THE CALAPOOIA MINES.

The Ore Recently Taken Out Makes a Satisfactory Showing.

BROWNSVILLE, Or., Dec. 11.—Messrs. Robe and Standish have just returned from the mines, and work on the Poorman has been suspended for the season. The tunnel is in on the ledge 330 feet and is 150 feet deep. The lead ore shows more gold than ever, and from assays returned from Salt Lake City, it carries gold in paying quantities, besides considerable silver. The sulphurets sent there carry nearly $200 per ton in gold, showing conclusively that something different than copper plates is necessary to save the gold. Work will be resumed on this mine early next season, although just what kind of reduction works will be erected has not been decided upon. Located in California, Nevada, Idaho or any other mining country instead of the Cascades, with its present showing and advantages, it would readily sell for hundreds of thousands of dollars now without another dollar being spent upon it.

In spite of the damp weather the merchants are laying in large stocks of goods and trade has been better than usual. Many holiday goods are being received, and the outlook for a large trade is good.

The most interesting event of the year took place here Saturday. The Eagle Woolen Mills gave a holiday and supper at the new hotel to all its employes and their families, comprising about 200 persons. In the evening a meeting was held at the city hall with singing, speaking, etc. During the evening W. R. Kirk, president of the company, presented Superintendent J. M. Jaeger with a fine gold-headed cane, purchased by the operatives of the mill. The evening's entertainment wound up with a roaring farce by several of the factory young people.

The heavy and continuous rains of the past several weeks has prevented many farmers from putting in fall grain, and unless there is a change soon, the amount of winter wheat in this section will be very small.

NEWS OF THE COAST.

Klamath county rye is still coming over the mountains to the Medford distillery.

The stock of the First National Bank of Salem has been increased from $50,000 to $100,000.

The Enterprise reports that large quantities of baled hay are being shipped from Central Point to Grants Pass.

Ashland is furnishing apples and pears for the "Oregon on Wheels" exhibit, sending a fresh installment every ten days or two weeks, and they are world beaters.

J. W. Lattimer, of Tillamook, exhibited last week a large sprig from a raspberry bush covered with large berries, being the second crop from the same bushes this year.

Evan Carver, who killed Frances LaBond near Elgin on May 27 last, was sentenced on Tuesday last at Union by his honor, Judge James A. Fee, to be hanged on Thursday, January 21, 1892.

Jesse D. Carr's beef purchases in Klamath county the past season have aggregated about $150,000, or a little short of half of the entire sales. The figure paid was fair in the majority of instances.

Hugh Clawson, one of the best hunters in southern Oregon, whose prowess is also well known in Siskiyou county, California, a few days ago killed a cinnamon bear near William Bybee's stock ranch which weighed over 1100 pounds.

The demand seems to be increasing for the horses of this state in the markets of the east, and the dealers will likely reach out to the Klamath ranges for stock before another year. No land under the sun raises a better class of live stock.

George Butler, who came to eastern Oregon from California about three months ago, and was stopping at the residence of Frank French, near Grass valley, went to The Dalles, had a spree, and upon returning home was stricken with paralysis, from which he died three days later.

Grant's Pass is shipping apples right along. On Tuesday Spence & Frakes, of Kerby, shipped a lot of Rhode Island greenings to Albany, and William Meske, of Williams creek, shipped 600 boxes of blue Pearmains to Portland.

Many people throughout the state are still under the impression that all ballots have to be printed on paper furnished by the state through the county clerk, as heretofore. This law was, however, repealed by the Australian ballot law, which provides distinctly the style of ballot hereafter to be used, and the paper necessary can be procured anywhere. The official ballots, however, are not to be peddled about the streets as formerly.

THE FIGHT FOR PURE FOOD.

Success of the Efforts to Scotch Bad Baking Powders.

The aggressive war waged by the Royal Baking Powder Company upon the hosts of adulterated and impure baking powders sold throughout the country is having a desirable effect. The scandalous attacks upon the Royal company by the manufacturers of the impure goods (which are made doubtless both from a spirit of revenge and in the hope of breaking the effect of the damaging exposures) show that they are hit, while the official reports which have come from various public authorities fully corroborating the statements made by the Royal company, have awakened a wholesome public sentiment in favor of the repressive laws, which means mischief to the illegitimate traffic.

The Royal Baking Powder company set out some time ago to expose the character and to break up the sale of adulterated baking powders. Having found from an examination of many specimens that there was a large number of actually injurious powders in the market, they brought the matter before the public and denounced the makers by name in the press and to the health authorities. The affair was taken up by physicians, Boards of Health, and legislatures throughout the country, chemists were employed to test the various powders in the market, and the government itself directed analyses to be made before it would purchase the supplies needed for army, navy, and Indian uses.

The result justified the charges made by the Royal company. Not only were the majority of baking powders in the market found to be largely adulterated, but many of them were ascertained to contain alum and other poisonous ingredients to such an extent as to render them positively unsafe for the use of human food.

In making the charges the Royal Baking Powder Company did not hesitate to enter into competition with every other baking powder in the country, and it is a public satisfaction that in the official tests by the government and state chemist and by Boards of Health, the Royal Baking Powder has been declared to be the superior of all others in strength, purity and wholesomeness, and absolutely free from all inferior or detrimental substances.

From recent official reports it is evident that the alum and otherwise impure goods have again come upon the market in dangerous quantities and their old enemy the Royal is again upon the warpath. In continuing its warfare against these goods the Royal is meeting with the old-time opposition and abuse. The public, however, will appreciate, as heretofore, both the object of the abuse and the action of the Royal company, and award full justice to the company, and award full justice to the company that so fearlessly stands up for protection from such adventures.

An Instructive Christmas Gift.

With the near approach of the most joyous season of the year—Christmas—it behooves everyone to think of some substantial present to give a son, daughter or friend. For a son, a father can give no better present than a year's subscription to the Scientific American. Many youths having an inventive or ingenious turn of mind have received lasting benefit from carefully reading this most instructive paper. It is written in a popular style. Nearly every number, besides its superb engravings and description of new engineering and mechanical works of magnitude, has one or more articles on subjects in experimental science. It is published by the well-known firm of Munn & Co., of 361 Broadway, N. Y., who have been its publishers for more than forty years. Its subscription price of $3.00 a year, or $1.00 for four months, puts it within the reach of every one.

Buckwheat Cakes.

The old way of setting to raise over night by the use of yeast, while the cakes were light yet there was always a well founded suspicion that buckwheat cakes made in that manner were indigestible and unwholesome, because of the chemical action that takes place, so alters the flour from its original character, that the souring or decomposing process continues in the stomach, followed by dyspepsia and kindred troubles.

The new way does away with all fermentation, souring etc., and places upon the table smoking hot buckwheat cakes in 12 minutes or less. Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the element that superseded the old methods. Buckwheat and all griddle cakes made with Dr. Price's Powder are not only exceedingly light and delicious, but can be enjoyed by dyspeptics and invalids with impunity. Dr. Prices Cream is the only baking powder cantaining the whites of eggs.
