ALLIANCES THAT ARE FAR REACHING

The self interest question applies to nations as well as individuals.

Under the influence of such a motive, very often nations reach out in lines that are peculiar and at seeming variance to former actions.

For instance it is now said in Yokohama that there is no longer any doubt in government circles there that England and China have formed a coalition against Russia.

The recent movements of the Russians along the Chinese frontier have created much excitement in Hong Kong, as has the further fact that Russia is about to establish a protectorate over Korea.

The Chronicle is of the opinion that this news seems to be borne out by the attitude of indifference which England maintains regarding the assaults of the Chinese upon foreigners.

Politics makes strange bed-fellows, says the old adage, and this exemplifies it.

The conveying of power by the aid of electricity, is likely to become one of the important developments of the present day.

The Chinese are the most pertinacious people on the globe, and when they adopt a line of action they follow it up, no matter what the interruptions may be.

THE CHINESE ARE THE MOST PERTINACIOUS PEOPLE ON THE GLOBE, AND WHEN THEY ADOPT A LINE OF ACTION THEY FOLLOW IT UP, NO MATTER WHAT THE INTERRUPTIONS MAY BE.

northern provinces is merely a marauding expedition. No doubt the next utterance of the Viceroy Li will be that there has been no revolt at all.

The death of Dom Pedro, the deposed emperor of Brazil, probably removes one disquieting element from that country, for it was impossible for as great and good a man as he was, not to have had a large party of admirers and adherents left there who would be constantly desiring a return of his regime to the country, especially in the present unsettled condition there.
