FIREMEN'S ELECTION.

J. R. Wyatt Elected Chief Engineer and A. L. Lamb Assistant. Yesterday was firemen's election. The nominees for chief engineer were J. R. Wyatt, of Rescue H. & L. Co., and B. M. Sloan, of Albany Engine Co. No. 1.

The books of the several companies show a voting membership of 114. Only 93 votes were cast. The result was as follows: For chief engineer, J. R. Wyatt 55, B. M. Sloan 37. Wyatt's majority, 18. For assistant chief, A. L. Lamb 93, Mr. Lamb had a walk-over if any one ever did, as there was no one running against him.

It will be observed that he received one more vote than both of the other candidates. They will each make efficient officers and will serve the fire department and the city in a satisfactory manner. The board of four delegates met in the evening and canvassed the votes. The figures above are taken from their official count.

The band boys have been striving entirely on their own expense to provide the city with a good band, and should be encouraged in their efforts in this city.

At Work. In regard to the government jetty work at the mouth of the Siuslaw, the Florence West says: Government work was resumed again this morning in dead earnest. We crew of men is engaged in erecting a shed at Spruce Point under which the rock scows will be built. Another crew will go to the mouth of the river to morrow and begin clearing away the brush and logs preparatory to the commencement of work on the bank and mess houses.

Diseased Horses. The county inspector of Marion county had nine head of horses under quarantine the other day, but a passing train killed a couple of them. These horses are afflicted with glanders and the state veterinarian will be up in a few days to look at them. The animals are just above Salem. In only three herds of sheep in the country is any scab found now—less than 400 head in all, where as about a year ago as many thousands were afflicted. This certainly speaks volumes for the dip treatment.

THE ELEVENTH CENSUS.

The Official Figures of M. Porter's Bad Job of 1890. A census bulletin issued by Mr. Robert P. Porter, superintendent of the late lamented census, gives what is termed the official counts of the cities of Oregon. After a year and a half of figuring Mr. Porter puts Albany's population at 4013, instead of 7000 as he first announced. The population of Linn county is given at 16,265. This is an increase of 28.31 per cent.

The census was such a bungling job that the public does not now take much interest or give much credence to the figures. They have been revised, adjusted and patched up until they are by no means accurate, if they were at first. The principal towns of Oregon are given as follows; the precincts in Linn county being published in full:

Albany precinct, 1447. East Albany precinct, 1276. West Albany precinct, 1290. Brownsville town, 580. Brush Creek, 178. Center, 326. Crawfordville, 326. Lebanon precinct, 1635. Lebanon, 829. LaFayette, 265. McMinnville, 1368. Dallas precincts, 4207.

The population of the entire state of Oregon is 313,767. This mass of figures will have to pass as the 11th census. Estimates of the Probable Expenditures of Various Departments. Secretary Foster has transmitted to the speaker of the house for the information of congress estimates of the appropriations required for the fiscal year of 1892-93, as furnished by the heads of the several executive departments. Some of the details are of interest. The estimate for the army and navy is $147,550, which is a decrease of $3,748,583 from the amount appropriated on account of pensions for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892, which includes the deficiency appropriation of $29,350,598. The amount of the estimates under the general head of naval establishments is $26,822,654, which is somewhat over $5,000,000 less than the present appropriation. Nearly all this reduction is made in the estimate for the increase of the navy. The estimate for this item being $12,280,855. For a building for the library of congress $1,035,000 is asked.

STORM ON THE SIOUSLAW.

WALTON Lane Co., Dec. 10.—On Thursday Dec., 3d, our section of country was visited with a heavy wind storm which blew over a vast amount of timber, blocking the roads and doing other damage. One tree was blown across Mr. Coe's rights barn, breaking his wagon, and back, and his road cart. Peter Condra's barn was blown down and utterly demolished, killing a fine mare of Mr. Hinson's, which was tied in the barn at the time of the fall. One of A. E. Whiteaker's young milk cows was fatally hurt. Mr. Wise, who has been to Salem for some time, returned to his home last week. Ed Sorber and little girl returned home from Portland this week. Mr. Shuman came up from Portland this week.

PRICE LISTS, DEPOPULATION. A Free Trade Scheme That Worked Like a Boomerang. It has been proposed that the English exhibits at the world's fair should have attached to them the price without the duty, this our free trade contemporaries say will give those selling an object lesson. It is unnecessary to point out that it is not proposed to furnish the scholars with either the wages paid in England or the decrease in the cost of such goods since their manufacture has been encouraged in this country by protection. This plan is not without a precedent, and in the light of the single example it will depend on the view taken of the immigration problem whether such comparative figures will be of advantage to this country or not. At the world's fair, held at Philadelphia in 1876, the Swedish exhibit was marked with the assumed comparative prices of the goods exhibited under free trade and protection, and the quarterly report of the chief of the bureau of statistics for the three months ending with March 31, 1891, shows that of 925,031 Swedish and Norwegian immigrants since 1820, 779,607, or more than eighty-four in the hundred, have come to this country in the past twenty years, since the measure of the difference in prices manufactured goods in the two countries was fully known. It appears from this that as soon as the subjects of King Oscar knew of the state of our markets they sold the same articles at other prices to come and suffer with us the disadvantages of a protective tariff, and table No 30 in the report above quoted shows that the mass of them settled in the four states of Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota.

If the British manufacturers and importers will kindly post such notices as proposed, we look to see the immigration from the United Kingdom increase to some 3,000,000 during the decade ending 1910, and amount to fully 8,000,000 for that ending with 1920. This would take about all the farmers England has left.
