THE OFFICIAL COUNT.

Jason Wheeler Elected Alderman in the Third Ward by 3 Majority.

The official canvass of the vote of the city was made yesterday by the mayor and recorder as required by law. There was no important difference from the vote published, except in the third ward. There the count showed that Jason Wheeler was elected by a majority of 3, instead of J. J. Graham by 1. In order that there might be no mistake the ballots were counted over three times in the presence of both republicans and democrats, and the result was: Wheeler, 149, Graham 146, two tickets, which contained both names being thrown out.

Mr. Graham is out of the city, but on his return he will doubtless draw at sight on Mr. Wheeler for the price of a box of cigars, as he was serenaded by the band as the successful candidate, and of course did not neglect to "set 'em up," as a newly elected alderman should.

OREGON PACIFIC MATTERS.

The Sale of the Road Postponed until January Next.

Yesterday, December 9, was the day set for the sale of the Oregon Pacific railroad. Information received from Corvallis says that the sale was postponed until January 20, 1892.

The employes, during the past few months, have been receiving the bulk of the money due them. The pay car started over the road Wednesday, paying for the months of June, July and August and half of September, which makes six and a half months payment since the suit was commenced.

The employes had a settlement yesterday with their attorney, Hon. Geo. E. Chamberlain, who had associated with him in the case Hon. J. K. Weatherford. The men each contributed $3 00 toward a fund for attorneys fees, which they considered was a very reasonable charge.

The prospects of early resumption of work on the road now looks more favorable than ever, the opposing factions having, it is said, came to an agreement by which they will prosecute the work in a harmonious manner.

The opposing factions of the road having agreed upon a harmonious plan of operations for prosecuting the work it is doubted if the road will be sold at all, but the work of construction resumed in accordance with the plan agreed upon by the bondholders in New York.

SPECULATION DANGEROUS.

Scarcely a day passes without the news of some large failure flashing over the wires—the usual result of speculation in stocks or some equally dangerous venture. The same electric current carries to dear distant friend the sad tidings of death of loved ones—too often the result of speculation in patent nostrums. Moore's Revealed Remedy is no speculation but is sold on positive guarantee. Do not fail to go to your druggist and ask for your money if not satisfied. We known you will go and buy another bottle, or sale by all druggists.

OREGON WILL BE THERE.

The States Representation at the World's Fair Assuming a Favorable Aspect

A joint meeting of the chamber of commerce and citizens world's fair commitees was held in Portland Monday afternoon. A number of prominent citizens interested in the movement to give Oregon a creditable exhibit in the Columbian Exposition of '93' took part in the deliberation, and considering the inclemency of the weather the meeting was very well attended. Moreover, the meeting was perfectly harmonious and considerable enthusiasm was manifested by all present.

The meeting was called for the purpose of taking some decisive action in the matter of raising the necessary funds for exhibiting Oregon's products at the world's fair, and it was decided that this exhibit should and would be made. It was also decided that $100,000 should be raised in this city and state, of this amount Portland to suply $75,000.

It was deemed best to leave the matter of reising the money in the hands of the joint committee, and they will go to work at once to see that the amount is made up. It was reported that H. W. Corbett had subscribed $1000 already, and that Donald Macleay had put his name down for a similar sum. It was the expressed sentiment of those present that when the money should have been raised the subscription should have pro rata vote as to who should have the management of the fund.

Now that the movement has assured such a favorable aspect the committee will at once proceed to collect the money, and if Portland is enterprising enough to raise $75,000 it is thought it will be a very easy matter to get the remaining $25,000 from the rest of the state.

"It is now fully settled that Oregon will be represented at the World's Fair," said a member of the committee, "and we shall get the money some way. If Portland's enterprising citizens show the proper spirit in this move the money will soon be raised easy enough. There should be no difficulty in getting the amount as Oregon would be an unenviable object lesson if she had no exhibit at the World's fair at all."

LINN COUNTY COUNCIL.

Council met in the hall of the Oak Plain Grange Dec. 5, 1891.

Called to order by John Bryant, president. The secretary failed to put in an appearance, C. J. Shedd was appointed to fill his place. All present found correct.

Roll call found a quorum present. Agent Miller said he had no report to make to-day, would have his annual report ready at the next meeting.

The special committee to arrange for the meeting of the State Grange reported progress and asked for further time which was granted. The question of free delivery of mails throughout the country, was quite freely discussed. Several thought the people in the country had as good right to have their mail delivered to them as those who live in town.

At this time dinner was announced, when all took their places at the table, and for the next hour the good things prepared by the sisters was freely discussed.

Council again called to order and business resumed.

On good of order many excellent remarks were made by those present. On motion it was agreed to hold the next meeting with Knox Butte Grange.

The condition of the roads are very bad, consequently the attendance was rather small. The meeting was full of interest from beginning to end.

At the next meeting there will be a full set of officers to elect, a good attendance is requested.

The usual vote of thanks was tendered for use of the hall, and repast furnished.

On motion adjourned.
