, approximately, $10,000 interest on public funds, which the bank refuses to pay. By the provisions of the city charter the clerk must invite bids for the custody of the funds, the bank offering the highest interest on daily balances to get the contract for a year. This was done, and after a lively fight the City Bank got the contract at 4½ per cent, the other banks contesting the award. The treasurer finally turned over the money to the City Bank. Meantime a case had been appealed to the supreme court which declared the charter provision regarding the loaning of money unconstitutional. The decision was rendered only a few weeks before the contract expired. The city treasurer demanded the return of the city's money, which was paid, less the interest, although this was entered on the bank books and had been carried as part of the account. The city now brings suit to recover the interest. The defendants expected to win in a few minutes, but Judge Shaw went into the merits of the case and ordered it submitted on briefs within ten days. The examination brought out the fact that between $4000 and $5000 interest had been paid the City Bank by borrowers of the city funds.

Death of a Newspaper Man.

Monday's Seattle Post-Intelligencer says a dispatch was received by Henry Leland announcing the death of his father, Alonzo Leland, on Saturday night, at Lewiston, Idaho, at the advanced age of 73 years. Alonzo Leland was a native of Vermont, having first seen the light of day in that state July 12, 1818, in the town of Springfield. Imbued with the Western fever, he set his face toward the Pacific coast, and landed at Portland in 1850, in company with A. Bush, now a banker at Salem, Or. In 1854 Mr. Leland began the publication of the Standard at Portland. He ran this journal until 1857, when a company of citizens purchased the paper. He however, continued to edit it until James O'Meara secured control. In 1858-9, in company with Mr. Mallory, he started the Oregon Advertiser, which was the first daily paper issued in the state of Oregon. For a time he edited the Daily Times, Mr. Leland was elected as one of the first school trustees of Portland, and assisted in instituting the first public school in Portland.

Since 1881 Mr. Leland has been a resident of Lewiston, Idaho. He was a delegate to the convention held at Walla Walla which considered the advisability of annexing a part of that territory to Washington and considering the question of framing a constitution. He was also a member of the first constitutional convention of Idaho and a member of the first territorial legislature. While a citizen of Idaho he was connected with the Lewiston Teller and other weekly papers. For several years he had suffered ill health and his death was not wholly unexpected. He leaves two sons, who reside in Seattle, George and Henry Leland. He was a man of fine qualities and universally respected.

Importance of Wagon Roads.

Wasco County Sun: The construction and maintenance of wagon roads in this state is one of great importance. In almost all sections they are imperatively needed. The supreme court of Oregon has affirmed that the state by law provide for the construction of highways by the passage of a legislative enactment which will apportion and impose the duty upon the municipal divisions of the state, or to create such divisions to be thus locally benefited. It is no more than right that the locality to be benefited should pay the expense of such improvement, and issuance of bonds makes it comparatively easy for roads to be built and the payment of them to be met by those who will derive the greatest benefit through their construction.

The New York Election.

A special dispatch to the Dolgeville Herald from New York, says that the result of the registration so far in New York City shows extraordinary gains in the republican districts. The republican vote in New York this fall will, it is already conceded, run far ahead even of the vote at the last presidental election. If the republicans in the state do their duty Fassett and the whole ticket will be elected by a majority of not less than 30,000 such is the strength of the revolt against the dictation of Tammany Hall.

AN OHIO ZEPHYR

DESTROYING POWER SWEEPS A TOWN NEARLY OUT.

Thirty Houses Demolished—Factories Torn Down—Public Buildings Ruined—$100,000 Damages.

CONNEAUT, O., Oct. 27.—At 6:30 last evening a terrible cyclone swept over this town, destroying about thirty houses. The streets are blocked by trees and debris from the demolished buildings. The large butter-tub factory, of G. J. Record's, was badly wrecked thousands of dollars' worth of stock being completely destroyed. Record's loss is about $50,000. The plaining mill of H. E. Pend, adjoining Record's, was greatly damaged. His lumber yard was strewn all over town, and two smokestacks were blown down. Many fine residences suffered heavily, the roofs being torn off and the windows broken. The telegraph lines of the Lake Shore & Nickle Plate railway are down. Two telegraph poles were blown down through the roof of the Lake Shore depot, and the baggage-room completely destroyed. Debris from the building is strewn along the track, rendering it impassable for moving trains. The total loss is about $100,000.

Base Ball by Electric Light.

The Portland Exposition building was perhaps never the scene of a more unique exhibition than on last Saturday night. Under the glare of a dozen electric lights in the main hall, the champion balltossers of the Northwest played an indoor game of baseball with the Staver & Walkers, an amateur organization. It was the first attempt at sport of the kind in Portland, and proved a decided success. Ten hotly contested innings were played on the polished floor, the champions finally winning by a score of 15 to 13. The batteries were McNabb and Wilson for the amateurs and Fanning and Graff for the Portlands. It was a benefit game, and brought out an audience that entered into the spirit of the play fully as well as the average outdoor gathering. The Portland Marine band discoursed sweet music between the innings, and also between the meshes of a large net stratched across the point of the stage to protect the musicians from foul tips. The diamond was artistically laid out in broad chalk marks, and the bases were marked with bags of sand that slid as readily as the most daring base stealers. Instead of the regular ball, the players used an implement that looked something like a bag pudding, and which was pounded around the room with small sized bats. Kid Camp led in the batting, and rapped out four two-baggers that got lost in the gallery. The benefit realized about $500 for the champions. Monday evening the team sailed for California on the steamer Columbia.

They Come to Blows In Their Partisan Earnestness.

McCARTHYITES VS PARNELL.

O'Brien Adds Fuel to the Fire of Hatred—Strong Feeling on Both Sides Terminating In Riot.

CORK, Oct. 27.—William O'Brien and John Dillon arrived here today. The two distinguished members of parliament were met by a deputation and an enormous crowd of people. A procession was headed by a brass band and escorted by a strong detachment of police. There was no disturbance. O'Brien during his speech at the assembly rooms said he was willing to give fair play to his opponents, but added that he would not yield to "brickbats and dynamite bombs." Continuing, O'Brien said they (the Parnellites) might blow up the office of the newspaper representing the views of the McCarthyites, "but," he exclaimed, "they cannot destroy the spirt which animates that party." As soon as the convention closed its proceedings, Dillon and O'Brien passed through the city, still accompaniad by the procession, which met them at the railroad station. Suddenly the McCarthyites were attacked by a large mob of Parnellites, and both sides fought desperately with sticks, clubs, shovels and picks. A detachment of mounted police was sent for, and they spurred their horses in between the two lines of combatants, striking right and left with the flat of their sabres. Amid two crossing showers of stones and bricks a large number of wounded were stretched bleeding and groaning in the streets before the troopers restored order. A neighboring hospital had to find accommodation for many wounded persons by the time hostilities were suspended. There is great excitement everywhere in Cork this evening. The antagonistic groups, it is feared, will reassemble, and there is danger that the battle between them will be resumed.

MODEST (?) DEMANDS.

If Not Quite They Want Nearly All The Earth.

GAINSVILLE, Texas, Oct. 27.—The Sub-Treasury party of Montagu county passed some remarkable resolutions. They demand that Congress pas a bill to provide that any person that owes more money than he can pay and makes an affidavit to that effect shall receive from the Secretary of the Interior sufficient money to pay all his debts.

Any person owing nothing, but who wants more money than he says he has a good chance of obtaining, because of the prevailing financial system of robbery and oppression, may make application to the Secretary, who shall refer the matter to an advisory board to fix the amount to be advanced. In no case shall he receive less than three-quarters of the sum applied for, nor be charged higher interest than he is willing to pay. In the case of failure to repay the loan the borrower shall not receive more than 50 per cent on the next application. Any man making misrepresentations shall be debarred from borrowing more than twice.

PRAIRIE FIRES.

Destructive Burn Taking Farm Houses and Stock

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—A dispatch from Guthrie, O. T., giving further particulars of the prairie fires, says that in Iowa reservation, where the grass was heavy, the damage is great. The district burned is ten miles wide and fifty long. It is reported here that several persons have perished. Another fire started in the rank grass along the Cimarron river, thirty miles northwest of here, Saturday night and burned fifty farmhouses and much stock. A number of people are missing and it is almost certain some have died in the flames. The village of Cimarron was completely wiped out and many inhabitants badly burned. They saved their lives by jumping into the river. Mail carried from Mulhall caught and was totally burned. Reports from the burned districts are very meager, but the damage is well up toward $100,000.

Money to Build Railroads.

MELBOURNE, Oct. 27.—It was announced Saturday that the government of this colony intended shortly to submit a bill to parliament providing for a loan of $50,000,000, the money to be used in the construction of railroads and other productive works. This proposition, while accepted by the people of Victoria as a whole, aroused some opposition as to its details; consequently the government reconsidered the measure and has come to the determination to limit the amount of the loan to $30,000,000, to be raised yearly.

Floods in England.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Floods are still doing much damage in various parts of England. A long railroad cutting, near Maidstone, Kent. undermined by the floods, collapsed to day, completely blocking the railroad lines. Additional details of disasters afloat from the terrific gales which have prevailed along the coasts recently continue to be received. At Yaramouth a fishing lugger, with her entire crew, foundered in the gales.

TELESCOPING CARS.

Another Fatal Railroad Accident To Record.

GLENWOOD, Minn., Oct. 27.—A rear end collision occurred last night at Thompson station, eight miles east of here, between the regular westbound freight and an extra following. The regular was switching at the time the accident occurred. The extra came at full speed, completely telescoping the caboose of the regular, killing five persons and seriously wounding seven others. The dead are: E. O. Helmes, traveling man for Seabury & Co., St. Paul; Fred Renn, Conrad Prince, Brasil Lyle and John Coffin, of Monticello, Minn. Physicians were hurriedly brought and cared for the wounded. Helmes' body was torn to pieces and Fred Renn was roasted to death. It is reported the company has caused the arrest of Conductor Woodson and Engineer Smith, of the extra. The blame appears to rest with them.

Beauregard and the Lottery Co.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—In a published interview General Beauregard states that he is in no way connected with the Louisiana Lottery Company. He has nothing whatever to do with it, except in conjunction with General Early to see that the monthly drawings are conducted honestly.

That sour-tempered, cross, dyspeptic individual, should take Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarasaparilla! It will make him feel as well and hearty as the healthiest of us. He needs bracing up, vitalizing, that is all.

SEEKING RANSOM

FAIR LADIES ARE WORKING TO SECURE THAT OBJECT.

Peruvian Provinces to Be Rescued From Chili—The New Chilian Government Programme.

PANAMA, Oct. 27.—The latest from Lima concerning the captured provinces held by Chili is that Senora Rosa Vayan, the widow of Correa, and many of the principal ladies of Lima have determined to raise funds for the ransom of the Peruvian provinces taken by Chili in the late international war.

Chilian advices say: "The news concerning the murder of Manuel Maria Aldunate and his companion Canpolicans Villota is confirmed. The different political parties that initiated the revolution are making a draft of the programme that is to be observed by the new administration and that they will all sign, compromising themselves to respect it, no matter who gains the presidential election. This programme does not tend to provide a new system of administration; it merely establishes the general principles that are based on liberty which are to be observed by the new political organization. These principles are the right of suffrage; punishment of any government official who should interfere in the election; absolute independence of the three chief authorities of the nation; submission of a resolution of the chambers; responsibility of the presidents and their ministers in reduction of the ordinary expenses; modification of the foreign debt; conversion of the national paper currency into metallic currency; army augmentation; suppression of unnecessary employments, steady development of railroads; amicable relations with other nations; limitations diplomatic service and establishment of commercial treaties with different nations."

MONKEY SHINES.

"You'll remember, Corney, that every glass you take is a nail in your coffin," said the master as he poured a glass of whiskey for his laborer.

"Well, your honor," says Corney, "maybe as you have the hammer in your hand you'd just drive another home."—New York Herald.

She Made Him Squirm.
