SPICULATION DANGEROUS.

The same electric rent carries to dear distant friends the sad tidings of death of loved ones—too often the result of speculation in patent nostrums. Moore's Revealed Remedy is no speculation but is sold on positive guarantee. Do not fail to go to your druggist and ask for your money if not satisfied. We know you will go and buy another bottle or sale by all druggists.

SOLD HIS WIFE.

And He Did Not Get a Big Price Either.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 27.—The recent death of Mrs. Fette Vicicene and the settlement of her estate have revealed a queer state of affairs. Two men petitioned for appointment as administrators. One was her husband, the other was Frank Baron, her lover. The husband admitted that after discovering the relations which existed between his wife and Baron, he sold her to the lover for $150.

Afterwards, it is claimed, Baron paid another Italian $150 to purchase Vicicene, and a divorce was granted to Vicicene. The courts thought Baron had the best claim to the woman's estate, and he received the appointment.

RESIST YOUNG AMERICAN.

An Experience of Matthew Arnold in New York.

When the late Matthew Arnold was here on his lecturing tour, A. C. Wheeler (Nym Crinkle) met him one evening and the two had quite a chat about things in general and in the distinguished differences between Englishmen and American in particular. After a while Matthew Arnold abruptly asked: "Can you tell me in a word or two what special instance you can give of the advantage your American can expect in the making of an eminent citizen?" "Well," said Nym Crinkle, "I should say that America could do a deal for a man when it raised him from rags to riches."

Matthew Arnold, who is now in his way hither, will find a few of 'em if he looks around. He is to be defined by the clever gentlemen of the Lotus Club, and it is pretty certain that the poet will be astonished by some of the wit and eloquence which he will hear on that occasion. The Lotus Club is exceedingly lucky in securing a distinguished visitor as its guest. I rather think that Colonel Tom Knox is a standing committee instructed to specially look out for foreign lions. There is considerable rivalry in this dinner business among the clubs of this city, but the Lotus is easily in the lead all the year around.—New York letter in Chicago Herald.

A Youth Who Chloroformed and Robbed His Father.

HE WAS A CIGARETTE FIEND.

A Road-Block Man Who Sold His Wife for $150, Now Wants Her Property.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 27.—The criminal annals rarely have such a chapter as that added in the case of Reed, a 16-year-old boy arrested here Wednesday night. His father, a well known broker living in an aristocratic district on Walnut hill. When Reed was 13, he became a cigarette and yellow covered novel fiend. He soon developed into a first-class tough. One morning, two years ago, the city was startled by the story of a sensational robbery by the use of chloroform of Reed's father. Detectives ran the clews down, and found that young Reed had done it. The father declined to prosecute, and sent the boy to an uncle in Indianapolis. In a few weeks Reed robbed his uncle of $300 and fled, but was apprehended and sent to a reform school. There he stole tobacco, and bribed a boy to bring him chloroform, which he used on the clerk to rob the office safe. He didn't get into the safe, but got enough money to escape, and then went South, where, he boldly declares he did many jobs. Wednesday he was arrested as a fugitive from justice. He glories in all his actions, and will never be anything but a thief.

MUTINIOUS GUARDSMEN.

Attempt to Murder a Corporal who Had Treated Them.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—There was much excitement at Horse Guards to-day, upon the receipt of intelligence from Aldershot, where is situated the great military barracks, that a spirit of murderous insubordination prevailed in one regiment stationed in that place. It is believed this affair is not due to any feeling against the army regulations or rationes served, but entirely the result of a feeling entertained in the city by privates of the Second Battalion, Princes of Wales' Leinster regiment (The Royal Canadian) against a corporal who had taken the command of a little authority given him to make life as unpleasant as possible for those placed under him by his petty tyrannies. The corporal rendered himself obnoxious to the privates by his constant attempts to rob the higher officers, which was not noticed. So bitterly angry did they become against the corporal that they concluded the only way to avenge themselves was to kill him. As the corporal was doing his rounds he was seized by the men. He attempted to call for assistance, but his cries were speedily silenced by a gag. Despite his struggles, he was dragged to a convenient spot, a rope thrown around his neck, and he was soon suspended in the air. The end of the rope was made fast, and the self-appointed executioners decamped. Fortunately the corporal had been hung for only a short time when the sergeant discovered him and cut the rope. The corporal was almost dead, and it required the most strenuous efforts on the part of the surgeon and assistants to resuscitate him. It is believed it will be some time before he can resume his duties. In any event, though, he has been taught a lesson. The military authorities are making strenuous efforts to find out the perpetrators, but thus far have been unable to discover who they are.
