A Suit Against Marion County Over the Salem Bridge.

SAFE BLOWN OPEN AT TURNER. Henry Notes From the State Capital—An Opinion by Judge Strahan in a Linn County Case.

SALES, Dec. 1.—Papers were served on Conn v. Clerk Sherman today, instituting suit against Marion county on account of the big bridge across the Willamette at Salem. The suit was instituted by Olaf Pihl, administrator of the estate of Emil Adler, of the firm of Hoffman & Bates, who built the bridge. He claims the payment due amounting to $11,650, on account of changes made in the plans during the progress of the construction of the bridge. The charges amounted to twice this sum. But Marion county paid half, leaving the balance for Pihl county, the bridge having been built jointly. The contractors brought suit in the circuit court and lost and are now suing in the United States circuit court at Portland.

The Oregon Milling Company's safe at Turner was drilled into and blown open by burglars Sunday night. About $100 was taken. The safe door was blown clear across the office.

In the supreme court today, among the proceedings were the following: D. M. Osborne & Co. appellants, vs. R. N. Morris et al., respondents, appeal from Linn county. The judgment of the lower court was affirmed in the opinion of Stratton, circuit judge.

OLD MAN ELOQUENT.

Gladstone Still Maintains His Supremacy.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Gladstone was a participant in the exercises attending the formal opening of the hall at Port Sunlight, near Birkenhead. He made an address of considerable length, devoting much attention to reviewing Salisbury's argument in the Birmingham speech. He declared Salisbury seemed ignorant of what was going on in the British empire. Salisbury had called home rule a capsuled medicine. Doubtless he was an authority on physics as he had to take several nasty doses in recent years, like that at the Moulton election.

ROYISH FRANKS.

Interesting Incidents Related by Cardinal Manning.

In the course of an interview which Cardinal Manning had lately to endure at the hands of a Stand Magazine reporter the old prelate referred to his boyhood days as follows: "If you want me to talk nonsense, I will say that it is a long way back to remember, for I am 83, but I spent my childhood at Totterdean, a boy at Coombe Bank, Christopher Wadsworth, late Bishop of Lincoln, and Charles Wadsworth, Bishop of St. Andrew's were my play-fellows I frankly admit I was very mischievous. The two Wadsworths and I conceived the wicked intention of robbing the vineyard. The door was always kept locked, and there was nothing for it but to enter through the roof. There was a dinner party that day, but there were no grapes. This is probably the only case on record where three entire bishops were guilty of larceny. Were we punished? No, we were discreet. We means ourselves up and were fore given.

BOLD TRAIN ROBBERY.

Masked Men Capture an Express Car in Missouri.

THEY SECURED A LARGE SUM. Fourteen Shots Fired—The Safe Blown Open With Dynamite and the Messenger Injured.

St. Louis, Dec. 1.—Last night robbery was committed by masked men who boarded the train at Orchard. Two got on the train and two on the rear and back end of the express car. The two on the rear end of the baggage car entered it and blew open the safe, taking all the contents. Express Messenger Mullrenn was badly injured by the explosion. When the two robbers piloted the engineer and fireman to the car, they placed them under a guard and tried to induce the messenger to open the door of the car. The latter being obdurate, a stick of dynamite was placed against the door and exploded. In a minute another stick was exploded at the car door, which fell in. The robbers then entered the car, and taking the key from the messenger, soon had the safe open. Everything in the safe was taken, and also the messenger's gold watch and chain. Estimates as to the amounts secured vary widely, ranging from $20,000 to $50,000, but nothing definite is yet known on this point. Superintendent Daniel of the express company, says it will be several days before the exact amount can be ascertained. While the two robbers were doing the work at the express car, the other four bandits kept the remainder of the train crew and passengers in a state of terror, a bomb and fusillade being kept up all the while. The train was fired into the smoking car, but fortunately, no one was hit. On the south side of the track, about 15 yards from where the robbery occurred, is a wagon road running through a strip of woods. Along this road the robbers' tracks were seen. The first of these tracks led toward St. Louis. Railroad officials believe one of the robbers was a railroad man, as he is said to have instructed the fireman not to put any more coal in the furnace. The only description of the robbers obtained is of the two that climbed into the engine. One of them was a young man, tall, with light complexion and heavy mustache. The other had dark complexion, dark clothing, about five feet six inches high, and was very quick in motion, and both had light overcoats. The first reports that the postal car also was denuded are erroneous, as authentic reports say that only the express car was attacked. Express Messenger Mullrenn was seriously injured in the hip by the explosion, and battered about the head by the butt end of a revolver in the hands of the bandits. A large posse are making search for the bandits.

A ROYAL SCANDAL.

Congress Russell Sues Her Husband for Divorce.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—In the divorce court of justice before Justice Butt, there was commenced today a case which excites much comment particularly in the higher circles of English life. This is the application of a judicial separation from her husband, Earl Russell, grandson of the great Lord John Russell, on the ground of cruelty. The troubles between the earl and his wife have been public talk for months past. The parties to the suit are well known in society, and the allegations and counter allegations have afforded topics for conversation in many circles of polite society. The earl denies the allegations made by his wife, and explains the whole trouble is due to his mother-in-law.

ROSS YOUNG LADIES.

That is What the New Fangled Letter Boxes Do.

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—A young lady, a gold ring and a United States patent letter-box were the central figures in a little sidewalk drama enacted at the corner of Joyner and Chelsea streets, Cambridge, and which was witnessed by a large and highly enthusiastic audience.

A young lady in Charleston went to drop a letter in one of the new patent letter boxes with a tilting lever, and being evidently used to the old style box, where it is sometimes necessary in order that a letter be really dropped to

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

GOSSIP FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Mills and Crisp are Both Candidates of Success—Other Candidates.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The speakership contest is increasing in liveliness and interest each day, and this morning there was a fair accession made to the list of members in town. All five candidates have expressed themselves as hopeful, and reported matters as progressing satisfactorily from their point of view. General Catelings, of Mississippi, one of Crisp's chief lieutenants, claims that his candidate has captured the entire democratic delegation from New Jersey. Crisp's friends also said they had assurance of only one vote from New England. Mills is sanguine. His forces are working favorably to his interests, and he expressed himself as entirely confident of the result. The Mills men are endeavoring to make New England a unit, and they expect all the votes from that section except two. This claim, however, is not conceded by the other candidates, nor is Crisp's claim to New Jersey conceded. McMillan said to-day he saw no reason to change his opinion that the fight will be a long one in which his strength would increase, and that he felt matters were going along satisfactorily. Springer is also in a cheerful mood, and said he was more than holding his own in respect to "first choice" votes. He expected to-day made material progress in providing for the eventuality among the other candidates. Crisp has given his assurances that whenever the contest is arranged, the arrival to-day of Judge Holman, of Indiana, and the announcement of his position upon the speakership matter is awaited with some interest. Friends of Mills express more confidence than those of any one else of securing his support. At Hatch's headquarters it was said "things were quiet." Candidates for the minor offices are beginning an active campaign. Marsh, of Pennsylvania, has practically withdrawn from the contest for clerk of the house, and Pennsylvania is advocating the claims of Kerr, who is Indiana is urging Dalton's selection for postmaster. Another congressman, McClammy, of North Carolina, has become a candidate.
