SENSATION AT SALEM

Dr. M. J. Patton Attempts to Rob a Bank

HE HELD UP THE CASHIER.

He Was Drunk and Nearly Insane With Excessive Drinking—Is Now Under Arrest.

SALEM, Nov, 5.—This afternoon a sensational attempt was made by Dr. M. J. Patton to hold up Hugh McNary, cashier of Williams & England's bank for $500. No one but McNary was in the bank at the time Patton came in. He walked up to the cashier's window and with his hand in his outside coat pocket demanded of McNary $500. Patton had a revolver in his pocket and with the end of the weapon peeping out of his pocket made a demand on McNary for money. McNary saw the gun pointed at him and tried to argue Patton out of it and made a reach for his own gun when Patton said: "Don't do that for I have the drop on you." Meanwhile people came into the bank to do business and the would-be robber's opportunity was gone. Patton then told McNary that it was a personal matter between them and if he, McNary, valued his life he would never breathe a word of it for he, Patton, didn't care that (snapping his finger) for his own life. Patton walked out of the bank and was arrested when he had gone but a few steps, with his hand on his pistol at the time. Patton had been drinking and acts insane. He was held to await the action of the grand jury.

The state reform school opened at Salem to-day. The reform school building is a fine one and is located near Salem at a cost of more than $50,000. It is now ready for business in the way of reformation of the youthful lawbreakers. Boys between the the ages of eight and sixteen may be committed to its charge.

The late R. S. Wallace, made a will in 1885, in Chicago. There was no codicil except one, substituting J. H. Albert of Salem, for a Chicago man as one of the executors. The will will probably be filed for probate to-day. It is a lengthy document and very carefully prepared. It bequeaths all of his property of whatsoever kind to three executors and trustees. He directs that his business be conducted as nearly as possible as in their opinion he would conduct it were he alive, the profits from the same to be given to his wife and children, each to share alike.

CHILIAN AFFAIRS.

The Trouble With the United States May Be Settled.

VALPARAISO, Chili, Nov. 5.—The election as president of Admiral Montt is hailed with enthusiasm on all sides, as he is popular with all classes. It is believed with the inauguration of a constitutional government, the questions now at issue between Chili and the United States will be more calmly discussed and the outcome be satisfactory to both nations.

PROCTOR HAS RESIGNED.

His Resignation Is in the Hands of the President.

BURLINGTON, Vt. Nov. 5.—Redfield Proctor, who arrived here from Washington, wrote his resignation as secretary of war before leaving there and placed it in the hands of President Harrison.

A Wonder in a Well.

Salem Statesman: Twenty-five years ago a well was dug on the place of Charles Hellenbrand, over in South Salem two blocks west of Commercial street. During a quarter of a century the water in this well was clear and pure, and issued from a vein about the size of a man's wrist. Suddenly one day last week the water in the well turned dark and ever since has been of the color of black coffee. The water is tasteless but as the days pass there are no signs of a change. Old coal miners say that the water is just like that struck in coal mines. This well was sunk through a soft sandstone and never required walling. The change in the color of the water is a mistery that up to this time has not found explanation.

He Found Out.

The Emperor of Germany was anxious to learn how he was talked about among his officers. He dined one evening lately with the Life Guard mess. After dinner the officers, merry with wine, began to call each other by their nicknames. Turning suddenly to the young officer, the Emperor asked: "Pray, what is my nickname?" As everybody appeared confused, an elderly Colonel rose up, and, with a polite bow replied: "I can answer for it that among the elder officers your majesty has no nickname." This did not satisfy the Emperor, who sent for a young lietenant and said: "I command you to tell me what nickname is given to me by you and your brother officers." "Is this a command, your majesty?" asked the young officer, laughing. "Very well, then. Your nickname is 'Gondola Willie.'"

A Sensational Scene.

The dispathes from Panama relate that on Saturday a naked telephone wire was detached by some street arabs so that it hung from its supports to the ground, trailing over the circuit wires from the electric light plant. A police commenced to haul it in, and the act of drawing caused it to cut through the rubber insulation on the electric light wire. The officer received a shock which rendered him unsconcious.

A crowd gathered and before the electric light company could be notified to shut off the current, a horse hitch to a cab was driven over the wire and killed. The cabman in attempting to extricate his animal from the harness, thinking he had simply fallen, was struck on the forehead by the swinging wire, which bit through his skull almost to the ears and there remained.

The electric fluid literally filled the man's head, and in a moment the brain and eyes had been completely incinerated. The flesh and skin smoked and sizzled until they also were returned almost to ashes. All this while sparks played about his head in an awful shower, the eyes literally glowing and radiating the consuming fire. There were no other casualties.

LYNCHED BY A MOB.

DESPERADOES TAKEN FROM JAIL AND HANGED.

Infuriated Citizens in Louisiana Mete out Swift Punishment Upon Two Murderers.

BASTROP, La., Nov. 5.—W. S. Felton and K. F. Smith were taken from the Parish jail here last night by a mob and hanged. Smith and Felton were suspected of the murder of J. A. Dryceus at Merrouge near here October 16, but no arrests were made at the time. A few days afterwards Smith went to Arkansas, where he remained until last Saturday, when he returned. Then he and Felton made threats against several citizens of Merrouge, and for this Smith was arrested on Monday. Felton then became more violent, and both here and at Merrouge, he threatened incendiarism and personal violence if Smith was not at once liberated. As a result Felton also was jailed. By this time public feeling against the two men became intense, and last night it culminated in the double lynching.

AN HISTORIC HOUSE.

The Home of James Russell Lowell a Landmark of Three Periods.

James Russell Lowell was born among the trees and lilac bushes of Elmwood, February 22, 1819: and he grew up there amidst the sight and sounds of the country out of doors, and in companionship of books and learned men indoors, writes Frank B. Sanborn in the New England Magazine. One inducement which drew his father towards Cambridge—after the death of Vice-President Gerry in 1814, threw Elmwood into the market—was, no doubt the college library and the learned society in that town. Elmwood itself indicated three great periods. It was built by a prosperous loyalist, used as a soldiers' hospital during the Revolutionary war, and afterwards inhabited by one of the early governors of the independent state of Massachusetts.

The loyalist was Thomas Oliver, the lieutenant-governor under King George; and the governor was Elbridge Gerry, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. The birthplace, home and grave of the poet all lie within a short radius, in that once-secluded but now too-much frequented corner of Cambridge.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

The New York Legislature Is Nearly a Tie.

COMMENTS ON THE ELECTION.

McKinley Talks—Predictions of Republican Success in 1892 Blaine Is the Man.

NEW YORK, Nov.5.—Official returns show that the state senate will stand seventeen republicans to fifteen democrats. The assembly will probably stand 63 republicans to 65 democrats, although in one case it will take the official vote to decide.

MCKINLEY'S MAJORITY INCREASING.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 5.—The latest figures, with nine counties to hear from, which are estimated, and a few others unofficially made by the republican state committee places McKinley's plurality at 20-486. The republicans now claim from 48 to 59 on joint ballot in the legislature.

GOVERNOR MCKINLEY TALKS,

CANTON, O., Nov. 5.—Major McKinley in the course of an interview today said: "Ohio has gone republican, and I accept the result as indicating that this state stands by the republican party, with full faith in its protective principles as embodied in the tariff law; and further than this, Ohio stands as she always has, in favor of a full dollar and a sound currency."

ENGLISH COMMENTS.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—The Press says: The accomplishments of such results in a year following such a democratic tidal wave as swept oevr the country last fall is certainly encouraging, and proves the strong vitality of the republican party and its principles.

The Enquirer says: Blaine could carry Massachusetts next year, and probably President Harrison could. New York republicans want Blaine for president and figures show he can carry that state. There is one man who can certainly recall every wandering Western state, and his name is "Blaine."

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5.—The American says: The tide which set in so heavily against the republican party in 1890 has already ebbed and is rapidly flowing in the opposite direction, so rapidly that republican national triumph in 1892 may be reasonably anticipated.

The Sun says: The elections of Tuesday indicate an unmistakable continuance of the movement of opinion and the astonishing political results of November, 1890.

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—The Herald, Ind., predicts a republican defeat in the presidential year, unless the party modifies its high tariff view.

The Globe, Dem., says; The Gibralter of republicanism by this victory is made distinctly a fighting ground next year by the election of Flower as governor. New York ranges herself in the glorious line of states to be counted upon as surely democratic in 1892.

New Things from the Nutmeg State

A laborer in Astoria the other day attracted much attention by the noise he made in walking along the streets, clattering over the wooden roadways like a horse. Upon investigation it was found he had stone soles on his boots. The boots were made like ordinary boots, except that the lower or double sole consisted of a thin layer of what looked like concrete or cement, a shell or set stone on which the upper sole was pasted. It was not flexible, and one couldn't do much dancing in them. The man said he was from Dakota—had bought the shoes at Fargo. They were made in Connecticut. Stoneshoes are something new, and ought to be economical, especially for boys and chronic kickers.

NEWSY NOTES FROM LANE.

People and Things on The Siuslaw and Affluents.

WALTON, Lane Co., Nov. 3.

I am somewhat behind time with my items, and for excuse will say I have been in the brush for more than a month, having taken a job of slashing for S. S. Miller, on the head waters of Chicahominy, which I finished last Saturday.

Since my last report Mr. Atkinson has returned to his home from his tour, which he had taken for the benefit of his wife's health; and we are happy to say she is so much improved, that she is at home attending to her household duties.

The Barbour family has returned to Ft. Jones, Cal., where they are engaged in teaching school. They were detained some time in Eugene by a litigation with I. M. Francis, about a kicking mare.

N. B. Butler has moved on the Barbour ranch at the junction of the Siuslaw and Walton rivers.

Mr. W. F. Lyons is quite sick with a cough, which has very much the appearance of consumption.

I. S. Day was sent by the Walton Y. P. S. C. E. State convention of Y. P. S. C. E, that met at Albany, Oct. 30th, 1891, and Messrs. Whitaker, White Cornelius and Albert Whitaker were appointed as delegates to attend the Lane county convention Y. P. S. C. E., which meets at the Clear Lake school house Nov. 8th, 1891.

Mr. R. G. Fowler has moved back on his ranch, near Walton, he had been out near Pleasant Hill for several years.

Since my last report we have had quite a gospel. The Rev. Keims has been in and preached one sermon at Lyon school house and the Rev. Adams has preached three sermons at the Walton school house.

We had the pleasure of meeting P. J. Blackiston, at the Mapleton hotel on the Siuslaw river the last of September.

A Railroad Train Robbed.

OMAHA, Nov. 5.—The Missouri Pacific train, which left Omaha last night, was held up by four masked men at a West Side suburb, at 11 o'clock. They covered the engineer and fireman with their rifles and revolver. By threatening to blow open the floor of the mail car with dynamite, the clerk was induced to admit the robbers, who plundered the car. The officers refuse to give any information as to the amount taken, but it is said large sums for Kansas City and St. Louis were secured.

It is estimated that the robbers secured $6000 in money taken from a safe in the Pacific Express car.

A Steamship Wrecked.

HALIFAX. N. S. Nov. 5—The Furniss line steamship Ottawa went ashore on Blood rock late Saturday night on her way from this port to the St. John's, N. B. and is a total wreck. Her crew, with the exception of the stewardess, who was drowned, escaped.

New dress goods just received at W. F. Read's.

A BRITISH VIEW.

THE ENGLISH DON'T LIKE GOVERNOR McKINLEY.

They Think His Election Means a Republican Victory for President in 1892.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Globe this morning says, referring to the election just held in the United States: "They prove beyond a doubt there is a popular reaction in favor of the McKinly tariff. The mischief wrought to British industries will help to convince the American voter he must somehow be of good to himself. We should thus make a great mistake if we look too confidentially for a democratic triumph in 1892. and for the abandonment of prohibitive duties."

English views of the American elections seem almost confined to the result in Ohio. The success of McKinley is looked upon as a distinct grievence in the manufacturing districts, and especially in Bradford and Sheffield, which places have been disastrously affected by the McKinley act. The defeat of McKinley would have been hailed with delight in Great Britain, and he would probably have figured in some of the Guy Fawkes cremations which are traditional throughout England. His election obscures every other incident of the week in America. In the average English opinion McKinley is an ogre, actuated by a relentless hatred of Great Britain rather than any desire to benefit the United States, and the Londoners would not be surprised to find his counterfeit among the waxen collection of wicked people that is famous on both continents.
