Railroad Commissioners Complete the Inspection.

REDUCTION OF RATES CASE

Will Come Up Next Friday--Incorporation Papers--Salem's Big Water Reservoir.

SALEM, Nov. 14—The state board of railroad commissioners has just returned from the semi-annual inspection of the lines of the Oregon Pacific and say the general condition of the road is better than reported or expected. The lines of the Union Pacific will be inspected next.

The taking of testimony before the referee in the Southern Pacific rate case has been continued until next Friday. This is the case in which the railroad commissioners seek to have their order for the reduction of rates enforced. The Union Pacific case of the same kind comes next, and both will be ready by the February term of circuit court.

Articles of incorporation were filed to-day with the secretary of state by the Tomalaw Irrigation Co. of Prineville; capital stock, $4000; incorporators, A. R. Lyle, B. F. Nicholas, M. C Awbrey.

The Salem Water Co. to-day for the first time pumped water into the big two and a half million gallon reservoir on Fairmount Park hill in South Salem.

WHIPPED AN EDITOR

An Angry Merchant Knocked Him Down and Beat Him.

WATERBURY, Conn., Nov. 14.—Peter Keely, of the firm of M. E. Keely & Co., iron and junk dealers, assaulted Editor Fred Swift, of the Sunday Herald, in this city today. Swift had just left a Naugatuck train, and was passing by the Colley house, when he was met by Keely, who dealt him several blows on the head and face. The attack was entirely unexpected. Before Swift could recover himself he was knocked down and kicked and beaten. One of his ribs was broken and so was his nose. It will be some time before he will be able to resume his business. On several occasions the Herald has attacked Keely and friends. Last Sunday it had an article which accused Keely of going to the house of a Jewish fortune-teller to procure evidence to prosecute her before the police court, in a case worked up by Detective Charles Egan, who is a relative of Keely. Keely took offense at the article. He says he had nothing whatever to do with the case. Immediately after assault Keely went to the station house and gave himself up, and was admitted to bail for trial tomorrow. James G. McCarthy, of the Evening Democrat, and Cornelius Hayes, of Swift's paper, were with Swift at the time, but the attack was so sudden that neither had time to save the editor.

A Water Famine in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—People here are in fear of a water famine or a great scarcity, at least, if the drought continues. The chief engineer of the Croton aqueduct, speaking of it, said the present supply from Croton river is about 40,000,000 gallons a day and this comparatively small supply will gradually grow less as the drought continues. The reserve supply in Kirk lake, Lake Mahopac, and other smaller lakes, has been entirely exhausted. "I am trying to hold all the water I can in the Central Park and Forty Second street reservoirs for use in case of fire, but with the utmost economy, water there is steadily falling, and it is now lower than ever before." Men were sent out yesterday to turn off the water from all the public and private drinking fountains and open hydrants. All sprinkling of the streets will be stopped. This alone will save about 200,000 gallons per day. The reduction pressure of will also save over 1,000,000 gallons a day "All that will save us from a water famine now," said Mr. Birdsall, "will be a fall of two inches of rain.

Big Money Offered for Arion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Ever since Stanford's 2-year-old colt Arion trotted his remarkable mile in 2:10¾, numerous offers of purchase have been made for him. One telegraphic bid was received by Stanford, offering $60,000 for the colt, but the reply that was returned was to the effect that $60,000 would not buy one-half of Arion. C. J. Williams, of Independence, Ia., owner of the trotter Axtell, has offered $25,000 for the privilege of breeding ten mares to Arion in 1893, or in the colt's 4-year-old form.

The Way to Raise Fruit.

F. R. Andrews has an orchard on the bank of the Willamette, a distance above Canemah, in Lane county, that he is making money from by using brains in the cultivation of it. It was an old orchard when he took it. The trees were rough-barked and moss-covered, and the ground had been piled up high about their roots so that during the dry season they nearly perished. Mr. Andrews cleared the trash from about the trees, plowed the ground and stirred it well about the roots, scraped off the rough bark and put the trees in a good growing condition. Then when the proper time came to deal with pests that attack the developing fruit, he sprayed the trees with a solution of Paris green. By this sort of attention Mr. Andrews raised 2000 bushels of apples free of worms and beautifully developed specimens of fruit. He is certain that his treatment, if persisted in by fruit raisers generally, will rid the orchards of insect pests and restore the fame of the Oregon red apple.

A New Industry for Linn County.

S. S. Endicott has this week presented us with a sample of fine sorghum. It was manufactured from the sugar cane raised by Dr. H. A. Davis as an experiment, says the Harrisburg Courier. The syrup is something extra fine. It is of a rich amber color, yet so clear and clean that when placed in a glass jar you can read a newspaper through it. This is a new enterprise with Mr. Davis, but to see it is to conclude that it will be a success. The doctor has quite a patch of cane and though it was planted nearly two months later than it should have been, he will get not less than 150 gallons of syrup. He will next year put in several acres which is evident proof that he is confident it will be a satisfactory investment. There is room in this valley for this production on a large scale, and there is a good market for all that can be produced. There is reason to believe that this soil and climate is well adapted to its production.

No Truth in the Charleston Story.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Commodore Ramsey, who is acting today as secretary of the navy, denies positively that any orders have been sent to the United States steamship Charleston in China, to seize the Hawiian islands. The Charleston, when last heard from, was at Yokohama, Japan, and it has been the intention to have her return to the United States as soon as the Lancaster, with Admiral Harmony on board, reaches the China station. The Lancaster went around the Cape of Good Hope from New York, and is probably somewhere in the Indian ocean. When the Charleston is relieved she will naturally touch at Honolulu on her way home, as she cannot carry sufficient coal to make the trip direct from Asia to the United States.

Late Mexican News.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 14.—Importation has been light, and merchants are heavily stocked on account of the new tariff. Money is scarce at the interior cities, and the bank rates of discount high. A syndicate of Mexican capitalists, organized for the control of the meat supply of the city, are keeping up the price of meat. The city council opposes this combination, and it is being contested in courts. The government has issued subsidies to the Mexican Southern railroad, amounting to $39,630 on account of construction.

They Must Act Together.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A Shanghai dispatch says that the English admiral has no authority from his government to enter upon any general hostilities against the Chinese, his duty being confined to taking the necessary steps for the prevention and punishment of outrages. The French admiral, however, is in favor of beginning an attack at once, and would do so if he could get the English to join him. The French appear to apprehend that if they should begin the war alone, the rest of the powers might leave them to fight it out, and thus involve danger for Tonquin.

Brazilian Nationalists Victorious.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—General Astrogildo, in command of the nationalists forces in Rio Grande do Sul, has occupied several strategic points, and is preparing to meet the dictators' troops should they really mean to try and subdue that province. It is believed, however, that the northern province of Minas Gerass and other provinces will soon be heard from in the dictators' rear and that this may alter his present plan considerably. The people generally are enthusiastic in supporting the nationalist army and are freely contributing food and fodder for its maintenance.

The Other Side of the Story.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The Brazilian minister this morning received a cablegram from the minister of foreign relations at Rio Janeiro stating the news of the secession of Rio Grande or any other state is untrue and that perfect peace prevails. Governor Costilhos has resigned at the request of the people and a provisional junta organized. Tranquility is re established and public opinion is satisfied.

CHILI AND THE U. S.

The New Minister Is Presented To The President.

COURTEOUS WORDS, PEACE.

The Most Friendly Relations to Be Cultivated—The Call a Matter of Form.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Senor Montt, the Chilian minister, was formally presented to the president this morning by the secretary of state. After formal introductions by Secretary Blaine, Senor Montt and addressed the president in Spanish as follows: "Mr. President, I have the honor to present credentials which accredit me in the capacity of envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the republic of Chili in the United States of North America. The object of the mission which the government of Chili confided to me is to cultivate and maintain the relations of peace and friendship between the United States and Chili, which have ever been close and cordial. For the accomplishment of this purpose I rely upon the kindness and good will which the United States government has always manifested for the representatives of Chili. Permit me to express my country's sincere wishes for the prosperity and welfare of this noble country, which is so highly favored by Providence, and for your own happiness."

The president responded as follows: "Mr. Minister, I am glad to receive from your hands the letters accrediting you as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the republic of Chili to the United States. The presence of a representative of the government of Chili at this capitol will, I hope, tend to promote the good understanding between the two governments, and the early settlement upon terms just and honorable to both, of the diplomatic questions now somewhat urgently awaiting adjustment. The government of the United States as well as its people, particularly desire and rejoice in the prosperity of our diplomatic relations with them have always been and will continue to be free from intermeddling with their internal affairs. Our people are too just to desire that the commercial or political advantage of this government should be sought by the promotion of disasters in other countries. We hear with sorrow every fresh tale of internal strife, and are always ready to give our friendly offices to the promotion of peace. If these are not acceptable, or do not avail, it is our policy to preserve an honorable and strict neutrality, as was done during the recent war in Chili. Tempting commercial and political advantages may be offered for our aid or influence by one or the other of the two contending parties; but this we have not deemed consistent with the obligations of international honor and good will. This government was quite as determined in its refusal to allow a war vessel of the United States to carry to a neutral port, where it could be made available for war purposes, the silver of Balmaceda, as it was to give aid to the forces opposing him. The questions involved were Chilian questions, and this government has endeavored to observe those principles of non-intervention upon which it had strongly insisted when civil war disturbed our own people. I cannot doubt this policy will commend itself to those who now administer the government of Chili, nor can I doubt, when excitement has given place to calmness, when the truth is ascertained, and the selfish and designing perversions of recent incidents are exposed, our respective governments will find a basis of increased mutual respect, confidence and friendship. Mr. Minister, this government and our people rejoice that peace has been restored in Chili, and that its government is expressing the free choice of its people. You may assure your honored president, who has been chosen under circumstances which so strongly testify to his moderation and to the esteem in which he is held by the people of all parties, that the government of the United States has entertained only good will for him and for the people of Chili, and cannot doubt that existing and all future differences between the two governments will find an honorable adjustment. To you, Mr. Minister, I tender you my personal welcome."

This closed the ceremony, and the visitors departed.

TOTAL WRECK.

Two of the Crew Drowned--The Rest Saved.

CARMANAH SIGNAL STATION, B. C., Nov. 14.—The bark Sarah, 1142 tons, belonging to Yarmouth, N. S., left Manilla September 20 in ballast, bound for Port Townsend. She had fair weather up to the latter part of the trip. It was blowing hard and very foggy, when on Sunday night the bark struck on Pachena point, twenty-five miles south of this place. A very heavy sea was running and it was blowing hard. Ten of the crew landed in a boat that night and the balance stuck by the ship until morning, when all but two got safely ashore. Ten of the crew in a boat pulled for Carmanah light, which they reached at 8 A. M. Monday. The captain's wife and baby were aboard the vessel and were safely landed. Two sailors, named Kerr and Morris, were drowned. They were on board the bark when she broke up. The vessel is a total loss. Captain Greenhalgh, wife, child and five hands are at a store about four miles down the coast, and the rescuing steamer Mystery has proceeded there to get them. It is not thought anything of the vessel can be saved. The crew saved nothing but what they stand in. They have been kindly treated by Mr Dakin and family, keepers of the Carmanah lighthouse.

ON THE WARPATH.

Indians of The Bigfoot Band On a Revolt.

FIERRE, S. D., Nov. 14.—A remnant of Bigfoot's band of Indians, numbering some sixty families, are in open revolt against the authority of the agent at the Cheyenne agency. This band of Indians have been living on ceded lands. No Indian can live off the reservation without taking land in severalty, and declaring his intention of becoming a citizen. McKean went up to allot these Indians land. When he got there he found they had a few days before sold off all their stock, packed up, and left camp. He notified the agent, who dispatched half a dozen Indian police after them, and to bring them back to the reservation. They overtook the band near the edge of Pine Ridge agency and endeavored to persuade them to return. All but one of them refused and stated they were going to Pine Ridge agency to reside there in the future. The Indian policemen returned to the agent and when McKean left he had dispatched a big force of Indian police to bring them back without fail.

The Exports Still Decreasing.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Considerable interest attaches to the figures showing the value of declared exports from the United Kingdom to the United States for the three months ended June 30 last, as compared with the same period in 1890. The total figures for these three months this year were $44,625,841, last year $53,329,066, this showing a falling off of nearly $9,000,000. Only six of twenty-four towns exporting to the United States show an increase.

To Injure American Pork.

HAMBURG, Nov. 14.—Importers interested in the American provision trade charge that there is a conspiracy on the part of certain officials to break down the reputation of American pork by circulating false reports of trichinosis. They claim that the only instances of death from trichinosis have been attributable to German pork eaten nearly or quite raw, and the blame has been laid on the American article to prevent people from buying it.

The Deed of a Foolish Woman.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 14.—Mrs. Ada Melnott took her 17-year-old son to a dime museum where one of the attractions is a William Tell. Yesterday afternoon she playfully put a potato on her head, remarking to the boy that he could not shoot it off. The boy found a revolver and, aiming it, pulled the trigger. The revolver was not empty. The bullet lodged in the woman's neck and she will die.

Baroness von Waldersee Dead.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—Baroness von Waldersee, the morganatic wife of Louis, duke of Bavaria, is dead. The baroness was Fraulein Mendel, and until her marriage was one of the best known artists on the Munich comic stage. To marry her, the duke renounced his right to the succession to the duchy in favor of his brother Charles.

Anarchists Becoming Alarmed.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The German anarchist refugees in London are stirred up by a report that the German government proposes to submit a bill in the reichstag considerably enlarging the power of the police to deal with anarchists and other agitators. Such a bill would, it is feared, become a law.

American Pork in Austria.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The Chronicle's Vienna correspondent says the Austrian government will shortly abolish the prohibitation of the importation of American pork into Austria and Hungary.

A Liberal Candidate Elected.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The election to fill the vacancy in commons in the South Molton division of Devonshire was held yesterday, and resulted in a victory for the liberal candidate Geo. Lambert.
